Best Attended Tennessee's Federation Sessions Ever Held Apparent as Credentials Pile In.

AFL-CIO Controversy Will Not Assume Georgia Proportions Because of Overwhelming Craft Representation, Is Belief of Many.

Chattanooga unionists have all packed their bags and are only awaiting the zero hour to push off for Jackson, Tenn. Some fifty people, including approximately thirty delegates, will be on hand next Monday at the New Southern hotel in Jackson as President R. S. McCann (Memphis) bangs down the gavel as he calls the convention to order.

That this fortieth convention will exceed all others in attendance and interest is conceded by all. So far, credentials from local unions indicate that the craft organizations will be so overwhelming in the majority that there will be no danger of any serious controversy—at least it will not reach the point of bitterness and seriousness that resulted in the uproar in Atlanta last week when the Georgia federation fell into almost two halves.

Word comes from the convention city that the hosts are in readiness to receive the visitors as they start arriving Sunday, and that in addition to a great amount of business there will be entertainment to make the guests remember Jackson after things are all over.

Atty. Fogo Rages; Name Is Used As Home Plate Patron

Declares That Report He Crossed Line Is Willful Lie—Affirms His Friendship to Labor.

Mr. B. M. Fogo, well known Chattanooga attorney, was reported last week as having patronized the picketed Home Plate lunchroom, and his name was so printed in the "Across Picket Lines" column in the Labor World.

Mr. Fogo literally "hit the ceiling" when he saw it and immediately denied such reports as being a "deliberate, willful and malicious lie."

The Labor World is pleased to know that Mr. Fogo expresses the sentiment he does in his letter, which is reproduced here:

April 23, 1937.

Labor World,
310 East Eighth Street,
City.

Attention Mr. T. R. Cuthbert:

Dear Sir:

In furtherance of our street conversation of today, it appeared in your paper of April 23, 1937, my name listed in "Across the Picket Lines." I want to challenge this statement as a deliberate, willful and malicious lie, and whoever made such a statement is a liar.

I wish to state my views on this question. I have been in sympathy with, and am a staunch supporter of organized labor and the Union.

More power to your organization!

Respectfully yours,
BYRON MILLS FOGO.

New York assembly has passed the new minimum wage law for women and minors, and sent it to Gov. Lehman for signature.

PICKET LINES RESPECTED BY SHERIFF'S FORCE

Last week's Labor World listed a Mr. Poe and a Mr. Kimzey as deputy sheriffs who have crossed the picket line at the Home Plate restaurant. Both Kimzey and Poe at one time had commissions, but at present do not have any connection with Sheriff Burns' office in any way.

Poe is now a constable in the Fourth district, while Kimzey is an ex-constable.

The Labor World is glad to say for Sheriff Burns that he has consistently been friendly to labor in our troubles, and we believe that he would be very much "displeased" if any of his men became unfriendly.

It is worth noting that the county jail and the office has employed some eight individuals who have cards in their pockets.

NEVIL VISITS CENTRAL BODY

J. O. Nevil, of the Nashville Pressmen's union, was in Chattanooga Monday and Tuesday and paid a visit to the Central Labor union. Brother Nevil is now chief factory inspector for the state and was in town on official business. Mr. Nevil has just recently been elected president of the Nashville Pressmen's local, having served for the past 17 years as secretary of the organization. He is proudly displaying a watch that was given him recently by the Nashville pressmen in appreciation of his many years of service to the union.

REID DROPS IN

H. V. Reid, legislative representative of the Railroad Brotherhood, spent two days in Chattanooga this week. Brother Reid has been working particularly hard on getting the child labor amendment passed during this session of the Tennessee legislature.

Open Break Results As Group Flees From Central Body's Hall

William Green Asked to Send Representative Here to Investigate—Most Serious Crisis in Labor Movement.

W. A. Witt Named Chairman, A. T. Johnson, Secretary, of Temporary Organization of Seceding Group, Which Is Awaiting Arrival of AFL Authority.

Although storm clouds have been slowly collecting on labor's horizon in Chattanooga for many months, the storm broke in all its fury last Monday evening at the regular session of the Chattanooga Central Labor union.

While it had been believed that the actual break might be occasioned on the action of Joe Dobbs, member of the Plumbers' union and president of Central Body, who has publicly accepted employment from the CIO and director of textile organization activities in Chattanooga, the direct split-up was precipitated by a different matter.

A telegram had been received from William Green which said that "all CIO affiliates in Chattanooga Central Body should be disassociated from Central Body." The telegram was read by Erskine Mabee, secretary, and a motion was made by a delegate to comply with the order. A point of order was raised that AFL law specified that expulsion must be predicated by written charges and a trial of offending locals, whereupon President Dobbs ruled the motion out of order. A motion was then made and passed that the telegram be given to the executive board to act upon and to be reported on at the next meeting.

GOOGE TO COME

Six Conciliators For Central Body Named Monday Nite

To Serve With Six Representatives Elected by Chamber of Commerce and Manufacturers' Association.

Chattanooga Central Labor union at its session Monday evening elected its six representatives who will serve with the six members already named by the employer group to form a board of conciliation which will endeavor to act as peacemakers in impending industrial disputes between employers and employes.

The plan has been under discussion for some months, the idea being that before trouble starts it might be possible to allow the local board to intervene in an effort to find a common ground from which peace and understanding will be effected before actual breaks occur.

Those named Monday night include A. C. Kamin, Paul Reynolds, S. E. Smith, Curtis R. Sims, Joe Dobbs and T. R. Cuthbert. The first meeting of the board of twelve will be held on Tuesday, May 11, for organization purposes.

ACROSS PICKET LINES

Just a few more friends of organized labor who are crashing the pickets in front of non-union restaurants:

At the Home Plate: Tom Myers, who ran against Judge Lusk last year. Tom Rogers, deputy clerk under Mrs. Sherrill, circuit court clerk (Mr. Rogers crashed the movie operators' picket when there was trouble at the Tivoli theater, while at the same time he was running to succeed himself as circuit court clerk. He was defeated).

Also, the manager of the State and Rialto theaters is reported to be a regular patron of the Home Plate.

Sara Smith, a Vogue employe.

Policeman Bill Wheat.

Ruby Duncan, teacher at Sale Creek school, and Olin Brotherton, principal Chattanooga Valley school.

Old Age Benefits Claims Explained

Social Security Lump Sum Payments Procedure Is Outlined.

Procedures for filing of claims for the payment of lump sums under the federal old-age benefits plan of the Social Security Act, surpassing in simplicity any other for similar use yet devised either for government or private business purposes, are outlined today by Miss May J. McGuire, field representative in charge of the Social Security Board's office in Knoxville.

Moreover, the board declared that when the claims procedures are in full operation the adjudication of properly completed claims can be accomplished with unusual dispatch following their receipt in the Washington office. Claims already filed range

REAL LOYALTY

By Brownie Hopper

A story came to us this week that concerns a real union man. There is an "old-timer" in the local labor movement who was one of the charter members in his own union and one of the founders of the Central Body. This same "old-timer" is still active and attends all meetings.

This brother member has reached that age where his chief source of income is the pension paid by his international organization to its members. It has been his custom, when he gets his pension check to buy a meal ticket from a certain restaurant because he can save a little that way. So, one evening quite recently, he bought his week's meal ticket as usual. But when he came into town the next day there was a picket in front of the restaurant where he had planned to eat.

His last money had gone for the meal ticket and the man did not know what to do. One thing he knew—he would never go past a picket, not even if he went hungry. So all day he went without food.

Of course, if this man had only thought, he would have known that all he had to do was to get in touch with his local, for that local owes him a debt—it is to people like this fellow that the American Federation of Labor owes the progress it has made. His union is always proud to be of service to him.

This story has a happy ending. Late in the afternoon a brother member noticed how badly our union man was looking and inquired the cause. As soon as he knew the story he immediately bought the scorned lunch ticket and put it away until the restaurant's trouble has been adjusted. And everybody was satisfied.

That, my friends, is an example of loyalty!

Take It or Leave It!

Points of View Picked Up From Various Sources

CY KOLOGY, EDITOR

Up speaks the National Association of Manufacturers—up it speaks, advising the country again.

It advises that unions accept "legal responsibility" for their acts.

The country can get along without a lot of advice from the dear old N. A. M.

All through the last quarter century the N. A. M. has been handing out advice.

It has been against unions. Unions were something to be pushed around—and the N. A. M. did all it could in that line.

Well, now that the National Labor Relations Act is upheld, the N. A. M. sees that it has to pipe a different tune, so it turns to advising "legal responsibility."

We are going to hear a lot about this "legal responsibility" business.

It means incorporation.

And incorporation means that any stool pigeon could do things that would keep unions in courts endlessly—and keep their treasuries busted from damage suits.

It's a nice idea. It sounds good enough.

But it's one of those nice looking weeds that are poison all through.

Beer foam, with cyanide underneath.

There are laws enough now to punish any real crime. What employers now want is a condition that would make crime easy and union-busting a natural consequence.

Let the N. A. M. spend its time advising its members to OBEY THE LAW.

That would be a good job.

Let the N. A. M. advise its members to accept the full meaning of the National Labor Relations Act—allow the free right of organization, without any fast ones pulled in the dark, join in honest collective bargaining and establish peace in industry.

Most of the so-called labor war comes from stubborn employers who say "never," like Henry Ford.

And there's an idea. Why doesn't the N. A. M. call around to see Henry and tell him that there's something new under the sun and that he ought to be a good citizen and set an example of law-obedience.

That would be worthwhile.

Somebody—some wisenheimer—is always advising labor what to do.

Labor can get along pretty well without the advice of those who, through all the years, have made themselves good jobs poking labor on the nose.

Why at this late day should labor be looking to the N. A. M. for advice on how to live under the law?

The N. A. M. doesn't know quite how foolish it looks, quite how silly it is.

It's face ought to be red—but that kind of face never gets red from trying to fool labor.

Well, labor knows the new road better than employers know it and LABOR GIVES THIS ADVICE TO THE N. A. M.: Read the law. YOU obey it. YOU advise YOUR OWN crowd to behave and obey the law.

Labor will look out for itself.

FORUM SCHEDULE FOR NEXT WEEK

JOB PLACEMENTS INCREASE.

ALBANY, N. Y. (ILNS).—Public employment offices in New York State filled 18,818 jobs in private industry during March, 1937. A report made public by Industrial Commissioner Elmer F. Andrews says private industry placements in the past month increased 44.4 per cent over those made in March last year. They were an increase of 50.3 per cent. over the February, 1937, total.

NON-UNION BOSS CREDITED WITH COMEDY PICKET

Desperate Home Plate Scene of Comic Opera Walking Menu With Silly Sign.

CULINARY WORKERS FIGTH AGAINST 84-HOUR WEEK

Want Decent Wages—Continue Campaign as Hudlow Heads Cafe Owner Group That Opposes Union.

Snickering at first, people of Chattanooga gradually became resentful of the attempt to belittle the efforts of union culinary workers to abolish unreasonable working conditions and low wages when a hatless picket, garbed in a white outfit resembling a street cleaner's uniform, began pacing by the side of the nonchalant and unperturbed A. F. of L. union picket this week.

According to the Chattanooga News, the amusing spectacle was sponsored by restaurant owners. The News report said:

"Picketed restaurateurs Tuesday had arranged to pay a picket to picket the pickets who were picketing their places, W. C. Hudlow, proprietor of the Home Plate, said.

"W. R. Meyer, self-styled major-general, who ran for president last fall, was the picket at the Home Plate. He bore a sandwich sign which read:

"'When clocks are strking, clocks are working. When people R striking they are not working. Verbum Sapienti & Co.'"

One of the spectators remarked that someone had evidently been attending a surrealist school.

However, as public reaction filtered back to the restaurant owners, the picket did not appear for duty after the first day.

Before Mr. Hudlow took his present stand to oppose union activities the employes of the Home Plate had asked for a union to be formed, but now their reply is that they will "do what Mr. Hudlow wants us to do." Therefore organized labor is telling its friends that the Home Plate is a non-union restaurant, while some 25 or 30 other restaurants are union.

Objective of the culinary worker union is to abolish an 84-hour week for a 60-hour week, and instead of rates of pay all the way from $2.00 per week to an average of about $10, they want a minimum of $14.

TEACHER TALK

LOCAL 246, A. F. of T.

BOARD MEETING MONDAY

The regular May meeting of the board of directors will be held at the Y. M. C. A. Monday night, May 3, at 7:15 o'clock. This will be the last meeting while school is in session.

NEXT YEAR'S BUDGET

At the recent call meeting of the board the following position was adopted with regard to the city and county budgets for 1937-38:

1. That there should be substantial increases in the amount allotted to teachers' salaries.

2. That full credit for experience outside of the city or county be given in determination of salaries and salary increases.

3. That advance in classification be credited at time such advanced classification.

4. That sick pay be restored on the basis of full salary for the first 20 days of illness and 50 per cent of full salary for the next 40 days.

5. That increases be granted on a basis proportional to the increase to which a teacher would be entitled under the salary law.

TEACHERS FOR PEACE AND HARMONY

In the Central Body last Monday night the teachers, led by President Smith, took the lead in the attempt to maintain peace between the two factions in the A. F. of L. on the C. I. O. question. The teachers feel that differences over this question should be regarded as conflicts in national policy to be fought out by national leaders and not to be carried down to conflicts splitting the local labor unions and the rank and file.

Main differences lie not in differences in form of union (craft or industrial) because both forms are on both sides; but rather on conditions that do not maintain in Chattanooga.

Labor Rallies Throughout Nation Back Court Reorganization Plan

Speakers Tell Meetings in Twenty-five Cities Democracy Is Menaced by Present Supreme Court and Urge Approval of President's Program for Bringing New Outlook to Federal Judiciary.

By GEORGE L. KNAPP.

Mass meetings in 25 cities on April 19, held under the auspices of Labor's Non-Partisan League, cheered President Roosevelt's court reform plan to the echo; and demonstrated the truth of Major George L. Berry's statement, that on this matter, American labor is practically a unit.

Prominent men and women, all with experience in public affairs, spoke at each mass meeting. Major Berry, president of the league, Attorney-General Cummings and Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, newly appointed minister to Norway, spoke in Washington. Senator La Follette spoke in Philadelphia, and Governor Earle in Pittsburgh. Other senators who appeared for the plan were Guffey, at Monessen, Pa.; Schwellenback, at Minneapolis; Truman, at Kansas City. And everywhere they were received with enthusiasm.

"I am certain," said Mrs. Harriman, "that under no other circumstances, save the fever of a national political campaign, has there ever been such a demonstration of public sentiment as these meetings tonight."

Labor United on Issue.

Major Berry warned that the country cannot stand another depression like the last, and that we are headed toward such a depression unless the social legislation already wrecked by or now in jeopardy in the Supreme Court can be assured of passage and enforcement.

"Organized labor, though divided temporarily on some issues, stands firmly united in this one great drive to clear the way for liberal and enlightened legislation that will put farmly and irrevocably into the hands of the people the intended benefits of the New Deal."

Senator La Follette at Philadelphia told his audience that the "fate of democratic institutions cannot be placed in jeopardy on such a precarious and changing factor as Justice Roberts has proved himself to be."

Court Ruling Blow at Pay.

La Follette told how Roberts voted to strike down the New York minimum wage law and ten months later voted to uphold the Washington minimum wage law.

"I should like to tell you what happened to New York women while Mr. Justice Roberts juggled the law," said Senator La Follette.

"Five months after the New York decision, the minimum wage of women laundry workers in New York City, previously $12 a week, had dropped to $7 a week, for a 41 hour week.

"And children got $5 a week for 63 hours—less than 8 cents an hour."

Bill Strongly Championed.

Other speakers in other cities struck as hard blows in defense of President Roosevelt's plan for court reform. For example:

Senator Schwellenbach at Minneapolis: "Four members of the Supreme Court persist in their contention that we live under a system of judicial oligarchy, and that they have a right to negative and nullify the wishes of the people as expressed at the polls and the laws of the people as written by the people's representatives."

Senator Truman at Kansas City: "The court is packed now, and has been for 50 years, against progressive legislation. .. .. .. I hope with some new minds and new blood fresh from the people that it can be unpacked, or given a modern, common sense viewpoint."

Senator Guffey at Monessen, Pa.: "This court reform bill is in reality labor's bill of rights."

Montreal Dress Makers Strike for Higher Wages

MONTREAL (ILNS).—Some 5,000 workers in Montreal silk and silk manufacturing dress industry, members of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, went on strike here for a general wage incraease of 20 per cent, a 44-hour week, union recognition, union shops and various improvements in working conditions.

The International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union has been active in the cloak and suit section for over 30 years. Two years ago it won a battle for collective bargaining in the cloak and suit division; last year it won a contract for the ladies dress cutters.

Some employers recently tried to coerce their employes into joining the Catholic League of Workers in the Needle Trades. This precipitated the strike, followed in three days by the capitulation of over half the manufacturers.

Harlan Boss Accused Of Murder Hiring

WASHINGTON, D. C. (ILNS).—Three star items featured the latest hearings of the La Follette Civil Liberties Committee.

First — Ted Creech, mine superintendent of Harlan County, Kentucky, was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of perjury before the committee. He denied, under oath, that he had threatened a witness, in the face of the testimony of the witness and of a United States marshal that he had made these threats.

Second—Lawrence Howard, a resident of Harlan, received a death threat over the telephone unless he got out of town on the 6 o'clock train. He had testified that certain Harlan deputy sheriffs had offered him $150 to join in shooting up the home of a union organizer, William Clontz. He refused, but the shooting took place, and the Clontz family escaped annihilation by sheer luck.

Third — William Turnblazer, regional representative of the United Mine Workers, is sending 16 organizers into Harlan county, and will send more. Each organizer carries reports of the hearings before the La Follette committee with their exposure of coal operator tactics, and an explanation of the Wagner Labor Relations Act. One coal mine operator from that county testified that he never heard of that law till he came to Washington as a witness.

Unanimous Sit-Down Strike Forces Drug Firm General Manager to Quit

MILWAUKEE.—Fred E. Yahr, for 37 years general manager and still largest owner of the Yahr Lange Drug Company, has the doubtful honor of being the first boss ever fired by his workers through the medium of a sit-down strike.

Mr. Yahr, 65 years old, it is alleged, has established a company policy of firing workers as soon as their age or their length of service justified an increase in their wages. Young men were hired at very low pay because of their "inexperience"; and when they had experience with the Yahr Lange and insisted on better wages, they were fired, employes charged.

The employes did not join any "outside union," but they formed the quickest acting local union on record. At 7:30 a.m. they struck. The telephone was not answered. Customers were not served. Salesmen on the road were notified, and replied that they were sitting down in their cars till it was settled. The sales manager, the credit manager and the chief accountant were leaders in the strike; and there is strong reason to believe that all the stockholders favored it—except Mr. Yahr. It was unanimous—but for him.

After a conference between directors and men lasting till late afternoon, the one demand of the strikers was granted. Yahr resigned. He is going for a trip to Europe to quiet his nerves.

The steel barons are singing that old revival chorus: "Who'll be the next?"

Paul Machinists Hit Private Auto Inspection

Strong opposition to a bill in the Minnesota legislature giving private garages and mechanics the right to certify the safety of any car or motor vehicle was recently expressed by the International Association of Machinists, Local No. 459, St. Paul, Minn.

Voicing the fear that the law might be used by unscrupulous garage owners to force owners of motor cars and other vehicle "to purchase parts and enter contract for parts which are not needed," the union favored a law requiring state or municipal inspection of all motorized vehicles.

Miami Union Charges Nothing For Painting Children's Home

CONFERENCE CALLED TO RALLY UNIONS TO A. F. OF L. SUPPORT

Executive Council Decides Against Special Convention and Votes Instead for Cincinnati Meeting of Union Heads to Plan Organization Campaign and Resistance to C. I. O.

Washington.—Preparations are now being made in Washington and Cincinnati for the conference of international and national union heads called by the American Federation of Labor Executive Council to plan a big organization drive and resistance to the committee for industrial organization.

The conference, to be held in Cincinnati beginning May 18, was decided on at an emergency three-day session of the Executive Council in Washington. Formal call for the conference will soon go out.

Explaining the purpose of the Cincinnati conference, President William Green, of the A. F. of L., said that it would not constitute a special convention and that it would not have power to expel unions affiliated with the C. I. O.

To Meet C. I. O. Challenge.

The meeting, Green said, was called "for the purpose of planning a consolidated organizing drive to protect the American Federation of Labor and help it to meet the challenge of the C. I. O. and to provide funds to finance this drive."

He explained the council's failure to call a special convention for the purpose of expelling the C. I. O. unionists, as it was empowered to do by the Tampa convention last fall, as due to a determination "not to add dignity to a group and to a procedure that from its inception has been steeped in the cesspool of illegality and of irresponsibility.

The federation, Green said, will continue its policy of maintaining inviolate collective bargaining agreements entered into with employers. Without mentioning the sit-down by name, he said the A. F. of L. would continue to proceed in an "orderly and constructive manner and one befitting the dignity, trust and confidence of and in labor."

Suspension Stands.

He pointed out the impending conference was not without precedent, that the federation several times before had called such meetings to deal with important matters.

He said the suspended C. I. O. unions "stand suspended until and if an undertaking is reached by which the C. I. O. is dissolved and they come back."

Recalling that a special committee was appointed by the Tampa convention to make an effort to bring peace between the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O., Green declared that every effort of the committee and the A. F. of L. officers "to effect an adjustment and to reunite the forces of organized labor has failed."

"Failure is to be attributed," he added, "not to the American Federation of Labor but to those responsible for having set in motion a group actively clothed in garments of good faith but inspired by a mind and heart bent upon destruction of the organized labor movement of America.

C. I. O. Now Dual Body.

"We are faced today with a situation quite different to that presented to the Tampa convention of the A. F. of L. We are no longer required to deal with a group of international unions, formerly associated with the A. F. of L. and who have banded themselves into a group solely for educational or mutually protective purposes. Today, instead of a conference, we find these disloyal international unions in a compact dominated not by a democratic spirit, form or procedure, but inspired and directed by the arbitrary direction of one or more individuals bent upon the destruction of the A. F. of L.

"The C. I. O. in substance and in fact is no longer a conference—it is a body dual to and destructive of the American Federation of Labor. As evidence of that fact we point to a resolution adopted by the C. I. O. on March 9, 1937, as follows:

"'The executive officers of the committee for industrial organization are authorized to issue certificates of affiliation to national, international, state, regional, city central bodies and local groups whenever it is deemed such action is advisable.'

A. F. of L. Unions "Raided."

"As a result of the adoption of this resolution organizations within the A. F. of L. and not embraced in the original compact or purpose of the C. I. O. have been raided and dual organizations to a number of our affiliated unions have been encouraged in places without number. Today no national or international union is immune or secure against the forces of destruction that have been let loose by the leaders of this movement.

"Under such circumstances it is not essential that a special convention be held—indeed by the very utterances, acts and deeds of the organizations making up the C. I. O. they have demonstrated clearly and definitely that they no longer regard or consider themselves associated in any way whatsoever with the A. F. of L.

"The Executive Council heretofore hopeful and patient that a more moderate and conciliatory spirit might result in effecting a readjustment now finds it impossible to continue in that spirit if it is to be true to the best interests of all our affiliated unions.

Policy.

"The Executive Council hereafter proposes to pursue a policy and procedure that will not only advance and safeguard the interests of all affiliated unions, but as well leave open the way to all trade unionists who wish to retain their affiliation with the A. F. of L. and as will likewise make it possible for all workers heretofore not affiliated to come within the democratic and constructive fold of the American Federation of Labor. It is to give effect to this new policy and procedure and to marshal the forces of labor of America in support of this policy and procedure that the Executive Council decided upon calling into special conference the officers and/or representatives of all affiliated national and international unions, to meet with the Executive Council in Cincinnati, Ohio, on May 18 and for the purpose hereinbefore indicated."

Cincinnati Meat Cutters Win Hours Closing Pact

Cincinnati.—The Meat Cutters' Local union of Cincinnati has negotiated an agreement with the Cincinnati Food council for a uniform closing rule for all retail food stores in Great Cincinnati.

Under the new arrangement all retail groceries and meat markets will close every day at 6 o'clock with the exception of Saturday and the day previous to holidays when all stores will close promptly at 9:00 p.m. The agreement also provides for Wednesday afternoon as a half-holiday.

Make a tour of the shops that display the union label, shop card and button. Don't detour!

LABOR QUERIES

Q.—At what age do trade unions having old age retirement systems begin the payment of benefits?

A.—The minimum age requirement is 65 years in most unions, though members of three unions become eligible at 60. The Granite Cutters' International Association sets the retirement age at 62.

Q.—Does the American Federation of Labor exclude members of some races?

A.—No. The A. F. of L., since its beginning, was declared for organization of all workers without regard to "race, creed, color or sex." Some affiliated national and international organizations admit only white persons.

LABOR NEWS IN PARAGRAPHS.

Strikers in five of the six plants affected have voted to accept the settlement terms offered by Remington-Rand, which are far less favorable than those ordered by the NLRB.

The Norwood plant rejected the terms.

The International Longshoremen's union has declared a strike against the Cunard-White Star ships in New York, in an effort to make the shipping officials recognize the union in Montreal. It is feared that this strike may delay J. Pierpont Morgan on his voyage to London to the coronation of King George.

Gas Rates HAVE BEEN Greatly Reduced

This Time the Reduction Applies to Those Using

AUTOMATIC GAS WATER HEATING

Every domestic gas consumer has an opportunity to participate in the saving afforded by our new promotional or objective rate, effective on bills rendered after MAY 1st.

Heretofore, customers become eligible for the new low rate by cooking and refrigerating with Gas. This envied rate is now extended to include those using Gas for cooking and AUTOMATIC WATER HEATING.

This new rate places the cost of Automatic Water Heating at the lowest figure ever known in Chattanooga, and within the means of practically every Gas consumer.

There are many ways of saving under the promotional or objective rate. Automatic Water Heating may be added at very little cost, or you can cook, heat water and refrigerate with Gas at a rate that makes any other method unnecessarily expensive.

Gas costs much less to use, and science has yet to devise any fuel that equals it in speed, dependability and general satisfactory performance. Every consideration prompts the use of Gas, the better fuel.

War of Savage Terrorism Waged on Harlan County Miners, Witnesses Swear

Threats, Beatings, Shootings, Bombings and Other Forms of Violence Employed by Lawless Operators in Fight on Organized Workers, La Follette Committee Is Told.

WASHINGTON, D. C. (ILNS).—Robert Lawson, general manager of the Corney-Lewis Coal Company, of Harlan County, Kentucky; the man whom Harlan county judges call up to know whether they shall turn a prisoner loose or give him the limit; the man whose private deputy keeps a so-called jail at Luellen; furnished at once the high lights and the comic relief of the La Follette hearing as the committee swung into the second week of its Harlan hearings.

Lawson is a man around 60; medium height, stocky, waistline longer than chest measurement, thick wrists and small hands, iron-gray hair receding from a rather low forehead, a double shin and a dewlap, bulbous nose of the J. P. Morgan pattern and soggy cheeks, and both nose and cheeks a rich, rare, ripe whiskey purple. He has also the most perfectly performated memory that has appeared in Washington investigations for years; and that is going some.

"How much coal do you mine a year?"

"I don't know."

"What is your biggest customer?"

"I don't pay any attention to such things."

He "Can't Remember."

"You belong to the Harlan County Coal Operators' association?"

"Yes."

"Do you discuss labor policy at your meetings?"

"I can't remember."

"Did you know Ben Unthank was an employe of that association?"

"I didn't know it."

"You never heard of the work he did for the association?"

"I believe I heard the cashier of the bank speak of it once."

Company Has Private Jail.

That is a fair sample of his answers, though La Follette had to press him each time to get even that much definiteness out of him. Unthank is the murder superintendent of the col operators of Harlan county. Lawson was at Cumberland college with him; Unthank stayed two or three years and Lawson's college course consumed nine years. But he didn't know what Unthank did for a living, nor where he lived.

"We have had some trouble in locating him, too," said La Follette.

The jail at Luellen is the space under the stone steps of the theater building; on company grounds, of course. Lawson's personal deputy is jail keeper.

"By what authority does the company put men in its own private jal?" asked La Follette.

"They break the law," said Lawson.

Victims Tell of Beatings.

Before Lawson came on the stand, Marshal A. Musick and James Westmoreland were heard. Both are mountaineers belonging to the United Mine Workers. Both told stories of being beaten and kicked by deputies. Musick is a preacher, who often escaped from the deputies by disguising himself. He would take out his false teeth, rub dirt on his face, and walk past men waiting to catch him.

Both these men told the story of John Smith, a negro miner who was trusted so much that in the brief period of NRA, when some semblance of law prevailed in Harlan county, he was made the union's check weighman. Deputies of the coal companies arrested him, took him over the mountain into Leslie county, and beat him half to death.

Sheriff Gives No Aid.

Sheriff Middleton, appealed to in the matter, said that "that damned nigger" would get out of the county and stay out or be killed. At the same interview, he said that he wouldn't tolerate any more long-nosed preachers — referring to Vogel and Musick.

Musick and Westmoreland, both obviously honest men of fully average intelligence, told how armed deputies herded striking miners out of their dwellings and drove them to work at the muzzle of guns.

Ted Creech, a mine superintendent, whose part in terrorism is mentioned below, threatened a witness in the committee room. The committee has not yet decided just what to do with Creech; but it is likely to be something unpleasant.

Criminals Named Deputies

Half a dozen other revelations before the committee during its most hectic week would each make a thrilling story in itself. For example:

1. Sheriff Theodore R. Middleton, of Harlan county, admitted that his force of 379 deputies contained 37 ex-convicts and 64 men indicted for serious crimes. He had admitted earlier that he owned an interest in a company store , which paid 30 or 40 per cent profits; and that the Harlan Coal Operators' Association provided his surety bond of $160,000.

2. William M. Clontz, U. M. W. field organizer, testified that his home was riddled by bullets from high-power rifles, endangering the lives of his mother, wife and son as well as his own. He testified that his life was threatened by Creech.

Paid to "Shoot Up" Clontz

3. Lawrence Howard, a mountain youth much frightened by the city, swore that he had been offered money to help "shoot up" the Clontz; and told how he had seen Ben Unthank, murder superintendent of the Harlan county coal operators, and two other deputies leaving the scene just after the shooting occurred. Clontz went to Sheriff Middleton about the affair, and was told:

"The only thing I know for you to do is to leave the county."

4. Carl Vogel, a Methodist minister now living in Ashland, Ky., told of his transfer after protesting against the systematic terrorism of mine workers by coal operators, and described one beating he had seen.

Menaced by Submachine Gun

5. Rev. B. P. Moses told of a group of miners headed for a mass meeting who were stopped by deputies with a submachine gun, led by Ted Creech.

And so, hour after hour, the testimony went on, telling tales of industrial tyranny backed by murder which probably could not be duplicated from any other part of the country.

Massachusetts Firm Whose Employes Struck Is Fined For Advertising for Help

The owners of a building in Worcester, Mass., undergoing extensive alterations under non-union conditions were recently fined $20 for violation of the state labor law forbidding advertising for help while a strike is in progress without mentioning that fact. The National Plumbing company, which furnished plumbing and steamfitting supplies and claimed to be partly responsible for the building being held "unfair" because of the company's insistence upon keeping a non-union man on the job, was fined $10 and costs in the same case.

MORE ABOUT OLD-AGE BENEFIT

from few dollars each to $105.

"A simple form has been devised by the board for the use of each of the five different types of claimants," Miss McGuire said. "Separate forms are provided for: (1) wage earners, (2) widows or widowers, (3) other close relatives, (4) executors or administrators, and (5) guardians or committees. They ask a minimum of from two to a maximum of 12 questions.

"A sixth form, known as 'Statement of Employer,' is a simple report by the employer giving only the total of wages paid the employe and the employment period."

Miss McGuire pointed out that one means of achieving simplicity in the claim procedure was by devising a form for each type of claim instead of trying to use one form for all types.

The board said forms are obtainable, and that assistance in executing them is available at any one of its 12 regional offices and 111 field offices now open at strategic points throughout the United States. Forms also may be obtained at the board's office in Washington, D. C. As the claims load increases, the board stated new field offices will be opened, until the maximum number of approximately 400 offices is established.

"Field offices of the board will contact prospective claimants when it is indicated they may be eligible for a benefit and explain and help claimants to execute the necessary forms," Miss McGuire continued.

Pointing to the simplicity of the claim forms, the board declared this makes unnecessary the employment of attorneys or claims agents to assist claimants; even a notary fee will not be necessary, the board said, on claims of $100 or less.

The lump-sum payment provisions of the federal old-age benefits plan became effective Jan. 1, it is explained. Monthly benefits do not become operative until 1942. Persons eligible for lump-sum payments are those in covered employments after 1936, who at the age of 65 either fail to have total wages of $2,000 or fail to meet the time requirement, or both. To qualify for a monthly benefit a wage earner must be 65 years old, his total wages from covered employment after 1936 must be $2,000 or more, and he must have earned wages after 1936 in covered employments for at least one day in each of five different calendar years.

Lump-sum payments now payable amount to 3½% of the total wages earned by the individual in covered employments after 1936.

If a wage earner files a claim, the form for "wage earner" is to be used. If the wage earner dies before attaining age 65, or before filing a claim on the "wage earner" form, and does not leave a will, payment will be made to the widow or widower, if either survives. The "widow or widower" form is to be used in such cases.

Where the wage earner dies without leaving a will or a surviving spouse, the "close relative" form is to be used for a claim filed by a child or grandchild or his legal custodian if under legal disability, or by the father or mother of the deceased wage earner.

The "executor or administrator" form is for the use of the executor or administrator of the deceased wage earner. The "guardian or committee" form is to be used by the guardian or committee of the legally incompetent wage earner.

"The Statement of Employer" is to be filed with each type of claim. Prompt execution of this form by the employer will be of material help to the wage earner who is filing a claim. The "Statement of Employer," the board explained, is required in adjudicating early claims. When the board has completed the setting up of initial records for each of the 26,000,000 wage earners under this section of the act, and as employes' earnings are reported, there will be less occasion to use the "Statement of Employer" form now required.

However, since the first report of employe wages are not due from the employer until next July, the "Statement of Employer" is being used now in every case. After wage records of employes are current, the "Statement of Employer" may be used in some cases to supplement the boafd's records.

Supporting papers necessary for claims adjudication are: (1) Proof of birth where the claim is for an amount in excess of $100, (2) proof of death if the wage earner is deceased, and (3) proof of appointment where the application is filed by executor, administrator, guardian or committee.

The Knoxville office of the Social Security Board is located at Fifth Floor, Burwell Building, 600 South Gay Street.

ALFRED M. LANDON ASSAILS KANSAS MOVIE CENSORSHIP

Topeka, Kan.—Alfred M. Landon protested here against a censorship of Kansas movies.

"We must not sleep while a government board takes away the very foundations of our freedom," he said.

He called upon Gov. Walter Huxman, his successor, to "correct the foolish act of the Kansas censor board" and restore the speech of Senator Wheeler to the current edition of the March of Time news reel.

Deletion of Senator Wheeler's speech, which opposed President Roosevelt's court reorganization plan, has raised a political furor in Kansas.

LOS ANGELES JUDGE UPHOLDS PICKETING

Decision Refusing Injunction Declares Pharmacists' Union Has Legal Right to Picket Plant Where Strike Is in Progress.

Pharmacists' Local Union 840, Los Angeles, Cal., recently secured an injunction victory which is claimed to be of paramount interest to organize labor in that state.

The Thrifty Drug company originally secured a temporary injunction enjoining the union from carrying on various sorts of strike activities against the company. The petition for the injunction claimed that the union was applying all sorts of illegal methods to win the strike.

When the time came to make a decision for a permanent injunction, Judge Henry M. Willis denied the petition and dissolved the temporary restraining order.

In a careful review of the evidence submitted in a week's trial of the case Judge Willis, stating the reasons for his decision, declared that the strikers had the right to picket, to carry a placard, and to sell or give away newspapers for the purpose of disseminating information regarding the strike in progress, and the right to both primary and secondary boycott.

Judge Willis emphasized the point that injury to the business of an employer due to auy or all of these strike activities or practices was no ground for an injunctive action. He pointed out that the only ground for an nijunction is premeditated violence and intimidation of employes or patrons of the employer, and stressed the fact that the evidence did not show any such unlawful act on the part of the union.

his feet and called on "all loyal AFL gentlemen" to leave the hall, and some fifteen or more delegates, most of whom were building tradesmen, left the room, to convene again in a hall on the floor below.

While every local union in the Central Body, with the exception of three, are AFL locals, many delegates stayed in the regular hall, basing their stand that, although they were loyal to the A. F. of L., they did not consider Delegate Witt's summons as a legal summons to withdraw.

At the second meeting W. A. Witt was named president pro tem of what was termed "the real Central Body," while A. T. Johnson was named secreary ptro tem. At the same time, a telegram was drawn up and sent to President Green, requesting him to send in immediately his representative to go into the dispute. The telegram was signed by T. R. Cuthbert, secretary of the Tennessee Federation of Labor, and W. A. Witt as president of the Building Trades council. It is believed that the A. F. of L. representative will be in the city immediately after the T. F. L. convention.

Secretary Cuthbert telephoned President R. S. McCann, of the Tennessee Federation of Labor, and reported to him his recommendation and action taken in the affair. President McCann expressed his deep regret of the turn of affairs, but commended Cuthbert for his position taken as representative of the Tennessee Federation of Labor.

Within both disputing groups the gravest fears are being expressed and it is generally admitted that the CIO-AFL argument has reached a stage which might change the tunes of Chattanooga labor for years to come.

Less Monthly Discomfort
Many women, who formerly suffered from a weak, run-down condition as a result of poor assimilation of food, say they benefited by taking CARDUI, a special medicine for women. They found it helped to increase the appetite and improve digestion, thereby bringing them more strength from their food.
Naturally there is less discomfort at monthly periods when the system has been strengthened and the various functions restored and regulated.
Cardui, praised by thousands of women, is well worth trying. Of course, if not benefited, consult a physician.

NASHVILLIAN NEW HEAD OF STATE WORKERS

erald Foley Succeeds R. S. McCann.

UTHBERT RENAMED TO SECRETARY POST

eke" Witt, Building Tradesman, Selected for Executive Council.

(By Staff Correspondent.)

Jackson, Tenn., May 6.—Moving forward under the banner of the American Federation of Labor, the Tennessee Federation of Labor unanimously elected Gerald Foley, of Nashville, to its presidency and re-elected T. R. Cuthbert, of Chattanooga, as secretary-treasurer.

Election of officers and selection of Johnson City as the 1938 convention city climaxed the three-day convention of the T. F. of L. here.

Mr. Foley's election was made unanimous when R. S. McCann, of Memphis, withdrew before the official vote had been counted and moved that the Nashville leader's election be made unanimous.

Mr. Cuthbert's election also was made unanimous when W. Clay McKenzie, of Knoxville, withdrew and moved that the Chattanooga man's election be by acclamation.

The federation decided to send a delegate to the 1937 convention of the American Federation of Labor and unanimously elected Mr. McCann as delegate. Mr. Foley was named alternate delegate.

Other officers elected were the following executive board members: Carl Vester, of Nashville; George B. McNamara, of Memphis; J. E. Cooper, of Jackson; W. A. Witt, of Chattanooga; D. C. Long, of Johnson City; Miss Lucille Thornburg, of Knoxville, and C. L. Gaba, of Pickwick.

Miss Thornburg, a musician and trustee of the Knoxville Central Labor Union, is the first woman ever to be elected to the executive board of the Tennessee Federation of Labor.

Officers of the federation were installed by Paul Aymon, a past president of the state body.

The convention here was one of the most successful ever held by the 40-year-old T. F. of L.

Pledging its support to the principles of the A. F. of L., the federation moved along in convention as a well-organized, harmonious organization.

A progressive legislation program was adopted and plans for an extensive organization drive to bring the unorganized in the state under the protecting wing of the A. F. of L. were completed by delegates and officers.

The federation, acting on a request by representatives of teachers' union, changed its convention time to the first Monday in June.

IGNING OF CONTRACT ENDS MINERS' STRIKE

Knoxville.—Seven thousand miners eturned to work in East Tennessee nd Kentucky after United Mine Workers' officials and southern coal perators signed a contract.

The agreement, based on a similar ontract in New York recently, ended walkout which began April 1.

CONVENTION PLEDGES AID TO PARENT BODY

Delegates Also Approve President's Court Plan.

NASHVILLE PAPER SCORED BY WORKERS

Banner Is Charged With Promoting Lockouts and Strikes.

(By Staff Correspondent.)

Jackson, Tenn., May 6.—Flaying the C. I. O., pledging support to President Roosevelt's plan to enlarge the U. S. Supreme Court and urging passage of pending state workmen's compensation measures, the Tennessee Federation of Labor acted on numerous resolutions at its 1937 convention here.

In its resolution condemning C. I. O., the federation said that the group "is attempting to force the will of the minority upon the majority."

This action on C. I. O. was separate from the motion adopted at the Monday session to pledge support to the A. F. of L. in the controversy.

Praising President Roosevelt's "determined spirit to help the masses by proposing legislation that is beneficial to them," a resolution adopted further said:

"The U. S. Supreme Court has shown an unfavorable attitude towards this legislation by several of their past decisions, and President Roosevelt has realized the necessity of proposing legislation to increase the number of judges in the court so that a liberal interpretation may be expected from said court on his proposed legislation."

A resolution asking the La Follette Civil Liberties Committee to investigate "the notorious H. W. Flagg strikebreaking agency of Philadelphia, which operates under the direction of publishers of newspapers," was adopted by the convention.

The resolution further stated "the Nashville Banner, as part of the said Flagg agency, has furnished strikebreakers on numerous occasions to promote lockouts and break strikes in other cities."

The convention, acting on a resolution presented by the Memphis Brewery Workers' Union, went on record as being opposed to the activities of the dry organizations which are attempting to outlaw the manufacture and sale of beer in Tennessee and the rest of the nation. Such successful action to outlaw beer would result in the unemployment of thousands of men, the resolution said.

The Chattanooga Brewery Workers' Union presented a resolution asking T. F. of L. assistance in organizing soft drink workers throughout the state. The resolution was adopted.

The federation also urged that no cuts be made in federal government appropriations which would necessitate the lowering of salaries of government employes.

Indorsement of the anti-injunction bill now pending in the state legislature was pledged in another resolution. In this connection, it was pointed out that unfriendly judges had often issued drastic orders prohibiting peaceful picketing.

Employment of "guards" to intimidate workers during strikes was deplored in another resolution presented by the Chattanooga Carpenters' Union. It pointed out that employers often engaged "guards" and had local officers to give them a law commission. Legislation to end the practice was urged.

Support of a state measure to require the state to pay the prevailing wage rate to its mechanics was pledged. A resolution on the matter said that such legislation is now pending in Nashville.

The Jackson Trades and Labor Council presented a resolution urging that the tax on margarine be reduced. The federation unanimously approved this action. The tax was put into effect in Tennessee in 1931.

The legislature was urged to pass a bill known as the Tennessee State Code of Fair Practice. This measure has the active support of union barbers throughout the state.

GREEN WIRES APPRECIATION TO DELEGATES

A. F. L. Head Thanks State Workers for Support.

GIVES ASSURANCE OF FULL BACKING

Promises Protection Against Inroads of "Subversive Forces."

(By Staff Correspondent.)

Jackson, Tenn., May 6.—Appreciation of the action of the Tennessee Federation of Labor in pledging to support the American Federation of Labor in the controversy with the C. I. O. was expressed in a telegram received by President R. S. McCann from President William Green.

The telegram, which unionists said Mr. Green "must have put his heart into," was received Tuesday and read at Wednesday's session.

The telegram follows:

"I extend to you and through you to the officers and delegates in attendance at the Tennessee Federation of Labor convention the fraternal greetings of the officers and members of the American Federation of Labor and my personal felicitations.

"The loyalty and devotion which those in attendance at your convention are showing to the American Federation of Labor, its laws, principles and policies is deeply appreciated.

"The American Federation of Labor is standing now as it always has stood for the maintenance and protection of democracy and democratic procedure, the principles of organized labor which are near and dear to the heart of every worker and for the advancement of the economic, social and industrial welfare of the masses of the people.

"In addition we will resist every attempt made by subversive forces to impose upon the organized labor movement of America an imported philosophy designed to substitute dictatorship and autocracy in America for democratic rule, individual and collective freedom and the right to establish and maintain trade unions founded upon the principles of industrial democracy.

"The American Federation of Labor will give to your state federation of labor a full and complete measure of support. May your convention follow a constructive course and may its deliberations and decisions be of great benefit to the working people and all their friends in Tennessee."

NEWSPAPER BOYS TO MEET SUNDAY

The Newspaper Guild of Chattanooga, Local 112 of the American Newspaper Guild, will hold a special meeting at 2 p. m. Sunday at Room 908, Patten Hotel, according to announcement by Temporary Secretary Travis K. Hedrick.

Up for consideration at the meeting will be the matter of instructing delegates to the central body, the election of permanent officers, the election of a chairman and controller for the Chattanooga Times unit and admission of many new members.

A full attendance is expected, including such members at large as are residing in Chattanooga at this time.

NEWSPAPER GUILD VOTES "USE POSTAL"

Washington.—Because the Commercial Telegraphers' union has signed a contract with Postal Telegraph in the Washington, New York and Detroit regions, the Washington Newspaper guild has voted to ask its members to use the facilities of Postal Telegraph wherever possible. The guild, at a recent meeting, approved the "use Postal" resolution by unanimous vote.

George Berry Is Given Boost By State Convention

Pressmen's Head Urged for Vacancy in United States Senate.

THE HONORABLE

SENATOR GEORGE

(By Staff Correspondent.)

Jackson, Tenn., May 6.—The Tennessee Federation of Labor indorsed Major George Berry, president of the International Pressmen's Union, for appointment to the United States senate at its fortieth annual convention here.

The vacancy in the senate was caused by the recent death of Senator Nathan L. Bachman, of Chattanooga.

On motion of A. D. Brown, business agent of the Memphis Street Car Men's Union, the convention voted to dispatch a telegram to Governor Browning, urging that Major Berry be appointed to the senate.

John Conroy, of Nashville, suggested that the matter of indorsing Major Berry be referred to the nonpartisan committee of the state federation and the railroad brotherhoods.

The federation, however, decided that it was imperative that action be taken immediately and went ahead with its appeal to Governor Browning.

Holt Ross, A. F. of L. organizer in Mississippi and Louisiana, told the convention that "in my opinion you won't make a mistake in indorsing Major Berry." Later, George Googe, the A. F. of L.'s No. 1 man in the South, expressed his personal pleasure in the action of the state federation.

In urging the indorsement of the East Tennessee labor leader, Robert Tillman, of Memphis, declared that "it is a sad day for labor when the federation can't go on record as indorsing a man for such an office."

MR. MYERS DENIES INTENT TO OFFEND ORGANIZED LABOR

Thomas S. Myers, local attorney, says "nay, nay," in a loud voice, to an implication that he has visited the Home Plate restaurant, contained in the fact that the well-known attorney's name was published in last week's issue of The Labor World as one of labor's "friends" who have crashed the picket lines at the one or two restaurants which have decided to fight the advance of the workers in Chattanooga.

Mr. Myers admits he stepped into this non-union place, but avers it was on private business, and not for the purpose of patronizing the labor-fighting employer.

The Labor World takes pleasure in correcting the stigma that has thus been incorrectly cast on the popular attorney.

His letter follows:

May 5, 1937.

Mr. T. R. Cuthbert, Editor
The Labor World,
Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Dear Sir—I notice that you have my name in the April 30 issue of your paper, in which you list me as crashing the picket line in front of the Home Plate.

I wish to say that I went in to see Mr. Hudlow in regard to some tickets to the derby and talked to him about five minutes and this was all there was to it. I take my meals at the Elks Club and have never done anything that was offensive to union labor. I have always been a friend to union labor, especially when I was a member of the legislature in 1913.

I wish you would make a correction of this as I don't want to be in bad with union labor. I am a supporter of Roosevelt and of union labor 100 per cent.

Yours sincerely,
THOS. S. MYERS.

GOOGE FLAYS OPPONENTS OF FEDERATION

Green's Representative Roasts C. I. O. Advocates.

PAYS RESPECTS TO MEMPHIS GUILD

Declares Newspaper Boys Should Be "Mothered and Pitied."

(By Staff Correspondent.)

Jackson, Tenn., May 6.—Criticism of the American Federation of Labor's action in barring C. I. O. delegates from the fortieth annual convention of the Tennessee Federation of Labor was answered in an address to the convention by George Googe, Southern A. F. of L. representative.

The executive committee of the Newspaper Guild of Memphis had forwarded a letter to President R. S. McCann, of the T. F. of L., protesting the stand of the A. F. of L. in regard to the seating of delegates. The Memphis guild, however, is not affiliated with the state federation and of course did not have a representative at this convention.

In explaining that the T. F. of L. by-laws definitely state that unions whose international organizations are not affiliated with the A. F. of L. are not entitled to representation at the conventions of state bodies, Mr. Googe said in regard to the Memphis guild's communication:

"One of the greatest handicaps of the A. F. of L. is that some of the newer local unions are not really familiar with the controversy.

"Why these boys in the Memphis guild are not dry behind the ears. They have said in their letter that President Green is our servant. I am glad to know that you leaders know more about the A. F. of L. and T. F. of L. law than our newfound friends.

"But these boys are not to be criticized. They are to be mothered and pitied. We must inject a little common sense in their organization and present them with copies of the A. F. of L. constitution and by-laws."

Mr. Googe then urged that trade unionists launch a campaign to educate misinformed trade groups of the real merits of the C. I. O.-A. F. of L. affair.

"But remember we are going to give all organizations just as much assistance as possible in organizing," Mr. Googe continued.

The federation decided to appoint a committee to reply to the letter from the Memphis guild.

"Labor is facing the greatest crisis in its history," the A. F. of L. organizer said. "The time has come when we must keep level heads."

Mr. Googe then went into a detailed explanation of events which led to the suspension of 10 international unions by the A. F. of L. because of the C. I. O. activities. From the inception of C. I. O., there has been a definite objective to destroy the A. F. of L., he charged.

He said that all pleadings of A. F. of L. leaders for conferences to iron out the differences between the groups "fell on deaf ears."

The United Mine Workers were not kicked out of the A. F. of L. but were automatically suspended because of the failure to pay dues, Mr. Googe pointed out.

It was only after careful consideration and the failure of every effort to bring about peace that the A. F. of L. decided to inform the rank and file of the membership with the real issues of the controversy, Mr. Googe said.

Declaring that the textile workers of the South had rather join A. F. of L. organizations than C. I. O. groups, Mr. Googe said that the A. F. of L. will "match organizer for organizer and dollar for dollar" with the C. I. O. in the South.

"Just as soon as we get in the front line trenches there will be no carpenters, painters or musicians directing the textile workers," he continued. "I believe the workers of the South had rather follow their own leaders than of the salaried C. I. O. men.

"I don't think employers will have any confidence in men who have sold their own organizations down the river."

PHIL MANDRE AGAIN A BUSINESS AGENT

Phil Mandre, "old-timer" in Chattanooga Typographical union, was named Sunday to act as business agent of that local. Mr. Mandre, aside from many other active assignments for the Typos, has served in the same capacity before. He made a splendid record, and members of No. 89 are expecting substantial results from his work under the reassignment given him Sunday.

ROSS OFFERS WARM DEFENSE OF PRES. GREEN

Organizer Flays Advocates of C. I. O.

CHARGES "FAKE ISSUES" INJECTED

Correspondent Says He "Literally Tore C. I. O. Apart" in Address.

(By Staff Correspondent.)

Jackson, Tenn., May 6.—After hearing Holt Ross, organizer for the American Federation of Labor, denounce John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization, the Tennessee Federation of Labor at its opening session of the fortieth annual convention pledged its unanimous support to the A. F. of L. in the controversy.

Mr. Ross, who has headquarters in New Orleans, had hardly finished his bitter attack on the C. I. O. when W. E. Cheek, of Nashville, rose to make a motion that the federation reaffirm its allegiance to the A. F. of L. and commend President William Green and the A. F. of L. executive council for its stand in the C. I. O. controversy.

As President R. S. McCann called for a vote on Mr. Cheek's proposal, there was not a single dissenting vote.

Mr. Ross was loudly cheered as he literally "tore the C. I. O. apart." In the early part of his address, Mr. Ross said that his remarks were addressed to "C. I. O. sympathizers if there be any here."

"The time has arrived when we should call a spade a spade," Mr. Ross said. "We must choose sides. We are either for or against the American Federation of Labor. The banner of the A. F. of L. will fly high in Tennessee always.

"I want to say here and now that we shall find the C. I. O. in the same graveyard with I. W. W. The C. I. O. is composed of those who would substitute autocracy for democracy; of those who sell their own organizations down the river. They are going to be badly fooled when they see their own members deserting them and chartered directly by the A. F. of L.

"I say we will meet C. I. O. with organizer for organizer, dollar for dollar and eye for eye, but it will be under the banner of the A. F. of L. and under American traditions and not under the communistic C. I. O. tendencies."

Mr. Ross charged that the issues between the C. I. O. and A. F. of L. was one of "Communism versus Americanism" and charged that the C. I. O. had on its payroll "50 of the outstanding Communists in America at this very moment."

In denouncing the C. I. O., Mr. Ross called the C. I. O. leaders by name. He said they had invoked fake issues in the controversy as a "smoke screen."

"We shall not longer sit idly by and permit the raids on the organized workers by C. I. O.," he continued. "Right now there are districts of textile and mine workers saying to hell with the C. I. O."

Prediction that the United Mine Workers of America will repudiate Lewis, their president, was made by Mr. Ross.

"We in the A. F. of L. have been hollering peace, peace, peace and the C. I. O. has been stabbing us in the back with a rusty knife," he said. "They have trained their heavy artillery on us.

"The time has come when we must oust every man who has C. I. O. tendencies from state federations and central bodies. You are not going to prostitute the A. F. of L. and then go out and wash the dirty linen of the C. I. O."

Accusing Lewis of breaking every law of the United Mine Workers, Mr. Ross said that President William Green, also a miner, "only crime has been his defending of the laws of the mine workers and the A. F. of L."

KRUESI VISIONS DISTURBANCE IN "HAPPY FAMILY"

Manufacturer Doesn't Like Those Unions.

"FELLOW WORKERS" GIVEN ADVICE

Declares Organization Might Disturb "Pleasant Relations."

These here, now, unions are all right in their place, and when they are run right, and all that sort of thing that you, brother and sister, have heard from our opponents for the past half-century, more or less, and, furthermore, when organized into trade unions these workers in the factories which have always maintained "happy family" relationships are forced to pay out money for something which may eventually work to their detriment.

At least, folks, that's what Mr. Paul J. Kruesi, president of the American Lava company, concludes in a letter addressed to his "fellow workers" in his big plant, where recently a union has been in process of formation. President Kruesi's sole interest, of course, is in maintaining the "big family" relationships in his factory, but despite his assurances, reports are that the organization is progressing nicely.

President Kruesi's communication is quite interesting, and is given in full below for the information and edification of our readers:

May 1, 1937.

To Our Fellow Workers:

I have been asked how I feel about the proposal to organize a union among our folks here at Alco. This is not an easy question to answer, but I will try to give you my personal views with some of the reasons for feeling as I do.

The unions have sometimes been beneficial and have helped to smooth out relations between employes and their associates, and sometimes, in my opinion, they have made it impossible for manufacturing industries to continue in business; and towns and whole communities have suffered. If, in a town or city, there are factories, some of which are union or open shop and others are non-union, an employe can choose between them as he or she sees fit, and, likewise, if an employe working in one of the factories desires to change, he is perfectly free to do so and work for a different company.

I believe the primary purpose of unions is to settle grievances, real or imaginary, between the boss and his workers. Grievances of course seem to me to be very much more common and more real in the large corporations than in a small company such as this one. I think you all feel free to discuss any matters with your foreman or with anybody else regarding anything that may be of interest to you or to the company. It may be well to remark here that with the generally good working conditions, which I think you will agree we have here, the

SOME OF THE DELEGATES JUST HAD TO TAKE "THE MISSUS"

(By Staff Correspondent.)

Jackson, Tenn., May 6.—Chattanooga was well represented at the T. F. of L. convention by wives of delegates.

It's been more or less a tradition at the T. F. of L. that a convention wouldn't be "just right" unless Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cooke were present.

Bob was too busy with his work as city commissioner to get down for his convention, but "Cookie," beloved by many friends, was on hand to greet them.

"It's a shame Bob couldn't be here," Jake Cohen, of Memphis, who, like Bob, is a past T. F. of L. president, said.

Other Chattanooga ladies at the convention were Mrs. A. C. Kamin, Mrs. V. W. Hallmark, Mrs. John Etter, Mrs. Harry Davies, Mrs. Erskine Mabee, Mrs. T. R. Cuthbert and Mrs. Joe Dobbs. Miss Edna Brown attended as a delegate.

Nashville ladies included Mrs. W. E. Cheek, Miss Mary Lynn and Miss Mary Slate. Knoxville's group included Miss Lucille Thornburg, a delegate, and Mrs. Stanley Cousins.

Mrs. Holt Ross, of New Orleans, wife of the A. F. of L. representative, was here for the meeting. Mrs. W. G. Hart, of Johnson City, accompanied her husband to the convention.

There were several Memphis ladies here, including Mrs. Helen McCullough, a delegates; Mrs. D. A. Pitts and others.

CHATTANOOGANS HAVE FAIR SHARE ON COMMITTEES

(By Staff Correspondent.)

Jackson, Tenn., May 6.—Committees appointed at the 1937 convention of the Tennessee Federation of Labor included a good representation from Chattanooga.

The personnel of the committees named by President R. S. McCann follows:

Officers' Reports—T. O. Denham, Nashville; John Moore, Memphis; V. W. Hallmark, Chattanooga; George McNamara, Memphis; J. E. Cooper, Jackson; A. C. Clapp, Knoxville, and C. L. Gaba, Jackson.

Resolutions—W. N. Page, of Memphis; T. O. Denham, Nashville; H. M. Hart, Johnson City; B. A. Saunders, Jackson; W. Clay McKenzie, Knoxville; D. A. Pitts, Memphis, and A. T. Johnson, Chattanooga.

Press—George (Jiggs) Rosengren, Memphis; W. Clay McKenzie, Knoxville; Mr. Denham, Nashville; W. G. Hart, Johnson City; Stanley O'Connor, Nashville; Matt Robinson, Chattanooga, and Lucille Thornburg, Knoxville.

Union Label—John Aeschliman, Memphis; John Trenton, Chattanooga; W. E. Cheek, Nashville; A. A. Armstrong, Knoxville; L. P. Cole, Jackson; Ed H. Watson, Pickwick, and Ray Williams, Crossville.

Thanks—Helen Murray, Memphis; John W. Claudle, Nashville; W. A. Witt, Chattanooga; J. Paul Haynie, Pickwick; J. G. Childress, Knoxville; M. D. Baird and W. W. Shivelle, Jackson.

Grievances—C. C. Arthur, Knoxville; M. T. Milam, Memphis; T. D. Gaither, Jackson; Harry Davies, Chattanooga; R. H. Douglas, Pickwick; L. P. Cole, Jackson, and T. P. Loftis, Nashville.

Wagner

Robert F. Wagner—no relation to Honus, though you might think so from the way he slammed a fast one over the fence in the labor relations act. (To date, the supreme court fielder has muffed it.) Robert F. was made in Germany, and the patent bears date of June 8, 1877. His parents emigrated early, and Robert was raised in New York.

Wagner, Franklin Roosevelt, and Al Smith were all in the New York legislature at the same time. All were champions of liberalism then; and with the first two, the habit has stuck. Wagner has been a leader and champion of labor reforms from a date so early that nobody remembers when he wasn't such; but it may be mentioned that he was chairman of the state factory investigating committee in 1911.

He has a hardwood finish face, which crinkles frequently into a very pleasant smile. He is no orator as Franklin is; but on the last day of March, he made a speech in the senate which is the best by a mile of all efforts in that body to embody and explain the sit-down strike.

Secession Proves Blow To Printers' Pay

Winnipeg Typos Who Left International Union Find Company Unionism Does Not Pan Out.

Winnipeg.—Some years ago printers employed by the Tribune and Free Press seceded from the International Typographical union, and formed a local two-company union. They have recently had to sign a five-year contract with the two papers at wages on the lowest level for twenty years.

The terms as to time of work—six days and 48 hours per week for day work—are fived for the full five years, but wage rates may be opened annually at 60 days' notice.

For a period when local printers were organized under the International Typos union, wages were higher than in Toronto, Ontario. Now a comparison of conditions is decidedly unfavorable to Winnipeg.

Just recently Toronto Typographical Union, No. 91, of the International, signed a one-year agreement with the three daily papers there, which provides for wage increases to approximately $1.06 an hour for day workers and $1.17 an hour for night workers.

In Toronto the wages of day workers are $42.50 for a week of 40 hours (five days); in Winnipeg, $40 for 48 hours (six days). For night work in Toronto the wages are $55 for 37½ hours (five nights); in Winnipeg $42 for 43½ hours (six days).

The Winnipeg mugwump printers union has affiliated with the newly-created Canadian Federation of Labor, thus, it is claimed, removing it from the column of company unions.

Jerry J. Horan, Labor Union Official, Dies

Was President of International Union of Building Service Employes.

Chicago.—Jerry J. Horan, president of the International Union of Building Service Employes and of the Chicago Flat Janitors' union, died in the Passavant hospital here, where he had been a patient for only four days, on April 27. He was 50 years old.

Mr. Horan was well known in the world of organized labor in Chicago and throughout the United States. He had been head of the janitors' and service employes' unions for the last ten years. Labor leaders said his administration had been constructive and progressive. In this connection they cited the fact that less trouble had been reported in the building service unions under his leadership than ever before.

The funeral services were attended by a large number of friends and acquaintances both in and out of the organized labor movement. Interment was in Calvary cemetery.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Nona Horan, and a daughter, Mrs. James Curran.

Picketing Achievements

The value of picketing as a method of informing the public with regard to unfair labor conditions imposed on workers by anti-union employers and suggesting that the friends of labor withhold their patronage from such concerns as long as the unfair conditions are not remedied is well illustrated by the experience of the local unions of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes and Moving Picture Machine Operators of the United States and Canada in Providence, R. I.

About a year ago the proprietors of the Modern theater in Providence discharged their union moving picture machine operators and stage hands and decided to operate on the open shop basis.

Shortly after this subversive decision the theatrical unions placed a corps of pickets in front of the theater to inform patrons of both day and night shows that the theatre employes were not members of bona fide American Federation of Labor unions.

Despite dwindling audiences, the proprietors of the theater remained in their unpatriotic determination not to recognize the right of the workers to organize in unions and bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing.

The pickets persistently continued their picketing week after week and month after month. Recently the attendance at the theater became so small that further operation evidently meant bankruptcy for the owners. Consequently, rather than yield to the just demands of organized labor they closed the theater.

Loyalty to a principle is often a virtue. But when the principle is the denial of the right of the workers to organize and bargain collectively to protect their living standards, loyalty to it is not a virtue—it is, instead, a moral fault which merits and receives the condemnation of all those whose judgments are based on ethical concepts.

Obeying Union Rules

The obligation which individuals take when they join a labor union is to obey its rules and regulations is equally important as the obligations which unions take to faithfully observe agreements made with employers.

One of the major purposes of every union is to fix minimum wage scales for its members, and no union member is permitted to work for less than the scale without special permission from the union, which is very rarely given. This rule is necessary to preserve union rates.

Occasionally a few scale chiselers operate within union ranks. When this occurs, drastic action is necessary by loyal union members and officials to preserve the union rates and protect the living standards based on those rates.

Local No. 47 of the American Federation of Musicians, in Los Angeles, Cal., recently had severad cases of this sort to deal with. Out of a membership of 4,680, there were 27 union members who were charged with violating union rules by playing "side line" engagements in independent motion picture studios for less than the union scale.

The board of directors of the union gave the men a fair trial, found them guilty of scale cutting, and assessed the following penalties:

Contractor, expulsion and $500 fine; two members, $100 fines; eight members, $75 fines; three members, $50 fines; one member, $35 fine; 12 members, $25 fines.

In commenting on these penalties the president of the union said they should impress the members with the necessity of upholding their obligations by "square actions" in line with the laws, rules, price lists and other requirements of the union. "We trust," he added, "that this is the final case wherein our members may find themselves penalized for unethical activities in the motion picture studios, and that they will profit in experience by the conclusions reached in this case."

Low Wage Industries

People who are either so untruthful or ignorant as to boast about the universal high wage scales which it is alleged employers in the United States pay working men and women would realize that silence is golden if they really and sincerely undertook to find out just what wages are paid.

A good eye-opener along this line has recently been afforded by the Colorado Industrial commission in a hearing on wages paid florist and greenhouse employes in Denver. The question before the commission was the proposal, supported by the Colorado State Federation of Labor, to increase the wage rates for the workers in that sweated industry. After hearing the case the commission by a two-to-one vote reversed its former decision and fixed the wages at 45 cents an hour.

Testimony submitted by the representatives of the State Federation of Labor showed that although the employes of the Denver greenhouses and florists are skilled workers, the employers, taking advantage of economic conditions, impose a work week ranging from 54 to 72 hours and pay wages ranging from $10.80 to $12 a week.

These wage rates are unbelievably low. They are too low to permit the workers to provide a decent living for themselves and their families. But the representatives of the employers insisted that although the cost of living had increased a rise in wages was not justified. Happily, the commission decided against this unwarranted argument and awarded an increased wage rate.

It is interesting to note that, even when confronted with indisputable testimony that the Denver florists had had the most profitable year since business recovery began in 1933, the member of the commission who voted against the wage increase held there was nothing in the testimony to convince him that they could pay even the 45 cents an hour, which the majority of the commission found reasonable.

The low wages of the Denver florist and greenhouse employes are duplicated by the wages paid other unorganized employes in many parts of the United States. It would be a good plan to make a record of these low wage business groups and throw it in the face of the chronic ballyhooers who insist in unloading on the public the false propaganda that unreasonably low wages do not exist in the United States.

PROBLEMS OF RECREATION THEME OF NATIONAL CONFERENCE IN MAY

New York City.—"The Importance of Recreation in Modern Life" is to be the general theme of a National Recreation congress in Atlantic City, N. J., May 17-21, 1937. Over a thousand delegates, many of whom will be officially appointed by the governors of the various states, are expected.

Two hundred persons, including labor spokesmen, are scheduled to take part in the program, in which some of the fundamental problems faving the public recreation movement will be thrashed out.

Some of the questions uppermost in the minds of the delegates are the recreation requirements for modern youth, special recreation needs of girls and women, general tax problems which affect recreation. A major consideration of the congress will be the selection and training of the workers in the recreation field and how to maintain the merit system in public recreation departments. Cities that have received large grants through federal emergency funds for playgrounds, parks, athletic fields and other recreational facilities are now concerned with how these facilities are to be maintained.

The Recreation congress is sponsored by the National Recreation association, 315 Fourth avenue, New York City.

Labor Disputes Settled Quickly Since Upholding of Wagner Act

New York City.—This regional office of the national labor relations board has handled almost as many cases in the three weeks since the national labor relations act was upheld by the supreme court as it did in the eighteen months between the passage of the act and the decision.

Mrs. Elinore M. Herrick, regional director, said that she is running her office on a 16 to 20-hour a day basis. Labor controversies are being settled peaceably at the rate of fifty-six a month; while before the supreme court's decision the rate averaged three a monh.

"There are indications," she said, "that the technique of holding a secret ballot to determine the wishes of employes will be used more and more where the right of the union to recognition as the exclusive collective bargaining agency is challenged, now that employers have shown a disposition to concede the fundamental right of workers to organize and to bargain collectively through their chosen representatives.

"This procedure is one which, when followed, leaves no aftermath of bitterness and ill-will in the minds of either the employer or those workers who may not be organized."

Mrs. Herrick gave these figures in an address before the New York Ethical Culture society. "So sweeping has been the change in attitude toward the law," she said, "that it is hard to believe only three weeks have passed."

Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, speaking at the same meeting, praised the labor act and paid his regards to dictatorships. He said: "Labor has nothing to gain and everything to lose when people, in their impatience, overthrow democratic processes. Dictatorships of any kind must mean abuse and curtailment of liberties. This great progress labor is making today will bring democracy—even in Harlan county, even in Maine for the shoe workers."

Memphis Barbers Win 48 Shops for Union

Two Shops Organized in San Jose—Beauty Operators in St. Paul Form Union.

Washington.—The following items regarding the progress of organization work in the interest of the Journeymen Barbers' International union are compiled from labor papers received at the headquarters of the American Federation of Labor here:

Barbers' Local union No. 36, at Memphis, Tenn., in a recent drive for new members and new contracts with employers, has signed up forty-eight shops, bringing sixty-eight members into the local.

The newly-organized beauty operators local of the Journeymen Barbers' International union in St. Paul, Minn., voted to affiliate with the St. Paul Trades and Labor Assembly. The union is challenging the commission type of compensation in vogue in some beauty shops as an unjust method of wage payment.

Two new barber shops have been organized by Journeymen Barbers' Local Union No. 252 of San Jose, Cal.

Anti-Union Restaurant Owner Loses $35,000 Damage Suit Against Arizona Labor Journal

Phoenix Judge Dismisses Case Involving Printed Statement That Firm was "Unfair."

A recent decision handed down by Judge G. A. Rodgers in Phoenix, Ariz., is interpreted as permitting a labor paper to declare that a firm is "unfair" to workers without being liable to a suit for damages.

The case was started in the summer of 1935 during a strike of the Phoenix culinary crafts against the Courthouse Cafe operated by Mr. Golfinos, who refused to pay the union wage scale to his waitresses. Subsequently the Central Labor council of Phoenix placed the restaurant on the "unfair list." Pickets employed by the Cooks and Waiters' union patroled the restaurant.

The Arizona Labor Journal, the official organ of the Arizona State Federation of Labor, put out a special edition of the paper carrying the headline, "Court House Cafe Unfair." The papers were sold in front of the cafe.

Mr. Golfinos brought suit for $35,000 against the Arizona Labor Journal, the State Federation of Labor, the Cooks' and Waiters' union, and the officials of the state federation.

The case was argued June 15, 1936, Judge Rodgers taking the matter under advisement. In a recent decision, he dismissed the case.

Relief Agency Is Compiling New Labor Press Directory

New York City.—The workers' education project of the works progress administration, 305 Broadway, New York, is engaged in the task of compiling a new labor press directory of the United States.

For the preliminary survey, now completed, information has been gathered from a dozen different sources, including the last American Labor Press Directory, published in 1926 by the Rand School of Social Science, New York. To the about one thousand addresses thus obtained explanatory letters and questionnaires have been dispatched. So far, the response and the cooperation have been splendid. In order to accelerate the publication of the new directory the compilers are now asking all labor press editors who have received but have not as yet answered the questionnaire to please do so, so that the list, containing many interesting data, may be as complete as possible.

No Higher Wages Now, Hitler Tells German Workers

Dictator Bars Increase in Pay, At Present Held to 1932 Low Levels, in Characteristic Nazi Outburst at Berlin.

Washington, May 6.—Hitler's May day speech at Berlin is regarded here as a Nazi classic. In a single address, the dictator told German workers that the time had not come for higher wages, denounced the Jews with his customary fury, and served a notice which is an obvious threat to the clergy of both Protestants and Catholics.

German wages have been pegged practically at the 1932 level, though living costs in Germany have doubled or more. But Hitler declared in this speech that wages could not be raised. Germany is poor in raw materials, he said, and must concentrate all her genius on production. Besides, he declared, labor at no increase of wages "will force a better class respect of the worker."

"Respect" Won't Help Workers.

What this appears to mean, by all the rules of language, is that the "better classes" will respect the worker if he doesn't try to get higher wages. Just how that will help him buy bread and oleomargarine—butter is totally out of the average German worker's reach—Hitler did not say.

The anti-Jewish tirade is so common that no one paid much attention to it. Hitler's talk about German youth is felt to have more significance. Declaring that "those who think they can bring disunion into our youth are mistaken," Hitler went on:

"We put an end to disunity among our youth and created one sole youth movement. There can be only one educational system for youth."

Threat to Church Schools.

"If anybody tries, through encyclicals, sermons, or other religious measures, to disturb our community spirit, we will simply withdraw the clergyman's license from such.

"There are still among us old fogies who are no longer good for anything. . . . But this does not disturb us. We will take away their children. These we will train and educate to become new Germans."

This is plainly a proclamation that religious teaching of any kind is under a close and hostile supervision from the Nazi authorities. In Germany, both Catholics and Protestants have insisted on the necessity of religious training for the young. Apparently, their insistence is likely to bring them nothing but jail sentences.

FIVE-DAY WEEK IN BREWERIES.

New Orleans.—Brewery workers, to the number of several hundred, are now on an eight-hour-a-day schedule for a five-day week.

Are California Banks Refusing Credit To Employers Who Operate Union Shops?

Organized Labor in Los Angeles Wants State Legislature and La Follette Civil Liberties Committee to Prove the Situation.

Possible collusion between banks and anti-union employer associations to injure the organized labor movement was indicated in a resolution recently adopted by the Central Labor Council of Los Angeles, Cal.

The council stated it had "reason to believe that the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association of this city has been engaging in questionable, if not illegal, practices of espionage and sabotage against organized labor," and that "there is reason to believe various banks in Los Angeles have contributed funds, either or both from the loanable funds of such banks' depositors, or from its surplus funds, which are the property of its stockholders, to aid the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association in its campaign against labor."

The resolution then declared that these alleged acts "are contrary to sound banking business and in violation of the state and national banking acts," and urged the state legislature in co-operation with the state banking commissioner and the officials of the federal reserve system to conduct a "rigid investigation into the affairs of every bank in the city of Los Angeles, to determine whether or not any of them have contributed any funds to the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association, or whether any such bank has used its power of withholding credit to coerce any merchant or manufacturer in this locality to cease dealing with organized labor."

The Central Labor council also ordered a copy of the resolution to be sent to the La Follette civil liberties committee in Washington with the request that the committee make an investigation of the charges.

WPA Funds Asked For School Safety

Washington, May 6.—Senator L. B. Schwellenbach, of Washington, has introduced a resolution to enable the PWA to undertake school construction projects in order that hazardous conditions may be eliminated from schools.

"I don't think there is a member of this body willing to economize at the expense of the lives and health of the school children of the country," Schwellenbach said.

"I don't think ideas of economy should stand in the way of protecting those children."

In response to a resolution passed by the senate following the New London, Tex., school disaster, Secretary Ickes submitted statistics showing that 1,178 projects of PWA are designed to eliminate school hazards, Schwellenbach said.

Of this number, 501 would be for the elimination of fire hazards, the report revealed.

The resolution points out that the money necessary to carry out the construction work is already available in the revolving fund of PWA.

HOTEL WORKERS WIN PROVIDENCE STRIKE

Providence, R. I.—Normal service was restored in this city's three largest hotels when 800 employes affiliated with American Federation of Labor unions returned to their posts after a three-day strike that won them a shorter work week, 10 to 20 per cent pay increases and union recognition.

Fear Keeps All Harlan Silent On Operators' Crime

Boys, Women, Men Afraid to Complain of Outrages Suffered at Hands of Company Hirelings, Senators Learn.

By GEORGE L. KNAPP

Washington, May 6.—Ten-year-old boys in Harlan county, Kentucky, are afraid of the company's gunmen. Women are afraid to tell their husbands not to patronize the raffles held each month or oftener at the mine. Men, brave men, are afraid to complain of the outrages they suffer; and besides, "'twouldn't do no good. You just can't stick a deputy or a company guard in Harlan county for anything."

In sheer human interest, I think the hearings this week passed all the rest—and a dozen vivid dramas have been told in that hearing room since the story of Harlan began.

"Markham Clouse!" called Senator La Follette; and a slim, thin boy of 10, with an intelligent, solemn face and hair just changing from tow to brown, came timidly to the witness chair. He jumped when a flashlight was snapped to take his picture.

Young Witness Heard.

"How old are you, Markham?"

"I'm 10."

"Do you understand the nature of an oath, and what it means when you swear to tell the truth?"

"Yes, sir."

Markham was sworn, and under gentle questioning told his story. He and two other boys of the Clouse name had been out hunting scrap iron along the bank of the river, and, coming home, he saw a car parked on the side of the road. Another car came down the road carrying union organizers; the standing car "blowed its horn three times;" and men began shooting at the coming car from the just ahead of Markham, and a man yelled from the cliff for them to "look cliff. One bullet struck the ground out." The boys separated and hugged the ground till the firing was over.

Boy Names Four.

Did you recognize—do you know the men who were shooting?"

"I knowed four of 'em: Bill Lewis, Lee Hubbard, Luke Hubbard and Melvin Moore." All deputy sheriffs.

Markham told him men came to the house that night and warned the elders not to let the boys talk. "I'll make a lot of trouble if you do." They were summoned to appear before the grand jury, but deputies met them at the station and told them not to go on, and Lloyd Clouse, elder half brother of Markham and father of the other boys, left his work to send them home. John Clouse, 13, but the younger boy's nephew, told the same story, but with a livelier fear of the consequences.

Widow Tragic Figure.

The widow of Lloyd Clouse came to the stand, and broke down crying as she recalled the scenes preceding her husband's murder on April 24, 1937. Jasper Clouse, brother of Lloyd,, told how the two went together to a company saloon, where they saw four deputy sheriffs, who followed them out, called them to halt, and when they turned around, began shooting. Jasper saw Lloyd fall; and then, as he was wrestling with Logan Middleton who had drawn a gun on him, someone hit Jasper on the head and knocked him cold.

"Who were the four?" asked La Follette.

"Bill Lewis, Mel Moore, Logan Middleton and Maynard Hobbs."

That was not the only bloody work that evening. Lindsey Baker, who had just joined the union, was beaten up by the same deputies. He went to the Clouse home, where they patched him up, and the Clouse brothers went from there to the death of one. The survivors have moved over into Bell county.

Miners Meanly Exploited.

A page could be filled with the brutal violence told that one morning. It is better, however, to turn to the way the gang in power in Harlan make money. If a miner draws scrip before payday, he is charged 15 per cent for the accommodation—if he draws $5 he is debited $5.75. Scrip is taken only at the company store, where prices are higher than anywhere else. One miner testified, too, that he worked from 10 to 14 hours a day, and was paid for 7 hours.

Pearle Bassham, vice-president of the Coal Operators' association and owner of all the stock of the Harlan-Wallins mines; a small man, with bald head, smooth-shaven face and a cruel look to the mouth and eyes, told—under pressure and cross quizzing—the story of the automobile raffle at that place. Once a month or oftener, a second-hand auto is raffled. The tickets are sold by the foremen, at a dollar each; and 700 to 800 are sold each time.

Witness Admits Racket.

Bassham wriggled and dodged and twisted; but under the combined probing of La Follette and Senator Thomas, he told that some of his own second-hand cars had been raffled this way; and that the company had used this scheme for disposing of their used cars for ten years. He had previously testified that the owner of the car got all the money, and that such books as were kept were kept by the company, whose officials supervised the raffle. He had said, too, that the sum paid in at each raffle was from $200 to $500 more than the car was worth; and he now admitted that from 175 to 200 cars had been raffled.

At the lowest price given, the workers in that mine were gypped out of $140,000 in ten years. But their wives didn't dare object.

Deputy Named as Shooter.

One of the high lights of the hearing came when Kelly Fox, auto mechanic, and a resident of Harlan county, testified that he had seen the shooting up of the Musick home which resulted in the death of Bennett Musick and the wounding of two others of the family, and that he identified Deputy Sheriff Frank White as one of the shooters.

He was about 150 feet from the Musick home when the shooting took place. Three cars drove past the house; one came back, stopped in front of the house; and its occupants began shooting into the house at once. As they were firing, a car came down the road; its lights shone straight into the auto from which the shots came; and by that light, he recognized Deputy White.

Silent Because of Fear.

Asked whether he had told the authorities in Harlan about the shooting, he answered:

"No, not until I started down here to Washington. I didn't want the thugs to shoot me, too."

Fox told how, in another case, he had started to tell on the witness stand that he had seen White in a shooting scrape, when White came into the courtroom, with a gun in his hand.

"When I saw him," said Fox, "I thought maybe I'd better not testify. I didn't."

Tells of Hunting Union Men.

William C. Johnson, former deputy sheriff of Harlan, was another interesting witness. He said he was called "Thug" Johnson, because we used to go a-thuggin'."

"What do you mean by thugging?" asked Senator La Follette.

"Well, goin' out an' huntin' union men organizers," replied Johnson.

"Do you mean hunt them like you would deer?" persisted La Follette.

"Well," said Johnson, "I ain't never killed a man—in Harlan county."

Further questions brought out the fact that he had been indicted for murder twice in Virginia; also, that Merle Middleton, relative of the sheriff, was the leader of these "union men hunts."

Fees From Coal Companies.

Daniel Boone Smith, commonwealth attorney, proved himself at least a thrifty soul.

He got $500 a year as salary for being commonwealth attorney of the state judicial district, including Harlan county; also, he got $1,200 a year —$100 a month—from the Harlan Willins Coal company; also, $300 a year from the Mary Helen Coal company; also, he had been paid a fee for services to the Black Mountain Coal company. All these companies are in Harlan county.

La Follette then brought out that Smith had urged the dismissal of four indictments against Merle Middleton.

LABOR SEES HILL-SHEPPARD BILL AS BLOW AT RIGHTS OF WORKERS

Congress Proposal to "Take the Profits Out of War" Declared Labor Conscription Measure Menace to Liberties and Civil Rights of Masses During Wartime.

Washington, May 6.—The Hill-Sheppard bill, proposed as a plan to "take profits out of war," is regarded in labor circles as really a plan to take away the hard won liberties of labor under pretense of national necessity.

W. C. Hushing, of the A. F. of L., appeared before the house and senate committees considering the bill, and registered labor's objections to the one-sided autocracy which the bill would create.

The CIO did not appear formally at the hearings; but the comments from that quarter are quote as uncomplimentary as those of the A. F. of L. Two railroad brotherhoods, the Firemen and Enginemen and the Trainmen, told the committees labor's objections to the bill.

Further support to the fight against the bill is coming from many quarters.

Bill Held Dangerous.

L. P. Straube, editor of the Chicago Federation News—spokesman for the Illinois State Federation of Labor, declares that:

"The Hill-Sheppard bill now pending in congress is typical of militarism, economic royalty and profiteering run to legislative seed."

Harold J. Gibbons, assistant director of regional office of the CIO, says:

"The bill is obviously a dangerous measure which, under the guise of an emergency situation, can be used to take away civil rights, particularly the rights of labor."

Kill Bill, Others Urge.

Two more railroad unions have spoken their mind. G. B. Goble, of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, etc., sums it up thus:

"The contents of this bill are decidedly injurious to collective bargaining. We will exert every means at our command to prevent the enactment of this bill into law."

The Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters declares, through its international president, A. Philip Randolph:

"Kill the Hill-Sheppard bill! It's a labor conscription bill."

Congressmen Warned.

And to show how ready labor is to act on its belief in this matter, David McVey, chairman of the labor party of Chicago, gives this warning:

"Any congressman who votes for the frank and unvarnished dictatorship embodied in the Hill-Sheppard bill forfeits the claim that he is representing the interest of that portion of the American people who elected him to congress."

TOM REMY

BY MRS. ARCH UNDERWOOD.

The old adage which proclaims "You can't keep a good man down" was exemplified on Wednesday when Thomas Remington (or something) Cuthbert was re-elected for a second term as secretary-treasurer of the Tennessee Federation of Labor.

"Tommy" has made a good one, and it is to the credit of the delegates to the convention that they recognized by a substantial majority the good work done by that youngster.

MACHINISTS GET CLOSED-SHOP PACT AT PARKER DAM

W. R. Barney, business agent of Lodge 56, Machinists, was "all pepped up" this week on receipt of news from headquarters that an ironclad closed shop pact has been successfully negotiated by representatives of the international union and the contractors on the Parker dam, a gigantic federal project just beginning near Los Angeles.

News of the victory for A. F. L. unions came in a wire from James Morrison, who has been assigned to represent the international on this particular job.

Mr. Morrison's wire read:

"A closed shop union agreement with a 5 per cent wage increase was signed today (April 30) by the Parker dam contractors and crafts of the American Federation of Labor. So 500 rebels who tried to dominate the situation must change their colors or leave the job."

Mr. Morrison reports further that "there are 50 general machinists, auto and tractor machinists employed on this job, as well as a number of helpers. The old rate for machinists was $1.10 per hour; helpers, 80 cents."

Machinists Organize East St. Louis Garages

Dubuque Local Initiates Twelve New Members.

A strike of 140 auto mechanics in 52 garages of East St. Louis, Ill., was averted when the International Association of Machinists negotiated an agreement with the East St. Louis Automobile Dealers' Association. The conversations which resulted in the agreement lasted for more than a month. The past provides for a closed shop, the 44-hour week and minimum wages with 10 per cent above the regular scale for night work.

The strength of Machinists' Local No. 1238 of Dubuque, Iowa, is rapidly increasing, twelve new members having been initiated in two weeks.

State Workers Speak Up For Beloved Lady

Convention Urges Gov. Browning to Rename Miss Mary Slate.

(By Staff Correspondent.)

Jackson, Tenn., May 6.—Governor Browning was urged by the unanimous vote of the Tennessee Federation of Labor to retain Miss Mary Slate, beloved Nashville woman, as an employe of the factory inspection division of the state department of labor.

Suspending all rules, the convention adopted a telegram and forwarded it to the governor. Text of the message follows:

"Whereas, through several administrations — that of Governor Peay, of Governor Horton and of Governor McAlister — Miss Mary Slate has served in the department of factory inspection with the utmost efficiency and a devotion to duty and sincerity of purpose that has been outstanding; having no regard for political or partisan consideration at any time, and

"Whereas, it is vital that the important post filled by Miss Slate should be administered by a woman experienced and capable of performing the duties required, therefore

"Be it resolved, that the Tennessee Federation of Labor, in convention assembled, urged upon Governor Browning that Miss Slate be retained in the position she has filled with so much credit, both to the state and herself."

NEWEST UNION IS REPRESENTED

(By Staff Correspondent.)

Jackson, Tenn., May 6.—The newest central labor union in Tennessee had representation at the fortieth convention of the Tennessee Federation of Labor.

The central body is from the TVA's operations near Jackson. President J. Paul Haynie headed the group to the convention. The organization is composed of building trades unionists, clerks and waiters unions.

T. R. Cuthbert, of Chattanooga, secretary of the state body, said the majority of the members of the new body are TVA employes.

KRUESI VISIONS

most likely grievance is the matter of wages and I think you will agree that we are trying to work this matter out in keeping with the times and conditions, having in mind extra bonus, etc.

While I am unable to say definitely that a union is a good or a bad thing, I know it may create situations and conditions which may cause hard feelings and dissatisfaction. You have as much at stake, or perhaps more than anyone else, and you should carefully consider all of the proposition before you commit yourself either way, bearing in mind that there is expense to you in connection with any union set-up. Don't forget that you cease to act for yourself in joining a union, to some extent at least, and must abide by whatever the union as a whole, or the people that represent the union, decides to do. Remember that unions have so handicapped the management of companies that they have been unable to carry on or work with the regularity or as continuously as this company has in the past, and above all, remember that the pleasant big family relations which have always existed between this company and its help might be interfered with and perhaps destroyed.

I should hate to feel, after being associated with you and those who were doing your work before you for thirty-five years, that you now feel that you cannot get what you are fairly entitled to, all things considered, and what we have tried to provide for you without holding a club over the heads of the management. I know the company intends to observe all obligations imposed by all laws on this subject and especially by the Wagner labor act. I sincerely believe, however, that it is best for you and for us to continue to deal together as we always have.

And finally remember that you do not have to belong to any union to work here, nor shall we lift a hand to prevent an organization if you feel you need one.

P. J. KRUESI,
President.

New York Traction Company Agrees to Union Referendum

New York City.—The state labor relations law, not yet passed, has been invoked by the Third Avenue Railway Co. as an explanation of its yielding to the Transport Workers' Union.

The union, which claims a strong majority of 4,500 employes of the Third Avenue concern, which operates trolley and bus lines in New York City and Westchester county, has been demanding that it be given the exclusive right to represent the employes in collective bargaining. The company stalled until mass meetings authorized the union officials to call a strike. Then the secretary of the company made public the following statement:

"An official referendum vote is provided for in a proposed law similar to the federal law known as the Wagner act, now before the New York state legislature, which is soon to adjourn. When that law is enacted, which may be within the coming week, complete procedure and authority for a referendum vote will be legally provided for and a referendum vote will be held thereunder.

"If said proposed law is not enacted at this session of the legislature, we shall immediately after the adjournment of the legislature arrange for a vote under impartial supervision and under the procedure to be adopted after representatives of the organizations claiming to represent any of our employes have had an opportunity to be heard."

Tennessee Once More Defends Use of Child To Swell Boss Profits

Tre Tennessee lower house this week by a good majority defeated ratification of the federal child labor amendment. The entire Hamilton county delegation, however, supported ratification of the amendment. The measure was strongly opposed by the Tennessee Manufacturers' association and Gov. Browning. Against such powrful combination the children of the state and nation had no chance whatever.

UNION CONVENTION HAILS PLEA FOR LABOR UNITY

Ladies' Garment Workers Applaud Matthew Woll's Speech Urging Harmony and Holding of Peace Conference—Delegates Vote Campaign to Organize 100,000 Workers.

Washington, May 13.—Strong sentiment for unity and harmony in the labor movement developed in the 23rd convention of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union, during the first week of the meeting here.

President David Dubinsky forecast an early attempt by the union to seek a peace conference between the American Federation of Labor and the committee for industrial organization and a strong plea for unity by Matthew Woll was received with applause and other demonstrations of approval.

Dubinsky made it plain that he favored peace conferences, though he also said that he believed the suspension of the CIO unions by the A. F. of L. should be lifted before a conference was held.

Conference Now Asked.

Woll's plea was regarded of much significance, as it was the first time a member of the A. F. of L. Executive Council had publicly urged labor peace. With President Dubinsky presiding, Woll dramatically exclaimed:

"Men may quarrel, but ultimately they will sit around a peace table to adjust their differences. Why not do that now, instead of waiting? Let us have unity of forces within the labor movement."

Woll commended the union's report which expressed disappointment that the Pittsburgh meeting of the CIO last fall had not furthered peace between the committee and the A. F. of L. and praised the union's executive board in announcing that it would continue "to seek every possibility to make our contribution that attainment of peace with honor in the labor movement."

A. F. of L. Defended.

The American Federation of Labor's handling of the industrial union question was defended by Woll, who said the federation had issued a charter covering 95 per cent of the workers in the automobile industry, exempting only maintenance men and tool and die workers. He contended that latter 5 per cent was not sufficient to cause a division in labor's ranks.

Dubinsky thanked Woll for his speech and said that it was unfortunate the public and the general labor movement did not know that Woll was one of the most conciliatory members of the A. F. of L. Executive Council when the CIO controversy began. He expressed the opinion that if Woll and several other council members had had their way, the situation today in the ranks of labor would be different.

Union Drive Voted.

Organization matters were to the fore as the convention opened its second week. A campaign to unionize 100,000 needle workers who still are unorganized was decided upon by the convention and $100,000 was voted the general executive board for the purpose.

The board was instructed to begin immediately after the closing of the convention. The object of the campaign is "to eliminate child labor, sweatshop conditions and home work," and the convention voted that if necessary a strike will be called to attain it.

Culinary Workers Achieve Success

Cooks, Waiters, Waitresses and Bartenders Win Fight for Union Shop in Many Hotels and Restaurants.

Washington.—There is no let-up in the steady influx of culinary workers into the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America, according to information contained in the labor papers from various parts of the country received at the headquarters of the American Federation of Labor here.

A few of the gains in organization are given in the following items:

Strike Convinces Flint Hotel.

A seven hours' strike of fifty culinary employes of the Hotel Durant in Flint, Mich., brought the management to the point of dealing with Culinary Workers' Local Union No. 605. The agreement which settled the strike provided for union recognition and negotiations to determine wages, hours, general working conditions, and the selection of a three-man arbitration board to adjust disputed points. During two weeks the Culinary Workers' union also signed up six cafes for the union shop.

With the signing up of the Hotel Dayton in Kenosha, Wis., for the union shop, Hotel and Restaurant Employes' Local Union No. 571 of that city announced that five Kenosha firms had made contracts with the union since it was organized a little over three months ago. The Hotel Dayton contract establishes union wage and hour standards for twenty-five employes. The union has over 100 members.

DOBBS RESIGNS POST AS PREXY OF CENTRAL BODY

A. F. of L. Representative George L. Googe Conducts Rest of Meeting.

A. C. KAMIN NAMED TO HEAD LOCAL BODY

C. I. O. Locals Not Allowed to Vote But Remain in Until A. F. L. Executive Group Meets Next Monday in Cincinnati.

George Googe, emissary of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, took the chair at the meeting Monday night of the Central Labor union, and in a riotous session, conducted the election of A. C. Kamin as chairman and commanded there be harmony.

Joe Dobbs, who was serving his second term as president, agreed to relinquish the chair in a meeting of the executive board with Googe earlier in the day. The agreement included two other items of importance: other officers of the Central Labor union would keep their offices, and delegates representing suspended unions would remain delegates until the A. F. of L. Executive Council expels their internationals.

"Unless they (the internationals) return to the A. F. of L.," Googe said, "they will certainly be expelled. That will automatically disqualify the local delegates to sit in this Central Body, unless the local unions sign A. F. of L. charters."

The delegates of the suspended unions, while allowed to sit in the hall and take part in discussion, were not allowed to vote on Dobbs' successor. Out of two candidates nominated for the office, W. A. "Zeke" Witt got 40 votes and Kamin 66.

Excitement began when Witt was nominated and a delegate objected on the grounds Erskine Mabee is a member of Witt's union, the painters, and the local by-laws forbid more than one office to any one union. Googe suspended the local by-laws to let Witt run.

As he was about to take a standing vote on the election, another delegate pointed out that the local procedure is to elect by secret ballot. Googe put the question to a vote, and held the election by secret ballot when a majority asked for it.

Before the vote was counted he made a final speech.

"I do not know either of these men," he said, "Mr. Witt or Mr. Kamin. I have no idea who will be elected. But whoever is elected, I want every delegate in this hall to stand firmly behind him. I want cooperation, peace and harmony."

Dobbs held the chair until asked for his report on the executive com-

Barbers Busy Signing Shops In Union Pacts

Twelve Shop Cards Go Up in Unorganized Places Last Week.

About Twenty New Members Obtained With Prospects That Local Situation Will Be Entirely Union.

George Perry, president of Local 415, Journeyman Barbers, is feeling good these days. He reports that in the short time which the barbers have been carrying on an intensive organizing campaign they have exceeded their expectations.

And, he says, their efforts are bearing fruit. Only last week twelve erstwhile non-union barber shops have qualified themselves to use the union shop cards. These twelve shops, now union, employ twenty or more craftsmen, who have, of course, joined the union.

"We have just started," George says. "Before we finish we intend to line up every reputable barber shop in Chattanooga, and in this way guarantee to the public that they will receive efficient and sanitary service for their money."

In addition to this campaign, a bill has been presented to the state legislature which will enable the city to regulate opening and closing hours of barber shops.

AFL Council Calls Conference of All Affiliated Unions

Cincinnati Site for Session Commencing May 18 With National and International Chiefs to Develop New Policy; Scorching Attack Made on CIO as Founded on Irresponsibility and Illegality.

Washington.—In a trenchant statement charging that the committee for industrial organization is "steeped in the cesspool of illegality and irresponsibility," the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor, at the conclusion of its special session here, called a special conference of representatives of the A. F. of L. national and international unions to meet with the Council in Cincinnati, May 18.

The purpose of the conference, the statement said, is to marshall the forces of labor in America in support of the Executive Council's new policy and procedure designed not only to "advance and safeguard the interests of all affiliated unions," but also to "leave open the way to all trade unionists who wish to retain their affiliations with the A. F. of L." and "likewise make it possible for all workers heretofore not affiliated to come within the democratic and constructive fold of the American Federation of Labor."

This action, the Executive Council said, was taken because representatives of the committee for industrial organization had persistently refused to meet with representatives of the American Federation of Labor in the endeavor to reach an adjustment of the controversy which led the A. F. of L. Executive Council and the 1935 A. F. of L. convention to declare that the CIO was a dual organization within the American Federation of Labor and to suspend from A. F. of L. membership ten unions then composing the CIO, the suspension to remain in effect until the CIO was dissolved and the unions composing it reasserted their loyalty to the principles and laws of the American Federation of Labor.

In connection with this inability to adjust the controversy, for which the A. F. of L. was in no way responsible, the Executive Council said the CIO has "raided" organizations within the American Federation of Labor, and encouraged "dual organizations" to a number of A. F. of L. unions. This CIO policy, the council declared, has been carried so far that "today no national or international union is immune or secure against the forces of destruction that have been let loose by the leaders of this movement."

"At the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor, held in Tampa, Fla., last November, and after extended deliberations and ma-

NON-PARTISANS LOOK TO FUTURE DECLARES BERRY

Washington. — State organizations of Labor's Non-Partisan league are entering a new and permanent phase of existence to Major George L. Berry, national president of the league.

State by state, the units are preparing and adopting constitutions for permanent operation.

In national headquarters a model constitution is being prepared, so that uniform provisions will govern the operation of this amazingly energetic new movement in American political life.

Inquiries from a dozen other states as to the steps to be taken in providing state constitutions have been received at national headquarters here.

Perfection of state organizations means, President Berry points out, that the league is to be a permanent and perhaps deciding factor in the legislative field of campaigning for election of political officials. He points out also that perfection of state organizations means a great strengthening of the league's support of the president in moving toward new deal objectives.

ACROSS PICKET LINES

One of the regular patrons of Harry's Place is W. J. Counts, who is said to be attorney for Harry Koskos, owner of the picketed restaurant. Mr. Counts last Wednesday served as police judge when Mr. Koskos was brought up for trial for disorderly conduct in connection with the picketing. Acting Judge Counts dismissed Mr. Koskos.

One of the surprises is the report that Tom Crutchfield, prominent republican attorney, and also attorney for several local unions, eats at Harry's Place.

Mr. Raymond Effron, of Effron's store, is said to eat every day at the Home Plate.

Mr. Ben Saunders, Jolly cab owner, apparently does not see the picket in front of Harry's Place.

1,500 JOIN SPRINGFIELD UNIONS IN EIGHT WEEKS

Springfield, O. — The organizing committee of the Springfield Trades and Labor assembly reports that more than 1,500 new members have enrolled in the organized labor movement here during two months. The larger gains were in the printing and building trades.

CULINARY WORKERS PLAN BENEFIT DANCE

On Friday night, May 21, Culinary Workers, No. 574, will give a benefit dance at the labor hall. Proceeds will be turned over to that local to help them in their organization work.

Dancing will begin at 8:30 in the big hall upstairs, and a large crowd of trades-unionists and their friends will be present to enjoy themselves, knowing that at the same time, they are helping this young local to carry on the fight to strengthen its organization and gain recognition for the cooks and waitresses of this city.

Local 80, American Federation of Musicians, will furnish the music for the affair, so it is bound to be good.

Tickets are to be just 25 cents each. They may be secured from several members of the organization or at the door on Friday night, May 21.

WORKERS ACCUSE REPUBLIC STEEL

Cleveland.—The Steel Workers' organizing committee has charged the Republic Steel corporation with violation of the Wagner labor act.

Charges against Republic were filed at the regional office of the NLRB in behalf of 100 steel workers alleged to have been discharged for union activity.

FORUM DIRECTOR SAYS "FAREWELL"

"As our speaking program closes and the end of the forum project is in sight, may I express to The Labor World and to the ranks of labor in general in the city of Chattanooga and throughout our territory our sincere appreciation for your fine co-operation, your generous spirit of helpfulness and the enthusiasm with which many of the people have entered into the true spirit of forum discussion. Should this program be continued another year, we hope we may reach even a higher level of free expression and beneficial public discussion of the many problems which are so essential to our understanding if the spirit of democracy is to be truly served.

"H. D. HOPKINS,

Tom Rogers Clear

Two weeks ago the amiable deputy circuit court clerk, Tom Rogers, was seen in the Home Plate, but it is now a proven fact that Mr. Rogers was not on the buying end.

He was selling. It seems that Mr. Rogers supplies the Home Plate with a certain amount of eggs each week, and that when he was seen in the picketed restaurant he was simply getting a check which the Home Plate owed to him.

Members of organized labor are pleased to learn that Mr. Rogers was not "crashing" the picket lines.

Hamby Respects Pickets

Squire Luther Hamby does not cross picket lines. Some weeks ago a picket made a grievous error when the squire's name was turned in to The Labor World as a patron of the non-union Home Plate.

It seems that the picket had been served with papers sworn against her by the Maypole cafe, such case to be heard in Squire Hamby's court. The young lady wrote Mr. Hamby's name on a piece of paper so that she would remember which court her case was scheduled.

When she turned in her list of names of "friends" of the labor movement, the squire's name got mixed in.

Careful investigation has shown that Squire Hamby has not entered any picketed restaurant and that he has no intention of ever doing so.

What Next!

Utilizing a new mechanical discovery based on the old "horn angle," Matthew J. Stacom, head of a Long Island lumber company, has invented a new press for quick and inexpensive extraction of cellulose, the fibrous structure of trees and plants. The machine creates pressures up to 140,000 pounds per linear inch, leaving cellulose in a virtually pure state.

Latest in devices for the rescue squad of industrial establishments is a portable resuscitator. It is run by a small electric motor and a cam-and-spring mechanism moves a pair of pressure pads downward and forward and upward and backward, administering artificial respiration to the victim in accordance with the Schafer prone-pressure method. The operator's hands are left free to administer oxygen or other restoratives. It is expected to be valuable in the treatment of electric shock.

Chain Cigar Stores Sign Pact With Clerks' Union

New York City.—The Schulte cigar chain stores have signed an agreement with five locals of the Retail Cigar Clerks' union, which is an affiliate of the A. F. of L. These agreements provide for a closed shop, an increased minimum wage, and will add about $60,000 a year to the payroll. More than 1,000 workers were involved.

The Schulte cigar stores are being reorganized under the federal bankruptcy act; and control of them, therefore, lay with Federal Judge John C. Knox, of this city. Judge Knox appointed Major William J. Mack as special master and arbitrator, who secured the settlement. Judge Knox has signed an order approving the agreements.

TO THE POINT

Union Label Paragraphs That Tell in Few Words How Purchasing Power Can be Used to Boost Labor Movement and Restore National Prosperity.

Workers' wages will not keep pace with the cost of living unless their wives buy union label products.

When workers, as consumers, buy under the union label banner they find bountiful results in their pay envelopes.

Women can perform distinguished services for labor unions by demanding the union label on everything that they buy.

In the off-years when there are no elections, the union label, shop card and button should be your regular candidates.

CENTRAL BODY CHARTER SUSPENDED BL A. F. OF L.

Hamilton, Ont.—The rift between the A. F. of L. and the CIO has spread to this industrial city, known as "The Pittsburgh of Canada," because of its many steel mills.

The A. F. of L. charter granted the Hamilton Trades and Labor council in March, 1909, was ordered lifted by A. F. of L. President Green because of division of support for his organization.

After a council meeting all delegates voting in favor of the CIO as opposed to the A. F. of L. were suspended. Immediate reorganization of the council was ordered.

George L. Berry Takes Oath As Senator from Tennessee

Washington, May 13.—Major Geo-L. Berry, federal coordinator of industrial cooperation and president of the International Printing Pressmen's and Assistants' Union of North America, took office on May 10 as United States senator from Tennessee.

Senator McKellar, of Tennessee, escorted Berry to the rostrum, where Vice-President Garner administered the oath of office.

Major Berry was appointed senator by Gov. Browning, of Tennessee, to succeed the late Nathan L. Bachman. Berry was indorsed by the Tennessee Federation of Labor and other groups.

Court Plan Supporter.

In accepting the appointment, Major Berry said:

"I have accepted the appointment solely on the grounds of my ambition to help the president in all of his efforts to rehabilitate and stabilize our economic structure and, too, in order that I may be helpful to Gov. Browning in his great fight to readjust the administrative and financial situation in Tennessee."

Leaders in the battle for the president's court reorganization plan rejoiced in the appointment of Berry, as he is a strong supporter of the proposed legislation and has campaigned vigorously in its behalf in his capacity as head of Labor's Non-Partisan league.

League Officers to Meet.

There have been some indications that the office of co-ordinator will not be continued after expiration of the current appropriation, June 30.

A meeting of the national officers of Labor's Non-Partisan league, of which Major Berry is president, will be held in Washington to discuss policies. This was decided upon immediately after Major Berry was sworn in as senator. No date has as yet been set for the meeting.

Harlan County Witnesses Afraid To Deny They Employed Thugs to Wage War of Violence on Union

Washington, May 13.—The La Follette civil liberties committee has closed its investigation on Harlan county, with the statement that it may be renewed at any time, and that the subpoenas issued to bring witnesses remain in full force and effect. This last is an item that makes the Middleton thugs fairly froth at the mouth. Any attack on these witnesses while the subpoenas remain in force is a federal offense, and must be tried in the federal courts. And, just at present, a goodly number of Harlan county gunmen would rather tackle Satan himself than face a federal court.

The closing sessions were remarkable for one thing. Merle Middleton, cousin of Sheriff Theodore Middleton and a former deputy sheriff, and Pearle Bassham, owner of the Harlan-Wallins coal mine, were on the stand. Both had been charged directly with committing and hiring violence; and neither of them dared to contradict the witnesses who had so charged them. They took refuge in bad memories.

Bassham, under grilling, said that he "might have" paid deputies to beat up union organizers, but he couldn't really remember. It "might not" have been against his company's policy to pay its mine guards full time while they were out "thugging," that is, beating up union men. His memory didn't serve him well enough to deny these charges.

Merle Middleton showed the same lapse of memory. He couldn't remember taking part in the beatings; but he did recall that he had been indicted for several offenses including murder. He did not believe he had ever used the words "chief thug," as applied to Ben Unthank, the missing deputy.

"Does your memory serve you well enough to impeach the testimony I have been calling to your attention?" asked La Follette.

"It does not," said Middleton.

Detroit Plasterers Enroll Five Hundred New Members

Detroit, Mich.—Five hundred new members have been added to the Detroit local of Operative Plasterers' association of the United States and Canada as a result of an organization drive carried on in connection with the Lathers and Hod Carriers unions. The union is demanding a wage rate of $14 per day.

BELIEF IN 'SIT-DOWN' HELD BAR TO U. S. CITIZENSHIP

Kankakee, Ill.—Circuit Judge W. R. Hunter has ruled here that persons believing in sit-down strikes cannot obtain citizenship papers.

Judge Hunter asked six applicants for naturalization papers whether they believed in sit-down strikes. Each replied in the negative. In a subsequent lecture to the applicants, the judge delivered himself of this gem of thought:

"Sit-down strikes are a form of anarchy and are violations of the law. Such strikers can, and should be punished."

GOVERNMENT EMPLOYES UNION SUES OFFICERS OF RIVAL BODY

Washington.—The American Federation of Government Employes, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, has filed suit in the District of Columbia supreme court for $100,000 damages against the National Federation of Federal Employes' president, Luther Steward, and Gertrude M. McNally, secretary-treasurer. The action is based upon the claim that an article published in the official organ of the N. F. F. E., and reprinted in pamphlet form, was libelous of the A. F. G. E., and attacked the A. F. G. E. "maliciously, carelessly and without regard for the good name of the plaintiff." The article was also distributed to the newspapers and published therein.

IN THE NEWS
Borah

William E. Borah, habitual senator from Idaho, rose in his place the other day and denounced fascism. This is all to the good. Fascism deserves denunciation, and Borah is an A-1 denouncer.

"There is no tent of democracy which fascism does not challenge. There is not a vital principle of free government with which this ruthless creed is not in conflict. It is grounded in force. It could not survive a fortnight in the atmosphere of free discussion."

Borah has been elected to the senate five times. He has voted for every measure designed to liberate and strengthen labor. One of his greatest public servisces was when he went to the White House and persuaded President Hoover to appoint Benjamin N. Cardozo to the supreme court.

His only known dissipations are horseback riding and onion soup. He doesn't drink, doesn't smoke, doesn't go to horse races or ball games. He is notably "contrary minded." As one critic put it: "Borah loves an argument, and thinks it a fair tussle if he is on one side, and the rest of the world on the other."

Convention is over for another year—all the visiting ladies had a good time. Chattanooga had more lady visitors than any other town represented—don't know just why. At any rate, there were nine ladies from Chattanooga, and not more than three from any other one city.

There were only four lady delegates—one each from Chattanooga, Knoxville, Nashville and Memphis.

Nevertheless, the Knoxville delegate—Miss Lucille Thornburg—was elected a vice-president from the Knoxville district. This is the second time a lady has ever been on the executive board of the Tennessee Federation of Labor.

It was a treat to drive across the state at this time of the year—and Franklin county has real reason to hold a "Crimson Clover festival." As we drove along we passed whole acres of land completely covered by a crimson blanket, sandwiched in between fields green with rye. Against a background of hillsides dotted with dogwood, it made a pretty picture. Tennessee is beautiful at this time of the year.

The Supreme court, by its release of Angelo Herndon, spared his country another Mooney case—of which one was more than plenty. But it was a 5-to-4 decision, with Justice Vandevanter writing a dissent, joined by the other reactionaries, Justices McReynolds, Sutherland and Butler. How true to form those chaps run!

Slash in Tariff Hands Big Four Half Million Profit Per Annum

Duty Cut on Cigarette Paper Manufactured in France Benefits Monopoly Companies, But Gives No Help to Independents, Who Use Paper Made in U. S.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — It's a strange wind that blows the Big Four tobacco companies no good. They are actually making cash profits of about $567,000 a year out of a reduction in the tariff. Some folks are just born lucky—and ornery.

The story was told to the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives by M. J. Flynn, executive secretary of America's Wage Earners' Protective Conference. Mr. Flynn said, in part:

"We oppose the imposition of additional taxes on our workers when, at almost the same time, a few Americans who own and dominate a cigarette paper producing concern in France, which concern controls the distribution of some 99 per cent. of the cigarette paper imported, receives a gift in the form of reduced taxes of some half million dollars yearly.

Cigarette Paper Duty Cut.

"The duty on cigarette paper was reduced recently from 60 per cent. to 45 per cent. On imports of $3,892,000 in 1935, this means a decrease of $567,000 in duty paid.

"Two or three rather interesting facts should be considered in the light of this saving.

"ONE IS THAT IT GOES DIRECTLY INTO THE POCKETS OF THE BIG FOUR TOBACCO TRUST, SINCE IT WILL IN NO WISE LEAD TO A REDUCED PRICE OF CIGARETTES.

Independents Don't Benefit.

"The other is that one of the paper mills producing this cigarette paper in France is owned by the American Tobacco Company.

"A third fact worth considering is that the benefit of this reduction does not extend to the independent and smaller cigarette companies; because they use paper manufactured in the United States.

"In other words, the higher priced cigarettes, which need no further margin of profits since the tobacco trust earns about 15 per cent. on an inflated investment, were given a further concession, while 10-cent cigarettes, which are hard pressed, were left out in the cold, as usual."

Mr. Flynn tells large chunks of truth; such important truth that it is worth saying over again in different words, to make sure that every reader understands it.

Only Big Four Helped.

The reduction in tariff on cigarette paper does not benefit the American consumer, because there is not and never will be a reduction in the price of cigarettes from that cause. As a matter of fact, the Big Four companies have increased prices of their cigarettes since then.

It does not help the manufacturers of 10-cent cigarettes, who employ union labor; for they use domestic paper.

It benefits no one but the Big Four—American, Liggett & Myers, R. J. Reynolds and P. Lorillard.

And the Big Four, in 1'32, made net profits larger than the total sum which they paid to their employes for work and to American farmers for tobacco.

12 More Shops Gained By San Diego Barbers

Worcester Increases Union List and Wants Closing Hours Regulated—Prices Fixed in Burlington.

The Barbers' union in San Diego, Cal., has placed the union shop card in twelve more barber shops in that city.

Journeyman Barbers Local No. 186, of Worcester, Mass., has added Joseph Harvey's barber shop to the list of shops displaying the union shop card. The local has also backed the enactment of a municipal ordinance regulating the hours of opening and closing barber shops.

Practically all barber shops in Burlington, Iowa, have signed an agreement fixing prices and closing hours. The new rules, affecting about fifty barbers, prescribe 50 cents for haircuts and 25 cents for shaves in the downtown shops and 40 cents for haircuts and 20 cents for shaves in the outlying districts. Closing hours are 6 p.m. in the downtown section and 7 p.m. elsewhere. All shops close at 9 p.m. Saturday.

Union Deserters in Worcester Lose Their Jobs as Drivers

Worcester, Mass.—It is a losing venture for workers to desert the union. This is demonstrated once again in the case of four truckmen in Worcester who refused to pay their dues as prescribed by the constitution of Truck Drivers5 Local No. 270, here.

The men were employed by the George Lamoureux company, distributors of Narraganset ale in the Worcester district. The union negotiated an agreement with the company which provided that the union should supply the firm with union truck drivers. So the four deserters lost their jobs.

The union reports an increase in membership of 82 in two weeks.

Now is the time to urge your merchants to stock up union-made products for the Christmas trade.

MISSISSIPPI DECLARED AIDING BREAKDOWN OF PAY STANDARDS

Big Industrial Gain, Due Largely to State Subsidies, Blow at Workers in Other States, Labor Spokesmen Point Out.

Jackson, Miss., May 6.—The percentage of increase of industrial establishments in Mississippi from 1933 to 1935 was second only to Michigan, a survey of the state planning commission disclosed, but because of the state's low ranking in industry prior to that time, Mississippi still trails its neighboring southern states.

The planning commission survey shows that during the two-year period of 1933-35, the state registered a 42 per cent increase in the number of industrial establishments, a 33 per cent increase in the number of wage-earners, 47 per cent increase in wages paid, 91 per cent increase in the amount paid for materials, etc., and a 68 per cent increase in the value of manufactured products.

The survey shows, however, that Mississippi had only 904 manufacturing establishments in 1931 employing 28,875 workers, earning wages of $18,892,000, and producing goods valued at $102,751,015. By 1935, the number of establishments increased to 1,059, wage-earners to 36,939, wages to $19,994,206, and value of goods to $121,556,447.

Subsidies Used as "Bait."

The increase in Mississippi industries has been due in large part to efforts by the state to attract industries by means of subsidies. Labor has charged that Governor White has used state subsidies as a bait to low wage employers, and George McLean, editor of the Tupelo Journal, has been carrying on a vigorous fight against the governor's policy. In a recent biting editorial, McLean said:

"What we have done is to balance our exceedingly low agriculture income with an equally low industrial income. We have taken the women off the farm and put them to work for a wage which is below the level of a decent standard of living. What we need to do is to balance our agricultural income with that of other sections of America where agriculture yields a third to a half again as much as it does here and to set our industrial development on a level with that of workers in other states who secure wages fifty to one hundred per cent higher than those secured by the Columbia workers. (In Columbia, Miss., a garment factory was established under Gov. White's plan which pays wages of about $5 a week.)

Menace to Labor Everywhere.

"Some people say, 'Well, they are making more than they ever did.' That may be true, but in the modern age we have learned that the state cannot profit by allowing its people to be exploited. Why should we give some outside corporation free taxes and a free building just to come to our state and work our people for less than a living wage? But some will say that these young women can live at home and not have to pay board and that they can afford to receive less. What does that do to people in other states where they will not allow sweat shop operators to pay such low wages? It simply means that other American workers are thrown out of employment and the work is given to underpaid and overworked Mississippi women.

"Mississippi is effectively aiding in the breakdown of American living standards and wage standards by its failure to safeguard the rights of its workers. Corporations either in Mississippi or elsewhere who desire to pay their workers a reasonable wage cannot do so because they have to pay taxes, buy their buildings and meet the competition of these subsidized plants. Naturally they have hard sledding even to meet this low wage type of competition and they are utterly unable to raise the wages and living standards of the people they employ."

STRIKE ENDED AS WORKERS VOTE FOR A. F. OF L. UNION

Erie, Pa.—A strike of 450 men at the National-Erie corporation ended when the American Federation of Labor won the right to bargain for the employes. By a margin of 41 votes, the A. F. of L. was favored by the employes over the CIO.

The company signed an agreement immediately with an A. F. of L. union. Machine shop workers were not included in the agreement, but provisions for them will be made later, State Mediator Thomas Finn said.

be enabled to meet in a strictly union hotel. This was made possible when, after an organizing campaign that overcame early resistance, resulted in agreements by the management of the Kaskaskia hotel, largest in La Salle, signed up with the local of Hotel and Restaurant Employes' Alliance, the Bartenders, Engineers and Firemen.

Two additional restaurants and liquor stores have been signed up for union hours and wages by the Culinary Alliance Local of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes Alliance in Columbus, Ohio.

The Culinary Workers' union of Seattle, Wash., has signed up the May Morrill Coffee Shop. The 27 employes are all union members.

Greyhound Restaurant Signs Up.

Culinary Workers' Alliance Local No. 572, of Stockton, Cal., has signed an agreement with the Greyhound Interstate restaurant in the new Greyhound depot in that city. The contract provides union wages and hours for ten employes. The local also negotiated an agreement with "Tiny's" new coffee shop where thirty people are employed.

A new local union of Cooks and Waitresses in Flint, Mich., is making rapid strides, with new houses being reported each few days as coming into the union fold. Five firms signed union contracts in one week.

A newly formed Cooks' and Waiters' union in Chattanooga, Tenn., is reported as putting up a valiant fight for union recognition and improvement of wages and working conditions, which have been unfavorable in that city.

Culinary craft unions, affiliated with the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' Alliance and Bartenders' league, in Seattle, Wash., have signed up three Clark cafes, after a long and bitter struggle.

300 Culinary Workers Initiated in Peoria

Two Hundred Cooks and Waiters in Worcester Also Join Hotel and Restaurant Workers Union—Forward March Includes Omaha, Flint and St. Paul.

Representatives of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League have enrolled over 200 cooks, waiters and waitresses in Worcester, Mass., for union membership as a unit of Bartenders' Local No. 95, which now has a membership of approximately 500.

The Hotel and Restaurant Employes' Alliance in Peoria, Illinois, took in 300 new members at one meeting recently.

The Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance has succeeded, with the aid of the Central Labor union, in establishing a new local of soda dispensers in Omaha, Neb.

The Culinary Workers' union at Flint, Mich., has been conducting a very successful campaign of organization, bringing the membership in that city up to well over 200. New contracts were secured with seven places of business in one week.

Cooks and Waitresses' Alliance No. 556, of St. Paul, Minn., signed up several new places of business during the spring drive, which is still in forces.

Bookbinders Obtain Agreements in Detroit

The local union of the International Brotherhood of Bookbinders in Detroit, Mich., has negotiated agreements with several large firms in that city, including the Calvert Lithographing company, and four paper box concerns.

The Calvert company was signed up without a strike, following 100 per cent organization of its bookbinders.

The four paper box concerns—Stecker, Eastern, Michigan and Western Paper Box companies—were unionized following a strike of the employes.

The agreement covering the paper box concerns is blanket and insures a uniform pay scale for all.

San Diego Aircraft Workers Vote for Machinists Union

San Diego, Cal.—By a vote of more than three to one, employes of the Consolidated Aircraft corporation here chose Aircraft Lodge No. 1135 of the International Association of Machinists as the bargaining agency of hourly wage workers in the mechanical departments.

The employers cast 1,823 ballots for the machinists local and 531 ballots for the Consolidators association. A total of 2,370 ballots were cast. Fifteen were challenged and one voided.

The election was ordered by the national labor relations board following a hearing held here.

445,179 New Members Have Joined A. F. of L. Unions in Eight Months

Figures Made Public by Secretary-Treasurer Frank Morrison Show an Increase of 1,740,781 Over the 1933 Membership.

Washington.—Significant figures regarding the constant growth of the American Federation of Labor since the latter part of 1933 were made public here by Frank Morrison, secretary-treasurer of the federation.

The total membership for April, Mr. Morrison pointed out, was 3,867,577. Of this number, 445,169 were admitted to membership during the last eight months.

The text of Mr. Morrison's statement follows:

"The paid and reported membership of the American Federation of Labor for April, 1937, is 3,867,577, which shows an increase of 1,740,781 over the membership for the year ending Aug. 31, 1933.

"The affiliated unions, including the local trade and federal labor unions, and not including the ten national and international unions that stand automatically suspended since Sept. 5, 1936, show an increase since Sept. 1, 1936, of 445,179 paid and reported Aug. 31, 1936."

Woolworth's St. Louis Stores Go Union Shop

East St. Louis 5-and-10-Cent Stores Join Procession.

American Federation of Labor representatives in St. Louis, Mo., negotiated an agreement with the management of thirty-three Woolworth 5-and-10-cent stores in St. Louis and St. Louis county. The agreement, affecting about 1,500 employes, carries wage increases ranging from 10 to 32 per cent for employes working on merchandise and lunch counters, and provides a 48-hour, six-day week. The following unions secured recognition as bargaining agents for their members: Waitresses' Union No. 249, Cooks' Union No. 26 and Retail Clerks Union No. 655. Union officials said the wage scales were the same as the prevailing scales of the unions in the St. Louis area, except that some waitresses would receive a higher weekly pay because of continuous service.

Representatives of the American Federation of Labor report that union recognition agreements have been negotiated with all the leading 5-and-10-cent stores in East St. Louis, Ill., following a similar agreement with the Woolworth 5-and-10-cent stores in St. Louis, Mo.

Electrical Workers Form Many Unions in Georgia

The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, active in pushing organization work throughout the country, recently formed new local unions in five Georgia communities, including Augusta, Macon, Columbus, Rome and Athens. These unions, together with that in Atlanta, have secured agreements with the power company operating in those communities, covering wages and working conditions, including the 40-hour work week. The unions embrace all grades of electrical workers, from helpers to foremen and load dispatchers.

Montreal Dress Strike Ended.

Montreal.—Three thousand dress workers returned to work on May 6 under terms of an agreement ending a three-weeks-old strike. Final settlement was reached after a conference between representatives of the manufacturers and the strikers.

TAMPA TYPOS GAIN PAY BOOST ON DAILY PAPERS

Nearly 250 printers are benefited in the wage increase agreement negotiated by the Typographical union of Tampa, Fla., with the three daily papers of that city.

The new scale raises the weekly wage of printers to $42.70 for day men and $45.15 for night men for a 35-hour week. The increase per hour was 9 cents and the increase per week $3.15.

The pact was the result of negotiations carried on since the expiration of an arbitration award in September, 1936, with its terms continuing until a new contract became effective.

Striking Movie Workers Ask Boycott of Hollywood Films

Hollywood.—Six thousand striking motion picture craft workers on May 6 sought to start a nationwide boycott of the film industry.

Telegrams requesting labor councils throughout the United States and Canada to institute boycotts against theaters showing pictures from the strike-bound studios were sent out by officers of the Federated Motion Picture Crafts unions.

"When patronage starts falling off at the box office," one labor leader said, "then the producers will realize their mistake in not granting us recognition."

The eleven unions of technicians on strike included scenic artists, painters and make-up artists, stationary engineers, plumbers, molders, utitlity workers, machinists, boilermakers and welders, costumers and cooks.

AFL COUNCIL

ture consideration of questions and issues having arisen out of the formation and functioning of the committee for industrial organization, this convention by overwhelming majority vote, in addition to sustaining the suspension of organizations affiliated to the CIO, directed the continuance of efforts on the part of the special committee to bring about an adjustment of differences prevailing and, if possible, reunite the forces of organized labor under the banner of the American Federation of Labor.

"This convention further decided that, if the existing relationship of conflict created a situation demanding more drastic action, the Executive Council could be authorized and empowered to call a special convention of the American Federation of Labor to take such further steps and action as the emergency may require.

"The Executive Council, meeting in special session to consider and act upon the situation as it now presents itself, regrets exceedingly that every effort made, not only by the special committee, but by the officers of the American Federation of Labor to effect an adjustment and to reunite the forces of organized labor has failed.

"Failure is to be attributed not to the American Federation of Labor but to those responsible for having set in motion a group activity clothed in garments of good faith but inspired by a mind and heart bent upon destruction of the organized labor movement in America.

Policy of Confusion and Division.

"We are faced today with a situation quite different to that presented to the Tampa convention of the American Federation of Labor. We are no longer required to deal with a group of international unions formerly associated with the American Federation of Labor and who have banded themselves into a group solely for educational or mutually protective purposes.

"Today, instead of a conference, we find these disloyal international unions in a compact dominated not by a democratic spirit, form or procedure, but inspired and directed by the arbitrary dictation of one or more individuals bent upon the destruction of the American Federation of Labor and of any individual and organization that fails to submit to their will.

"The underlying procedure of those in control of the CIO is to confuse and divide the forces of labor as represented by the American Federation of Labor and by such division assumed arbitrary direction and control of all forces of labor.

"The CIO in substance and in fact is no longer a conference—it is a body dual and destructive of the American Federation of Labor.

"Today no national or international union is immune or secure against the forces of destruction that have been let loose by the leaders of this movement.

"Under such circumstances it is not essential that a special convention be held. Indeed, by the very utterances, acts and deeds of the organizations making up the CIO, they have demonstrated clearly and definitely that they no longer regard or consider themselves associated in any way whatsoever with the American Federation of Labor.

Honor and Decency Disregarded.

"By their bold and continuous defiance of every law of the American Federation of Labor; by their constant violation of every obligation entered into with affiliated national and international unions; by their interference with collective agreements entered into with employers by affiliated unions, and by their complete disregard for every rule of honor and decency, they have made evident and clear and beyond peradventure of doubt their utter contempt for the American Federation of Labor.

"Under such circumstances, it would ill become the Executive Council to add dignity to a group and to procedure that from its inception has been steeped in the cesspool of illegality and of irresponsibility.

"The Executive Council, therefore hopeful and patient that a more moderate and conciliatory spirit might result in effecting a readjustment, now finds it impossible to continue in that spirit if it is to be true to the best interests of all our affiliated unions.

New A. F. of L. Policy.

"The Executive Council hereafter proposes to pursue a policy and procedure that will not only advance and safeguard the interests of all affiliated unions, but as will leave open the day to all trade unionists who wish to retain their affiliation with the A. F. of L. and as will likewise make it possible for all workers heretofore not affiliated to come into the democratic and constructive ranks of the American Federation of Labor.

"It is to give effect to this policy and procedure and to marshal the forces of labor of America in support of this policy and procedure that the Executive Council decided upon calling into special conference the officers and/or representatives of all affiliated national and international unions, to meet with the Executive Council in Cincinnati, May 18 and 19, for the purpose hereinbefore indicated."

mittee. He then spoke for several minutes, pointing out his long record in organized labor in Chattanooga.

"I was active in this Central Body when I had to walk here from North Chattanooga and back again, and when there were only a dozen delegates present," he said. "I was working in the labor movement when some of those who have criticized me most bitterly had dropped out.

"I want to say that I am as good a union man as any man in this hall. I have organized as many people into the A. F. of L. as any other man.

"I don't care anything about the CIO, the AFL, the XYZ, or the PDQ. I am interested only in the organization of the unorganized, and the welfare of my fellow-workers."

Googe praised Dobbs in a short talk which followed as he took the chair to elect Dobbs' successor.

"I have been closely associated with Brother Dobbs for many years," he said. "I have watched him closely and worked with him. I have seen him work heart and soul for the A. F. of L. I, for one, do not for one minute question his sincerity and his consecration to the labor movement."

Dobbs remained a delegate to the Central Labor union from the Plumbers and Steamfitters organization, and voted on the new president. Many of the delegates, including most of the building trades delegates and Witt, left the hall after the election. But the hour was late, and there was no mass walkout, and no significance was placed on their departure.

Special Delivery Postoffice Workers Want Living Wage

Present Scale Requires Them to Maintain Equipment Out of Meager Pay

Congressman Martin L. Sweeney, veteran member of the postoffice and post roads committee of the House of Representatives, has entered a Bill H. R. 6394, designed to adjust the compensation of the special delivery messengers of the United States postal service.

Pending passage of their bill for salary and classification this measure has been designed to alleviate temporarily, conditions of economic distress due to rising costs of maintenance of equipment, and unprecedented departmental demands for increased service. If passed it would grant them an additional one cent per letter, the second such raise ever allowed them in fifty-two years. Officials of the National Association of Special Delivery Messengers say this can easily be taken care of from existing revenue.

The employees of this branch receive no set salary or pension, and no guarantee of position, nor allowance for maintenance of equipment. Although more than 100 laws have been passed by congress for the purpose of raising standards of living for postal employees, each time they have been included. They are not subject to the provisions of either the Social Security, or the National Labor Relations Acts.

Tobacco Workers Start Educating Local Unionists

Mr. P. D. Upchurch, organizer for the Tobacco Workers' Union, is in Chattanooga this week and plans to remain here until he has been able to visit every local union in the interest of the organization. The International Tobacco Workers' Union is conducting an educational campaign among its union members and is sending men over the country to visit all organizations.

Mr. and Mrs. Upchurch attended the meeting of the Label League Friday night and Mr. Upchurch made an interesting talk before that body—asking them to urge the members of organized labor to use union-labeled cigarettes and tobaccos.

ACROSS PICKET LINES

Mr. Duckett and Mr. Charles Hicks, of J. Avery Bryan company.

IN THE NEWS

Norris

George W. Norris is a graduate of the University of Hard Tussle, and long ago took a post-graduate course at M. G. W.—Master of Good Works. Also, he is the most traveled man in American history since Abraham Lincoln. I do not know that he was ever out of the United States; but he has traveled through our social structure from the poverty-stricken Ohio farm in which he was born in 1861, the seventh of twelve children, to the highest rank of service and influence in our national legislature.

He is the ony living author of an amendment to our constitution, the amendment which brings congress together fresh from the people, and abolishes the lame duck session.

He is the father of the federal anti-injunction law.

He is grandfather, guardian, supporter and champion of the public work which has grown into the TVA. And for his 13-year battle, Muscle Shoals long ago would have gone to Henry Ford or some assorted bunch of utility magnates.

And in the single-chamber legislature of Nebraska, Norris has made the first experiment in state government in this country for 50 years—G. H.

Mailers' Union Goes 100 Per Cent When Local Forms

Plans were completed Sunday for an organization for the Mailers on the local newspaper. The entire mailing force of the three daily papers signed up and the application for a charter has been made.

Dowell Patterson, international representative of the Typographical Union, came to Chattanooga Sunday to help with the organization plans. Mr. Patterson is stationed at Nashville at present helping with the organization drive there.

The Mailers' organization is chartered directly from the International Typographical Union, although it is an entirely separate local union.

Schad Here Again

Mr. Herman Schad, representative of the Bakery and Confectionery Workers' union, is in Chattanooga to help Local Union No. 25 with the signing of its new contracts. Mr. Schad attended the meeting of the Label League Friday night and made a short talk to that group.

The Chattanooga Bakers' Union is one of the few in the south having closed-shop contracts. Last week, the Bakers at Tracy City, Tenn., organized and joined the Chattanooga local.

Guildsmen to Meet

Members of Local 112, the Newspaper Guild of Chattanooga, will meet Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in room 908, Hotel Patten. Action will be taken on by-laws, dues and initiation fees.

At 2 p.m. Sunday in the same room, officers and others will meet with prospective members. A special invitation has been extended the editorial staff of the Chattanooga Free Press.

VALIANT LADY DIES

The Labor World joins the many friends of Leo Vick, long-time member of the Moving Picture Operators' union, in offering sympathy to him and the family in the death of his wife.

Mrs. Vick passed away Friday afternoon, May 14, at their home on Merriam street. For the past four years she had been a victim of plastic anemia, for which there is no cure known. Her case had gained widespread notice because of the gallant fight she made to conquer the strange malady. She had had 85 blood transfusions and had survived two years longer than any other person afflicted with this fatal disease.

Throughout Chattanooga, Mrs. Vick was loved and admired for her remarkable courage and cheerfulness throughout the four years she was afflicted. She was 40 years old at the time of her death and is survived by her husband and two children.

Barbers Merge President's And Secretary's Offices

By the one-sided vote of 12,827 to 1,398, the Journeyman Barbers' International Union of America has consolidated the offices of general secretary-treasurer and general president.

A referendum vote was necessary, in the form of a constitutional amendment, due to the fact that international conventions are held only once each five years.

W. C. Birthright who has been general secretary-treasurer for several years, is now the general president as well. He will serve until the next regular convention in 1940.

Richmond Chemical Works Employes Organize Union

Richmond, Cal.—Chemical Workers' Local Union No. 266 has been organized and chartered in Richmond. The membership is made up of the employes of the Wheeler-Reynolds-Stauffer Chemical works.

ADLER, TIMES, TELLS GUILDMEN SAD, SAD TALE

Will Not Ever Recognize Union of Reporters; Overlooks Wagner Act.

Incidentally, Advertising Force Receive Reduction in Hours, Vacation with Pay After Rumors Get Around They Want Union, Too.

Col. Julius Ochs Adler, manager of the New York Times, which also controls the Chattanooga Times, boarded a train for Chattanooga some days ago to personally "confer" with the reportorial staff of the Chattanooga Times, it is said by reliable authority. Mr. Adler had received information that a unit of the American Newspaper Guild had been formed here, and the nature of his "speech" was to tell his employes that the Chattanooga Times would "never recognize the guild."

Mr. Adler, no doubt, overlooked the fact that the supreme court recently handed down a decision on the Wagner labor relations act against which even the "freedom of speech" argument will avail nothing.

It has been rumored around that the advertising solicitors of the daily papers are looking with some favor on having a union also. It is interesting to hear that while Mr. Adler was here the advertising men on the Times were given revised scheduled of hours which is quite favorable—also vacations with pay—and in some instances increases in pay.

It is believed, however, that Mr. Adler's ukase will not supersede federal law. In any event, when such time comes for the newspaper men to present a written agreement to be signed by the Chattanooga Times the Chattanooga labor movement will take quite an interest in the attitude of the Times on that occasion—as well as the federal authorities.

COME TO THE DANCE

Culinary Workers, No. 574, will entertain tonight with a benefit dance, all money received to be used in their organization campaign in Chattanooga.

The affair will be held at the labor hall and dancing will begin at 8:30. Musicians, No. 80, will furnish the orchestra for the occasion and the tickets will be 25 cents per person.

Members of the local have been selling tickets for the past two weeks and tickets may also be secured at the hall tonight. All members of organized labor and their friends are invited.

Come and have a good time and help this young local in its struggle to aid the cooks and waiters of the city.

COLORED TEACHERS ELECT

Mountain City Teachers' union, Local 428, met last week and chose the following officers as their executive board for the next year:

W. N. Jackson, president.
J. I. Jenkins, vice-president.
B. T. Scruggs, financial secretary.
W. L. Hainey, treasurer.
Mrs. M. H. Johnson, corresponding secretary.
Mrs. J. M. Mondul, recording secretary.

Hodcarrier Boys Ready to Play Ball

Local Union No. 846, Hodcarriers, has organized a softball team and plans to be champions of the City League by the end of the summer. They are taking this game seriously and have been practicing every night this week on Bob Cooke Field, with Frank Anderson managing them.

So far, this is the only local union in the city to sponsor a ball team, and the labor movement will be out at the park to root for them all season. The boys are going to be very proud of their new uniforms in green, trimmed with white. Across the back they will bear the words, "Local 846", with the union label inside the pocket.

Play ball! And may our team win!

DELEGATE MARCRUM

Miss Louise Marcrum left Thursday for Knoxville, where she will attend the annual convention of the Daughters of America as a delegate from Lookout Council 60.

COOKE, CARTER AWAY

Mr. & Mrs. R. M. Cooke and F. T. Carter left Thursday morning for Chicago on business for Typographical Union No. 89. Mr. and Mrs. Cooke will stop in Cincinnati on the way back for a visit with relatives.

Glassblowers Sweep In

Glassblowers' Union, No. 92, has just completed a big organization drive with overwhelming success. Brothers R. D. Cleary and Corry Bacchus, executive officers, announced yesterday that the Chattanooga Glass company has been organized 100 per cent, every worker in the plant going into the A. F. of L. Glass Bottle Blowers' union.

The Glassblowers have always been one of the strong local unions and are to be congratulated on this progressive work.

Oakland Laundry Employes Negotiate Two Agreements

Oakland, Cal.—Two more laundries in Oakland have signed union shop agreements with Laundry Workers' union, Local No. 2, and Laundry Wagon Drivers' union, Local No. 209.

Practically all of the large laundries in Oakland are now in the union fold.

CITY DADS AGREE TO 4-MILL LEVY FOR SCHOOL FUND

Union Agrees to Repeal Salary Law With Certain Provisions.

UNION RECOGNITION; LOCAL SALARY SCHEDULE

Referendum Would be Held July 8 Before Finally Effective.

Negotiations have been going on for over a week with city commissioners which, if successful, will cause a bill to be passed in the legislature providing for a 4 to 7 mill tax levy for school use, such tax money to be set aside in a special school fund which cannot be used for any other purpose.

The measure has been proposed by the Chattanooga-Hamilton County Teachers' union, and has been drawn up for the purpose of providing money to pay teachers a decent living salary. The mayor has agreed to support the measure, but not before insisting that the present state salary law, over which a lawsuit against the city is impending, has been repealed.

The union countered this proposal with an agreement to repeal the salary law and drop their suit against the city if the city commissioners would ratify a local schedule of salaries as a basis upon which to work, and also adopt the collective bargaining agreement with the teachers' union.

At press time today it has not been learned if the commissioner of education has definitely approved of the salary schedule, although he has agreed to support and sponsor the motion to recognize the teacher union as the bargaining agency for teachers. The union represents an overwhelming majority of the teachers in the city system.

A referendum has been provided for July 8. If the referendum should be defeated, the present salary law would remain in effect.

Hotel, Restaurant Union Membership Hits 110,000

CINCINNATI, O.—The big spring organization campaign of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and the Bartenders International League, under way for several weeks throughout the nation, has been meeting with pronounced success, according to Robert Hesketh, general secretary, at the union's general headquarters here.

Numerous new unions have been formed in various sections of the country and old-established unions have achieved outstanding gains, until the International has already passed the very creditable mark of 110,000 members.

Security Board Issues Summary Of Progress to May

The social security board today issued a summary of progress, as of May 1, 1937, of its administration of the federal old-age benefits, unemployment compensation and public-assistance provisions of the social security act.

The summary shows that, as of that date, 27,051,976 social security account numbers had been assigned to applicants for participation under the federal old-age benefits program. Forty-five states and the District of Columbia and Alaska now have enacted unemployment compensation laws. The latest available estimates indicate that 18,520,000 workers are employed in jobs covered by forty-four of the laws which have been approved by the board. Since May 1, the Alaska legislation has also been approved by the board.

On the basis of reports received, the board estimated that 1,716,900 needy persons in forty-three states will receive federal, stat and local aid under approved public-assistance plans during May. Of this total, 1,323,000 are needy aged, 34,000 needy blind and 359,900 dependent children.

Flint's Durant Hotel Gained for Union Shop

Hotel Workers' Alliance Finalizes Agreement Raising Wages and Stipulating Union Recognition.

Flint, Mich.—The Durant hotel, the largest one in Flint, has the honor of being the only union hotel in this automobile city.

This result was achieved through an agreement negotiated with the hotel management by Local 605 of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International League of America.

The contract, retroactive to April 1 and ratified by the union and approved by the Durant board of directors, gives the union exclusive bargaining rights in all departments in which it had a majority of the employes enrolled, provides increased wage scales, clauses of non-discrimination, hour schedules and improved work conditions.

Pay Boost for All Employes.

Under the terms of the agreement the following increases in monthly pay became effective: Checkers, $5; multigraph operator, $5; maids, $4.50; building maintenance, $10; laundry foremen, $5; laundry workers, 3 cents per hour; dishwashers, $5; pantry girls, $5; yardmen, $5; night cleaners, $5; freight elevator, junior men, $7.50; freight elevator, senior men, $7.50; second cook, $5; butcher, $10; pastry cook, $3; cold meat man, $10; roast cook, $10; fry cook, $10; swing man, $10; bakers help, $3; vegetable cook, $6; pot washer, $5; watchman, $5.

With regard to all other employes the agreement provides for a 5 per cent maximum increase in monthly compensation.

Auditors, superintendents and department heads are exempt from the provisions of the contract.

On the question of discrimination the agreement said: "Union members shall not be discriminated against by the hotel nor shall any discrimination be exhibited by either the hotel or the union towards present employes who are not union members."

M. E. PASTORS ARE SILENT ON LABOR DEMAND

Take No Action After Plea for Expression of Friendliness.

The Methodist Preachers' meeting, an unofficial weekly assembly in Nashville ministers, refused action on demands by a group of organized labor representatives that the Methodist Publishing House assure labor of its friendliness.

Labor's complaint against the publishing house arose from the printing of work from the Baird-Ward Printing company during a recently settled strike which closed that firm's printing department.

Committee Invited.

A committee representing the Nashville Trades and Labor council and the Allied Printing Trades council appeared at the invitation of the preachers' group and filed a nine-page brief setting out its grievances against the publishing house.

Reading of the brief by Dowell E. Patterson, typographical union representative, provoked a heated controversy among the fifty preachers present that was ended only by the adjournment of the meeting at the end of its hour's allotted time.

Labor's demands of Whitmore & Smith, agents of the publishing house, follow:

That they will not complete further "struck work" for firms that are seeking to defeat the organizations of their employes; that they make no objection to the organization of employes of the Demonbruen street plant in accordance with the specifications of the Wagner labor relations act, and that they will not "cast the weight of their influence as they did in 1929 with organized employers in Tennessee against the efforts of labor to secure a reduction of the working week from 57 hours to the all too long 54 hours.

Dr. John W. Baggett, president of the preachers' meeting, urged the ministers to confine their comments to questioning of labor delegates on specific anti-labor acts of the publishing agents.

Union Defends House.

Dr. King Vivion, pastor of McKendree church, defended the publishing house as an agency which devoted all of its profits to the supprot of superannuated Methodist ministers.

In response, Dr. J. W. Cherry declared, "I am a superannuate, but God helping me, I don't want any of the publishing house's money if it must come at the expense of long hours, low wages and poor working conditions." Nineteen-twentieths of the Methodist ministry are strong for labor, he said.

Members of the labor delegation were: W. E. Woodard, Nashville Trades and Labor council; James J. Hailey, International Brotherhood of Bookbinders; J. O. Nevil, International Printing Pressmen's union; H. S. Williams, Allied Printing Trades council; John W. Caudle, Journeymen Barbers' union; Elaie Wright, committee of industrial organization, and Dowell E. Patterson, International Typographical union.

Green and Lewis Differ Over Green's Stand on G. M. Strike

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A difference of opinion between John L. Lewis and William Green as to Green's stand during the General Motors strike was aired in a speech by Lewis before the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union convention in Atlantic City and a telegram to the convention from Green.

Lewis charged that while he was negotiating settlement of the General Motors strike in February, Green demanded that Governor Murphy, of Michigan, refuse to permit a settlement with the United Automobile Workers or the Committee for Industrial Organization. Lewis denounced Green and said General Motors got the support of the American Federation of Labor president and would probably get it again.

In his telegram Green declared Lewis' statement was "false" and said that "because it was false" he preferred "to believe that Mr. Lewis lacked proper understanding of the telephone conversation I had with Governor Murphy when he made it.

"I most emphatically deny that charge," Green added, "and resent with all the power at my command the other allegation made by Mr. Lewis as reported in the press that General Motors could probably get the support of the president of the American Federation of Labor."

"I plead for unity, solidarity and co-operation within the ranks of labor and I am willing to render any service that lies within my power in an effort to bring about this result," Green said in ending the telegram.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America and head of the Committee for Industrial Organization, told the convention of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union here that the CIO does not "want any peace with the American Federation of Labor." He said there would be no advantage in going into a conference with the A. F. of L. unless it was announced in advance that the Federation would consent to the organization of industrial unions in the mass production industries.

While newspaper accounts of the address conveyed the impression that Lewis was cold toward peace with the A. F. of L., there was a feeling among delegates that his address had shown a conciliatory tone in some ways and that Mr. Lewis recognized the advantages of unity in the labor movement. He emphasized organization gains of the CIO and called upon American workers to organize solidly and demand their rights.

Some Free Advice

It is said that free advice is never worth much, but we can not refrain from offering some to our school teachers. We approve of any sensible plan which will provide for definite funds with which teachers may be paid just and reasonable salaries for their services. However, let the teachers beware before they give up the legislation they have already secured in order to obtain nebulous promises of more money.

Teachers would be unwise to support any proposition to repeal the state salary law they now have until definite local schedules are agreed upon, and until the city of Chattanooga allows the majority of its teachers recognition through their authorized committees.

Past experience has shown that teachers have been gypped in every way that can be devised, and it is high time that they become less gullible and insist upon written agreements from which no "misunderstanding" might develop.

Poison Pen Letters

No one has any feeling of admiration for persons who, wishing to injure an enemy but lacking courage to come into the open to combat such an enemy, resorts to anonymous letters, in which scurrilous attacks are made. No matter what the subject matter of such attacks may be, nothing but contempt is ever felt for such cowardly authors.

We feel that President Stanton E. Smith, of the teachers' union, has done exactly right in refusing to dignify the recent anonymous attack on him by making a reply.

LABOR QUERIES

Q.—What is the total membership of Russian trade unions?

A.—Soviet officials say there were 21,614,700 trade unions members last year. Russian unions are government-fostered and are not regarded as genuine unions by the labor movement of democratic nations.

Q.—Have there been any additions to the list of state labor departments this year?

A.—Arkansas, Georgia and Indiana have set up branches of state government devoted to the protection of wage earners. The United States Department of Labor says that organized labor has to its credit the creation of the three new state labor departments.

Take It or Leave It!

Points of View Picked Up From Various Sources

CY KOLOGY, EDITOR

"Labor trouble" is a frequently used phrase. Why not call it "employer trouble" instead? There would be very little trouble started by labor if there were not first a good deal of "employer trouble." Think of all the employers who have refused to recognize unions. If employers had not been so stubborn about recognizing unions, there would never have been any strikes to enforce recognition. So, first we get "employer trouble" and then to cure that we get labor trouble. It's a queer world—and a good many times the cart gets hitched up before the horse. The horse, of course, not being used to that, raises a row.

Right at this moment there is a great deal of "employer trouble" even though the supreme court has decided that the labor relations act is sound and constitutional and everything. Some employers still think they can "beat the game" and go right on with their old scheming and browbeating. They have a bad case of "employer trouble." It probably is going to take a lot more "labor trouble" to cure the "employer trouble" that keeps cropping out all over the country. At this moment, strikes are on the increase. There isn't any reason to expect any decrease, either. "Employer trouble" is a very stubborn thing—it resists cure, even though that resistance is expensive and must always lose in the long run. That's how employers are.

What is to be done about all this "employer trouble?" There's only one thing—that's all there ever has been—workers must organize. Even with all the new law, nothing happens until workers organize. One worker doesn't get anywhere, even with the new law. It takes a union of workers. The law, clearly, was made for unions of workers. If you're not in a union, you might as well give up. You're sunk, as far as curing "employer trouble" is concerned. You'll take what you get and like it.

So, after all, the cure for "employer trouble" is through unions.

Unless you join a union you have no standing with a labor board. If you are in a union, then your union has a standing and a very valuable and important standing. Your employer must not fire you for joining a union. Some of them don't believe that yet, but they're finding out fast. Your employer has to bargain with your union. Not with you, as a lone worker, but with your union as a band of workers.

The best way to cure "employer trouble" is to hurry up and organize. "Employer trouble" is on the way out—but the employers aren't going to do anything to help get rid of it. That's the job of unions—and we have unions only when workers join together to form unions. Get into unions quick!

AMERICAN LABOR PARTY ISSUES CONVENTION CALL

New York City.—The state executive committee of the American Labor party has issued a state convention call for June 19 and 20 in New York City. It was indicated that the question of the American Labor party candidates for mayor and all other offices of New York may be discussed.

The executive committee also decided upon the first steps to turn over control of the party machinery to the membership and ordered party elections between May 31 and June 12. This action was announced by Luigi Antonini, state chairman, and Alex Rose, secretary, of the party.

The great-hearted coal companies of Harlan county charge a miner 15 per cent a month for any money drawn before payday, and then pay him in script which he has to spend at the company store. Thrift, thrift, Horatio.

Pennsylvania Legislature Passes Minimum Wage Law

Washington.—Two more results of the supreme court's reversal of itself in upholding the Washington minimum wage law are now to be chronicled.

The Pennsylvania legislature passed and sent to Gov. Earle a minimum wage law for women and for boys under 21. Newsboys, domestic help and farm workers are exempted.

State Labor Commissioner John J. Toohey, Jr., of New Jersey, has stated that he will name a minimum wage board to enforce a law passed in 1933, but allowed to slumber unenforced until Mr. Justice Roberts changed his mind on such matters. A notable circumstance is that the New Jersey Laundry Owners' association, representing 80 per cent of the industry in that state, formally requested this action.

LABEL LEADERS

By BROWNIE HOPPER

It's purely a personal matter this week.

Yessir, I finally got it. And I'm now a full-fledged union gal. All these years I've been trying to get into some union—tried to get Mr. Boddy to take me in the Brewery Workers, but he said I wouldn't make a good bartender. Then, I tried to get in the Painters' union on the grounds that it takes a real artist to paint my face with lipstick and rouge—they wouldn't see it that way.

But the Newspaper Guild took me in. Come by and see my union card, with my dues all paid up. Think I'll frame it.

The biggest little boy went on a sit-down strike. One day last week he went to a party, and some of the boys decided that the refreshments were being served as promptly as they should, so somebody (and knowing the biggest little boy fairly well, I almost guarantee that it was) suggested that they "pull a sit-down." So down they sat on the porch and began calling all the youngsters to "come and join the union—we're on a sit-down strike for refreshments."

Well, they must have won—and I bet the mother who was trying to handle that bunch of impolite little rascals was glad enough to bring on the refreshments and get it over with. And she will probably picket the house against all little boys from now on.

Before it gets too hot to do much cooking, I want to give you my favorite recipe for rolls. This is a recipe that my mother gave to me many years ago.

ICE BOX ROLLS

2 c. sweet milk.
½ c. shortening.
½ c. sugar.

Let heat until shortening melts, but do not let it boil. After cooling, add

½ yeast cake, dissolved in a tablespoon of warm water and enough flour to make the mixture like cake batter. Let rise until it doubles in size—about two hours—then add

1 ts. salt.
1 ts. baking powder and flour to make a soft dough, kneading well.

Place in ice box and leave until ready to use. Make out rolls about two hours before dinner and let them rise. Cook in moderate oven.

This amount will make about two dozen rolls and will keep a week in an electric refrigerator.

P. S. Terrell Electric company has some good Westinghouse ice boxes.

Jones & Laughlin's Refusal to Sign Pact Forces First Strike

27,000 Workers Meet Challenge of Big Steel Independent to S. W. O. C. by Walkout.

BULLETIN

Pittsburgh. — An agreement ending the Jones & Laughlin strike was reached May 14 providing for acceptance by the company of terms similar to the Carnegie-Illinois agreement pending a consent election to be held by May 20.

Pittsburgh.—Jones & Laughlin, one of the nation's Big Five independent steel companies, has caused the first strike in the industry since the Steel Workers' organizing committee began its campaign by refusing to sign a written agreement with the union.

Some 27,000 workers in the company's two plants at Pittsburgh and Aliquippa, Pa., are affected by the strike which was called after employes at the plants voted overwhelmingly for it, and after Philip Murray, chairman of the S. W. O. C., had exhausted all efforts to induce the company representatives to agree to a signed contract.

So far the big independents have refused to follow the lead set by U. S. Steel and more than 100 smaller independent companies which have already signed contracts. The union announced before the strike that it had enrolled nearly 38,000 new members in one week.

Republic Steel, third largest steel company in the country, and Youngstown Sheet and Tube company also have refused so far to sign a written agreement, as part of the big independents to hold off organization of their employes. Local unions in both plants have authorized the S. W. O. C. to call a strike whenever it was deemed necessary.

A third of the steel output of the nation is produced by Jones & Laughlin, Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Bethlehem Steel. They employ nearly 200,000 workers.

The change we personally experience from time to time, we obstinately deny to our principles.—Zimmerman.

The Friedman-Harry Marks Clothing company, which fought the Wagner labor relations act clear up to the supreme court, has signed an agreement with the Amalgamted Clothing Workers. How much do you suppose that useless lawsuit cost?

Charles E. Mitchell, one of the most swinish financial porkers of Wall Street, has lost his suit and must pay $728,709 as income tax for 1929. Which is good as far as it goes. But Wall Street will not stop tax dodging till a few dozen of its members are sent to prison for trying it.

Statement to the Methodist Ministers' Meeting of the Nashville District at Their Weekly Session in the Chapel of the Methodist Publishing House, May 17, 1937.

r. Chairman and Brethren:

We are here this morning at your nd invitation and we desire at the stset to express to you our appre-iation at the sense of fairness on our part of which your invitation to ppear with this statement is an evi-ence. We are here as Methodists nd representatives of working men nd women speaking for the workers f our locality. As Methodists and as embers of labor we come to you in e confidence that you will hear us ith sympathy and understanding. We e not here to denounce but to con-r and to learn and we desire that l that is said be understood in terms f the goodwill that makes us one. e rejoice that the division between orking people and the church is less ident in the south than in other rts of the country and of the world. e are anxious that such misunder-anding as exists may be healed. We elieve that one reason why working ople in the south are as largely in e church as they are is the liberal and which the Southern Methodist urch in particular has taken in its pronouncements on social issues and the courageous leadership many Southern Methodist ministers have pplied along these lines. We ap-preciate the indebtedness of labor to e church in its teaching of brother-ood and justice and humanity.

There has been here in Nashville or many years a situation that has onfused the less well informed among ur Methodist working people and the eople in the ranks of labor gener-lly. This is the lack of agreement etween the stated principles of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, nd the actual procedure of the ad-inistration of the Methodist Publish-g House. The situation to which e refer has evidenced itself in a hreefold way: (1) In the vigorous pposition of the authorities of the Methodist Publishing House to the or-anization of its employes in other han a "company" union; (2) in the ressure that is brought to bear on ersons in the connectional service of he church who manifest friendliness oward labor, and, (3) in the repeated asting of influence with the enemies f labor both in the matter of social egislation such as the limitation of ours of labor for women in Tennes-ee and in siding with the enemies of abor organization in such concrete ays as has been brought to your at-ention in the Baird-Ward strike, hen "struck work" from Baird-Ward as printed by the publishing house. We come to this third item first, be-ause it is immediately before us. When our pickets at Baird-Ward per-onally witnessed the loading of struck work" from Baird-Ward's on truck and its delivery for comple-tion to the Demonbruen street plant of the Methodist Publishing House on May 7, while a strike was in pro-gress and while a federal conciliator was in conference with attorneys for the company trying to effect a settle-ment, it looked a bit as though labor was being knifed in the house of its friends. Not wishing to be uncharitable or to form snap judgment, how-ever, we communicated with Dr. Al-fred F. Smith, cited the social creed of the church and appealed to him to refuse to execute struck work from the Baird-Ward company. At first he said he would consider our request, but when we stated that the work was being done at once and we de-sired a reply to our request he stated in rather cold and haughty therms that "he would help the Baird-Ward company." We then asked him if fur-ther appeal would be futile and again we were told that he would "help the Baird-Ward company." We felt that the publishing house agents had joined the ranks of "strikebreakers" on the basis of Dr. Smith's attitude and accordingly we picketed the of-fice building and production plant as a means of peaceful protest against this attitude. Those doing the pick-eting, with the exception of one or two, were members in good standing in the Methodist churches of this city and they were there to protect the good name of their church as well as to seek justice for labor. If only a small job for the Baptist Sunday school board was involved in the "struck work" done, we must say on the one hand that it took a big truck to haul it, and further that the Baptist board should share the condemnation we expressed toward the publishing agents, because there are unionized plants in this city where the Baptists could and should have their work done.

In the Evening Tennessean of the 10th there appeared an account of the discussion at the Methodist ministers' meeting that morning of the press ac-counts of the controversy regarding the publishing house. Labor through-out the city rejoiced in the affirma-tion by the meeting of the belief in the social creed of the church, which in one form another has been in the Methodist discipline for twenty years and which has always affirmed labor's right to organize for the purpose of collective bargaining and the protec-tion of that right. The offense of the publishing agents has, however, mini-mized and the statement made that no representatives of labor appeared to represent the case otherwise. We are here by your courtesy today to do this. We feel that the agents are due the church and labor and you breth-ren a further and more reassuring statement of position. We herewith request Messrs. Whitmore and Smith to state to you and to the public and to labor: (1) That they will not com-plete further "struck work" for firms that are seeking to defeat the organi-zation of their employes, (2) that they have no objection to the organi-zation of the workers in the Demon-bruen street plant in accordance with the definitions and specifications of the Wagner labor disputes act, and, (3) that they will not cast the weight of their influence, as they did in 1929, with organized employers in Tennes-see against the effort of labor to se-cure a reduction in the working week for women in Tennessee from the bar-barous length of 57 hours to the all too long week of 54 hours!

We feel that the mild disclaimer of Dr. Smith to your meeting of last week is inadequate. Labor sees more in this incident than the bare state-ment. It sees a detail here of a con-sistent, long established, persistently held anti-labor policy on the part of the agents of the Methodist Publish-ing House and of the reactionary lo-cal business men who make up its governing board. We therefore ask for specific assurances from Messrs. Whitmore and Smith on the three items enumerated.

Now, if we look (we trust without tiring you or trespassing unduly on your time) at the larger aspects of the publishing house picture, you will see the justification for the feeling on the part of labor that the agents of the publishing house have had and do now have an anti-labor policy and at-titude.

A year or more ago a committee consisting of Mr. J. O. Nevil, Mr. James J. Hailey and Dr. A. D. Beit-tel, then pastor of Collegeside Congre-gational church, called on Messrs. Mhitmore and Smith to discuss with them the organization of the plant. Whitmore and Smith to discuss with the committee because of the Congre-gational literature published by the Methodist Publishing House and be-cause labor always likes to avail it-self of the intelligence and friendly counsel of religious leaders. We got nowhere in this conference, and the committee came away with the im-pression of the unfriendly and almost bitter attitude of the agents. Within a few months after this meeting, Dr. Beittel had to resign his pastorate. We are unable to establish a connec-tion between his resignation and his participation in this conference, but this, with other similar occurrences, makes us sure of the far-reaching in-fluence in this community of the agents and their governing body of reactionary business men against the friends of labor. Their long hand has reached in more directions than one in the last two decades and they are more responsible than may appear on the surface for dismissals from em-ployment of men whose social minded-ness and courageous action in the community were their chief offense!

This conference with the agents re-garding the organization of the pro-duction plant is only one of many such experiences, all of them with the have indicated on more than one oc-same dismal outcome. The agents casion that they would rather see the plant closed than to see it organized in the usually accepted sense of that term. They have indicated that they would oppose with every resource at their disposal such organization, and they have skillfully used these re-sources.

In February, 1935, the Adult Stu-dent carried an article on "Labor's Right to Organize." This article was reprinted in the local Labor Advocate and came to the attention of labor both through church channels and through labor journals. The joy and pride of Methodist workers was short-lived, however, for at the end of that year the splendid young man who edited the Adult Student was dis-missed from his position. Labor in Nashville does not doubt the direction from which the pressure was exerted that ousted Dr. Henry Sprinkle from his position.

In the spring of 1929 a bill was in-troduced into the Tennessee legisla-ture providing for the reduction in length of the working week for women industrially employed from 57 to 54 hours. This would merely have allowed a half holiday on Saturday! It was not a radical proposal. The paid attorney for organized employ-ers in this vicinity drew up a petition against the bill and this petition was put through those industrial plants in the city employing large numbers of women. Women signed these iden-tical petitions for fear of losing their jobs or else because of gross misin-formation regarding the pending bill. They did not get information about the bill from ordinary sources be-cause there was no newspaper public-ity regarding the proposed legisla-tive measure at that time. One of these petitions was circulated in the production plant of the Methodist Publishing House and was presented in the legislative committee with the names of all women employes affixed thereto. The attorney for the afore-said organized employers used the good name of the Methodist church to keep this bill from coming to a vote and he played up this particular peti-tion above all others as illustrating the nefarious character of the bill. Hon. Albert Hill, for years a leader of local labor and a devout Christian layman and friend of the church, was then alive. He had this petition ex-amined by a handwriting expert who, he said, offered to make affidavit that there were only three or four distinct handwritings in all the signatures of these employes of the Methodist Pub-lishing House. When these facts came to light, the agents disclaimed all responsibility. One wonders, how-ever, just how easily it would be to get other types of petitions circulated among the employes of the publishing house if these petitions violated the wishes and views of the agents. Let labor leaders try to poll the employes on issues of interest to them and see if the agents will remain innocently unaware of what is transpiring.

We might multiply further illustra-tions. These are typical and suffi-cient for you to see what we are talk-ing about. Labor will be reassured only when clear-cut statements from the agents along the lines specified above are forthcoming and when there is action that accords with these statements.

We realize that this body is with-out authority. You are just a group of preachers and we regard you all as our friends. We assure you of our loyalty to the Methodist church. We have come here for a friendly inter-change of experiences and views and we appreciate your courtesy and fair-ness in inviting us to make our state-ment.

GARMENT WORKERS HAIL RICHMOND UNION PACT

Richmond, Va.—Workers of the Friedman-Harry Marks Clothing com-pany of Richmond, one of the con-cerns involved in the five cases passed upon by the U. S. supreme court in upholding the Wagner labor act, voted enthusiastically to accept the agree-ment signed between the Amalga-mated Clothing Workers, C. I. O. union and the company.

Of the 900 workers in the plant, all but 70 belong to the union. The con-tract, which is to run for three years, includes a 12 per cent wage increase, a preferential union shop and a 36-hour week. Provisions are also made for arbitration in case of labor trou-ble, and for setting up a union griev-ance committee.

President Sidney Hillman stated that the agreement showed the great contribution which the Wagner act is making in the peaceful settlement of labor disputes. "Once it is realized that labor organizations have real rights as such under the law, the em-ployer is not only bound, but in many cases is willing to deal with labor as a responsible body."

More than 90 per cent of the em-ployers in the clothing industry, Hill-man announced, are under contract at the present time with the Amalga-mated Clothing Workers' union.

Sheriff Middleton, of Harlan county, accumulated a fortune of $102,000 on a salary of $1,800 a year, and a limi-tation on salary and fee income to $5,000 a year. He refused to give details for fear of incriminating him-self.

Turning back to a sweeping injunc-tion granted six years ago by Judge Harry S. McDevitt, the Artcraft Silk Hosiery mill, Philadelphia, has asked the judge to declare three union lead-ers in contempt of court for violat-ing the terms of the injunction, to declare all sit-down strikers in con-tempt, and to order the sheriff to evict sit-down strikers from the plant.

George, in intervals between rehear-sals: "That brother of mine sure knew what he was about when he ducked this coronation show.

In order to have "fair trade" one should patronize firms that are "fair."

Wage levels go higher in just the degree that workers buy union-made goods.

FORTY-HOUR WEEK WON FOR FURNITURE WORKERS

The presence of a labor union in a city soon results in improved wages, hours and work conditions. This is evidently the case in Fort Smith, Ark., where a furniture workers local of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners was recently organized with the help of the Fort Smith Trades and Labor Council, starting off with a membership of over 100.

Since the union was established all Fort Smith furniture plants have gone on a 40-hour week in place of the 60 to 70 hours formerly worked.

Wages, which the union plans to improve, are from 27 cents to a top of 70 cents for a few highly skilled workers. The average wage for ma-chine men is 45 cents in the best fac-tories and 35 cents in the others.

Union Employes Vote Approval Of Agreement With Packard Co.

Pact Is First Giving United Automobile Workers Exclusive Bargaining Agency —Wage Increases, Other Concessions.

Detroit, May 13.—Union employes ratified the agreement in which the Packard Motor Car company recognizes the United Automobile Workers of America as the sole bargaining agency for its employes who are paid by the hour.

This agreement, which runs till May 1, 1938, is the first exclusive recognition given to the UAWA by a major automobile company. The Pacard company employs about 14,000 persons. This conduct is not so unusual as it might seem, for the Packard company was the first in the automobile business to make an effort to steady employment, and to level off the peaks and canons which made the life of the auto worker an economic nightmare.

Terms of Agreement.

The terms of the agreement include: A general 3 cents an hour wage increase effective May 16;

Minimum hourly wages after six months employment of 65 cents for women and 75 for men;

Eight-hour day and 40-hour week, with time and a half for overtime. Night workers get 5 cents an hour more than day workers;

One week's vacation a year on full pay;

Observance of seniority in laying off and rehiring, and shop stewards to settle employe grievances.

No Strike Pledge Made.

"In case of a general layoff, hours of work will be reduced to 32 per week before anyone is laid off altogether," is one clause in the agreement, and another binds the union not to permit: "Strikes or any other interference or any other stoppage, total or partial, of any of the company's operations."

"The Packard Motor Car company," said Richard T. Frankensteen, UAWA organizing director, "will not regret that it has signed such a splendid agreement."

Industry Called Upon to Protect Labor

Means Must Be Put Into Effect to Prevent Disease and Injury, New York Labor Department Official Says.

New York City. — Dr. Leonard Greenburg, director of the division of industrial hygiene, state labor department, addressing the eighth annual convention of the Greater New York Safety Council, called upon industry "to put into force those engineering techniques of proven value in order to prevent disease and injury to the industrial worker." Further he asked "industry to attempt to ascertain, prior to use, the degree of toxicity of every new material which is introduced for factory use."

The safety problem of the state department of labor, Dr. Greenburg said, "consists in a large backlog of old accident and health hazards and, in addition, increments of new accident and health hazards due to the use of new machinery and new substances."

Twenty states are now conducting industrial hygiene efforts, Dr. Greenburg explained, but in only New York and Massachusetts are these efforts under the direction of labor departments, in the other state being under health departments. The important advantage of labor department work in industrial hygiene, Dr. Greenburg pointed out, lies in the fact that the labor department not only discovers and studies old and new industrial health and accident hazards, and recommends preventive and protective methods, but promulgates safety codes and sees that they are enforced; whereas, health departments may merely disseminate information and make recommendations which may or may not be heeded.

The factory inspections conducted by a department of labor make much more effective industrial hygiene efforts of a labor department than is possible when industrial hygiene is administered by a health department, Dr. Greenbury declared.

Kress Five-and-Ten-Cent Store in Seattle Signs Pact With Warehousemen's Union

After pickets of Warehousemen's Local 117, of Seattle, Washington, patrolled the entrances to the large S. H. Kress Company 5-and-10-cent store at Third Avenue and Pike Street in that city for two days, company officials recognized the union as the representative of its employes for collective bargaining and signed an agreement putting into force union hours, wages and working conditions.

The Warehousemen's Union, numbering over 1,500 members, has also recently negotiated agreements with W. P. Fuller & Co. and the Crecent Manufacturing Company, affecting about 75 men for each concern, and with the Portland Cordage Company.

Houston Engineers Gain Four Hotel Agreements

Houston, Tex.—New ground for organized labor has been broken by Stationary Engineers Local No. 707, of Houston, in the negotiation of closed shop contracts with four leading Houston hotels—the Rice, Lamar, Jacinto and Texas State—all operated by the Realty Management company, with whose officials the union dealt.

The agreement, which union officials say is the first of its kind negotiated in Houston, provides for a 48-hour week and an increase in wages of $7.65 per month beginning May 1, with an additional increase of $7.65 beginning Sept. 1.

The contract benefits thirty engineers.

Chicago Furniture Union Gains Twelve Agreements

CHICAGO, Ill.—Twenty-five hundred new members at an initiation fee of $3 each and 12 signed agreements with employers calling for union recognition, higher wages, shorter hours and better working conditions, is the record of the new Furniture Workers Local Union No. 1608 of Chicago, which received its charter from the Carpenters Brotherhood in February.

Kenosha Laborers Union Gains Good Wage and Hour Contracts

Kenosha, Wis.—The beneficial effects of union organization for unskilled workers are well illustrated in the success of the Racine-Kenosha District Council of Laborers Union No. 237, Kenosha, Wis., in negotiating a contract with four road contractors in Racine and Kenosha counties stipulating a minimum wage of 90 cents an houh for all new work.

Meanwhile, the Kenosha Laborers union signed an agreement with the Kenosha Mason Contractors' association fixing 85 cents an hour as the minimum wage on local work to be paid by seven contractors who are members of the association.

The prize bonus of the year went to T. J. Watson, president of the International Business Machine corpotion, $343,237.00. Next came A. P. Sloan, Jr., of General Motors, with $255,505.00. George Washington Hill, of American Tobacco, filled third place with $246,174; and honest old William S. Knudsen, the model immigrant boy of G. M., collected $254,325.00. And still we are told that high wages make high costs.

RUBBER PLANT STRIKERS WIN INCREASE IN WAGES

Trenton, N. J.—The four weeks' strike of Thermoid Rubber company employes is ended, thanks chiefly to the work of William C. Liller, conciliator from the U. S. department of labor. Work has been resumed by 40 per cent of the workers, and the rest will be placed as fast as possible. Men get 3 cents and women 1 cent an hour increase; and a 5 per cent increase of all wages below 60 cents an hour takes effect June 1.

Considering that the governor and the New Jersey courts were both on the side of the company, and that the court's order against mass picketing was enforced by state troopers, the strikers are believed to have come out fairly well.

Rumor has it that Justice Brandeis and Van Devanter will retire from the supreme court at the end of the present term. Brandeis is irreplaceable; he is the kind of public servant that a nation is lucky to get once in a century. Van Devanter never will be missed—except by economic royalists who trusted him to fight everything new.

Two tremendous floods in four months are plain notice from Mother Nature that this administration has bigger business on its hands than he immeditate balancing of the budget.

What Next?

The Federal Radio Commission has just approved a radio robot that will pick up the international distress signals when the ship operator is off duty, sound an alarm, and turn on the lights in the operator's quarters and on the bridge. The distress signal is four dashes, each four seconds long, separated by spaces of one second each. It sounds the alarm on receipt of the fourth dash.

FOR THE CHILD (OR ADULT) WHO "hates to drink milk"

A DELICIOUS

rich in bone-building calcium— equal to milk in food energy value

PHYSICIANS say most of us—young or old—need more calcium in our daily diet. Milk is rich in these important elements. But here and there we find children—and grownups—who "hate to drink milk."

Well, here is a happy solution. A sure-fire way to break the "milk strike" in your home. Serve KRIM-KO Chocolate Flavored Drink, fresh from our dairy. It is so delicious—and so good for you!

KRIM-KO is rich in bone-building calcium. A great help in building and maintaining firm, sound teeth. Equal to standard milk in food energy value.

So, when they "refuse" milk, give your family KRIM-KO. Serve it every day for a week. Then try milk. See if KRIM-KO hasn't developed their taste in that direction, too.

Meet CIO Challenge

(By Staff Correspondent)

Cincinnati.—Money and support for the American Federation of Labor organization campaign to meet the challenge of the CIO were voted the conference held in Cincinnati the call of the A. F. of L. Executive Council.

An assessment of one cent per member per month was pledged by national and international unions represented at the conference. To avoid constitutional restrictions, the pledge actually was a pledge to consider a resolution at the next convention of the A. F. of L. to levy the assessment effective June 1, but pending formal ratification by the conventions of the affiliated unions agreed to advance voluntarily the amount of the assessment.

Thus the A. F. of L., long handicapped by lack of funds and recently forced to reduce further organization activities and expenses by the loss of per capita dues from CIO unions, will be able to expand its activities, add to its organizers and arrange for more adequate publicity.

The increased aggressiveness in organization activities by national and international unions was pledged, and the conference left power to the Executive Council to coordinate the activities of all affiliated unions under the directon of President Green.

The tightening of A. F. of L. organization lines to meet the CIO challenge was effected by the requirement that in the future all duly chartered local organizations must become affiliated with state federations of labor and with central bodies.

Finally the conference recommended to the Executive Council that all labor unions chartered by national and international unions holding membership in the CIO be disassociated from membership in state federations of labor and city central bodies directly chartered by the A. F. of L.

The attacks on CIO activities and submission of facts regarding the invasion of jurisdictions of A. F. of L. unions by the CIO consumed most of the time of the two-day conference. Organizer Francis J. Dillon gave details of the establishment of dual unions in Toledo by the United Automobile Workers covering hotel and restaurant employes, retail clerks, taxi drivers (taxi), flint glass workers, commercial telegraphers and pickle workers. President Green read a long report of invasions of A. F. of L. jurisdictions in other cities. John P. Frey charged that communists are concentrating on a program for gaining control of the CIO and Labor's Non-Partisan league as the essential step in gaining control of the United States politically and economically.

From discussions among leaders of the A. F. of L. it became obvious that the combined power of A. F. of L. unions would be used to squeeze all local industrial unions organized by the CIO which are interpreted as invasions of A. F. of L. jurisdictions. Employers who recognize CIO unions of this character may find other A. F. of L. unions refusing to cooperate.

In short, the A. F. of L. resolved to demonstrate its economic power in meeting all "acts of aggression" on the part of the CIO.

IN THE NEWS
CARDOZO

Benjamin H. Cardozo, associate justice of the United States supreme court, celebrated his 67th birthday by handing two decisions upholding the social security act.

Justice Cardozo is a bachelor, a lawyer, a New Yorker. His family has been there since before the Revolution. He has a gentle, thoughtful face, topped by silvered hair; and is ranked by one of the highest power minds in the country. As a lawyer, he was particularly a lawyer's lawyer and his practice was mainly before the appellate courts. As a judge, in the case of MacPherson vs. Buick Motor company, he laid down the rule that the maker of a motor car is responsible for it, not the agent who sells it; and this doctrine has also crossed the water to England.

He reads omnivorously; exercises daily at all; is a liberal by instinct as well as reason. Senator Borah did the best work in persuading President Hoover to name Cardozo to the supreme court.

WALKOUT CLOSES BIG PICKLE PLANT

Pittsburgh.—The plant of the H. J. Heinz company, employing more than 2,000, was forced to suspend regular operation on May 25 by a strike of canning and pickle workers asking union recognition and higher wages.

The strike was called by the Canning and Pickle Workers Local No. 20, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, which claims to represent a majority of the employes.

HODCARRIERS TAKE NOTICE

There will be a special meeting of Local 846, Hodcarriers, next Tuesday evening, June 1, at the labor hall, at 7:30. Very important business will be taken up, as well as nominations of officers.

Committees Named by Central Labor Union

Here are the names of various committees for the next twelve months in Chattanooga Central Body:

Audit: B. W. Boddy, J. G. Burks, C. C. Burgner, Sid Robinson, J. S. Hunt and P. R. Olgiati.

Educational: C. C. Burgner, Margaret O'Grady, A. T. Johnson, J. G. Burks and Robert Brown.

Organizing: W. A. Witt, B. E. Workman, John Phillips, Erskine Mabee, C. R. Sims, Floyd Smith and T. W. Axley.

Legislative: J. B. Campbell, M. McCafferty, A. T. Johnson, W. R. Barney, Harry Davies and John Cotter.

Label: E. E. Crosby, Arch Underwood, L. G. Alley, White Abel and Mrs. McCafferty.

Government Officials Refuse To Pass Hotel Picket Lines

San Francisco, Cal.—The broad effect of picketing in labor disputes was illustrated here during the strike against non-union hotels declared by the Hotel and Restaurant Employes and Bartenders' union against the leading San Francisco hotels.

Eleven members of the National Emergency council, an agency of the federal government, had made reservations at the Palace hotel, one of the picketed establishments. The council members refused to pass the picket lines and transferred their headquarters to the Fielding hotel.

One member of the council stated that it was a violation of the council's policy as a government agency to pass through a picket line.

Long Beach Tailors' Union Signs Up Rude Tailor Shop

Long Beach, Cal.—Tailors Local Union No. 255 of Long Beach has negotiated a closed shop contract with the Rude tailor shop.

The union reports a large increase in membership during the last few weeks following the inauguration of a reduced initiation fee for a temporary period.

Barbers Get Support City Regulation of Open and Close Time

Central Labor Union Approves of City Ordinance Which Will Make Industry More Stable.

Central Labor union last Monday evening told Local 415, Journeyman Barbers, that it would support to the fullest extent an effort to have passed in the city commission an ordinance which would provide regular opening and closing hours for all barber shops in the city.

Many so-called barber shops keep open at all hours of the day and night, which creates unfair competition for the industry as a whole, but which could be controlled by ordinance in a manner that would put everyone on a just basis.

When the barber union presents its plea before the city dads the secretary of Central Body will go with them to seek the passage of the measure.

ACROSS PICKET LINES

W. A. (Dudy Bill) Cox, a regular patron of the picketed restaurants, is also a member of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. Remonstrance on the part of many members of the railroad lodge seems to be of no use. Mr. J. C. Cox, a good union trainman, wants it distinctly understood that he is in no way related to "Dudy Bill," although their names are similar. Very embarrassing to "J. C."

Terrell Rowland, owner of Rowland Pharmacy in Alton Park, is said by pickets to be a regular patron of picketed restaurants.

Isom Saunders, manager of Pollock's Cinderella shop.

Port Huron Clerks Gain Six O'clock Closing Rule

Port Huron, Mich.—The Retail Clerks' union at Port Huron, aside from securing new members, has been successful in gaining compliance with a 6 o'clock Saturday closing rule.

Hedges Pipe Fdry. Closed By Strike Of AFL Molders

Management Uses Old Gag That Law Does Not Allow Closed Shop—Everything Quiet.

Over 150 molders, helpers, core makers and reamers employed in the soil pipe foundry of the Hedges-Walsh-Weidner plant went out on strike last Monday evening after management definitely refused to recognize the union and sign a closed shop agreement.

The plant was completely shut down and all is quiet on the picket lines.

A. J. Moses, Hedges general manager located here, said that the shop regularly employed about 125 molders.

"The position of the management," said Moses, "is that it should neither encourage nor discourage its men from joining a particular union organization. If we granted the request of this group for a card shop we would be in the position of coercing our men into joining a certain union. Our position is that we will recognize the organization of the men's choosing for collective bargaining."

Many of the men in the foundry were not striking, including the cleaning room, construction, pattern, machine shop and shipping crews.

Strikers are members of Locals 8 and 53 of the International Molders' Union of North America, an A. F. of L. affiliate.

Gary Teachers' Union Joins National Unit

Secretary Kuempi Says Federation Has Trebled Membership in Four Years.

Gary, Ind.—Local No. 4, of the American Federation of Teachers, celebrated their return to the federation, from which they voluntarily withdrew a number of years ago, with a victory dinner following the announcement of the vote for reinstatement which recorded 226 in favor and 138 against.

The speakers included Irvin Kuempli, secretary-treasurer of the American Federation of Teachers, who declared that the national organization has trebled its membership in the last four years.

Carl Mullen, president of the Indiana State Federation of Labor, said that at this year's session of the Indiana legislature "there were two occasions when your teachers' tenure law would have been repealed, but for the timely and effective intercession of the American Federation of Labor."

Other speakers at the banquet, attended by more than 250 persons, were Mrs. Mary Herrick, executive board chairman of the Chicago Teachers' union; Frank McCoy, president of the Lake County Central Labor union, who presided, and William J. Harrigan, of Hammond, business agent of the Lake County Bricklayers' union.

Meatcutters To Try To Prevent By Law Man-Killing Hours

Central Body Pledges Support Effort to Eliminate "From Can to Can't" Hours.

Local 600, Meatcutters, is drawing up city ordinance which will force grocery stores and meat markets to observe certain hour limits. They propose that such businesses be limited to a 7 a.m. opening and 6 p.m. closing during week days, with a closing time on Saturdays extended to 8 p.m. They also ask that Wednesdays be observed as a half-day holiday.

Central Body went on record as being in favor of such legislation.

LABEL LEAGUE SKATING PARTY

The Chattanooga Label league had such a successful time with their last skating party at Warner park some weeks ago that they will give another next Friday evening, June 4.

It will start at about 7:30 and admission will be 15 cents for women and children and 25 cents for the men folk.

Come on out, get some exercise and see your friends.

American Tobacco Company Signs Tobacco Workers Pact

Durham, N. C.—The American Tobacco company has signed a union agreement with the locals of the Tobacco Workers' International union, covering plants in Durham, Reidsville, N. C., and Richmond, Va. Local Unions No. 182, 183 and 192 were successful in breaking through with an agreement with one of the "Big Four" tobacco concerns.

Workers received increased wages of 5 and 7 per cent, the 40-hour work week, time and a half for overtime work, double time for Sundays and holidays, with eight holidays specified. Piece-work rates were adjusted accordingly. Outstanding, of course, is the fact that the local unions are recognized as collective bargaining agents.

The social security act may be imperfect, and need amendments. But it is the longest stride toward real civilization that this country has taken since it abolisher slavery.

Another Peace Effort Finds Greek Combine Firm in Determination to Keep Profits.

Maypole Silas Sits Through Meeting Repeating "I Refuse to Talk"—Other Proprietors Say Union Proposition Eminently Just.

The old saying, "Beware of Greeks bearing gifts," will certainly never apply in Chattanooga. It is a cinch that the Greek restaurant owners here are not giving anything. In fact, it appears to be all take, considering Mr. Harry Koskos, who is owner of the hot dog and hamburger stand known as "Harry's Place," who says that he works his men seven days a week, eleven hours per day, "and sometimes more." Furthermore, he says, he simply will not agree to cut the hours to sixty per week, which is the exorbitant demand made by Culinary Workers' Local 574.

The 77-hour stand was taken at a conference arranged in the Patten hotel last week when some of the restaurant proprietors met with officials of the union to discuss possible peace in the industry. It was again disclosed by the union that wage scales would become effective when 65 per cent of the restaurants in Chattanooga had signed, and then only after another conference was held with the unionized proprietors, who would mutually agree to a wage scale which all could pay. The Harry's Place baron (do they call them barons in Greece?) would have nothing of it, although he grudgingly admitted that pickets in front of his corner stand on Eleventh and Market streets were not helping him much.

The Greek proprietor of the Maypole restaurant, who has been unsuccessful in legal attempts to beat down the union, kept repeating in a monotone at frequent intervals, "I am not talking."

Other restaurant owners in the conference freely admitted that they could see nothing unjust or unfair in the union proposal, but saw in union recognition a means of curbing vicious competition given decent managements who wanted to stay in business and pay their employes living wages and allow them time off occasionally to spend with their families.

In the meantime, officials of Culinary Workers 574 assert that they are more determined than ever to fight for better things in life. Indications are that a few of the Greek owners are anxious to sign up but are fearful of doing so.

Kamin Resigns Central Body Post

Presidents are coming and going in Central Body nowadays about as fast as Mexico used to have changes in administrations. Last Monday evening saw A. C. Kamin, movie operator and staunch American Federation of Labor unionist, who had been elected two weeks previously to the presidency to succeed Joe Dobbs, resign the post.

In his resignation speech Kamin said that it was against his will that he had allowed himself to be persuaded to take over the reins which he had held for nearly five years, but he had been persuaded that the various local unions in Central Body would follow him and make the presidential duties lighter on him.

"My doctor forced me to resign eighteen months ago," he said. "Two weeks ago I was persuaded that if I took the chair again that I could serve my labor movement and that I would receive the united support once again that was given me during my previous tenure. I am now convinced that it is impossible for me to stand the strain of the office and that it might be suicidal on my part to continue."

Mr. Kamin's resignation was accepted with great reluctance, and his successor is supposed to be named at the next meeting of Central Body on June 14.

Cooks and Waiters Have Grand Time Dancing Friday Nite

Miller-Rodgers, Van Arsdale Orchestras Show Union Spirit With Free Music.

Champagne Velvet Beer Contributed as Large Crowd Turns Out to Help New Local Organization.

Music went "round and round" at the labor hall last Friday evening as some hundred people danced till midnight in a benefit affair sponsored by Local 574, Cooks and Waiters.

The music was supplied by two orchestras, due to the co-operation shown by Ralph Miller and George Rodgers orchestra, which vied with Van Arsdale's music-makers. Both of these worked for the cooks and waiters about four hours and refused pay.

For those who liked cold beer, Champagne-Velvet was contributed.

Everyone seemed to have a good time. The occasion may be repeated.

Seattle Can Company Workers Win Pay Increase Agreements

Seattle, Wash.—More than 200 employes in the plants of the American Can company and the Continental Can company here are now 100 per cent organized for the first time and have negotiated agreements for the 40-hour week and higher wages.

Saginaw Taxi Drivers Win Half-Hour Strike

Enright-Topham Company Grants Wage Increase and Cabs Start Running Immediately.

Saginaw, Mich.—One of the shortest strikes ever called in Saginaw resulted in a victory for the workers when the Taxi Drivers' union decreed a stoppage of work of the union members employed by the Enright-Topham company following the failure of the management to come to terms with a union committee.

Cabs were ordered into the company garage at 11 p.m., the drivers leaving the cars but remaining in the garage. Confronted with this decisive action, Percy Topham, representing the company, conferred with the union committee and agreed to terms within half an hour after the strike was called.

The agreement, which took the place of a thirty-day expired contract with the union, calls for 40 per cent commission for the drivers, and $25 for truck drivers, together with time and a quarter for overtime. The drivers formerly received 37 per cent commission and the truckers had been paid $19.50.

Drivers for the company are members of Local 486 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and Chauffeurs and is one of the fastest growing locals in Saginaw.

TIN SHOP SIGNS

Vondrake Tin Shop, 320 West Eighth street, signed a closed shop contract with Sheet Metal Local 51 last Wednesday. Signing of this first-class tin shop leaves only about two shops out of the union fold, and it is believed that before long they will unionize also.

Peter Koch de Gooreynd, a Belgian who lives in London, has invented an unbreakable plastic lens which is hailed as revolutionizing the manufacture of cameras, spectacles, field glasses and similar optical instruments. Costly lens-grinding is eliminated by a molding process which makes 1,500 lens an hour and does away with the need of skilled technicians, it is reported.

Q.—What union was the first to make an arbitration contract with an employer?

A.—The Boot and Shoe Workers' union says it made the first arbitration contract between an employer and a trade union. The contract was made in 1898 with the W. L. Douglas Shoe company of Boston.

Wisdom

The conscience of modern society realizes that occupational diseases should not be reserved for certain persons, but they should be made to disappear.—Albert Thomas.

CCC Must Go On

The apostles of "economy" in the subcommittee of the house appropriations committee have showed their caliber by their attack on the civilian conservation corps, known to all as the CCC.

Of all the works of the first Roosevelt administration, the CCC is the most universally popular. Even those who came to curse have remained to bless it altogether. It has taken hundreds of thousands of bewildered, baffled and ofttimes discouraged boys and turned them into vigorous and self-reliant young men. It has schooled them; made them familiar with the open spaces; put them to work and given them habits of work.

The conservation work which these lads have done is alone worth its cost; but the greatest output of the corps is its human output. Men who denounce the CCC know neither the subject on which they speak nor the feelings of their constituents.

The Deadliest Invention

The Travelers Insurance company has compiled figures on automobile accidents for 1936 in the United States. They are simply appalling. They show 36,800 persons killed and 967,840 injured. These figures are not absolutely final; but they are more likely to be under the final record than over it. And the toll is growing; 700 more persons were killed and 72,560 more persons were injured by automobiles in 1936 than in the previous year.

To get something of what these figures mean, less than 6,000 men were killed outright at the battle of Gettysburg.

Or to get a still clearer idea of auto slaughter, take the figures of the world war. In that war, America lost 50,510 men killed in action or dying of wounds, and 201,079 men wounded but not dying. In other words, automobile killings last year were 76 per cent of the battle casualties of the world war; and automobile woundings in 1936 were more than four times as numerous as the wounds inflicted by bullets, bayonets, shells and gas on our army overseas.

The automobile has made a greater change in American life than almost any other device, but it is also the deadliest of human contrivances since the invention of gunpowder. It is time and far past time for a concerted, nationwide effort to check the slaughter.

International Road Hogs

"The international road to peace is growing up in weeds, and is cluttered with wrecks brought about by road hogs who attempted to travel that highway in their own selfish interest, and not in the interest of peace."—Representative James P. Richards, of South Carolina.

Battle Creek Unions Drive To Organize Cereal Plants

Battle Creek, Mich.—An organization campaign of vast significance has been under way here for some time and now it can be told.

American Federation of Labor unions have entered Battle Creek's world-famous food factories, with Kellogg's already completely organized and Postum, Ralston-Purina, Weston Biscuit and Battle Creek Food company well under way.

The organization is being carried on at the request of employes, who also very definitely expressed themselves as wanting to affiliate with the American Federation of Labor.

Sunday Meat Market Closing Won by Labor in Long Beach

Long Beach, Cal.—The city election in Long Beach amended the municipal charter so as to provide for closing meat markets on Sunday. The subject was placed on the ballot through the efforts of the Long Beach local union of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America and was backed by the local labor movement.

The ordinance strictly prohibits the sale, removal or delivery of uncured meats on Sunday, but grocery stores with meat markets may deal in cured meats on Sunday.

Campaign to Pass Bill Forbidding Child Labor, Setting Standard Hours and Fixing Minimum Wages

House Labor Committee to Back Legislation for Improving Work and Pay Conditions, Chairman Connery Says, as Drive Is Begun to Put Over Whole New Deal Program.

By GEORGE L. KNAPP

Washington, May 27.—President Roosevelt, who often refers to himself as the "quarterback" of the federal government team, has called the signals for a slashing and sustained attack to put the new deal over the goal line. The whole program—labor, farmers, courts—is involved; but at the present writing, labor seems to be carrying the ball.

William P. Connery, of Massachusetts, chairman of the labor committee of the house, has given public notice that his committee will report for passage, "with presidential approval," a bill to establish a minimum wage of $18 and a standard working time of 35 hours a week in the textile industry.

These are the figures set down in the Ellenbogen bill as introduced early in the session. A subcommittee of the labor committee is considering a change to a 40-hour week and a $15 minimum wage. Evidently, Mr. Connery is not "sold" on this plan; and is confident that the original figures will be restored.

Asks Manufacturer Support.

In this connection, it is worth recalling that the subcommittee of the house appropriations committee slashed the proposed relief appropriation half a billion dollars, and that the full committee put back the $500,000,000 thus cut out without delay and almost without debate.

Mr. Connery made his statement in his home district in Massachusetts, and declared:

"Every manufacturer in New England as well as every employe should be for the minimum wage and maximum hour bill for the textile industry; because it will take care of unfair southern competition.

"Southern manufacturers have been paying small wages and working their help long hours for years."

Broader Bill Also Planned.

In much belated recognition of this fact, a number of northern textile manufacturers are said to be urging the United Textile Workers to push their plan to organize the southern industrial districts. In other words, these manufacturers have learned that fair play pays everybody but the chiselers, and that unions are needed to insure fair play.

Connery did not stop with the textile industry, however. He declared that he and his committee will report favorably a bill for maximum hours and minimum wages in all industries, with abolition of child labor. And this, too, he said, would be done "with presidential approval."

"Boston manufacturers," said Mr. Connery, "should be protected against unfair competition provided by manufacturers in Maine, the south, and Missouri."

Housing Bill Not Reported.

The reference to the south explains itself, and that to Maine can be understood in the light of the shoe workers' strike. But in speaking of Missouri, Connery probably was thinking of former Senator James A. Reed, of that state, whose present wife runs a garment manuafctory which is reported to pay very low wages.

The general feeling in liberal and labor circles in Washington is that coal and textiles are two "sick" industries, which need special attention; but that a general wage and hour bill, with prohibition of child labor, can be drawn to cover the rest of the industrial field.

The Wagner housing bill has not been reported by the committee on education and labor in the senate; and while that report is certain to be favorable, housing will not take a leading place in the legislative picture until it is made. There is no other measure in which labor has a keener or larger interest.

President Roosevelt let it be known as soon as he returned to Washington that he is not interested in proposed "compromises" on his court plan. The vigor with which the new deal program is being pushed is proof that the president fully expects to get a supreme court which will not invalidate his measures by another series of 5 to 4 decisions.

Avoid Unauthorized Strikes, Union Auto Workers Warned

Detroit.—President Homer Martin has issued to the newly organized locals of the United Automobile Workers of America a stirring warning not to engage in unauthorized strikes. "The very life" of a labor organization, he told the restless ones, depends on its ability to carry out its pledges.

"The international union cannot and will not support any group, department or plant going on an unauthorized strike or stoppage of work."

Martin added that machinery had been installed for carrying up all grievances, so that the spontaneous strike was no longer excusable.

ALL CINCINNATI HOTEL WORKERS ARE ORGANIZED

Cincinnati.—The Hotel Employes' Council of Cincinnati announces that all workers in the hotels of Greater Cincinnati are organized in the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America and the International Union of Building Service Employes. With this thorough organization, the negotiation of union agreements with the hotels is under way.

A glass of chocolate milk tastes mighty good these hot afternoons. And there's nothing easier to fix. All you have to do is go to the ice-box and get a bottle of Krem-ee. That's the new chocolate milk drink that Grant-Patten is making—and it is only 14 cents a quart. Incidentally, this chocolate drink is approved by the Good Housekeeping Institute. That should make it okeh, because Good Housekeeping has been a union magazine for many years.

Princeton Teamsters Win Creamery Contract

Strike Settlement Award by Mayor Hall Grants Wage Increase and Union Recognition.

Princeton, Ind.—Following a number of conferences organized by G. T. Watson, field examiner for the regional labor relations board, the long dispute between Teamsters' Local Union No. 644 and the Tip Top Creamery company in Princeton was settled by an agreement favorable to the union. Mayor J. E. Hall accepted the role of mediator in the final conferences.

The agreement provided for the reopening of the plant and the re-employment of certain strikers when needed by the company according to seniority in length of service. It is also provided that no new employes will be hired until all of the strikers have been offered re-employment.

The company recognizes Teamsters Local No. 644.

The agreement specifically provides that the union scale of wages shall prevail and establishes the union as a bargaining agent for Tip Top employes.

Wagner Indicts Tobacco Big Four

* * * * * * * * *

Dominant Companies Bad Example For Business to Follow, Senator Shows.

Washington, May 27.—Only now and then do the proven first rankers in economics and social betterment devote their brains to the study and presentation of the case against tobacco magnates. But Robert F. Wagner, senator from New York, and a first rank student and thinker on any subject he tackles, has done this.

In a recent article in the New York Times Magazine, Senator Wagner picked out the dominant members of the tobacco industry as horrible examples of how business ought not to be conducted. Here are a few bits from his statements:

"In the tobacco industry, 153,000,000 cigars and cigarettes are now being manufactured annually for every 100,000,000 that were made each year during the period 1923-25.

"But despite this huge increase of 53 per cent in production, there are only sixty-one workers in the industry for every 100 employed in that earlier period. Thirty-nine per cent have been thrown out of work.

Only Owners Benefit.

"Instead of benefitting by this amazing technological advance, the average full time employe who has kept his job is receiving a wage 20 per cent below the 1923-25 level. The consumer is paying the same old price for his smoke—or a little more.

"Who have benefitted? The owners and the owners alone."

The only error that Senator Wagner made in that article was in lumping all tobacco manufacturers together. In reality, what he said about wages applies to something over 80 per cent of the cigarette industry; and not to the rest.

Some Firms Fair to Labor.

There are tobacco manufacturing firms which deal with unions, pay union wages, and never think of doing anything else. Makers of 10-cent packages of cigarettes are in this decent, union dealing group.

But the Big Four tobacco companies, inheritors of that "Buck" Duke monopoly which the supreme court 27 years ago dissolved so tenderly that the dissolving added to the profits of those who had been combined—they deserve every criticism that Wagner passed upon them—and more.

The Big Four are the only modern business of large size that ever paid rottener wages than the needle trades. Investigators—one conducted by the department of labor—showed working tobacco stemmers on relief because they couldn't make enough money stemming tobacco to live on.

Thrived on Depression.

Observers in Africa some years ago noted that when the rinderpest killed the settlers' cattle and much of the game, the vultures thrived and grew fat. When the depression killed ordinary business in this country, the Big Four, with true vulturine adaptiveness, thrived more and grew fatter. The biggest profits the Big Four ever reaped came in those dreadful years, when labor could be hired for starvation wages, when farmers did not get enough for their tobacco to pay for the fertilizer bought to raise it.

Many millions of dollars in those bitter years were distributed as "bonuses" to the insiders of the Big Four. And in 1932, which was the bottom of the depression, the Big Four actually made net profits greater than their labor costs and the cost of their raw materials; more profits than they paid to the farmers for raising tobacco and to the workers for manufacturing it.

Validity of Taxes To Provide Social Security Upheld

Supreme Court, in Epochal Decisions, Validates Labor Aims in Pension and Unemployment Insurance Program.

BY GEORGE L. KNAPP

WASHINGTON, D. C.—For the third time since the President's plan of court reform was laid before Congress and the country, the Supreme Court has upheld an important measure of the New Deal. This time, it is the Social Security Act that has been validated. Three attacks were levied against that act in the courts, and all three attacks have been repelled. Unemployment insurance, old age pensions, and the excise taxes levied to provide funds for both—all have been sustained.

And for the third time, on the most important issue, the vote in the Court has been 5 to 4. Justices Sutherland, Van Devanter, Butler and McReynolds still form the reactionary minority; with Justice Roberts again giving the deciding vote to the liberals, Chief Justice Hughes and Justices Brandeis, Stone and Cardozo.

Tax Held Constitutional

In the case of Charles C. Steward Machine Co. vs. Collector of Internal Revenue, the issue was the validity of the tax imposed upon employers of 8 or more persons for the payment of unemployment insurance. Justice Cardozo delivered the opinion of the court. He held that the tax fulfilled the constitution requirement of being uniform throughout the United States, and that it was not invalid for any of the reasons alleged against it.

"There is need," said Justice Cardozo, "to remind ourselves of facts as to the problem of unemployment. * * * During the years 1929 to 1936, when the country was passing through a cyclical depression, the number of unemployed mounted to unprecedented heights. Often the average was more than 10,000,000; at times a peak was attained of 16,000,000 or more. Disaster to the breadwinner meant disaster to dependents.

State Relief Inadequate

"The roll of the unemployed, itself formidable enough, was only a partial roll of the destitute or needy. The fact developed quickly that the states were unable to give the requisite relief. There was need for help from the nation if the people were not to starve.

"It is too late today for the argument to be heard with tolerance that in a crisis so extreme the use of the moneys of the nation to relieve the unemployed and their dependents is a use for any purpose narrower than the promotion of the general welfare."

Justice Cardozo shows that the national government spent on emergency relief more than twice as much as the states and local governments together; and that in three fiscal years—1934-35-36—the national government spent for public works and unemployment relief "the stupendous total of $8,681,000,000."

Act Cooperative Method

'The Social Security Act," he says, "is an attempt to find a method by which all these public agencies may work together to a common end."

In this opinion, as already mentioned, Justice Cardozo upheld for the court the taxes levied for unemployment insurance. In another opinion, in what is usually called the Boston Edison Electric case, he upheld the old age pension features of the act. Here, again, his opinion is marked by all the vast information and penetrating intellect which the country has come to associate with his name.

"In 1930, out of 224 American factories investigated, 71 had fixed maximum hiring age limits; in four plants, the limit was under 40; in 41 it was under 48. In the other 153 plants there were no fixed limits, but in practice, few were hired if they were over 50 years of age.

Lot of Idle at 65 Desperate

"With the loss of savings inevitable in periods of idleness, the fate of workers over 65, when thrown out of work, is little less than desperate."

The third attac kon social security was that levelled against the Alabama state act, which was charged with violating the due process and other clauses of the Fourteenth Amendment. Justice Stone gave the opinion of the court that nothing of the sort was true.

"A tax is not an assessment of benefits," he said. "It is, as we have said, a means of distributing the burden of the cost of government. The only benefit to which the taxpayer is constitutionally entitled is that derived from his enjoyment of the privileges of living in an organized society, established and safeguarded by the devotion of taxes to public purposes. * * *

Die-hards Dissent

"A corporation cannot object to the use of the taxes which it pays for the maintenance of schools because it has no children."

On the unemployment insurance, the vote was 5 to 4; and three of the fou rdie-hards wrote dissenting opinions. That of Justice McReynolds is typical.

"That portion of the Social Security legislation here under consideration, I think, exceeds the power granted to Congress. It unduly interferes with the orderly government of the state by her own people, and otherwise offends the Federal Constitution."

Quotes Old Decision

And then he quotes from Chief Justice Chase in a decision given in 1869, and from a presidential message written by Franklin Pierce in 1854, as his authority. In the stenographic report of his remarks, he went outside the printed text and declared with all the emphasis he could muster:

"No volume of words, no citation of irrelevant statistics or appeals to the feelings of humanity can expand the powers granted to Congress."

It is not of record that any attorney ever thought of appealing to the "feelings of humanity" of Justice McReynolds.

Only Two Oppose Pensions

Sutherland's dissent was an adroit plea for the property cause that he always has represented. Justice Butle rwrote a dissent of which the following is a fair sample:

"The terms of the measure make it clear that the tax and credit device was intended to enable Federal officers virtually to control the exertions of powers of the states in a field in which they alone have jurisdiction and from which the United States is by the Constitution excluded."

McReynolds and Butler were the only dissenters to the old age pensions ruling.

Film Operators Unionize All Bellingham Theaters

Bellingham, Wash.—Moving Picture Machine Operators' Local Union No. 117 has succeeded in securing agreements with every theatre in Bellingham, for a 100 per cent clean sweep.

Many other unions here have also reported numerous gains, including bakers, retail clerks, teamsters, laundry workers, culinary and beverage workers, cannery workers and others.

FUR WORKERS LEAVE A. F. OF L.

Chicago.—The International Fur Workers Union of the United States and Canada, in convention here, voted to leave the American Federation of Labor and affiliate with the committee for industrial organization. The vote was 95 to 4. The union had been affiliated with the A. F. of L. for 24 years. It claims 30,000 members.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

Whereas, by deed of trust, dated the 18th day of December, 1934, executed by Lillian D. Heath and Alma Dixon, conveyed to J. Mitt Payne, Trustee, the property herein described, said deed of trust being registered in Book N, Volume 27, Page 328, et seq., of the Register's office of Hamilton County, Tennessee.

Said deed of trust provides, "It is further expressly provided that the Corporation, in any event, is hereby authorized at its option to appoint in writing a substitute trustee to act instead of the trustee herein; and the authority to appoint other substitute trustees, successively during the life of this loan and said trustees shall each and all succeed to all the rights and powers of the first trustee named herein," and

Whereas, the time has arrived when action under the powers conferred by said trust deed is required; and

Whereas, the Home Owners' Loan Corporation is now the owner of the indebtedness herein secured; and whereas, under the above described power of substitution, said Home Owners' Loan Corporation has by a written instrument, duly acknowledged and registered, appointed the undersigned trustee and successor to J. Mitt Payne, to execute said trust, with all the powers conferred and the duties imposed upon and all the title invested in said original trustees; said appointment being dated May 11, 1937, and filed for record in the Register's office of Hamilton County, Tennessee, on May 13, 1937.

And default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness, which still remains due and unpaid, the holder of said indebtedness having so requested; therefore, under and by virtue of the authority vested in me by said deed of trust and appointment as substitute trustee above referred to, I, Nesbit B. Situated in the First Civil District of Hamilton County, Tennessee, in the City of Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Lot One (1) and the West Forty (40) feet of Lot Two (2), Block Thirty-four (34), Orchard Knob, McCallie Avenue Land and Improvement Company's First Addition to Chattanooga, as shown by plat now found of record in Plat Book One (1), page 41, in the Register's Office of said County. Said lot and part of lot make one lot, fronting eighty-nine and four-tenths (89.4) feet on the South line of Vine Street and extending Southwardly, of uniform width, a distance of one hundred and thirty-five (135) feet to an alley; and being the same property conveyed to N. L. Bachman and wife, Pearl D. Bachman, to Lillian D. Heath (widow) and Alma Dixon (single) by deed dated the 8th day of August, 1931.

Said sale will be made subject to all unpaid taxes.

Title to said property is believed to be good, but Trustee will sell and convey as Trustee only.

This the 13th day of May, 1937.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

Whereas, on the 9th day of June, 1927, Jennie M. Tucker (single), of Hamilton County, Tennessee, executed a deed of trust conveying the property hereinafter described and advertised for sale, to F. L. Underwood, Trustee, which said deed of trust was filed for registration June 9, 1927, and recorded in Book V, Vol. 21, page 475, et seq., in the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee; and,

Whereas, said deed of trust was executed for the purpose of securing the payment of a certain indebtedness, fully described in the said deed of trust, to which reference is made for a complete description; and default has been made in the payment of the said indebtedness secured by said deed of trust and interest thereon, and the said Jennie M. Tucker has failed to perform covenants in the note evidencing the indebtedness, and has failed to perform covenants in said deed of trust, and has remained in default for more than thirty days, and the holder of said indebtedness has made demand upon the undersigned trustee to sell the property conveyed by said deed of trust, as therein provided, to satisfy the payment of said indebtedness and interest, as said holder of said indebtedness has a right to do under the terms of said deed of trust:

Now, therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in the undersigned Trustee, F. L. Underwood, of Chattanooga, Tennessee, as Trustee, will, on

sell, within the legal hours of sale, at the west door of the Court House in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at public outcry, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, in bar of all equities of redemption, dower and homestead, the following described real estate in the Third Civil District of Hamilton County, Tennessee, to-wit:

Lot 20, Ogden, Bushnell, Giles and Hulse's Re-Subdivision of Block 4, Normal Park Addition, as shown by plat of record in Plat Book 6, page 41, in the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee. Said lot fronts 50 feet on the west line of Crawdson Street and runs back Westwardly, of uniform width, to the east line of West Crawdson Street, on which it has a frontage of 53.24 feet, its north line being 111.33 feet and its south line 130 feet in length.

Said deed of trust recites that title to the said property is clear, free and unencumbered, and title thereto is believed to be good, but the sale will be made as Trustee only, and subject to any unpaid taxes.

This May 26, 1937.

25 Years in Life Insurance

In celebrating during the months of May and June my twenty-fifth anniversary in life insurance salesmanship, I desire to express my appreciation to a generous public for the millions of life insurance purchased from me and my associates during the past 25 years. Over a million of this insurance has been paid to the wives and children of those policyholders who died. Hundreds of thousands have been paid to living policyholders under the terms of their policies.

Leather and Flour Mill Workers Win Collective Bargaining Pacts

Important Agreements Signed at Chicago and Minneapolis Among Many Reported from All Over Nation, Marking Big Gains for A. F. of L. Unions on Economic Field.

Washington, May 27.—Great progress in membership and in winning of better pay and working conditions is reported by the American Federation of Labor and by affiliated international and national unions with headquarters here and in other cities.

Secretary-Treasurer Frank Morrison, of the A. F. of L., reports that 445,169 new members have joined affiliated unions and federal unions in the last eight months.

Substantial increases in membership and organization of many new unions are reported by the National Federation of Postoffice Clerks, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workers, International Jewelry Workers' union, Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and Bartenders' International league. These are only a few of the unions which are forging ahead in membership.

Leather Workers Gain.

Gaining of higher wages, shorter hours and improved working conditions is reported by A. F. of L. unions from all over the nation. Most of the progress has been made without strikes and has resulted from negotiations with employers. Merely to mention the new agreements would take columns of space. Outstanding among the gains just reported are agreements of national interest made at Chicago and Minneapolis.

In Chicago, organized leather workers have won an agreement of outstanding importance. The story is told in a telegram to President William Green, of the A. F. of L., from Samuel Laderman, vice-president of the International Ladies' Handbag, Pocketbook and Novelty Workers' union and manager of the Chicago local. The telegram says:

"Just signed collective agreement with Luggage Manufacturers' association, comprising the larger shops in the city employing about 1,500 workers. The workers enthusiastically ratified an agreement giving us the sole collective bargaining agency for all workers in the industry, 40-hour week, minimum wage scale for apprentices, $15; mechanics, $29.50; assistant mechanics, $22; overtime, time and a quarter; recognition of shop chairmen and committees and impartial machinery to adjust all grievances. The workers greatly appreciate the splendid cooperation and support the American and Chicago Federation of Labor have given us both morally and financially. We are marching forward for a real leather workers international union in the United States and Canada."

Milling Company Pact.

In Minneapolis, an agreement, covering general labor policies of the nationwide interests of General Mills, Inc., big manufacturer of flour, feed and package foods, has been signed by the milling company with the A. F. of L.

Meyer Lewis, representative of William Green, said the agreement was signed for General Mills by Donald D. Davis, company president, and for the A. F. of L. by Green and himself.

Points in Agreement.

Its principal points were listed as follows:

1. Recognition of the A. F. of L. as sole bargaining agent in plants where local A. F. of L. unions represent a majority.

2. No discrimination against union members.

3. A five-day, 40-hour week, with time and a half for overtime and for work done on the sixth day of any week or on Sunday and holidays (the only wage consideration involved).

4. One week's vacation with pay for regular employes of two or more years service and two weeks with pay for employes of five or more years service.

5. Seniority rights.

6. Arbitration of differences.

The matter of wage scales will be left to negotiations between the local unions and the individual plants.

'Phone Operators In Capital Ready To Ask More Pay

Employes of Prosperous Corporation Organize, as A. F. of L. Warns Against Attempt to Form Company Union.

Washington.—Warning that labor is closely watching efforts of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone company to form a company union, President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor, disclosed here that telephone operators and other employes of the company have organized a union and will ask higher pay.

The new union is affiliated with the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and its formation is in line with a telephone organization drive now being pushed by the brotherhood throughout the nation. The Chesapeake and Potomac company serves the District of Columbia.

Wage Scale Formulated.

After announcing organization of the union, Green said:

"These telephone operators are exercising the right conferred upon them by the Wagner disputes act to organize into a union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor and to engage in collective bargaining through representatives of their own choosing.

"A campaign of organization has been carried on quietly, efficiently and successfully. A wage scale has been formulated and was approved by the telephone operators at a recent meeting. The rates in this scale are comparable to rates paid for similar service by the government to telephone operators in the District of Columbia. The workers maintain that a prosperous corporation like the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company should pay wages to their telephone operators equal to at least the rates paid for similar service to those employed by the government here.

Company Is Warned.

"It is rumored that an attempt is being made by the representatives of the company to counteract this effort of the workers to organize by inducing at least the formation of an 'employes' organization. This move on the part of the company representatives will be closely watched and any action taken along this line carefully investigated. The formation of an 'employes' union through the influence of company representatives would be a violation of the Wagner disputes act. The American Federation of Labor is watching the situation closely."

Vancouver Laborers' Union Wins Gravel Company Pact

Vancouver, Wash.—Hod Carriers and Building Laborers union No. 335, of Vancouver, has negotiated a union shop agreement with the Dorman-Kampe gravel pit company of that city.

The employes are 100 per cent organized.

Memphis Electrical Workers Increase Union Membership

Memphis, Tenn.—Electrical Workers' Union No. 474 of Memphis reports that its membership is at the highest peak for many years with new members constantly coming into the union fold. Fifteen new applications were received at one meeting.

Toledo Taxi Drivers' Strike Settled by Union Agreement

Toledo, O.—The strike of Toledo's taxicab drivers ended when the Teamsters and Chauffeurs Brotherhood signed up a majority of the striking drivers of the Knight, Yellow, Red and Independent cab companies and negotiated satisfactory settlements with the companies.

CARDUI
In this modern time something wonderfully worth while can be done for practically every woman who suffers from functional pains of menstruation. Certain cases can be relieved by taking Cardui. Others may need a physician's treatment.
Cardui has two widely demonstrated uses: (1) To ease the immediate pain and nervousness of the monthly period; and (2) to aid in building up the whole system by helping women to get more strength from their food.

A.F. of L. Conference Doubles Dues to Pay For Organizing Drive

and Resulting From Increase of One Cent Per Member Per Month Approved by Representatives of National and International Unions at Cincinnati Meeting Will Be Used for Enrolling Unorganized Workers in All Sections in Unions Affiliated With the American Federation of Labor.

Conference Recommends That the A. F. of L. Executive Council Eliminate From State Federations of Labor and City Central Bodies All Local Unions Chartered by National and International Unions Holding Membership in the Committee for Industrial Organization.

The Jurisdiction of National and International Unions, Local Organizations and Federal Labor Unions Has Been Raided by Organizations Associated With the Committee for Industrial Organization," and "the Great Movement of Labor Has Been Ripped and Torn Asunder," the Conference Declares.

CINCINNATI, O.—At the conclusion of a two-day conference here, representatives of the 103 national and international unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor approved the proposal of the A. F. of L. Executive Council to finance an intensive nation-wide organization campaign by increasing the dues which the unions pay the A. F. of L. cent per month per member.

The conference was called by the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor to consider and act on various questions concerning the labor movement which have developed from the activities of the Committee for Industrial Organization in its attempts to disrupt and destroy the American Federation of Labor since the 1936 convention of the Federation held in Tampa, Fla., last November.

The Executive Council told the conference that the C. I. O. organizations have "raided" the jurisdiction of National and International Unions, local organizations and Federal labor unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, that C. I. O. advocates have resorted to "violence and force" to compel members of A. F. of L. unions to drop their membership and join the Committee for Industrial Organization, and that C. I. O. groups have resorted to "the most reprehensible tactics" in the "splitting, tearing, driving, cruel policy of division which was launched within the ranks of labor."

After a full survey and discussion of the situation in all parts of the country the conference recommended to the A. F. of L. Executive Council "that all local unions chartered by national and international unions holding membership in the Committee for Industrial Organization be dissociated from membership in state federations of labor and city central bodies directly chartered by the American Federation of Labor."

In addition the conference adopted the Executive Council's recommendation that the national and international unions affiliated with the

A. F. of L. Executive Council Favors Amendments to Wage-Hour Measure

Would Make Terms of Collective Bargaining Agreements Cover Industries Having Annual Pay of Less Than $1,200—Charter Granted to Independent Miners' Unions.

Cincinnati.—The American Federation of Labor Executive Council, before ending a special meeting here, issued charters to two independent unions of miners. The Executive Council's meeting followed the conference of international and national union heads held to plan a nationwide organization campaign to meet the challenge of the committee for industrial organization.

The miners' charters were issued to the Tri-State Metal Miners' association, of Pitcher, Okla., and the Progressive Miners of America.

The tri-district association has for its membership lead and zinc miners in Oklahoma, Missouri and Kansas. It was in this area that bloody warfare between dispossessed miners and state militiamen occurred several years ago.

In granting a charter to the Progressive Miners of America, which is organized in Illinois, the executive council directed the Illinois State Federation of Labor to expel the United Mine Workers of America from its body.

Changes in Bill Asked.

The council voted to urge constructive amendments to President Roosevelt's proposed legislation fixing maximum hours and minimum wages. The council favored amendment to make the wage and hour standards fixed by any collective bargaining agency, in an industry where the annual earnings are less than $1,200, the standard for the whole industry.

A. F. of L. President Green, dissenting the Roosebelt bill, said his organization would approve the proposed wage and hour board's standards in the industries where there is collective bargaining.

Green thought the A. F. of L. amendment proposal would promote collective bargaining inasmuch as the bill allows the board to examine employers' records. He said employers "would rather bargain with employes than have government officials studying their private records."

Organization Action Taken.

Other council actions were:

1. Consideration of federal union charters to industrial insurance salesmen in Toledo, Chicago, New York, Cleveland and South Carolina. Green said the first charter of this kind was issued to the union in Cincinnati.

2. Authorization of President Green to take such action as he sees fit on applications for national union charters by gasoline station attendants and by agricultural, packing house and cannery workers.

Green said he contemplated calling a conference of the agricultural and cannery workers to discuss establishment of a national council to consider their problems.

If President Roosevelt can stop tax dodging by Liberty league members and their millionaire pals, he won't need to pare relief to balance the budget.

MARION COUNTY FOLK ANGRY ABOUT FIRINGS TO DISPERSE UNIONISM

Jasper Member of County Board Flagrantly Ignored Tenure Law Secured in Legislature as Teacher President Refuses to Drop from Union to Keep His Job.

Some Six or More Local Unions in Marion County Determined That Union-Busting Politicians Will Not Succeed in Intimidatory Tactics.

Marion county is agog over the ruthless discharge of union teachers in Jasper, Tenn., including the president of the union, who had been teaching in Marion schools for over eleven years.

The Marion County Federation of Teachers was organized in April of last year and affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. A great majority of the Marion pedagogues joined the union and became enthusiastic members. Through their organization and enthusiasm they succeeded in getting a law passed in the legislature which provided a tenure for them.

Immediately after the union was formed, it is said that certain politicians around the central high school got busy. The president of the union was approached with a proposition that if he would resign from the local that his job would be "safe." He refused to sell out. He was "let out" at the end of this term.

Immediately after the tenure law was passed the newly-elected member of the board who was unfriendly to the tenure principle began a fight against tenure and a group of teachers who were members of the federation, it is said.

Notwithstanding the other two members of the board had signed a pledge to elect teachers under the tenure law, it was not done. An injunction was granted to the central board member against the board asking that teachers not be elected under tenure provision. This injunction was dismissed but an appeal was granted.

The old tradition of each board member selecting and electing teachers in his section, together with the tremendous pressure by friends of the central board member brought against the other two board members, resulted in an election in which seven union members, including the president of the local, were dropped as teachers, and two others were dropped; these two were friendly and active in their support of the federation. In other words, none but union teachers, or those friendly to the union, were dropped.

Of course this action was all done in absolute defiance of the law and

BARBERS LOCAL 415 TO MEET MONDAY EVE

Journeymen Barbers, Local 415, will hold its regular monthly meeting next Monday night at the labor hall. President George Perry requests that all members turn out for the meeting to hear T. R. Cuthbert, secretary of the Tennessee Federation of Labor, who has something of interest to tell the membership.

Rowland Pharmacy O. K.

Mr. Terrell Rowland, of the Rowland Pharmacy in Alton Park, paid a visit to The Labor World last Friday morning. He said that he visited the Home Plate lunch room one time, but did not see the picket until he came out.

Mr. Rowland wants all unionists to know that he had been and still is sympathetic toward organized labor and that his one slip will cause him to be more careful in the future.

The Labor World is pleased to learn that the incident was just an unfortunate occurrence.

SIGN PAINTERS WIN CONTRACT.

Eugene G. Grace declares that labor unrest is retarding recovery. Grace is the industrial statesman who, in the Harding and Coolidge administrations, demanded that immigration barriers be lifted so that the steel mills could import cheap labor.

New Glassblower Local Holds an Election of Officers to Start Off

Local 156, Glassblowers, recently organized in the Chattanooga Glass plant to supplement Local 92, Glassblowers, held its first election of officers last week.

They are: Theo Rogers, president; C. E. Bearden, vice-president; Chas. Milton, recording secretary; Freeland Simpson, financial secretary; Jack Lacey, treasurer.

Cory Backus, member of Local 92, officiated at the voting.

This newest union had 185 present at the meeting and showed plenty of pep and enthusiasm. On the first holiday of their organization, Decoration day, they received double time, which, anyone will admit, is quite an inducement for unorganized workers to become members of the union.

BAKER LOCAL 25 SIGNS CONTRACT IN TRACY CITY

Curtis R. Sims, business agent for Bakery and Confectionery Workers, Local 25, announced today that he had just signed a union agreement with the Baggenstross Bakery, Tracy City. There are some sixteen employes in the bakeshop, and they received under the union contract from 5 to 12 cents per hour increase in wages.

ACROSS PICKET LINES

Mr. Harry Burnette, of Tennessee Awning company, is said to eat at he picket Harry's Place 77-hour week hamburger stand seven times a day. That's going nonunion in a big way.

Napoleon Campbell (not related to the Bonaparte family), so the picket says, is "regular" at the Central Dining room.

PICKETS REMOVED

Satisfactory negotiations are being held which officials of Culinary Workers Local 574 declare convinces them that after a period of eleven weeks peace will be effected in the Home Plate controversy. While such negotiations were being conducted the picket was removed last Tuesday, and it is hoped and believed that final settlement will be announced in a few days.

The union says that it has no other statement to make at present.

PARENT-TEACHERS SUPPORT JULY 8 SCHOOL REFERENDUM TO PROTECT SPECIAL FUND

L. J. Wilhoite Heads Campaign Committee to Acquaint Voters With Issues—If Passed Teachers Will Receive Better Pay Scales.

N. R. ("Pat") Patterson Selling Union Printing

Our well-known friend of organized labor, "Pat" Patterson, has resigned from the PWA and is now connected with the Acme Printing company, a 100 per cent union printing house.

Besides being a salesman of a good union product, "Pat" is himself a member of organized labor. It is remembered that while he was a representative in the lower house of the state legislature two sessions ago "Pat" was always right on labor bills.

Go to it, "Pat," and land some big orders.

Efforts of friends of the city school teachers, who want to see our teachers paid living salaries, have already started to show results. There will be a referendum held next July 8 to decide whether a separate tax fund shall be set up for school purposes only, and which cannot be diverted for other purposes.

Heading the civic committee to acquaint voters of the situation is L. J. Wilhoite. Already several parent-teacher units have indorsed the referendum, as well as other prominent civic leaders.

As the campaign gains headway The Labor World will do its part toward gaining for our underpaid teachers wages commensurate with the work that they do.

Five Steel Strikers Killed In Clash With Chicago Cops

Police, With Guns and Tear Gas Bombs, Assault Marching Throng in Effort to Halt Parade Past Republic Plant—Workers to Press Murder Charges Against Attackers.

Chicago.—Industrial fascism in its usual form of strike-breaking police struck at the Republic Steel plant in South Chiago—cwith the usual results. Five strikers, one of them a veteran of the World war, are dead. More than a hundred men, all but twenty-odd of them steel workers and bystanders, were treated in the hospital. Van A. Bittner, head of the Steel Workers' organizing committee in this territory, is demanding that the police involved in the scrape be indicted for first degree murder.

The trouble began on May 28 when police stopped a line of about a thousand strikers, who were armed only with American flags. One of the coppers was struck on the head with a flag pole; but this was not the first sign of the encounter. The flag bearer was badly beaten by the police, who used their riot clubs; the strikers used their fists and an occasional brickbat. Several shots were fired by the police, but there is no evidence that men were wounded by gunfire that day.

Police Halt Marchers.

The next day, there was a breathing space at the Republic plant. On May 30, the main riot broke. Fifteen hundred paraders, marching four abreast, started toward the Republic gates. They were armed, as before, with American flags. Police under Captain James Kilroy, of the Chicago force, halted the strikers more than a block from the gates. Strong words were exchanged, a brick which hit no one was thrown from the ranks of the paraders, and then the shooting began.

Police Fire First Shots.

All witnesses, except the captain of police, agree that the first shots were fired by a policeman, shooting over the heads of the strikers. His companions drew their pistols, and shot into the crowd; while other police charged with four-foot riot clubs. The paraders, using fists and sticks and stones picked up on the ground, were driven back about 50 feet. The police retired a little, the strikers did not follow—and the tear gas was turned loose.

Four persons were killed outright, all of them marchers. More than 100 were wounded, one died within a few hours. Some 22 to 26 police were injured, none by gunfire, while at least 28 strikers were treated for gunshot wounds.

Strikers Honor Dead.

The day after the clash, striking workers paraded through the streets of Indiana Harbor past a plant of the Inland Steel company, carrying a huge banner with the inscription:

"In memory of our fallen heroes of the Republic Steel picket line."

The dead are:

Joseph Rothmand, 47; WPA employe and former soldier. Died at the hospital of bullet wounds. Alfred Causey, 43, carpenter; father of three children. Kenneth Reed, 23, Inland Steel electrician; two children. Earl Hanley, 40; no details of family. Sam Popovich, age and address unknown.

Murder Indictments Asked.

Speaking to an assembly of strikers, Van A. Bittner, regional director of the SWOC, said:

"I pledge to you, I pledge to my union, I pledge to my country and my God, that the men who committed these murders will be treated as murderers should be treated." He and other speakers referred to the fallen as "those brave soldiers who were murdered by the Chicago police."

Ridiculous But Not Funny

The courtroom roared last Monday afternoon when Commissioner McMillan asked Prof. Greer if he thought it proper for a school teacher to be awake at 1 o'clock in the morning. The commissioner contends that school teachers should retire early so as to be in "good physical condition" the next day to cope with our "dear" children.

(As an aside, the teacher able to fall asleep by 1 o'clock is fortunate. Most of them probably lay awake all night trying to devise plans for making both ends meet on the meager salaries they receive.)

Shades of Hitler, Mussolini, Henry Ford and the Puritan Fathers! Commissioner McMillan's desire for supervision of his employes twenty-four hours a day is ridiculous, but the laughter caused by expression of his theories is no laughing matter.

The city of Chattanooga buys so many hours per day of the teachers' time. They must, during those hours, conduct themselves in such a way as to render service during the hours they have sold to the city.

But to say that the department of education should even contemplate dictation to their employes what they do on their own time should meet with instant disapproval.

If the commissioner lived in Massachusetts during the Puritan days he could successfully issue edicts that teachers should not smoke, go to parties, retire later than 10 o'clock, nor play bridge.

If the commissioner lived in Italy or Germany, he could force unmarried teachers to marry and bear children, and, with upstretched hand, greet him with a "Heil."

If the commissioner was a Henry Ford, he could use his detective force to exercise a paternal supervision over his employes to be sure that they "lived right."

But the commissioner is in Chattanooga. Therefore what his teachers' private lives are concerns him not one whit, provided their daily work is not visibly impaired by what they do after school hours.

Evidently members of the city commission who voted to acquit Professor Greer of the charges brought by Commissioner McMillan do not subscribe to the theory, enunciated sometime ago in local police court, that the testimony of "two uniforms" is worth more than a half-hundred witnesses. At least four of Commissioner Bryan's "finest" testified that the professor was inebriated, but possibly the gentlemen who disregarded this testimony found it impossible to believe that Commissioner Bryan's boys would know the scent of liquor even though the vile stuff were forced upon them.

Regulate 'Em

It is rumored that one of our city teachers one evening last week went on a Coca-Cola spree at Warner park while watching the softball games. As a result of such inebriation said teacher stayed up until 11:23 p.m., according to report handed in by a department of education detective.

It is also a known fact that in another teacher family the 73-year-old mother was ill at 2 a.m., and the teacher got up to administer relief, thereby endangering her capacity for giving her all to the dear children in the classroom the next day.

This must be stopped at all costs. We propose that the city of Chattanooga immediately build dormitories in which to house our teachers under one roof. Let there be a master switch, set by a time clock arrangement so that all lights will go out at 9:30 every evening.

Our teachers must be kept fresh for their day's work with the de-ah cheeldren!

What Next!

Latest in vehicles designed to run either on rails or on highways is a new "Auto-Railer" locomotive built to take the place of the heavy switch engine. It weighs only 12,000 pounds but can haul eleven freight cars. With two sets of wheels, one for use of tracks and the other for roads, it is easily moved from one job to another.

Wisdom

War does not determine who is right—only who is left.—Source unknown.

Take It or Leave It!

Points of View Picked Up From Various Sources

CY KOLOGY, EDITOR

It is strange, but true, that the most interesting subject in labor circles these days is the civil war within the ranks of labor. Not the campaign to organize workers, not the ancient objects of labor, the traditional battles—not those, but the internal warfare. And the warfare has not yet gone to its bitterest lengths. Much worse is yet to come. Very few can stand to one side and take a fair look at the situation, examining without partisanship or bias. No; when you are in a struggle you line up with your side and you accept the case as it is presented by the leaders of your side. That is the way it always works out. It was that way in the World war—and only now is it getting to be possible to look backward and examine that conflict without passion.

There is another likeness between this labor war and all other wars. The bitterness is, by and large, much deeper at the top than it is out along the trench lines. The soldiers in the ranks, as a general thing, are not as hot and bothered as the leaders. That is natural, too, for many reasons. One reason is that the top officers have the responsibility and they see more of the picture, present and future, than do the troops in the line. So we have a good deal of likeness between this struggle and any other kind of warfare. Churches have had the same kind of internal struggles and some have been on for a half century without yet being ended.

But that doesn't lessen the sadness of the sight of labor unions ranged, not alongside each other in common cause, but against each other in fratricidal conflict. "If I don't get you, you'll get me." How often in human history have groups said that to each other? There never is complete peace in the world. There is just a little less strife at some times than at ohers. This is one of the periods of more strife. And yet, while we have this strife, we have for the first time in American history a really free chance for all workers to organize. Maybe the fact of competition between two groups of unions will stimulate organization—but who can be sure? Organizing unions isn't like selling groceries.

Perhaps the writing of pieces like this is out of order. Be that as it may. It ought not be silly to take a look at our house in an effort to see whether it is a good house, or whether there is something wrong with the plumbing, or the roof.

And it is a fact that the warfare is the big subject of talk everywhere—not the common struggle against injustice, but the strife between A. F. of L. and C. I. O., both of which are based upon the same principles, rooted in the same philosophy and trained in the same school of experience. It is a strange sight, but possibly a necessary phase of the evolution of the race toward ultimate civilized existence. Who knows, anyway?

53 More Barber Shops Added to Union List

Twenty-five Added to Santa Monica List—Eleven More Shops Enrolled in Jackson—Ten Sign Up in San Diego.

Ten more barber shops in San Diego, Cal., have been lined up for union wages, hours and work conditions by the local of the Journeymen Barbers' International union in that city. Begins to look as though the increased membership drive of the union would soon make it impossible for anyone in San Diego to get a non-union shave or haircut.

Barbers' Local Union No. 520, of Clark and Skamania counties, Washington, has negotiated agreements with seven barber shops in Vancouver. All of them had been on organized labor's "unfair list."

Eleven more barber shops have been unionized by the local unit of the Journeymen Barbers' International union in Jackson, Mich., as new additions to their larger membership campaign. Looks as though Jackson will soon be a 100 per cent town for union barbers.

Following the organization of a new local of the Journeymen Barbers International union in Santa Monica, Cal., covering Santa Monica, Ocean Park, Venice and other bay districts, union shop cards were displayed in 25 barber shops in those areas. The immediate objectives of the union are the 48-hour week with price adjustments to take care of the cut in hours.

George VI. of England is making former Premier Baldwin a lord. Well, why not? Baldwin, by ousting Edward, made George a king. A little reciprocity in such matters is to be expected.

Many Strong Unions Organized by Bakers

Two Thousand San Francisco Candy Workers Initiated — All Bakeries But One in Galesburg Are "Closed Shop."

William McGuern, international organizer for the Bakery and Confectionery Workers' International Union of America, told the Central Labor council of Portland, Ore., that more than 2,000 candy workers in San Francisco belong to the Bakers' union. His mission in Portland was to mobilize the candy workers of that city for the organized labor movement.

A militantly enthusiastic local of the Bakery and Confectionery Workers' International Union of America has been organized in Tucson, Ariz., from employes of the Stonecypher's Bakery, every employe having taken out a union card. The organization of the union was facilitated by the owner of the bakery, who said he would be glad to deal with the men in a union if they wanted to join one.

Another bakery has been added to the rapidly growing union shop list of Bakers Local No. 163 of Houston, Texas. The J.-B. Bakery, a wholesale concern baking bread, cakes, pies and pastry, signed a union agreement providing increased wages, shorter hours and paid vacations, together with the union label on the firm's products.

A new bakers' union organized in Galesburg, Ill., only a few months ago has already succeeded in signing up every bakery but one in that city to a "closed shop" union agreement, with improved wages and working conditions.

For the first time in many years the baking industry of Monmouth, Ill., is organized with the prospect that the union label will soon be on most of the local products. The Bakery and Confectionery Workers union in that town has recently negotiated contracts with six bakeries.

Four Detroit Laundries Sign Pacts With Unions

Drivers and Laundry Workers Settle Strikes With Agreements Providing Pay Boosts and Union Recognition.

Laundry Workers' Local No. 129 and Laundry and Linen Drivers' Local No. 285, of Detroit, Mich., have negotiated agreements with four laundries, whose employes had been called out on strike, providing wage increases, sole collective bargaining rights for union members in the shop, the 46-hour week, 9-hour day, and time and one-half for overtime, Sunday and holidays.

The four laundries are: The American Laundry company, the Sani-Wash laundry, the Mechanics Laundry company and the Lakeson Laundry company.

Minimum wages of 30 cents an hour and a general pay increase of five cents an hour was secured for the inside workers, members of the Laundry Workers' local.

The drivers employed by the four companies secured minimum wages ranging from $25 to $30, with commissions on business ranging from 12 to 20 per cent. The agreement with the American laundry is a sample of the four contracts. The agreement calls for a minimum of $30 a week with $10 and 17½ per cent on the first $100 business and 20 per cent on all other business. The pay increase amounts to about $2.50 per week.

All four contracts stipulate full seniority, a board of arbitration and six specified holidays.

The Lakeson laundry agreed to deduct union dues and assessments for the Drivers' union from the wages of the employes who are union members, if requested by the union, and pay the amount over to the union.

North Carolina Employes Face 48-Hour Law for Women

Raleigh, N. C.—North Carolina's new law limiting the work week of women and girls to 48 hours will become effective July 1.

In the meantime, it is reported that leading merchants and most of the chain stores are already arranging store hours to conform with the new statute. A few had maintained the 48-hour work week since the days of NRA, although many had drifted back to 54 hours "and up" per week.

LABEL LEADERS

By BROWNIE HOPPER

So we skate again Friday night! The last skating party that the Label League gave was so successful that everybody wanted another one. The same place, time and prices apply, so let's go take a fall together at Warner park Friday night from 7 until 10 o'clock.

Mrs. Archie Underwood says she started practicing early on falls this week. Her foot slipped as she started in one of the bank buildings Wednesday afternoon and bruised her up pretty badly. Hope it isn't serious.

Mrs. Charles Curle was taken home from Erlanger hospital Wednesday, having undergone an operation last week. Last reports say that she is getting along nicely.

Mr. Elmer Crosby, the good coffee man, says that if you like your drinks cold in the summer, you might try iced coffee—made from that union-labeled Rich Maid coffee.

The Vic Hallmarks celebrated another anniversary Wednesday. Don't know whether it was the fortieth or fiftieth—or perhaps it wasn't quite so many.

The Label League goes into its summer meeting schedule next month. There will be only one meeting per month during July, August and September. That meeting will be held on the fourth Friday in the month. Mark it up on your calendar.

* * *

The Kamins and Simpsons have the pool at Warner park going full swing now. And that water looks so cool and clean that it is practically impossible to resist. I'm going to take the boys out tomorrow. The littlest little boy always wangles a popsicle out of Kamin, so he thinks that a popsicle is a part of a swim.

Chicago Machinists Gain Pay Boosts for Thousands

Chicago.—Wage increases approximating 16 per cent were secured for several thousand machinists in a new agreement reached between District No. 8, International Association of Machinists, and Chicago Association of Union Shop Employers.

Hourly rates include: $1.05 for machinists and automatic and hand screw machine operators; $1.23 for tool and die makers and automatic screw machine set-up men; 77 cents for specialists and 67 cents for helpers. Beginning July 1, these rates will be boosted 5 cents for all except specialists and helpers, who get 4 and 3 cents an hour additional, respectively. Night workers get 10 per cent additional over day workers.

IN THE NEWS CONNERY

William P. Connery, Jr., congressman from the Seventh Massachusetts district, chairman of the house committee on labor, has a distinctly unusual history. He started his independent life as an actor. He appeared in several plays, including "Get Rich Quick Wallingford," and perhaps his experience in that play helps to explain the speed with which he can recognize fraud and false pretense now.

He was manager of a theater when Uncle Sam got into the World war; and he didn't wait to be drafted. He enlisted as a private in Company A, One Hundred and First Regiment, U. S. Infantry, in 1917, and served 19 months in France. It was real service, with plenty of fighting; and if nis theatrical experience taught him to recognize a trickster, the war showed him how to call a bluff. He was made a color sergeant for m eritorious work, and honorably discharged April 28, 1918.

He was elected to the Sixty-eighth congress, re-elected to the next two congresses, nominated by both parties for the Seventy-first, and the Seventh district has just got the Connery habit.

Dear Mr. Cuthbert:

We have been very much gratified with the results which we have received from a recent series of advertisements in the Labor World.

As you know, I have been somewhat skeptical in the past that the Labor World could procure sufficient business to adjust the somewhat high milline rate, but I am now convinced that we can use it as a part of our regular advertising.

Yours truly,

Toledo Dairy Unions Sign Up 23 Concerns

Closed Shop Agreement Provides for Higher Wages and Includes Plan to End Unfair Trade Practices.

Toledo, O.—A notable agreement has been negotiated between the Toledo Milk and Ice Cream Drivers' and Dairy Employes' union and twenty-three dairies who are members of the Toledo Milk Distributors' association.

An important feature of the new contract, covering approximately 800 workers, is a provision for a marketing plan designed to ban price cutting, unfair practices, trade discounts, rebates, donations and concessions, in accordance with the provisions of the federal Robinson-Patman act and the Valentine anti-trust act of Ohio. It is believed that these provisions will give all dairies an equal chance in marketing their products and bring labor and business together to stabilize the milk industry.

The agreement includes provisions for the closed shop, a minimum wage scale of $30 a week for all workers and a 5 per cent increase for all workers previously receiving $32 a week or more. All employes under that level will receive a 10 per cent increase.

Although drivers and outside workers operate on a commission basis, they will receive a 15 per cent increase.

BAPTISTS CALL ON CHRISTIANS TO FIGHT ECONOMIC INJUSTICE

Philadelphia.—Five thousand Baptists, delegates to the Northern Baptist convention assembled here, passed a series of resolutions which are believed to set a new mark in liberal views on public questions for any church body.

These resolutions call on all Christians to work for a federal limit on big incomes;

To demand a minimum wage sufficient for a decent living for every worker;

To press for a constitutional amendment taking away the power of congress to declare war without a national referendum.

"It is the compulsion of Christians," said one resolution, "to work for a living minimum wage for every worker, and a maximum income to be set by law, so as to make possible the minimum wage.

"Wrongs and injustices are inherent in our economic and social life. We should study all proposals intended to assist in changing ruthless competition to helpful cooperation."

While this radical program was pretty well foreshadowed, it was generally expected that the conservative wing of the church would be able to soften any resolutions and avoid any startling commitments. This conservative opposition failed to materialise. The resolutions were adopted by substantial majorities, and with practically no debate.

MORE ABOUT AFL-CIO

American Federation of Labor call upon their locals in every locality to join state federations of labor and city central bodies.

In connection with the increased dues the conference approved the Executive Council's recommendation that an intensive organization campaign be carried on by the affiliated National and International Unions within their jurisdictions in co-ordination with the organizing work of the American Federation of Labor itself.

In amplifying on the action taken by the conference, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, announced that unions outside the A. F. of L. would be admitted in fields where their members would be eligible for membership in the ten unions suspended by the American Federation of Labor because of their membership in the C. I. O.

He explained that unions outside the A. F. of L. have been appealing for charters, and that now "the clock has struck and the hour is here, and we are going to give them a home in the Federation if they are willing to come in."

Mr. Green stressed the point that the American Federation of Labor unions would offer employers collective bargaining in good faith and would live up to their contract. He said this would be done not by unions "controlled by subversive forces, but by those wedded to America and its institutions."

Following is the text of the Executive Council's report, which the conference adopted:

To the representatives of national and international unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor in attendance at this conference:

Dear Sirs and Brothers:

The Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor decided at a meeting held at Washington, D. C., April 19-22, 1937, to invite you to attend this meeting. The council appreciates the hearty and most generous response which you made to this invitation. Your presence here is evidence of that fact. We extend to you a most hearty welcome and express the hope that the meeting here will be highly successful and the decisions and conclusions reached of great benefit to the officers and members of the American Federation of Labor.

Conference Called Instead of Convention

The Tampa convention of the American Federation of Labor, which was held last November, decided that, in the event a situation would be created affecting the interests of the American Federation of Labor by the Committee for Industrial Organization and those associated with it that demanded more drastic procedure than was taken, that the Executive Council be authorized and empowered to call a special convention of the American Federation of Labor at such time and place it may deem best to take such further steps and action as the emergency of the situation de-

The Executive Council, acting in accordance with its best judgment, decided to call this conference of national and international officers, rather than to assemble a special convention of the American Federation of Labor.

Precedents Cited

There is nothing unusual about calling a conference of national and international unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. Such conferences have been held heretofore when questions affecting the economic and industrial interests of working men and women called for special consideration and attention. Invariably, conferences of national and international officers which have been held under the auspices of the Executive Council have proved to be of great help, service and assistance not only to the council, but to the officers and membership of the American Federation of Labor as well.

C. I. O. Held Dual Organization

The Tampa convention of the American Federation of Labor dealt very directly and decisively with the division which had been created within the ranks of labor through the formation of the Committee for Industrial Organization.

The Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor decided, after a careful study, examination and consideration of all the facts, that the Committee for Industrial Organization was dual in character and was functioning as a rival organization to the American Federation of Labor.

The officers and delegates in attendance at the fifty-sixth annual convention of the American Federation of Labor reaffirmed the decision of the council.

The convention classified the Committee for Industrial Organization as a dual movement. It regarded the protestations of those who sponsored it and formed it that it was educational in character, formed for the purpose of organizing the unorganized into unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, as rank deception. Such protestations represented hypocrisy of a most glaring and reprehensible character.

It was the opinion of the Executive Council, and of the convention of the American Federation of Labor that in the beginning the Committee for Industrial Organization was a dual, rival movement, launched by men who were inspired by personal ambitions for the purpose of destroying the American Federation of Labor. We all know that what was suspected and believed in the beginning has become a conviction, a reality and a fact.

In a letter to the official representatives of the Committee for Industrial Organization right in the beginning when it was first learned that the Committee for Industrial Organization was formed the president of the American Federation of Labor stated that such a movement, referring to the Committee for Industrial Organization, would prove to be injurious.

"Hollow Mockery"

They were asked if they could not see the evil consequences which would follow the launching of such an organization within the American Federation of Labor the possibilities of cleavage and the development of hate and bitterness which would take place. They were warned against the evil consequences of such a movement and were appealed to dissolve it in the interests of solidarity, harmony and unity within the ranks of labor.

The answer to this appeal was made by a duly accredited officer of the Committee for Industrial Organization, Mr. Charles P. Howard, who has served from the beginning as secretary of the Committee for Industrial Organization. In the answer which he made he stated.

"It is not the intent or purpose of the committee for industrial organization to raid the membership of any established national or international union. It is not the intent, aim or purpose to infringe upon the rightful jurisdiction of any chartered national or international union.

"It is not the intent, aim or purpose to attempt to influence any national or international union to change its form of organization from craft to industrial.

"It is not the intent, aim or purpose to use any unethical or coercive methods in conducting the educational campaign which has for its purpose the organization upon an industrial basis of the millions of workers in mass production industries who have not been and cannot be organized upon a craft basis.

"It is not the intent, aim or purpose to take any action that will invite or promote organization that in any way can be considered dual to the American Federation of Labor. Quite the contrary is true."

A. F. of L. Unions Raided.

What has happened What are ? the facts?

The jurisdiction of national and international unions, local organizations and federal labor unions has been raided by organizations associated with the committee for industrial organization.

The great movement of labor has been ripped and torn asunder. Hate and bitterness have been substituted for cooperation and and good will.

Violence and force have been resorted to by the advocates of the committee for industrial organization in order to compel members of bona fide unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor to drop their membership and become associated with the committee for industrial organization.

The most reprehensible tactics have been resorted to in the splitting, tearing, driving, cruel policy of division which was launched within the ranks of labor.

Over our attempt to follow orderly procedure, to respect the rights of all organizations affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, and to maintain the standards of ethics built up and recognized during a half-century of organization activities is cast the shadow of the opposition of the committee for industrial organization.

A. F. of L. Laws and Obligations Defied.

The Executive Council set forth in a statement issued on April 22, 1937, referring to the committee for industrial organization, that "by their bold and continuous defiance of every law of the American Federation of Labor, by their constant violation of every obligation entered into with the affiliated national and international unions, by their interference with collective agreements entered into with employers by affiliated unions and by their complete disregard of every rule of honor and decency they have made evident and clear beyond peradventure of doubt their utter contempt for the American Federation of Labor."

Out of all of these experiences have arisen grave questions affecting the rights, the jurisdiction and the administrative policies of national and international unions. We must meet this situation in a courageous way characteristic of the attitude of the officers of national and international unions.

C. I. O. Spurns Peace Efforts.

This is made necessary because our each and every invitation for conferences and for a settlement of the differences have been spurned. With reference to this phase of the situation the Executive Council made the following declaration at the meeting held in Washington April 19-22:

"The Executive Council, heretofore hopeful and patient that a more moderate and conciliatory spirit might result in effecting a readjustment, now finds it impossible to continue in that spirit if it is to be true to the best interests of all our affiliated unions.

"The Executive Council hereafter proposes to pursue a policy and procedure that will not only advance and safeguard the interests of all affiliated unions, but as well leave open the way to all trade unionists who wish to retain their affiliation with the American Federation of Labor and as will likewise make it possible for all workers heretofore not affiliated to come within the democratic and constructive fold of the American Federation of Labor.

"It is to give effect to this new policy and procedure and to marshal the forces of labor of America in support of this policy and procedure that the Executive Council decided upon calling into special conference the officers and/or representatives of all affiliated national and international unions, to meet with the Executive Council in Cincinnati, Ohio, on May 24, and for the purpose hereinbefore indicated."

"Lust for Power" Blocks Settlement.

Before our policies for the immediate future are declared it should be here recorded that we are now and have been ever ready to entertain any honorable basis of terminating the controversy. We are of the opinion that there is not, aside from a lust for power by certain individuals, an issue that cannot be surmounted if all interested will approach the controversy with a sincere effort to develop a solution of the difficulties, but so long as the committee for industrial organization persists in spurning our reasonable and honorable efforts to that end, we accept the challenge and do therefore recommend

Higher Dues Asked.

1. That the national and international unions represented in the conference do hereby pledge themselves to consider a resolution, at the forthcoming convention of the American Federation of Labor, levying an assessment of one cent (1c) per member per month, effective June 1, and pending formal ratification of the resolution by the convention the affiliated unions do hereby agree to advance voluntarily the amount of the assessment contemplated by the resolution.

Special Organization Campaigns Planned.

2. That all national and international unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor should expand and carry forward without limit aggressive organizing campaigns within their respective jurisdictions. So far as possible these special organizing campaigns to be coordinated so that the organizing staff of the national and international unions, as well as of the American Federation of Labor, may effectually carry forward systematic organizing work.

3. That because of the exigencies of the situation and for the purpose of maintaining the supremacy of the American Federation of Labor in the field of labor in states, cities and municipalities, all national and international unions call upon and require duly chartered local organizations to become affiliated with state federations of labor and city central bodies.

Expulsion of C. I. O. Locals Urged.

4. That the conference recommend to the Executive Council that all local unions chartered by national and international unions holding membership in the committee for industrial organization be dissociated from membership in state federations of labor and central bodies directly chartered by the American Federation of Labor; this action to be taken in conformity with Section 1, Article XI, of the constitution of the American Federation of Labor.

The Executive Council submits this statement and the recommendations embodied therein with the hope and belief that this conference of national and international unions is ready and willing to act in the emergency which has been created by the establishment of a dual rival union to the American Federation of Labor by the committee for industrial organization, and to meet the challenge offered by said committee for industrial organization as red-blooded men, fearless and unafraid, determined to protect and preserve the interests of the American Federation of Labor and all unions affiliated with it at any cost.

Control Over Economic System Delcared Vital to Prevent Disaster

Society as Whole Must Share in Benefits of Technological Progress or Mass Poverty May Face Nation's Population, Labor Head Warns Social Workers' Convention.

Indianapolis, Ind.—"Unless at an early date we undertake rational control of our industrial machinery, with labor playing a prominent part in that control, the disruption of employment opportunities in recent years may assume a momentum that will bring disaster to industry and mass poverty to our population," George M. Harrison, president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, told the social action section of the National Conference of Social Work here.

Harrison cited figures to show that re-employment in the United States since the depth of the depression has lagged behind the increase of industrial production. In the four years since March, 1933, indexes published by the federal reserve board show a rise in production of 109 per cent, while employment increased only 64 per cent, he said. A recent study by the works progress administration shows that between 1920 and 1929 the nation increased its output 46 per cent with only 16 per cent more labor, while in manufacturing technological innovation made possible a 40 per cent increase in output, in the face of a decrease of 2 per cent in the labor employed.

"The lesson that may be learned from these and similar figures," said Harrison, "is that in the decade preceding the depression the extension of the market for the national product failed to keep pace with the growth of the nation's potential output, when this potential output is calculated on the basis of the steadily increasing productivity of American labor actually employed and the annual increment in the general employable population, including female labor."

Buying Power Too Low.

Harrison said that before the World war, according to economic statisticians, production in this country had increased at an averagte rate of about 4 per cent a year. If that rate has held since the base period, 1923-25, the production index would now stand at 145 or so, instead of at 117.

"Evidently the workers of this country do not get back for their labor the purchasing power necessary to stimulate a volume of output large enough to absorb all the hands that wish to work," Harrison asserted. "Failing to expand the market, that is, failing to distribute sufficient purchasing power, industry cuts aggregate labor requirements and lets millions of willing workers go idle."

The speaker said these tendencies of increased productivity and decreased employment have occurred in all basic industries when the machine has been called to the aid of man. He pointed out that the number of labor units required to perform the same amount of work in 1934 as in 1920, counting 1920 as 100, was 56 in manufacturing, 81 in mining, 74 in railroading and 75 in the telephone industry, to cite only four examples.

Progress Must Be Shared.

Tracing the history of labor through the industrial revolution to the present, Harrison said that, unlike 150 years ago, labor no longer looks at the machine as a dreaded monster, but as a blessing in which labor should share.

"The position American labor takes today with respect to technological progress is that technological improvement is social; that technological progress of today is the heritage of slow social advance through the ages," said Mr. Harrison. "No one single group of society may, therefore, arrogate to itself the fruits of this progress. Society as a whole must share in the benefits. Labor is the major portion of society today."

LABOR QUERIES

Q.—Who said, "The fact that contracts negotiated through collective bargaining are backed by a pledge of sacred honor calling for the utmost respect and observance is being constantly emphasized by the American Federation of Labor?"

A.—William Green.

Q.—How old is the Boot and Shoe Workers' union?

A.—The union celebrated its forty-second anniversary in April.

Senator George W. Norris says that there are still outstanding fifty-six injunctions issued by federal courts at the request of private utilities to hamper federal power development. This is one of the dirtier tricks of utility barons which congress ought to abolish without delay.

80,000 Workers Strike in Plants Of Three Big Steel Corporations

Walkout Follows Refusal of Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube and Inland to Sign Contracts With SWOC—Union Organizers Beaten at Ford Plant in Dearborn.

Washington, June 3.—Labor news, converging here from all points of the compass, tells of the strike of 80,000 men in the steel industry; of union men and women knocked down and kicked by thugs at the Ford auto plant at Dearborn, and other union men and women kept from getting off the street cars; of company-owned police in South Chicago clubbing and then arresting some twenty union organizers, and promising to give "full protection" to the Republic Steel plant in that community.

The Ford attack came as something of a surprise, though a few old Ford employes had predicted such an outbreak. Richard T. Frankensteen, director of the organizing campaign; Walter Reuther, president of the west side local of the United Automobile Workers of America; J. J. Kennedy and Robert Cantor, organizers for the union, had climbed the overpass at Gate 4 of the River Rouge Ford plant to supervise the distribution of union handbills to workers changing shift. About fifty men were loitering nearby, and one of them told the union organizers to get out. Reuther replied that they were not making any disturbance; and then came the rush, led by about a dozen of the gang, but shared by all of them.

Frankensteen Badly Mauled.

Frankensteen was the chief target. He was knocked down, kicked, rolled down the concrete steps, dragged to his feet and then knocked down and kicked again and again. He fought desperately, but the odds were too great. Newspaper photographers had followed the organizers in, and one of their snap shots shows Frankensteen with his coat pulled over his head and a whole gang rushing him.

Reuther, Kennedy, Cantor and seven women who had come to distribute the union leaflets, also were knocked down and kicked. Women supporters of the union were not favored in the Ford demonstration. Several of them were knocked down and kicked, and one had her arms badly wrenched. Other women, coming on street cars to take part in the distribution of handbills, were chased back on the cars.

Five investigators for the senate civil liberties committee saw the shindy. The Michigan conference for the protection of civil rights has wired to the state delegation in congress:

"Circulation of Ford union organization leaflets, authorized by Dearborn council, forcibly and brutally halted by Ford thugs and service men."

Strikes Hit Independents.

Strikers were called in three independent steel companies—Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube and Inland Steel. These three corporations employ nearly 80,000 men—and nearly 8,000 men were reported on the picket lines. The strike order affected 27 plants of the three companies in five states.

Republic Steel, with its chief, Tom Girdler, the bitterest known enemy of unions even in the steel business, has taken the lead. The three companies refused to sign an agreement with the unions. The Republic, in a letter to its employes, declared that the demand for a written contract is "merely the first step to a demand for the closed shop and the checkoff."

Philip Murray, head of the Steel Workers' organizing committee, answered:

"U. S. Steel and 140 other steel companies have signed contracts with SWOC, and they are not closed shops. They are union shops where the workmen no longer have the day-by-day fear of dismissal because of a bad-tempered boss.

Republic "Violated Law."

"Republic Steel especially is deliberately and knowingly violating the Wagner law. It has instituted a policy of mass persecution. It closed down certain mills in Massilon and Canton, and told its workers it intended to starve them into submission.

"Republic Steel is planning a reign of terrorism. Its mills are loaded with guns."

Richmond Retail Clerks Sign Up Safeway Stores

Agreement Prescribing Union Conditions Covers 1,200 Employes.

Richmond, Cal.—An outstanding gain by union retail clerks affiliated with the A. F. of L. was recorded with the signing of an agreement between Retail Food Clerks' unions of Richmond and Almeda county, and the Safeway Stores. About 1,200 members were brought into the union, which was only recently organized.

One of the pertinent clauses in the agreement provides that "The Safeway Stores will recognize the union as long as the employes are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor and the Central Labor council."

St. Louis Printers Win Wage Increases

St. Louis, Mo. — Typographical Union No. 8, of St. Louis, has secured a new agreement, to become effective June 1, marking substantial gains for newspaper printers here, as well as job printers.

The newspaper printers secured a wage increase of $3.75 a week, of which $2.50 per week will become effective June 1 and the balance December 1. This brings the day newspaper scale up to $50 for a 5-day week and $54.17 for five nights a week.

A flat increase of 7 per cent was won by the job printers, effective June 1. Both the newspaper and job plant contracts run to Dec. 1, 1938.

MORE ABOUT MARION COUNTY

with the council and advice of a local lawyer whose niece was elected to one of the vacated positions, it is charged.

It is believed that because Marion county is a union stronghold the teachers will receive militant support in their effort to secure recognition of their rights from the Jasper section, known as the "middle" section. Such belief is based on the fact that already several of the local union organizations have already discussed the problem in the school systems and are conferring with the teachers.

Chattanooga Central Labor union has already formally condemned this action in disregarding the tenure law. It will be recalled that Chattanooga teachers, well organized, already enjoy tenure rights, which to this time have been observed and no effort thus far has been made to evade them.

CIO RANK & FILE DISOBEY ORDERS OF THEIR LEADER

"We Will Not Crash Any Picket Line" They Say Thursday Morning

As Hedges Molders Stand Firm for Union Shop—Eight AFL Strikers Meet Threat With Good Discipline.

Efforts of leaders of the CIO in the Combustion Engineering company failed Thursday morning in an effort to stampede the rank and file of the CIO to break up an AFL picket line of molders who have been on strike for several weeks in an attempt to secure a union shop.

The "zero hour" was set for 7 o'clock Thursday morning, according to a lengthy statement given to the daily papers by Rev. Pate, CIO general in Chattanooga. At 7 o'clock approximately 300 CIO members of another department of the company were met at the molding plant by the striking molders. There was eight pickets on the line with folded arms. These eight met the 300 with a quiet statement that their line would not be broken, and a plea to the possible crashers to remember what unionism meant—that real union men would not try to break anybody's line. Behind the eight some 100 yards away there were approximately sixty pickets, all unarmed.

After the statement, made by Mr. Henry Ziegler, directing the picket and strike activities, a striker himself, several CIO members were seen and heard to say, "Well, regardless of what Pate and Baxter say, we won't break any picket lines." Thereupon within a few minutes they had all dispersed and went to work in the machine shop.

The strike has been very quiet so far, due to splendid discipline worked out by the AFL leaders. Henry Ziegler is in charge, with Louis Goggins as his aide. When The Labor World reporter visited the scene of the strike there was a determined and quiet order. Ziegler was in conference in the back room of a nearby cafe. At the door there were two doorkeepers who efficiently conducted to Ziegler the visitors as fast as the preceding one retired. Orders were given to runners, who quickly went their way. Others were acting as drivers, who went to given destinations to pick up groceries and contributions.

The strikers are receiving regular strike benefits from the International Molders union, in addition to contributions from various locals. It was reported that employes of the Summerville Iron works this week sent in a heavy purse to help their brothers on the line.

It has been learned that the CIO has asked for an election to be held

Movie Operator Called by Death In Theatre Booth

Organized labor in Chattanooga was deeply grieved to learn of the sudden death of Walter R. Hipp, who was stricken with a heart attack while at work as projectionist at the American theater at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon. Brother Hipp was 46 years old.

He had been an active member of organized labor for many years, having joined the Chattanooga local of Moving Picture Operators on Nov. 4, 1913. Mr. Hipp held many offices in the local group, having served as vice-president, financial secretary, treasurer and recording secretary, the office which he held at his death. He had also been a delegate to the Central Labor union for many years and was always interested in the activities of any labor group.

Mr. Hipp was a graduate of the Chattanooga Law school and, at one time, had studied medicine for two years. He was an avid reader and was well-informed on labor history.

He is survived by his wife and two children, Billy and Joan; a sister, Mrs. Mary Mackey, Chicago, and an aunt, Mrs. P. R. Sullivan, of Cleveland, Tenn.

The Labor World joins the many friends of Brother Hipp in offering sincere sympathy to his family.

HEINZ COMPANY ACCUSED OF VIOLATING LABOR ACT

Pittsburgh.—An American Federation of Labor union has charged the H. J. Heinz company with violation of the national labor relations act because the company signed a contract with an independent union.

The union in filing the complaint with the regional labor board, charged that the company violated the Wagner act in recognizing the Heinz Employes association, which it contended is a "company union," outlawed by the act.

Tom Girdler, former chief bully of Jones & Laughlin, now master of Republic Steel, says that he would rather pick apples than make steel with union labor. The present chances are about 25 to 1 that Mr. Girdler had better change his mind or start getting a stepladder.

CAFE PICKETS SEE CHANGES IN POSITIONS

Peace Possibilities Seen As Ellis, Harry's Place and Maypole Pickets Off.

Home Plate Situation Clearing Up and Employes Sign With Union—Creighton Fight Still On.

The restaurant fight in Chattanooga saw a bit of a change during the past week when the pickets were removed from Ellis', Harry's Place and the Maypole restaurants. Observers see in the move that peace negotiations are being carried on, and that, although definite peace may not be possible for possibly a week or more, developments are taking place which will see all three of these restaurants, in addition to many others, recognizing the Culinary Workers' union.

The Home Plate situation is not yet concluded, but great advance had been accomplished during the week, wherein employes of the Home Plate paid in their initiation fees and made application to join up with the union.

The fight is still on at Creighton's, an out-of-town owned concern, which is employing Chattanooga girls for terribly low wages and taking the profits from such conduct out of Chattanooga to swell the bank accounts of the owners, interested in Chattanooga only for what money that may be wrung from us.

Pickets that have been removed from the three picketed restaurants may be placed at other points within a few days.

BAKERY UNION PUTS MANHATTAN BAKERY ON ITS UNFAIR LIST

Bakery Local 25 this week announced that so far negotiations with the Manhattan bakery on West Ninth street had resulted in failure, and that the local had declared that concern as "unfair" to Local 25.

Carpenters Make Peace With Agnew Hardware Co.

Several weeks ago The Labor World published a story that Carpenter Local No. 74 had some difficulty with the Agnew Hardware company on Frazier avenue, and had declared that store "unfair."

The Labor World is pleased to inform the public that on June 4 Local 74 had removed Agnew's from the unfair list, having made satisfactory adjustment of the dispute involved.

McCallie Speech Gets Request for His Help As Cafe Investigator

Labor World Wants Him to Head Committee to Compile Facts Which Show Terrible and Inhuman Conditions.

Culinary Workers' Local Promises to Place Evidence in Professor's Hands to Prove Public Condemnation of 77-Hour Week and $2 Wage Scales.

Taking encouragement from a speech made by Prof. Spencer J. McCallie before the Kiwanis club last Tuesday, in which he said that industrial disputes should be forced into public forums, The Labor World addressed a letter to the popular professor calling upon him to head a committee to look into the restaurant situation in Chattanooga in order to acquaint the public what all the picketing is about.

It was evident by Prof. McCallie's remarks that he misunderstands the function of the conciliation board as a medium for making decisions as to merits of disputes. According to published statements by the conciliation board sponsors, the board is merely for the purpose of attempting to compose differences rather than ruling on their merits.

Believing that Prof. McCallie's statement that he was "irked to see pickets branding an organization unfair when there has been no decision by an impartial tribunal" indicated that he was desirous of doing his part to conduct such an impartial investigation, the editor of The Labor World in a letter to Prof. McCallie requested him to head a committee to make a rigid investigation of the conditions in picketed restaurants and others not yet picketed.

"We know that when aroused in such a cause that you will leave no stone unturned to expose evil forces,"

BIG BAKE SHOPS SIGN CONTRACTS FOR 12 MONTHS

Colonial and Betsy Ross Wind Up Negotiations Saturday Evening.

Nice Wage Increase Granted With Week's Vacation With Pay and Check-Off—Campaign for Remaining Small Plants Started.

Local 25, Bakery and Confectionery Workers, successfully re-signed all of the union bake shops in Chattanooga to another year's contract last week, the Colonial and Cameron & Barr plants finishing up the negotiations Saturday night which has lasted for several weeks.

The new agreement gives employes from $3 to $5 increase in weekly wages and a week's vacation with pay. All agreements include the check-off.

Business Agent Curtis R. Sims told The Labor World Monday that the bakery local is at present laying plans to line up the few remaining small plants, and already announcements are about ready to be made which will signal further advances in the organization of the bakery field.

Getting a start in spite of bitter attacks on it, Local 25 has survived hard times which would discourage most people, and today finds this comparatively new union a husky and powerful group of some 350 members, most of whom are working full time. Since organization several years ago, wage conditions have been doubled and in some cases trebled.

Bakery Workers Win Pay Increase Pacts

New Contracts in Washington, Cincinnati, Duluth and Springfield Add Many Dollars to Pay Envelopes.

Bakery and Confectionery Workers' Local Union No. 118, of Washington, D. C., have secured new agreements with all leading bakeries raising wages 3 cents an hour and, for the first time, gaining a week's annual vacation with pay. The rate now is: day work, $1.05 an hour; night work, $1.25 an hour.

Bakery Workers' Local Union No. 218, at Cincinnati, Ohio, recently succeeded in signing the National Bread company to a union contract, through which forty-five workers in the plant secured wage increases of from $6 to $100 a week, retroactive to May 1. The contract also provides for the 5-day, 40-hour work week. An effort is under way to organize the helpers and utility workers in the plant into an auxiliary to the Bakery Workers' union.

An agreeent providing wage increases and other benefits has been negotiated with the Barsness Candy company, of Duluth, Minn., with the Bakery and Confectionery Workers of that city. The union recently initiated all of the candy company employes.

Bakers' Union No. 147, at Springfield, Ill., has secured a new agreement with employers there, in which they won an increase of $2 a week in wages and improved working conditions.

Hodcarriers Lose A Valued Member

Local 846, Hodcarriers, suffered the loss of one of their members last Monday when James M. Gray died at his residence at 3007 Tenth avenue. As an expression of its esteem of this member, Local 846 drew up the following resolution:

"Whereas, the departure of our beloved brother has brought grief and sorrow to the members of Local No. 846, therefore, be it

"Resolved, That we herewith extend our sincere sympathy to his relatives and many friends in their bereavement.

"SIDNEY ROBINSON,
"Rec. Secretary Local No. 846, Hodcarriers."

Cooks and Waiters Gain Wage Increases

Pay Envelopes Expanded by Agreements Negotiated in Detroit and Beckley.

Three restaurants of Beckley, W. Va., have signed agreements with the Cooks' and Waiters' union and received house cards. The contract limits the work week to 54 hours for men and 48 for women. One dollar a week wage increase was secured. Under the agreement waiters are paid $16 per week; waitresses, $10; women cooks, $11.50; first class male cooks, $26.50; second class male cooks, $19; inexperienced waitresses, $8; inexperienced waiters, $9.50; men dishwashers, $13; women dishwashers, $10. In addition, all employes are provided free meals. The union is an affiliate of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance.

The Cooks' union at Detroit, Mich., branch of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' Alliance, announces that the union has an agreement with the makers of Better Made Potato Chips, which are the first union-made potato chips to be available in the state. A recent agreement by the company with the union granted increased wages of from 13 to 15 cents an hour, with a minimum of 60 cents an hour, a 45-houh work week and union conditions.

Theory vs. Practice

Quite a ripple of amusement swept through the city this week when Editor George Fort Milton was answering a summons for jury service, but begged off from duty.

The cause of the amusement was not that someone asked to be excused from service, but rather that Mr. Milton was the one that made the request.

The editor of the News has been writing some splendid editorials on civic duty, responsibilities of citizenship, arbitration, conciliation and other very fine sentiments and theories gotten out of books, but applicable only when pertaining to some section say, a thousand miles away.

Mr. Milton has also been inveighing against the weaknesses of our juries—only "professionals" were being used, high types of intellects were not being used, and that miscarriages of justice have been frequently the case because of inferior juries.

But Mr. Milton, a learned man, a civic-minded and patriotic citizen, a profound theorist, asked to be excused from service with his peers because of pressing business needs.

WORKERS IN 32 PAPER MILLS GET PAY RAISE

Seattle.—Fifteen thousand pulp and paper mill workers have accepted a wage increase of 10 cents an hour, which will mean $4,000,000 more pay for them in the next year, it was announced.

The agreement is effective in thirty-two mills in Washington, Oregon and California.

What Next!

A new "ear" for ships in fogs picks up sounds of horns and sirens and tells the ship's officers the exact direction from which the sound is coming. Two shell-like cups on horizontal arms catch the sounds and bring them to a focus. By turning the arms and watching an indicator, the officer on duty knows where the sound is coming from and can report to the bridge. The device, a Viennese invention, picks up sounds a distance of from 12 to 15 miles.

Hearings Soon to Begin On Security Act Changes

Washington. — Twenty-nine proposed amendments to the social security act, which have been lying untouched before the house ways and means committee until the supreme court should pass upon the validity of the act itself, will now be brought up for hearings within a few weeks at most. These amendments will affect about 2,500,000 persons not now covered by the law.

The slowing up effect of court procedure on reform measures could hardly have a better illustration. About 1,450,000 persons will be put in line by these amendments for old age benefits. Most of the pending amendments have been reviewed and approved by the bureau of the budget.

Kansas City Dairy Employes Join Chauffeurs Brotherhood

Kansas City, Mo.—In an election for collective bargaining representative the employes of the Chapman Dairy company, of Kansas City, voted by an overwhelming majority to become members of Milk Drivers' and Dairy Employes' Union No. 207, of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers.

One hundred per cent of the employes took part in the election, 67 voting for affiliation and 41 against.

Santa Monica, Cal.—A new Auto Mechanics and Accessory Parts Workers union has been organized by the International Association of Machinists in Santa Monica. More than 100 men attended the organization meeting.

Knoxville Painters Strike; Wage Increase Pact Won

Knoxville, Tenn.—Union painters and decorators in Knoxville, following a strike of a week, reached an agreement establishing a minimum of 80 cents an hour on all new work, instead of 75 cents as heretofore. Contracts were signed with Painters' and Decorators' No. 437.

WAGE-HOUR BILL WITNESSES MAKE POWERFUL CASE FOR INCREASING PAY, SHORTENING WORK PERIODS

Well-Known Manufacturer Urges Steady Progress Toward 30-Hour Week to Assure Maintenance of Prosperity — Assistant Attorney-General Serves Notice Administration Will Challenge Supreme Court's Ancient Child Labor Decision.

By GEORGE L. KNAPP

Washington.—The joint labor committee of house and senate put on an all-star cast in its hearings on the Black-Connery wage and hour bill. Robert H. Jackson, assistant attorney-general came; and by his statement as well as his coming showed that the Roosevelt administration has just begun to fight for our one-third of submerged population who never seem absent from the president's mind. Robert Johnson followed; manufacturer of surgical dressings, who has tried out the policies of the wage and hour bill in his factories for years, and found that they work.

Either witness would have made it a notable hearing. Together, they made it unexampled in the writer's experience.

Johnson, president of a company employing more than 5,000 workers, urged a $16 week minimum wage in all industry; a maximum of 40-hour week in all industry; with steady and orderly progress toward the 30-hour week, which he believes essential, and an immediate trial in some industries.

Suggests Three Codes.

"Let the board which this bill will create establish three codes," he suggested. "Code A, modern 30 hours a week; code B, semi-modern, 35 hours; and code C, for backward industries, 40 hours."

"The speeding up of industry, in which I believe," he said, "makes too great demands on the vitality of men to be kept up for eight hours."

Asked what people would do with their new leisure, he laughed.

"When we went on the five-day week," he said, "many good people told me that it meant two Saturday night sprees. We found that for those who went on sprees, Saturday night was pushed forward to Friday night; the man had Saturday for recovery as well as Sunday for rest, and it worked better.

Leisure Aids Education.

"But they were a small minority. I have many friends among saloonkeepers; and they complained bitterly to me that so many people were taking trips on the prolonged weekends that liquor sales had dropped heavily."

Johnson went on to say that with the shorter hours, attendance at night schools among the working force increased 1,000 per cent; and demands on the library multiplied many fold. Scores and hundreds of workers built themselves little shacks by lake or seashore or woods, and took their families there week-ends all through the warm season.

He estimated that the 30-hour week would enable industry to absorb from 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 workers—"just about the number that you will need to absorb by the time you can make such a change."

He said that a minimum wage of $16 probably would raise the pay of three or four million workers. "When the floor is leveled up, the ceiling goes up some, too."

Bill Shown Constitutional.

He declared that prosperity could never be satisfactory or permanent until every willing worker had a steady, year-round job, at a decent wage. He dismissed the plea that a minimum wage would become a maximum wage as a "mere slogan." All the evidence points the opposite way, he said.

Assistant Atty.-Gen. Jackson was the first witness before the joint committee. In a clear, well locumented, closely reasoned statement, Mr. Jackson showed that the pending bill on wages and hours is not only in accord with the constitution, but is supported by a long line of decisions of the supreme court—with one big exception. Then he dealt with that exception.

"The power of congress to enact the bill is clear, under the decisions, both old and recent, except for the denial by the supreme court in the child labor case of the most simple and clear of all these (judicial) theories. In 1918 by a 5-to-4 vote, the supreme court in Hammer vs. Dagenhart, 247 U. S. 251, held invalid an act of congress prohibiting interstate transportation of goods manufactured in violation of certain child labor standards. . . .

Decision by Bare Majority.

"The child labor decision was promulgated by a bare majority of numbers. They were Mr. Chief Justice White and Justices Van Devanter, Pitney, McReynolds and Day, who wrote the prevailing opinion. A ringing dissent was written by Mr. Justice Holmes and supported by Justices McKenna, Brandeis and Clark, who could not be regarded as a minority in prestige.

"Legal scholarship received the decision with indignation and derision which times has not softened."

Mr. Jackson quoted from Thomas Reed Powell and other legal authorities to back this last sentence; and then went on:

"We owe it to our times to challenge the perversion of our constitution injected into our law by the child labor decision. This bill would challenge it. We should give the courts a chance to remove this blemish from our judicial history.

"The doctrine of the majority in the child labor case belongs to the same dark era in legal thought as the decision holding that the minimum wage law was unconstitutional. (Adkins vs. Children's Hospital.)"

Hitler says he wants to make peace with Britain and France for the sake of Western Europe. Britain believes him so much that she spends $35,000,000 for a new aircraft gun from Sweden. It must be touching to arouse a sincere faith like that.

IN THE NEWS

BLACK

Senator Black, of Alabama, is about the first genuine liberal to come to Washington from the deep south. His full name, Hugo LaFayette Black, helps to explain this; parents who would give those names to a boy couldn't help having liberal offspring. He went to the officers' training camp and was made captain of the Eighty-first Field Artillery in the World war; but just when Black's regiment was ready to go over, the Kaiser quit. This may be a coincidence, but—

He is a prodigious reader. He has read everything Thomas Jefferson ever wrote, and all his Jefferson books are underlined and annotated. He is an advanced thinker; he introduced the 30-hour bill in the senate. He is a terrific cross-examiner, in spite of the fact that he takes pains to see that the witness understands the question. His investigations of air and ocean mail contracts and of lobbying activities are classics among senate probes.

He is married, has several children, and will be only 52 when his second term in the senate ends.

Organized Carpenters Win Higher Pay Rates

Union Agreement Raise the Living Standards in Widely Separated Areas.

Carpenters' Local Union No. 861, of Southbridge Mass., has negotiated contracts with four Southbridge contractors calling for an increase in wages of 10 cents an hour. The local has doubled its membership during the last few months.

Carpenters' Local union, No. 283, at Augusta, Ga., following two months of negotiations, have secured a new minimum wage rate of 85 cents an hour.

An increase in wages from 90 cents to $1 an hour has been secured in an agreement negotiated by Carpenters' Local No. 176, of Newport, Rhode Island, with the contractors of that city.

The carpenters' local union in Memphis, Tenn., has gained an increase in wages amounting to 12½ per cent, which became effective June 1. The union has also added many new members during recent weeks.

Officials of Carpenters' Local Union No. 801, of Woonsocket, R. I., announce that little opposition was manifested on the part of contractors when the union negotiated its new wage scale establishing $1 an hour as the wage rate. Over 160 members are benefiting from the higher wages.

If you are wearing sweatshop clothing, you are cutting wages.

The purchase of foreign-made products helps to finance foreign wars and also helps to drag us into them.

The family of a labor unionist should protect his wages by buying only union label products.

The most effective way to obtain decent working conditions is to buy the products that are made under union labor's standards of wages and hours.

Take It or Leave It!

Points of View Picked Up From Various Sources

CY KOLOGY, EDITOR

Today there are about six million members of organized labor—six million, in two camps—two main camps. Minorities are found outside of the major camps. An organized total of ten millions is possible within a matter of months. And the stronger the two main groups grow, the more confused the situation will become. Six months ago there seemed possibilities that peace could be engineered. But that's washed up—gone with the summer breezes, probably to where the woodbine twineth, which is a place nobody ever exactly located. No peace is on the edge of the skyline today.

Some day there may be a reuniting. For some unknown reason two years is the period generally selected as the probable waiting time. It won't be just a waiting time. It will be a fighting time. A lot of broken heads are likely to result. A lot of hates already have grown up. Some say it all makes for liveliness, for thinking, for a desire to get somewhere, for more of that commodity called militancy. But meanwhile everybody says it's too bad. It's too bad, but it seems it has to be. And those who today get in the road of the conflict will get no thanks from anywhere. So, it seems, it has to be.

Meanwhile the purge of A. F. of L. ranks is on. Central bodies and state federations are being purged of CIO local unions. All A. F. of L. groups in one camp. All CIO groups in the other. Nobody with a leg in each camp—not any more. And yet, it is one of the peculiarities of the situation that a lot of co-operation across the fence is to be observed around the country. There are some who refuse to fight—up to this time, anyway. What that means remains to be seen. But, by and large, it is war today, as it hasn't been up to this date. More vigorous war seems in store. The command goes down the line that there is to be no compromising, that there is to be war. Strange, how union membership grows on this foundation of internal struggle.

One of these days the CIO will [hold] a convention, pick a name for [itself], adopt a constitution and go into [business] as a federation. What will [be] its name? How closely will it [follow] the A. F. of L. form of [federation]? Will there be an entirely [new] form of grouping brought into [the] labor picture?

The next few weeks are so full [of] possibilities that many a labor [man] will have a headache trying to [keep] track of his own movement and [what] is expected of him. The next [few] weeks are making history that [will] affect all industry. It is surprising how calm everybody is about [it]. More than that, it is a surprising [thing] world we live in and so maybe [it] isn't surprising after all that the [way] look toward this special problem should be so surprising.

MORE ABOUT M'CALLIE

The Labor World extended its services to such a committee to remedy the cancer which many citizens are unaware exists here.

The completo letter to Prof. McCallie says:

"June 9, 1937.

"Prof. Spencer J. McCallie,
"McCallie School,
"Chattanooga, Tenn.

"Dear Professor McCallie:

"I read your speech in yesterday's News which you delivered at the Kiwanis luncheon with great pleasure. In it you said 'I must confess that it irks me to see pickets with placards branding an organization unfair when there HAS BEEN NO SUCH DECISION BY AN IMPARTIAL TRIBUNAL.'

"I gather from your talk that you have the impression that the newly-formed conciliation board is empowered to make such impartial investigations and decisions. The conciliation board is not for publicity purposes, nor for deciding who is right or wrong in a dispute. It is solely for the purpose of meeting with disputing parties to make an effort to get them together.

"We need someone to make such investigation which you suggest, and I take this opportunity to call on you to head a committee of public-spirited citizens to look into conditions existing in the restaurants that are now being picketed, as well as the restaurant industry in general.

"We believe that we can show you such a deplorable state of affairs now in existence that you will become even more 'irked.' We want somebody to become irked—in fact, become so irked that the public will be aroused to such an extent that criticism against pickets will cease, but instead the aroused public condemnation will be directed against the inhuman circumstances which causes picketing.

"Officials of Culinary Workers' Local 574 and myself stand ready to lead you around to the Creighton restaurant which, Mr. Mabee can prove, pays its girls from $2.50 to $4.00 per week, out of which laundry bills are deducted.

"I personally stand ready to present Mr. Harry Koskos' own statement that he works his employes seven days a week, eleven hours per day, and who is to this day insisting that he simply cannot operate his business on a 63-hour per week basis which the union asks.

"Culinary Workers officials assure me that they stand ready to go into court or before a board to prove that the picketed Maypole and Ellis restaurants are operating under such deplorable conditions that if the public became fully aware of them they could not continue in business.

"We believe that we can show you that almost every restaurant forces its employes to depend upon tips for a living, and that such conditions in many cases cause desperate employes to resort to bootlegging and other sources of supplementing their 'income.'

"We believe we can prove to your satisfaction that in some cases some restaurants are operated for 'fronts' behind which an entirely different trade is carried on.

"Since you have publicly taken an interest in pickets placarding places 'unfair,' we feel certain that you will consent to go further—that you will step from the speakers' platform and will gather facts that will enable you to make a really rousing speech that will not only 'irk' the public, but will enrage them into action.

"I have consulted with officials of the culinary workers, and they assure me that they are prepared to substantiate their charges. In some few instances I am able to substantiate them myself.

"We have the greatest respect for your sincerity and desire to uphold justice. We know that when aroused in such a cause that you will leave no stone unturned to expose evil forces. We dislike the use of pickets as much or even more than anyone, but until someone helps us, picketing is the only way we have of telling the public things they should know.

"Please accept this letter in the friendliest of spirit. We know that convictions rest deep in your heart, and we only grasp this opportunity to enlist your service in behalf of the public.

"Sincerely,

"T. R. CUTHBERT,
"Editor."

Congress Orders Probe Of Tax Evasion Methods

House and Senate Act Promptly, Following Vigorous Message by President Revealing Astounding Conditions and Urging Legislation to Stop Tax Dodging.

Washington, June 10.—In the most blistering message he has ever sent to congress, President Roosevelt has revealed an astounding condition of millionaire tax dodging, called for an investigation to probe this iniquity to the bottom, and urged a permanent reform of the tax laws to make evasion more difficult.

The senate passed a resolution for investigation by unanimous vote one hour after the message was received. The house followed suit as soon as the business on hand permitted.

"The secretary of the treasury," says the president's message, "has given me a report of a preliminary study of income tax returns for the calendar year of 1936. This report reveals efforts at avoidance and evasion of tax liability, so widespread and so amazing, both in their boldness and their ingenuity, that further action without delays seems imperative.

Many Methods Used.

"Methods of escape or intended escape from tax liability are many. . . . All are alike in that they are definitely contrary to the spirit of the law. All are alike in that they represent a determined effort on the part of those who use them to dodge the payment of taxes which congress based on ability to pay. All are alike in that failure to pay results in shifting the tax load to shoulders of others less able to pay, and in mulcting the treasury of the government's just due."

The president enclosed in his message a letter from Secretary Morgenthau, in which the chief methods of present day tax dodging "by a minority of very rich individuals" are set forth. They are:

"The device of evading taxes by setting up foreign personal holding corporations in the Bahamas, Panama, Newfoundland, and other places where taxes are low and corporation laws lax. Americans have formed sixty-four such companies in the Bahamas alone in 1935 and 1936, and twenty-two more were organized by Americans in the Bahamas during the past two months.

One Man Incorporated Yacht.

"2. The device of foreign insurance companies.

"3. The device of domestic personal holding companies.

"4. The device of incorporating yachts and country estates.

"5. The device of artificial deductions for interest, losses, etc.

"6. The device of the creation of multiple trusts for relatives and dependents.

"7. The device of husband and wife or father and children partnerships.

"8. The device of pension trusts."

Secretary Morgenthau gives examples of all these tricks. One man incorporated his yacht, and created a trust to pay the expenses of operating it. One incorporated his $5,000,000 city residence.

Law Itself Defective.

"In addition to these cases of moral fraud," says the secretary, "there are three major instances in which the law itself permits individuals and corporations to avoid their equitable share of the tax burden." He names them: allowances for depletion, "perhaps the most glaring loophole in our present revenue law;" division of income between husband and wife in the eight community property states, and taxation of non-resident aliens.

"In this immediate problem," says the president, "the decency of American morals is involved. The example of successful tax dodging by a minority of very rich individuals breeds efforts by other people to dodge other laws as well as tax laws."

Gotham Bldg. Service Workers Win Raises

New York City.—Fifty thousand building service workers in 3,000 apartment, loft and office buildings in Manhattan are given shorter hours, better pay and vacations with pay by award of Frank C. Laughlin, who was accepted arbitrator between the Building Service Employes union and the realty advisory board on labor relations.

All building service workers get one week's vacation with pay each year.

Workers in office and loft buildings have their hours cut from 48 per week to 45.

Wage increases are given ranging from $4 a month to 75 cents a week.

Employes will be paid three times a month. The present rule is twice; and the union asked for weekly pay.

Three times since President Roosevelt's court reform plan came up, the supreme court has upheld new deal laws by 5 to 4 votes. The plan would be worth while for that alone.

It is no accident that the steel companies which formerly specialized on huge bonuses to insiders are now the last to hold out against recognizing labor's right to organize.

"The hope behind this statute is to save men and women from the rigors of the poorhouse as well as from the haunting dread that such a lot awaits them when journey's end is near."—Justice Cardozo in upholding old age pensions.

Economic independence can be won for all workers if they will buy only from firms that display union labels, shop cards and working buttons.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

Whereas, on the 29th day of May, 1929, George H. Grice and wife, Leona L. Grice, of Hamilton County, Tennessee, executed a deed of trust conveying the property hereinafter described and advertised for sale, to Hamilton National Bank of Chattanooga, Chattanooga, Tennessee, Trustee, which said deed of trust was filed for registration May 31, 1929, and recorded in Book B, Vol. 24, page 532, et seq., in the Register's office of Hamilton County, Tennessee; and,

Whereas, said deed of trust was executed for the purpose of securing the payment of a certain indebtedness, fully described in the said deed of trust, to which reference is made for a complete description; and default has been made in the payment of the said indebtedness secured by said deed of trust and interest thereon, and the said George H. Grice and wife, Leona L. Grice, have failed to perform covenants in the note evidencing the indebtedness, and have failed to perform covenants in said deed of trust, and have remained in default for more than thirty days, and the holder of said indebtedness has made demand upon the undersigned trustee to sell the property conveyed by said deed of trust, as therein provided, to satisfy the payment of said indebtedness and interest, as said holder of said indebtedness has a right to do under the terms of said deed of trust:

Now, therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in the undersigned Trustee, Hamilton National Bank of Chattanooga, as Trustee, will, on

sell, within the legal hours of sale, at the west door of the courthouse in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at public outcry, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, in bar of all equities of redemption, dower and homestead, the following described real estate in the Old 2nd Civil District, present City of Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, to-wit:

Lot 4, of Block 2, Shepherd's Subdivision of Sherman Heights, as shown by plat now found of record in Register's Plat Book No. 3, page 22, in the Register's office of Hamilton County, Tennessee, which lot fronts 50 feet on the South side of Wilder Street and runs back southwardly, of uniform width, a distance of 195½ feet, as shown by deed dated October 12, 1903, and registered October 12, 1903, in Book P, Vol. 7, page 531, in the Register's office of said county; being the same property conveyed by S. A. Strauss, Trustee, to George H. Grice and wife, Leona L. Grice, by deed registered in Book L, Vol. 18, page 551, in said Register's office.

Said deed of trust recites that title to the said property is clear, free and unencumbered, and title thereto is believed to be good, but the sale will be made as Trustee only, and subject to any unpaid taxes.

This June 1, 1937.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

Whereas, on the 9th day of June, 1927, Jennie M. Tucker (single), of Hamilton County, Tennessee, executed a deed of trust conveying the property hereinafter described and advertised for sale, to F. L. Underwood, Trustee, which said deed of trust was filed for registration June 9, 1927, and recorded in Book V, Vol. 21, page 478, et seq., in the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee; and,

Whereas, said deed of trust was executed for the purpose of securing the payment of a certain indebtedness, fully described in the said deed of trust, to which reference is made for a complete description; and default has been made in the payment of the said indebtedness secured by said deed of trust and interest thereon, and the said Jennie M. Tucker has failed to perform covenants in the note evidencing the indebtedness, and has failed to perform covenants in said deed of trust, and has remained in default for more than thirty days, and the holder of said indebtedness has made demand upon the undersigned trustee to sell the property conveyed by said deed of trust, as therein provided, to satisfy the payment of said indebtedness and interest, as said holder of said indebtedness has a right to do under the terms of said deed of trust:

Now, therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in the undersigned Trustee, F. L. Underwood, of Chattanooga, Tennessee, as Trustee, will, on

sell, within the legal hours of sale, at the west door of the Court House in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at public outcry, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, in bar of all equities of redemption, dower and homestead, the following described real estate in the Third Civil District of Hamilton County, Tennessee, to-wit:

Lot 20, Ogden, Bushnell, Giles and Hulse's Re-Subdivision of Block 4, Normal Park Addition, as shown by plat of record in Plat Book 6, page 41, in the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee. Said lot fronts 50 feet on the west line of Crewdson Street and runs back Westwardly, of uniform width, to the east line of West Crewdson Street, on which it has a frontage of 53.24 feet, its north line being 111.33 feet and its south line 180 feet in length.

Said deed of trust recites that title to the said property is clear, free and unencumbered, and title thereto is believed to be good, but the sale will be made as Trustee only, and subject to any unpaid taxes.

This May 26, 1937.

F. L. UNDERWOOD, Trustee.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

Whereas, by deed of trust, dated the 18th day of December, 1934, executed by Lillian D. Heath and Alma Dixon, conveyed to J. Mitt Payne, Trustee, the property herein described, said deed of trust being registered in Book N, Volume 27, Page 328, et seq., of the Register's office of Hamilton County, Tennessee.

Said deed of trust provides, "It is further expressly provided that the Corporation, in any event, is hereby authorized at its option to appoint in writing a substitute trustee to act instead of the trustee herein; and the authority to appoint other substitute trustees, successively during the life of this loan and said trustees shall each and all succeed to all the rights and powers of the first trustee named herein," and

Whereas, the time has arrived when action under the powers conferred by said trust deed is required; and

Whereas, the Home Owners' Loan Corporation is now the owner of the indebtedness herein secured; and whereas, under the above described power of substitution, said Home Owners' Loan Corporation has by a written instrument, duly acknowledged and registered, appointed the undersigned trustee and successor to J. Mitt Payne, to execute said trust, with all the powers conferred and the duties imposed upon and all the title invested in said original trustees; said appointment being dated May 11, 1937, and filed for record in the Register's office of Hamilton County, Tennessee, on May 13, 1937.

And default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness, which still remains due and unpaid, the holder of said indebtedness having so requested; therefore, under and by virtue of the authority vested in me by said deed of trust and appointment as substitute trustee above referred to, I, Nesbit B. Hargraves, will on the

between the hours of 10:00 a.m. and 12:00 at the West door of the Court House on Walnut Street in the City of Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, expose for sale and sell to the best and highest bidder for cash, and in bar of the equities of redemption, dower and homestead, the following described real estate in the City of Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, to-wit:

Situated in the First Civil District of Hamilton County, Tennessee, in the City of Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Lot One (1) and the West Forty (40) feet of Lot Two (2), Block Thirty-four (34), Orchard Knob, McCallie Avenue Land and Improvement Company's First Addition to Chattanooga, as shown by plat now found of record in Plat Book One (1), page 41, in the Register's Office of said County. Said lot and part of lot make one lot, fronting eighty-nine and four-tenths (89.4) feet on the South line of Vine Street and extending Southwardly, of uniform width, a distance of one hundred and thirty-five (135) feet to an alley; and being the same property conveyed to N. L. Bachman and wife, Pearl D. Bachman, to Lillian D. Heath (widow) and Alma Dixon (single) by deed dated the 5th day of August, 1931.

Said sale will be made subject to all unpaid taxes.

Title to said property is believed to be good, but Trustee will sell and convey as Trustee only.

This the 13th day of May, 1937.

MORE ABOUT SCHOOL FUND

is born out by comparative figures of other cities which sets aside into a special school fund certain tax money which cannot be spent for anything else.

The following table sets out cities which have school levies, the amount spent per school child, and the cost per person based on population. It will be noted that Chattanooga is miserably low in the list.

Our system of financing the public schools is such that Chattanooga is near the lowest in every item when compared with other cities in the United States. In the year ending 1936 the city of Chattanooga disbursed $904,485 for the education of our children. Of this sum $795,757.12 came to the city from the county and state school money. Chattanooga supplemented that with $108,727.88 from the general fund, making a total of $904,485. Out of the $2.00 tax rate in 1935-36 the children of our city schools received $.0866, four and one-third per cent of the city money that was realized from the two ($2.00) dollar tax. Do you believe that you are giving your children a square deal when compared with what the country at large is doing? Our system is wrong. It if continues this way you will be to blame. Change it by voting in favor of the bill July 8. That will give us a separate and distinct school fund and a separate school tax such as other progressive cities have for their schools and their children. This is the first step in removing the schools from political bias. If you value the interests of your children vote in favor of the bill July 8.

CIO BEGINS CAMPAIGN IN AIRPLANE INDUSTRY

Washington.—The committee for industrial organization will begin immediately a campaign to unionize approximately 60,000 workers in the airplane industry, John L. Lewis announced here.

The campaign will be conducted by the United Automobile Workers' union. Lewis' announcement followed a lengthy conference with Homer Martin, United Automobile Workers president, and Richard Frankensteen, union organizational director.

Simultaneously, he announced that the union had arranged to continue and intensify its drive to organize employes of the Ford Motor company.

Green and Lewis Urge Congress To Pass Hour-and-Wage Bill

But Both Demand Some Changes In Proposed Measure

Two Leading Labor Heads Oppose Maximum Hours, Minimum Wages, Except Where Industries Are Not Unionized.

Washington, June 10.—The joint committee of house and senate has gone straight to headquarters in its latest hearings on the Black-Connery wage and hour bill. William Green, of the A. F. of L., appeared before the comittee on June 4; and John L. Lewis, of the CIO, appeared before the same committee on June 6. And any surprise which the senators and congressmen may have felt was due, not to the fact that Mr. Green and Mr. Lewis differed on a few points, but to the fact that they agreed almost perfectly on so many.

Mr. Green declared that the A. F. of L. is squarely behind the general purposes of the bill, and for the bill itself, with certain amendments. He divided the subject matter of the bill into five groups: Industrial spying, strikebreaking, child labor, maximum hours and minimum wages.

Green Scores Strikebreaking.

To the features of the bill dealing with the first four of these topics, Mr. Green gave practically unqualified support. He described spying and strikebreaking as "shocking to enlightened employers, employes and to the community at large."

On child labor, Mr. Green remarked that the A. F. of L. has taken the lead in advocating the abolition of this evil for a generation. He approved the bill's provisions on this matter, but considered it a "very partial remedy." The federation favored it, but—

"We wish to reaffirm the stand which we have taken as the leader in the fight for a constitutional amendment: We shall not pause in our efforts to push to a successful conclusion the fight for the final ratification by the states of the constitutional amendment submitted to them by congress in 1924."

Regulation Necessary Now.

So, too, Mr. Green gave his indorsement to the setting of maximum hours as necessary in the present situation and as a help to the reabsorption of unemployed workers in industry. But he adds:

"It (the bill) should provide for the withdrawal of governmental regulation as collective bargaining expands to cover effectively the regulated field and produces the results desired."

In other words, Mr. Green looks on the maximum hours part of the bill as a temporary affair. He suggests that the limitation begin at a 40-hour week, with power given the labor standards board to reduce them to 30 per week if possible.

General Wage Fixing Opposed.

His support of the minimum wage provisions is equally sincere; but still more strongly qualified by the hope that the necessity for such governmental action will be temporary. He warns that "general minimum wage standards by a government fiat for men in private industry would be strenuously opposed by the American Federation of Labor, as contrary to our conceptions of democracy."

Mr. Green presented several amendments to the bill as it stands. These are designed to strengthen the administrative provisions, promote collective bargaining, safeguard the wage and hour provisions from being accepted as a substitute for the demands of organized labor.

Lewis Pledges Support.

Mr. Lewis, speaking for the United Mine Workers and the CIO, pledged "general support to the principle of a minimum wage and maximum workweek as contained in the legislation which your committee now has under consideration." He gave the basic reasons for this support as follows:

First, the bill will increase mass purchasing power; second, it will make way for the employment of hundreds of thousands now idle; third, it will bring more leasure and economic well being, and "will mean at least a glimmer of sunlight to millions of submerged American workers who now live in economic darkness and despair;" and, fourth, it will really promote the organization of labor. Lewis used other words, but that is what he meant.

"My recommendation as to rates of pay is a minimum of 40 cents an hour. As to hours of work, the standard, in my opinion, should be 5 days of 7 hours each or 35 hours per week, with authority to the board to expand to a 40-hour maximum, or reduce to a 30-hour minimum."

Urges 30-hour Week.

"Personally," he said, "I am a firm believer in the practicability, under proper industrial policy and control, of a 30-hour work week." And he went on to tell of the United Mine Workers, who have reduced hours from 48 to 35 a week.

Mr. Lewis declared himself "firmly opposed to wage differentials based on geography." He departed from his prepared statement to commend Secretary Perkins' stand on this matter, and to say that he agreed with it completely. It is the standard of living, not the cost of living, which is lower in the south than in the north, Lewis declared.

Would Cut Out Section 5.

Green brought in amendments. Lewis recommended that Section 5 be cut out of the bill. He considered that this section sets a second minimum, which may be lower than the 40 cents an hour set in the first place. Also, he does not like to have the proposed labor standards board empowered to find any wage fair that the law did not specifically describe as such. He stuck to his guns under sharp questioning, which brought out that he feared the finding of the board that a certain wage was "fair and the living wage, not more than Green has repeatedly done in other connections, but more than Green did before the joint committee.

Minimum Standard Necessary.

Part of Lewis' remarks on this point are worth quoting:

"It is a rather sad commentary on American wage rates to say that no matter how low a minimum may be established, it will benefit great numbers of workers. Suppose that the minimum wage rate is put at 40 cents an hour and the maximum working week at 35 hours. This would mean, assuming steady employment, weekly earnings of $14, and yearly earnings of about $700 (on the basis of fifty weeks employment).

"A wage scale such as this would be of material benefit to hundreds of thousands, possibly even millions, of American workers. For that reason, I regard the adoption of such a minimum standard as provided in this reasonable" would be seized upon by industrial magnates to mislead public opinion and halt the progress of organized labor toward higher wages.

It would take a Philadelphia lawyer to find any important difference between Green and Lewis on this point, differently as the two men expressed themselves. Also, boh objeced tto any general wage fixing by the board. Also, both looked to organized labor for labor's main improvement. Lewis, however, stressed the importance of bill as a most desirable step forward. . . . But I think it would be a calamity if such a wage minimum should in any way be construed as a living wage."

MORE ABOUT MOLDER STRIKE

next Saturday or Monday by the national labor relations board to determine who shall be the bargaining agency. Ziegler says that "foundry boys are not participating in the election, and regardless of the outcome, the strike will go on."

This stand is taken, he said, due to the fact the department on strike, the molding room, employing some 170 people, is organized with 150 men in the union. The possibility that the machine shop might be CIO, which is itself in some doubt, will not affect the claim of the molders for AFL recognition.

There has been sufficient "police protection," but they have so far followed their duty and have not taken unto themselves strikebreaking capacities. There was some talk heard of an attempt to be made last Wednesday to move a casting from one shop to another, but one high police official was heard to remark that "if Henry Ziegler said not to move it, I believe that he meant what he said." The casting was not moved.

A molder official said of the Rev. Pate, CIO leader, that he was an unsuccessful minister who had never been employed in an industrial plant, never carried a card, and up until CIO opportunity offered him a good salary had no occasion to know a thing about working people in industry.

The picket line is divided into three shifts, about 30 being on the morning shift, 25 in the afternoon and eight at night, with the rest of the strikers subject to call at any time.

WPA Economist Warns of Danger Price Rise Next Fall

Pittsburgh. — Asserting that increase in buying power of poorly paid workers has been an important factor in bringing recovery, Leon Henderson, economist with the works progress administration, declared here that any marked increases in prices this fall will threaten progress toward prosperity.

A collapse would come, he told the National Association of Purchasing Agents in convention, if rising prices "destroy the ability of consumers to buy."

"To my mind," Henderson said, "the present recovery is due substantially to the repair which was made to the purchasing power of the lowest income groups."

KRIM-KO Chocolate Flavored Drink is beneficial to growing youngsters in several ways.
It is slightly higher than whole milk in caloric value. Furnishes quick energy for work or play.
KRIM-KO is rich in calcium and phosphorus. Helps build straight, strong bones and firm, sound teeth.
KRIM-KO is readily digested. Can be taken in mid-morning or mid-afternoon without impairing the appetite for regular meals.
KRIM-KO is "just right" in sweetness. Tends to satisfy sugar hunger and overcome excessive candy eating.
KRIM-KO's true chocolate flavor is liked by one and all. Children who fuss over drinking milk or refuse to drink their quart a day, gladly drink KRIM-KO. Thus they get an extra supply of those elements so helpful to growth and vigor.

Better Trained and Equipped Citizen Is of Most Importance

Independent School Committee Shows to Voters the Inadequate Facilities of Our City System Because of Lack of Funds.

System of School Financing Causes This Condition Rather Than Than Because of Incompetency of School Authorities—Plea Made to Provide Proper School Financing.

"IF YOU HAD THE CHOICE OF VOTING FOR BETTER TRAINED AND BETTER EQUIPPED CITIZENS OR MORE AND HIGHER INTEREST BEARING MORTGAGES, HOW WOULD YOU MARK YOUR BALLOT?" This is what citizens of Chattanooga must decide July 8 when they vote for a special school fund to protect our schools.

"Do experienced farmers expect good crops from depleted and worn-out soil? Do trained dairymen anticipate liberal supplies of milk and cream and butter from cows when pasturage and water supplies are inadequate? They do not. On the other hand, successful farmers and dairymen spend large sums of money for phosphates and other forms of plant food. This they consider to be good business because such treatments of and applications to the soil help to keep its productive qualities up to the standard." These questions were put this week by the independent school committee, L. J. Wilhoite, chairman. Continuing:

"Do parents always provide suitable environment for the making of good and useful citizens out of their children? Many do, others do not.

"We, in Chattanooga, have been passively or positively neglectful with reference to the care and maintenance of our public school system.

"For years we have not been able to employ enough janitors and purchase enough cleaning materials to keep the buildings and grounds clean and sightly. Maps are either lacking or they are entirely out of date. Globes, for a better understanding of the earth and its motions, are badly needed. Laboratories and shops are inadequately equipped for standard work in junior high school science and manual arts. The supply of crayon and erasers is painfully lacking. Your teachers receive $300 less per year than the average salary paid teachers in the United States at large. The salaries paid your teachers is the very lowest paid by any city of our class. The money invested in the children enrolled in the Chattanooga public schools is just about one-half the sum paid by the United States at large. Your teachers have been trying to produce good citizens under the most unfavorable conditions.

"This is no fault of the superintendent of schools or the commissioner of education. Neither is it the fault of the present or past mayors or any of the present or past commissioners. They have done the best possible with the money at their disposal. OUR SYSTEM OF FINANCING THE SCHOOLS IS WRONG. Other cities have made this discovery and have changed to the plan embodied in the bill to be ratified in the referendum July 8.

"Vote in favor of that bill July 8. That will be the first step in removing the schools from politics. It will also give your children a square deal."

"J. G." BACK AGAIN!

J. G. Schrock, veteran member of Local No. 226, Painters, dropped in today to say "hello." He will be visiting in Chattanooga during the next month.

Brother Schrock was an active member in labor circles here until the last few years when he went to Indiana to be with his son. He was vice-president of the Central Labor union at the time he moved away and holds a lifetime honorary membership in the Painters' union.

He says he gets The Labor World every week and looks forward to reading how the Chattanooga labor movement is getting along.

Electricians Elect

These Wire-Twisters Are 100% Union

Local 175, Electrical Workers, report that their organizing drive is bringing splendid results, and offer the following list of contractors that are union:

HODCARRIERS ELECT

Hodcarriers' Local 246 held their annual election at the meeting Tuesday night, June 15, and chose the following members to serve as their officers for the ensuing term:

James R. Moss, president; Raymond Floyd, vice-president; Edward Williams, financial secretary; Sidney Robinson, corresponding and recording secretary; Izzell Redmond, guard; Floyd Staley and Oscar Lingerfelt, members-at-large of the executive board.

Brothers Moss, Williams and Robinson were elected by acclamation. Brother Frank Anderson was nominated for several offices but declined to run. He is succeeded by Huff as business manager.

Taking time out to make a summary of the intensive organizing campaign in the restaurant industry which has been waged for the last two months or longer, the labor movement finds that to date thirty-five restaurants have signed agreements with Culinary Workers' union, most of which are entitled to use the union shop card.

Membership totals have reached the four hundred mark. The situation has been cleared up quite a bit with the peace terms made with the Home Plate, Ellis, Maypole and Harry's Place, and officials of the culinary workers are putting their house in order to get into the fold the employes of the remaining restaurants who have not been contacted so far.

The only picket walking today is in front of the Creighton cafeteria in the Chattanooga Bank building.

Evidence presented shows that Creighton girls receive from $2.50 to $4.00 per week, out of which laundry bills are deducted. Any other money received by these employes with which to pay their board bills, room rent, clothing, carfare and other living expense necessary is dependent upon the generosity of the patrons of the cafeteria, who leave tips under the plate for the girl serving them. Many patrons, while paying the menu price for their food, feel that they should pay a bit extra to the waitress, knowing that unless this is done she will not have much in the pay envelope otherwise.

In the meantime the cooks and waiters extended their thanks to the labor movement and friends of the movement for their fine support and co-operation in their efforts to make the restaurant industry a profitable means of making a living.

Miners Strike to Cut Off Coal Supply of Struck Steel Plants

Ten Thousand Men Quit Work in Nineteen "Captive Mines" at Call of John L. Lewis—Employes of Railroad Line Serving Bethlehem Company at Johnstown Walk Out.

Washington.—As president of the United Mine Workers of America, John L. Lewis has struck a heavy blow at the supply lines of steel companies which refuse to sign contracts with the SWOC. Three of these companies get a large part of their coal from "captive mines," that is, mines owned by the steel companies. Lewis has called a strike in these mines: and 10,000 men walked out in compliance with the call.

Bethlehem Steel has eleven coal mines in Pennsylvania and West Virginia, employing 6,331 men.

Republic Steel has six mines, all in Pennsylvania, employing 2,215 men.

Youngstown Sheet & Tube company has one mine in Pennsylvania and one in West Virginia, employing together 1,600 men.

In announcing his strike call, President Lewis said:

"Groups of commercial coal companies will be notified that any attempt to fill the orders of these steel companies will be resisted, and that members of the U. M. W. will not load their coal."

Steel Railroad Tied Up.

Lewis also said that the 350 employes on the Conemaugh and Black Lick railway, a line owned by the Bethlehem and serving the steel plant at Johnstown, Pa., 326 have answered the call of two railroad unions to go on strike. The Johnstown plant has been closed since the last week in May.

At Monroe, Mich., where Republic Steel has a subsidiary, the local government is entirely on the side of the corporation. Union organizers were run out of town, and several hundred "vigilantes," armed with guns and knives, were sworn in to "keep order." Not satisfied with this, the city fathers asked Gov. Murphy to declare martial law.

Big Protest Meeting Held.

Gov. Murphy did not do this; but he sent a force of the national guard to Monroe, and went there himself. The CIO called a meeting, attended by more than 10,000 persons, who gathered in a public park near Monroe. They listened to speakers who denounced Mayor Knaggs, of Monroe; Sheriff Barley, the city council and the vigilantes as "tools of the Republic Steel corporation;" and there was no disorder. The mayor has said that he will not object o peaceful picketing.

The national labor relations board has issued a complaint against the Inland Steel company, charging it with refusal to bargain collectively with its employes, and with maintaining a company union. Hearings begin at Chicago, June 21.

Sheriff Ordered to Search Republic Plant for Arms

Youngstown, O.—Common Pleas Judge George H. Gessner on June 15 issued a warrant instructing the sheriff of Mahoning county to search the Republic Steel corporation plant for arms and ammunition.

The warrant was issued upon the demand of CIO attorneys.

---

Cleveland.—Federal Judge Samuel H. West has ordered that a stockholder's suit which had been brought in common pleas court to restrain Republic Steel corporation from further expenditures for "arms and ammunition" be removed to federal court. Judge West held the case came under federal jurisdiction.

Curtis Sims Named Central Body Head Last Monday Night

Business Agent of Bakers Runs Tight Race With A. T. Johnson.

Is Youngest President Ever Elected as President of Central Body—Has Fine Record of Achievement in Own Local.

Curtis R. Sims, business agent for Bakery and Confectionery Workers' Local 25, is now President Sims. Last Monday night saw this honor conferred upon him when an election was held to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of A. C. Kamin as president.

Sims is the youngest man to be given the high honor and responsibility of heading the local labor movement. Although young in years, he has already proven his ability by the wise leadership he has demonstrated in his own local, numbering now around 400 members, working in closed shops with signed agreements.

His road has not been an easy one. He and his fellow bakers have had to struggle every inch of the way to "stay alive" during three bitter battles which seemed necessary to convince the baking industry that the union would live. Through it all he showed a cool head and stubbornness which overcame the long odds.

Even his election was close, only four votes separating him from A. T. Johnson, business agent for the Electricians. Johnson himself has behind him a fine record of leadership and is very influential in the labor movement, carrying the respect of everyone.

Central Body would not have suffered in that election, no matter who won.

Both candidates are clearly American Federation of Labor men, and fro mtalks made last Monday, Central Body is once more together.

Chicago Churches Assail Police For Shooting of Steel Strikers

Thorough Investigation of Fatal Memorial Day Clash Demanded as Eighth Victim of Cops Dies—Thirty-nine Sit-Downers Sentenced on Contempt of Court Charges

Chicago, June 17.—Three pieces of strike news occurring in this city are more than ordinary interest.

Otis Jones, 43 years old, shot in the melee on Memorial day, has died. He was the eighth victim of the shooting by the police of a peaceable march of Republic Steel corporation strikers who carried no arms but American flags.

The Chicago Federation of Churches has adopted a resolution, denying that there was "any provocation for the use of extreme violence and gunfire by the police" on this occasion; and demanding a "thorough investigation by city, state and federal authorities, to the end that those responsible for illegal acts and unnecessary violence may be prosecuted or disciplined as the evidence may require."

Church Eyewitnesses to Clash.

Dr. A. W. Palmer, president of the federation, said, in releasing this resolution:

"Three members of the commission on church and industry and five students from Chicago Theological seminary were eyewitnesses, and our resolution is based on their testimony."

Judge Theodore Forby, of the Lake county circuit court, has sentenced 39 men to pay fines and serve terms in jail for "contempt of court" in the sitdown strike in the Fansteel Metallurgical corporation plant last February. Meyer Adelman, organizer for the steel workers' organizing committee, was sentenced to pay $1,000 fine and serve eight months in jail. Others received lesser sentences and fines.

Judge Denounces Strikers.

Judge Forby's remarks when passing these sentences were extremely bitter. He denounced sitdown strikes, the CIO, "the perverted minds of so-called organizers, sent by subversive designers to foment trouble." He declared that John Bertha, investigator for the La Follette civil liberties committee, was in contempt of court, but did not impose any sentence upon him.

Sentences were not passed on thirty-five strikers who have since gone back to work in the plant. Judge Forby said he would decide on their punishment later.

All told, 92 men have been put on trial for contempt of court, though the total working force of Fansteel is only 380.

Paul Glaser, attorney for the defense, moved to dismiss the charges, holding that the court had no jurisdiction since the Fansteel corporation had violated every provision of the national labor relations act. The motion was denied, but an appeal will be taken.

Richberg's Appointment To Supreme Court Asked

Milwaukee, Wis.—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen in convention here approved a resolution recommending the appointment of Donald R. Richberg, former NRA chief, to the U. S. supreme court.

The resolution described Richberg as "a man who has been associated with the problems of the workers and the masses generally, and commands the respect of all classes for his fairness, his fine character, and his ingenuous knowledge of the law."

Sit-Down Strike Settled.

Easton, Pa.—Two hundred sitdown strikers vacated the plant of the Dixie-Vortex company, paper cup manufacturers, after officials agreed to drop injunction proceedings and consented to an election among the 800 workers to determine representation.

Gotham Mayor Pledges Work For 100 Per Cent Union City

New York City.—Speaking to a meeting of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' union which made him an honorary member, Mayor La Guardia declared that he will do all in his power to make New York a "100 per cent union city," and scored runaway employers who took their plants elsewhere to get away from high labor standards.

"If I ever do take a job in a pressroom," he said, "it will be in a closed shop."

The mayor came out strongly for the Roosevelt administration and for the wage and hour bill.

"The United States recognizes the right of people to organize and bargain collectively," he said. "That means competent and honest leadership. The big thing now is for labor to avail itself of its opportunities to obtain a fair share of the wealth of this country."

PICKLE PLANT STRIKE ENDS AS A. F. L. WINS ELECTION

Pittsburgh.—A two-weeks' strike at the H. J. Heinz company was ended as 2,000 employes returned to work following a labor board election in which the Canning and Pickle Workers' union, an A. F. of L. affiliate, won sole collective bargaining rights.

The vote was announced by Ernest C. Dunbar, acting regional NLRB director.

If President Roosevelt has his way and the names of prominent tax evaders are made public, one caution must be given. It will take great care to keep the public from mistaking that list for a roster of patrons of the Liberty league, or of big business men who "came out for Landon."

HALIFAX LABOR COUNCIL LEADS IN UNION DRIVE

A. F. of L. Organization Takes Play Away from CIO in Nova Scotia Campaign to Unionize Workers.

Halifax, N. S.—The Halifax District Trades and Labor council has taken the organization play away from the CIO in Nova Scotia. The CIO is functioning in organizing unions through the United Mine Workers for District 26, which embraces all of the maritime provinces.

The trades and labor council organization committee has recently completed the organization of employes of Moirs, Ltd., bakers and confectioners, one of the largest industrial firms in the maritime provinces and distributing all over Canada and other British possessions in America, also into the United States on a lesser scale. The Moir concern operates plants at Halifax and Bedford. All but one employe of the Bedford plant signed the formal application for the charter. The Trades and Labor council of Halifax is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor and the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

At Sheet Harbor and Hantsport, N. S., the council is completing the organization of locals in the international union of sulphite and sulphate workers. A pulp mill is located at each of these towns. The organization of employes of the Nova Scotia highways' department garages and repair shops are now being pushed. Plans are under way for the organization of workers in the apple orchards, warehouses, store houses and plants of the Annapolis Valley, N. S. This is the largest apple growing territory of Canada.

LOWE'S VISIT "HOME"

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lowe, who moved to Milwaukee about three years ago, are spending their three weeks' vacation in Chattanooga.

They report that they enjoy living and working in Milwaukee. They work in a union plant and conditions are very good. Wisconsin has passed its own little NRA laws with minimum wages and maximum hours of work.

IN THE NEWS
ROBERT H. JACKSON

Robert H. Jackson, assistant attorney-general, has rung the bell three times since coming to Washington. His presentation of the tax plan of 1935, his testimony before the senate judiciary committee on the supreme court, and his testimony before the joint labor committee of house and senate on the wage and hour bill, were alike in presenting the liberal, progressive point of view so well that opponents have scarcely even tried to answer Jackson, and have tried hard to ignore him.

He was born in Pennsylvania, has lived and practiced law in Jamestown, New York. His first jury trial was when he was called to defend some strikers accused of riot—and he won it. He was attorney for a telephone company. Asked by an interviewer how he overcome the virus of that association and remained a liberal, he laughed and said:

"It was an independent company, and the man in control of it, John H. Wright, waged the fight that made the A. T. & T. open its long distance lines to independent companies. Besides, Jamestown is a small enough place that a man can be an individual if he wants to be."

Robert H. Jackson couldn't help that wanting. He was a democrat when the community was 75 per cent republican; but then, his father was a democrat in Pennsylvania.

He is 45 years old, and looks 35. He is medium size, with a springy walk; dark hair, dark eyes, high forehead, and an expressive, good natured, pugnacious face.

The International Labor Office at Geneva says that the world is ready for a 40-hour week. Why not try it out in arms factories?

All the deaths and all but a few of the injuries in the steel strike to date have been dealers and injuries of strikers and their friends, not of strikebreakers. Speaking about law and order—.

Burris is a nonresident of the State of Tennessee, so that the ordinary process of law cannot be served upon him, it is ordered that publication be made for four successive weeks in The Labor World, a newspaper published in Hamilton County, notifying said nonresident to appear at the next July Rules of said Court, to be held at the Court House in Chattanooga on the First Monday in July next, the same being a rule day of said Court, and make defense to said bill or the same will be taken for confessed, and the cause set for hearing ex parte as to him.

This 3rd day of June, 1937.

ZELMA F. SHERRILL, Clerk.
By Tom J. Rogers, D. C.

J. D. Pope, Attorney. 6-25

TRUSTEE'S SALE

Whereas, on the 9th day of June, 1937, Jennie M. Tucker (single), of Hamilton County, Tennessee, executed a deed of trust conveying the property hereinafter described and advertised for sale, to F. L. Underwood, Trustee, which said deed of trust was filed for registration June 9, 1937, and recorded in Book V, Vol. 21, page 478, et seq., in the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee; and,

Whereas, said deed of trust was executed for the purpose of securing the payment of a certain indebtedness, fully described in the said deed of trust, to which reference is made for a complete description; and default has been made in the payment of the said indebtedness secured by said deed of trust and interest thereon, and the said Jennie M. Tucker has failed to perform covenants in the note evidencing the indebtedness, and has failed to perform covenants in said deed of trust, and has remained in default for more than thirty days, and the holder of said indebtedness has made demand upon the undersigned trustee to sell the property conveyed by said deed of trust, as therein provided, to satisfy the payment of said indebtedness and interest, as said holder of said indebtedness has a right to do under the terms of said deed of trust:

Now, therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in the undersigned Trustee, F. L. Underwood, of Chattanooga, Tennessee, as Trustee, will, on

sell, within the legal hours of sale, at the west door of the Court House in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at public outcry, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, in bar of all equities of redemption, dower and homestead, the following described real estate in the Third Civil District of Hamilton County, Tennessee, to-wit:

Lot 20, Ogden, Bushnell, Giles and Hulse's Re-Subdivision of Block 4, Normal Park Addition, as shown by plat of record in Plat Book 6, page 41, in the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee. Said lot fronts 50 feet on the west line of Crowdson Street and runs back Westwardly, of uniform width, to the east line of West Crowdson Street, on which it has a frontage of 53.24 feet, its north line being 111.33 feet and its south line 130 feet in length.

Said deed of trust recites that title to the said property is clear, free and unencumbered, and title thereto is believed to be good, but the sale will be made as Trustee only, and subject to any unpaid taxes.

This May 26, 1937.

F. L. UNDERWOOD, Trustee.

CLOSED SHOP FOR GOTHAM VISION OF LA GUARDIA

There Is No Substitute for Good Labor Union, Declares Progressive Executive.

SCORES RUNAWAY BOSSES

Favors Hour-Wage Legislation, But Calls for Simpler Language in Laws.

New York, June 17.—A "100 per cent union city" is a target at which Mayor Fiorella H. LaGuardia has set his sights.

He declared at a meeting of the International Printing Pressmen this week that he will do everything in his power to make the closed shop universal in the Greater City. This pledge was made in a speech accepting an honorary membership in the pressmen's union.

The mayor spoke with scorn of employers who "leave the city to escape payment of a living wage," declaring he intends to index the "runaways" and hold them up as unworthy of support by consumers.

Glad to Hurry Back.

"The day is not far distant," the mayor said, "when manufacturers will fight each other for the privilege of putting the 'made-in-New-York' label on their goods."

LaGuardia came out flatfooted for President Roosevelt's hour and wage legislation, but urged that it be simplified, "so that the ordinary man could understand what it means."

Laws written by lawyers sound like a doctor's prescription, he said, and added:

"The international lawyers haven't contributed a solitary thing toward solving the problems of this country. You cannot feed a hungry man on 'judicial decisions.'"

No Substitute for Union.

But no law can take the place of a good labor union, LaGuardia emphasized. He declared that organizations of workers are not only instruments for the protection of labor, but make for general progress, contributing greatly to the proper functioning of democracy.

LaGuardia stressed the necessity for larger labor representation in congress, to improve and widen social legislation.

Paying a tribute to President Roosevelt for an enlightened program "under which labor is coming into its own," LaGuardia concluded:

"Now the United States recognizes the right of the people to organize and bargain collectively. That means competent and honest leadership.

"The big thing now is for labor to avail itself of its opportunities to obtain a fair, equitable share of the wealth of the country. We are making progress."

Seattle Mayor Boosts Union Goods In Proclaiming Union Label Week

Seattle, Wash.—Sale of union label goods and services was given a big boost by an intensive label campaign waged from June 4 to 12, which was designated Union Label Week in a proclamation of Mayor John F. Dore, a staunch supporter of union labor. In his proclamation, Mayor Dore said:

"If the members of organized labor and their families would buy only merchandise bearing the union label, the objectives of organized labor would soon be obtained.

"I never did understand how the families of union workers who are being paid union wages, could consider it consistent to trade in stores that are paying low wages, working their employes long hours and maintaining unsatisfactory working conditions. If every dollar of union wages boycotted such nonunion shops, the fight for union labor would soon be won.

"The dollar of the union worker is the most effective weapon that he has. Too often he has failed o recognize he fact and consequently has failed to efficiently use this great weapon."

Appreciation for Mayor Dore's support was voiced in a telegram sent to him by I. M. Ornburn, secretary-treasurer of the Union Label Trades Department, American Federation of Labor. "Organized labor of Seattle is to be congratulated upon having a mayor with such a foresighted and progressive spirit," Secretary Ornburn said, adding that the A. F. of L. appreciated Dore's co-operation with Seattle labor and the Seattle Union Card and Label league.

Utility Workers End Unauthorized Strike

Flint, Mich. — An unauthorized strike of the workers for the Consumers' Power company has been settled after a 15-hour suspension of electric service to some 400,000 people in Bay City, Saginaw, Flint and nearly 200 small communities. The strikers are members of the United Automobile Workers, which had just negotiated a new contract with the company when the strike came.

Homer Martin, president of the U. A. W., denounced the strike as "instigated by stool pigeons, for the purpose of creating unfavorable public opinion against the union." Every responsible union official opposed the strike; and Gov. Murphy, a staunch friend of organized labor, intimated plainly that if service were not resumed before night, he would call out the troops.

The new contract increases pay 5 cents an hour, establishes the 40-hour week, gives one week's vacation and two weeks' sick leave yearly with pay.

MINERS QUIT FEDERATION

Springfield, Ill. — Withdrawal of the Illinois United Mine Workers of America, John L. Lewis' first union, from the state federation of labor was announced here by Ray Edmundson, president of the Illinois UHWA. Edmundson planned to set up a statewide CIO federation to parallel the state A. F. of L.

Auto Workers to Broadcast Daily Program from Detroit

DETROIT.—Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers of America, announced here that the union has signed a one-year contract with Radio Station WJBK, Detroit, which will be known as the "Voice of Labor." The contract calls for one 15-minute broadcast, 7 to 7:15 p.m. each week day, and a 30-minute broadcast, 9:30 to 10 a.m. each Sunday.

These regular programs by the UAWA will include addresses on unionism, labor news events, talks on workers' education, and labor musical programs.

The broadcasts will be one of the principal features of the Ford organization campaign.

Recognition of Labor Right To Bargain United Urged

MONTREAL.—The Board of Publications, all congregations and organizations of the United Church of Canada, were urged to recognize the ethical right of workers to bargain collectively through representatives of their choice, by the Montreal and Ottawa conference in session here.

Union Label Paragraphs That Tell in Few Words How Purchasing Power Can be Used to Boost Labor Movement and Restore National Prosperity.

Orderly economics: More union wages—greater purchasing power—more orders—greater business prosperity.

A better distribution of wealth can be obtained through the buying of union label goods.

A new and scientific system of marketing would solve many of our problems. When it comes, each article and each service will bear the union label.

The passing generation should buy union-made goods to protect future generations and insure social security.

The best way to underwrite prevailing union wages is to patronize only those firms that display the union label, shop card and butoton.

Suppressed Film Reveals Chicago Cops As Brutal Aggressors In Strike Clash

Police Shown Firing Without Warning on Marching Republic Steel Workers, Charging Fleeing Men and Women, Clubbing Many in Outburst of Savagery—Railroad Men and CIO Form United Front in Bethlehem Plant Walkout.

Washington, June 24.—Two matters of tremendous importance feature the steel strike news: the senate civil liberties committee has got hold of a film of the Memorial day massacre in South Chicago near the Republic steel plant; and two railroad brotherhoods and the CIO have formed a triple alliance to deal with the Bethlehem Steel corporation at Johnstown, Pa.

The film was taken on the ground by the Paramount company, was kept in one of their weekly news reel on the ground that it would "incite further violence," was discovered by reporters for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, and was shown privately to Senators La Follette and Thomas, of the senate civil liberties committee, and the news men who discovered its existence.

The film shows the police firing suddenly and without warning into the marchers carrying American flags. It shows the police charging the unarmed crowd, already in flight, and clubbing mercilessly those whom they could overtake. It shows a few marchers and spectators caught between two lines of police and clubbed, some of them clubbed to death. It shows a girl, not more than 5 feet tall, clubbed from behind by a husky policeman, and shows her again being thrust into a patrol wagon with the blood streaming down her shoulders.

Man Barbarously Beaten.

One incident must be told in the words of the reporter who saw the film:

"A husky, middle-aged, bare-headed man has found himself caught far behind the rear ranks of the fleeing marchers. Between him and the others the policemen are thick as flies; but he elects to run the gauntlet. He runs like a deer, leaping a ditch, dodging as he goes. Policemen take hasty swings as he passes them. Some get him on the back, some on the back of the head; but he keeps his feet and keeps going.

"The suspense is almost intolerable to those who watch. It begins to look as if he would get through. But no! The police in front have turned around now and are waiting for him. He has put his hands up, and is holding them high above his head as he runs. It is no use. He is cornered. He turns, still holding high his hands. The blue-coats close in and the night sticks fly—above his head, from the sides, from the rear. He slumps to the ground in a twisting fall, as the clubs continue to rain on him.

"CIO officers report that when one of the victims was delivered at an undertaking establishment, it was found that his brains literally had been beaten out, his skull crushed by clubs."

Again and again, the film shows three or four policemen beating a single unarmed man, even after he had fallen.

D. B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and one of the elder statesmen of the railroad labor world, B. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and John L. Lewis, for the CIO, have reached an agreement that neither the striking steel workers at the Bethlehem plant nor the miners nor the railroad men will sign a contract or call off their strike unless the unions of all three groups are recognized in signed agreements.

Negotiate in Vain.

The railroad brotherhoods have been negotiating in vain since 1934 with Bethlehem, which, guided by Eugene G. Grace of $1,630,000 bonus fame, is quite as tricky as its master. They claimed that the rail unions did not have a majority of the workers. An election was held by the national mediation board, and 85 per cent of the workers voted for the brotherhoods as their representatives. The Bethlehem still refused to sign.

Aside from the two important events just recited, excitement has centered in Johnstown, Pa., site of the Bethlehem's Cambria plant employing 15,000 men; where Mayor Dan Shields swore in and armed "deputies" and blathered over the wires about the "murderous, kidnaping crew" of steel workers in the city. Outside investigators found the city quiet and peaceful.

The only recent murder was committed by a company guard, who stabbed two strikers, one of them fatally.

Gov. Earle sent state troopers to the site, who took charge of the picket line area.

Publishers Rave Against Guilds In Chicago Meet

"Windy City" Appropriate Place for Bosses' Union. Convention.

"Press Must Be Free," Stahlman Snorts as He Visions Wage Demands from Employes.

The Newspaper Publishers' union, with delegates from regional, state and national organizations, met this week in Chicago's Palmer House with nearly 600 present from the eleven "unions" represented.

Rebuilding a straw man out of the growth of the American Newspaper Guild as a threat to the freedom of the press—a ghost that was swiftly laid by the United States supreme court in the now famous Watson case—the publishers declared outright against the guild's demand for a guild or closed shop in news rooms.

Union-hating James Stahlman, publisher of the Nashville Banner and president of the American Newspaper Publishers' association, sounded his anti-guild trumpet vigorously to an enthusiastic audience.

Evidently hitting at the mechanical unions of the newspapers, Stahlman was quoted as saying: "But upon what ground or reason or propriety should workers in other departments of a newspaper than news and editorial be put in a position to bargain for the news and editorial, and even by weight of numbers, to dictate and perhaps revolutionize its policies and journalistic course?

"Shall journalism remain a profession or become a trade?" he asked.

"The press," Stahlman told the publishers, "cannot live as a vital force in American institutions unless it is free, and it cannot be free if it betrays its duty to the people by surrendering its independence to any agency, within or without its own structure, however subtle its approach or specious its pleas."

He also said the opposition to the guild was one that "transcends any business policy involving dollars and cents," and the publishers were met to determine "whether as trustees of the rights of a free people, we shall defend the right of the American citizenship to a free press, or submit to demands for a closed news and editorial shop."

Every Unionist Should Go to Polls Thursday, July 8, and Support School Fund

Opponents of Decent Salaries for Teachers Raising Frantic Efforts to Defeat Measure Which Means So Much for Our Schools—Chattanooga Already Lagging Behind Most Cities in Interest of Public Education.

On Thursday, July 8, every union man and woman is expected to go to their respective polling places and cast a vote in favor of the special school fund which will provide means for paying our city teachers a living wage. For the past three weeks the Independent School Committee, composed of citizens of all walks of life, have been working hard to acquaint the public of the necessity of putting this measure over.

If the measure passes, school teachers of Chattanooga, who receive an average annual salary of $900, will have the threat of poverty which has been hanging over them lifted.

School teachers do not and cannot strike for living wages. The only way which they can secure better conditions for themselves is through legislation. The only way they can secure legislation is through the support given them by organized labor.

Organized labor intends to "strike" for the teachers next Thursday by going to the polls with their friends to defeat the few grasping real estate brokers who care nothing for public education.

Fowler Stores See Pickets Again Due To Mascot Strike

Many years ago the Mascot Stove company, a union plant at that time, locked its union employes out, and were successful in continuing operations with non-union crews. The Fowler furniture interests were also connected with the Mascot company, it is said, and the Mascot product was actively featured in the furniture stores of the Fowler company. As a result the company was declared "unfair" by Central Body.

Over a week ago the employes of the Mascot company organized and struck the plant in an effort to secure better conditions. As an aftermath of the new strike, pickets have been placed by the A. F. of L. Molders' union before Fowler Furniture company on Broad street, and the Banner and Hub furniture stores. These last two stores are said to be owned by Fowler.

T. J. ("BRUSH") SMITH GIVEN SURPRISE TESTIMONIAL DINNER BY GRATEFUL UNION FRIENDS

Patten Hotel Scene of Occasion Which Few Living Men Enjoy as Beloved Miner Is Honored.

Visitors From All Points in Tennessee and as Far Away as Indiana Journey Here for Privilege of Telling Him of Respect in Which He Is Held—Smith Enunciates Ideals of Unionism.

One of the most inspiring and touching occasions in the history of the Tennessee labor movement occurred last Thursday evening at the Patten hotel in Chattanooga when some twenty-five "old-timers" gave a testimonial dinner to T. J. (Brush) Smith.

The birth of the idea came because of circumstances which caused "Brush" to be absent from the Tennessee Federation of Labor convention last May in Jackson. This was the first convention which the beloved unionist had missed since the forming of the federation. Close friends of the miner leader got together and decided to pull a surprise on the Graysville coal digger. Twenty-five of these friends, from all points of the state, unknown to Brother Smith, caused him to be in Chattanooga on a trumped up reason, and there never was a more surprised man when he greeted his friends in the lobby of the Patten as they entered the hotel.

Clarence Swick, formerly secretary and president of the federation in "the good old days," now secretary of the Painters' and Decorators' International union, came all the way from Lafayette, Ind., and W. C. Birthright, secretary of the federation for seventeen years, now secretary-president of the Journeyman Barbers' International union, came from Indianapolis, Ind.

John T. O'Connor, A. C. Clapp and D. H. Underwood, of Knoxville; Hollis Read from Memphis, and A. J. Simon, Dave Hanly and J. O. Nevil came from Nashville.

The Chattanooga testimonials were represented by R. M. Cooke, Walter Gardner, T. R. Cuthbert, George Perry, A. C. Hester, Matt Robinson, Matt Gerlach, W. E. Eckenrod, George Forbes, Sam Godfrey, Phil Lynch, Tom Jones, Tom Hall and Paul Aymon.

All the people present were close personal friends of "Brush," who had fought side by side with him from ten to thirty-eight years.

In the short talks made, addressed to Mr. Smith, the unionists expressed their personal love for the man, told him of his few faults, and dwelled at length of his sterling qualities.

John T. O'Connor, himself an old-time warhorse in labor ranks, struck the keynote of the affair when he told "Brush" that regardless of misunderstandings that are now splitting the labor movement, regardless on which side of the fence friends may be, if they are true friends, and true unionists, they will never let anything come between them, but will lend every effort to effect peace and unity.

"Mediation will beat brute strength every time," he said. "Labor must iron out its disputes around the mediation and conference boards the same as we have been urging the employers to do for decades."

"Bill" Birthright told of some of the memories he held of Brush when he (Birthright) was yet a youth. "Pat" Swick harkened back to the days when the Tennessee labor movement had to fight every inch of the way to existence.

R. M. "Bob" Cooke, now commissioner in the city of Chattanooga, acted as toastmaster in his usual smooth and pleasing manner.

Through it all T. J. Smith sat with quiet, and it seemed at times, tearful mien. When he finally arose to respond to the bouquets heaped on him, he told in simple language his principles of unionism, which if practiced by the rest of the labor movement, would prevent any disturbance in labor's ranks. He expressed his deep appreciation of the honor bestowed upon him, and said that he doubted if many people were so highly complimented while living.

5 RESTAURANTS ADDED TO LIST DURING THE WEEK

Negotiations Under Way With Department Stores and Soda Fountains.

Creighton's and S. & W. Still Being Picketed and Many of Their Customers Go Elsewhere.

Culinary Workers' Local 574 reported this week that agreements have been reached with five additional restaurants, cafes and grills. They are: Green Lantern No. 1 (No. 2 already signed up), Spanish Gardens, Dennis Place, Jack's Place in East Chattanooga and Quick Lunch Room.

It is also reported that apparently favorable negotiations are under way with three large soda fountain-drug stores and a department store.

Creighton's $2.50 to $4.00 per week restaurant, as well as the S & W is being picketed with quite a bit of effect, noticeable by the smaller crowds on Thursday evenings particularly.

Upholster Unions Might Meet Here To Push Big Drive

Southern Organizer to Be Appointed to Direct Organization Campaign.

In reply to a request made by Secretary Mabee to select Chattanooga as the site for a meeting of the southern council of Furniture Workers of the South, International President Sal B. Hoffman, of the Upholsterers, Carpet and Linoleum Mechanics, said in a letter that he would endeavor to grant the request.

Mr. Hoffman says: "My plans for the present are for the formation of a southern furniture workers' organization committee to lead the drive to organize all furniture workers in the southern states into our international union. We will require a capable southern organizer as the director for this committee, and I am open to suggestions from you and others as to who is available and qualified."

FEDERAL BAKE SHOP PICKETED BY BAKERS

The Federal Bake Shop, 707 Market street, is being picketed by Bakery Local No. 25, because they refuse to recognize the union. Business Agent Sims reports that all efforts to have conferences with the manager of the chain of bakeries have met with failure. Letters have been addressed to the company which have remained unanswered.

As a result the Federal Bake Shop has been declared "unfair" to Bakery and Confectionery Workers' Local 25.

IN THE NEWS

EDWARD F. McGRADY

Edward F. McGrady, chief, ace, champion, nonpareil, and what have you of labor conciliators, was born in Jersey City Jan. 29, 1872; and in spite of his strenuous life, doesn't really look it. He went to the public and high schools of that city, and took some further schooling in Boston. He began active life as a newspaper pressman; joined the Printing and Pressmen's union—of course, and rose to be president of the Boston Central Labor union.

He was a member of the Common Council of Boston, and of the house of representatives of the Massachusetts legislature—which is called the "general court" in that state. In the dark days of Hoover, he was easily the most forceful and eloquent labor man in Washington.

He has been the government's chief trouble shooter in labor matters ever since Roosevelt was inaugurated. He gets agreements where all others fail; and more agreements where probably anyone else would fail. How he does it, neither he nor anyone else can tell—but he does it.

Personally, he is tall, lean, straight, bony and dark; with black hair, black eyebrows that can lower in a night-black scowl, dark eyes. He looks as if one of his ancestors might have been a Spanish pirate who settled in Cork to marry an Irish girl. He looks both sour and dour—and isn't. Those who have known him intimately say that Ed McGrady has given away a larger percentage of his income in the last ten years than any other man in Washington.

What Next!

The Delaware & Hudson railroad is pioneering in the use of "continuous weld" track, having put down more than 80,000 feet of welded rail, with the longest single piece 6,950 feet, near Schenectady, N. Y. The welded track is used in place of the standard 39-foot rails and is expected to save costs of track maintenance and increase safety and riding comfort for high-speed modern trains.

Heinz Company Employes Vote for A. F. of L. Union

Pittsburgh Plant Favors Canning and Pickle Workers Unit by Good Majority.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—The Canning and Pickle Workers union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, was chosen to represent exclusively in collective bargaining more than 2,000 workers in the main plant of the H. J. Heinz company here. The election was held under the supervision of Ernest C. Dunbar, acting regional director of the national labor relations board to end a strike called by the union during which the company recognized the so-called Heinz Employes association as bargaining agent for all the workers. The A. F. of L. group charges that the company exercised coercion in connection with the employes association and the election held by the labor board was agreed upon to settle the matter. The vote was 1,079 for the A. F. of L. union and 802 for the employes association.

Denver Bakers Union Serves Meals to Unemployed Members

Denver, Colo.—A further example of how organized labor tries to "take care of its own" may be found here, where Bakers' Union No. 26 serves meals for unemployed members, mostly victims of the machine age.

From 15 to 35 unemployed members have been fed regularly since 1934, in a room adjoining the union headquarters in Grace Community church. The annual cost has run around $900, a part of which is raised by an annual bakers' dance.

Paper Box Makers Win Wage Boost in Strike Settlement

Jersey City, N. J.—The strike of members of Paper Box Makers Union No. 20605 here was settled by an agreement calling for a wage increase of 4 cents an hour for men and 3 cents an hour for women. Charles J. Jennings, A. F. of L. organizer, assisted in negotiating the settlement terms.

Dubuque Brewery Workers Gain Pay Boost Agreement

Dubuque, Ia.—The Star Brewery here has renewed a contract with the Brewery Workers' union, by which members gained an increase in wages of $2 a week. An effort is under way to stabilize wages and working conditions in the industry in the upper Mississippi valley, on the basis of the Dubuque contract, which would cover locals in Clinton, Potosi, Rock Island and possibly other towns.

San Diego Butchers Sign Up A. & P. Tea Company Shops

San Diego, Cal.—The butchers' union here has signed every meat market in every shop of the A. & P. Tea company in San Diego county; also all meatcutters in the retail and packing departments of the Central Meat company, one of the largest concerns here, along with numerous other smaller shops.

Pay Raise Pact Negotiated By Miami Printers' Union

Miami, Fla.—Nearly 300 printers employed by the three daily newspapers in Miami, have secured wage increases of approximately $3.15 for the 35-hour work week. The new contract brings the weekly wage of members of the Typographical union to $42.70 for day work and $45.15 for night work.

American Federation of Labor Unions Win Reynolds Metals Company Pact

Closed Shop, Wage Increases, 40-Hour Week and Seniority Rules Included in Federated Pact Negotiated by Aluminum and Tin-foil Workers', Machinists', Firemen and Oilers', Printers' and Pressmen's Organizations.

New York, N. Y.—A closed shop agreement affecting five plants of the Reynolds Metals company, located at Louisville, Ky.; Richmond, Va.; Harrison, N. J., and Glendale, Long Island, N. Y., was signed here recently by officials of the company and representatives of unions of the American Federation of Labor.

The agreement covers four federal labor unions of Aluminum and Tin Foil Workers; four local lodges of the International Association of Machinists; four local unions of the International Brotherhood of Firemen and Oilers; two local unions of the International Typographical union and two local unions of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' Union of North America.

The signing of the agreement ended negotiations which have been carried on for several weeks past and the new agreement replaces one signed on April 9th, at which time a short agreement was negotiated which guaranteed the closed shop and provided for the negotiating of the final agreement just signed.

Under the terms of the agreement the international unions affected have secured union wage scales in the cities of Louisville, Ky.; Richmond, Va.; Newark, N. J., and New York City, as well as all other standards established under closed shop agreements by these international unions.

Wage Increases Listed.

Wage increases which reached as high as $21 per week in the case of some printing pressmen and as high as 40 cents per hour in the case of some skilled mechanics were secured in order to bring the skilled workers the union wage scales.

The production workers covered by the federal labor unions received from 5 cents to 12½ cents per hour increases in wages effective June 1, which was in addition to a 10 per cent increase received by these employes on April 16. These production workers have also secured a closed shop agreement with the check-off of union dues as well as the establishment of minimum wage scales for male and female labor, at the various plants.

Hours and Seniority Rights.

The agreement, combining general working rules for all of the sixteen local unions affected, along with the provisions of the special rules of the international unions, represents the last word in a working agreement between unions and employers in the aluminum industry.

A straight seniority rule is included in the agreement which bases seniority entirely upon length of service with the company. Employes in the production departments are to be advanced to higher paid positions through this seniority rule and in the reduction and restoration of working forces seniority by service is to determine the employes affected.

An 8-hour day and 40-hour week is established by the agreement, with overtime paid at the rate of from time and a half to triple time, according to the trade rules of the union affected. The agreement also contains practically every provision usually found in closed shop agreements except an arbitration provision and an anti-strike clause which is not included in this agreement, due to the desire of the company not to adopt the arbitration provision at this time.

The American Federation of Labor was represented during the conferences by David Williams, president of the International Council of Aluminum Workers' union, and William Collins, New York City representative. Both of these representatives signed the agreement for the American Federation of Labor.

Teachers Union Ban Killed By St. Louis School Board

St. Louis, Mo.—Proponents of the "new freedom" might well stand up and shout over an action by the board of education here.

By a vote of 11 to 1, the board rescinded a 20-year-old rule which forbids school teachers from joining a union, under duress of dismissal.

The Teachers Union of St. Louis and St. Louis County led a long and hard fight for freedom to organize and the national labor relations act helped gain the final victory. Already 109 teachers have signified their intention to join the teachers' union.

San Francisco Auto Mechanics Sign Contracts With 6 Firms

San Francisco, Cal.—Attempts of the United Automobile Workers, CIO affiliate, to "horn in" on A. F. of L. locals in six parts plants here availed nothing, it is reported.

Members of Auto Mechanics' Union No. 1305 and of Auto Parts Union No. 801, both associated with the A. F. of L., have agreements with the six firms; but, notwithstanding this fact, the CIO body placed pickets about the plants, which were ignored.

So far in the steel strike, the side which bawls so loudly about "law and order" has done all the killing.

CHICAGO STREET CAR MEN WIN VACATION WITH PAY AND BEST WAGE RATE IN LINES' HISTORY

Chicago.—Value to workers of organization under the American Federation of Labor is strikingly illustrated by a new agreement between 24,000 organized street car workers and the Chicago Surface Lines. The agreement gives the workers the highest rate of wages ever paid on this property and a week's vacation with pay.

The Chicago Surface Lines employes are members of Division 241 of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes, an affiliate of the A. F. of L.

The agreement committee of Division 241 obtained an offer through negotiation of 80 cents an hour for motormen and conductors on two-man cars and 88 cents per hour for one-man car and bus operators, as well as increases of 3 cents per hour for all members of the organization. The eight-hour day has been re-established with time and a half for all work beyond eight hours.

Vacation Agreement Made.

Another new feature of the agreement is the week's vacation with pay, beginning July 1, for all employes in service one year or more. It is estimated that the increase in wages will add some $2,000,000 per year to the incomes of the street car men. The institution of a vacation schedule means the employment of some 500 more workers on the system.

Division 241, together with Division 308, whose members are employed on the elevated systems of Chicago, provide an outstanding example of the benefits made possible through organization. Over the years these two divisions have built up beneficial features to the point where in 1936 the 20,000 members of both divisions and their families received the sum of $1,019,530.16. In the last ten years almost $11,000,000 in sick, disability, death and unemployment benefits have been paid out.

Life Insurance Provided.

Both divisions pay death, disability and old age benefits of $200 in addition to the international benefits of $600. Through a contract with the management the employes of these properties have $1,000 life insurance policies with double indemnity clauses, as well as sick and disability insurance which pays them $20 a week for twenty-six weeks. Division 241 has a special relief fund to take care of disabled employes unable to return to work after the 26-week period. This is in effect an old age pension and has benefited the members to the extent of a million and a quarter dollars since it was inaugurated. During the depression not a single member of Division 241 was required to appeal to charity for assistance.

Bitter Labor Foe Finally Agrees to End War on Union

Bradley Lumber Company to Reinstate Discharged Men, Pay Back Wages and Have Employes' Election.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The Bradley Lumber company, of Warren, Ark., bitter enemy of unionism, has finally admitted defeat by signing an agreement taking back seventy-six men discharged for union activity, paying them back wages for their lost time, and stopping its effort to prevent organization of its employes.

Under the terms of the agreement the company will pay $15,000 to 76 union employes in compensation for wages lost during the period of their discharges; it will offer those 76 employes immediate reinstatement to their former jobs; it will post notices, approved by the National Labor Relations Board, stating that it will not discriminate against any employe for joining any labor organization of their choice; and in addition the company consents that the N. L. R. B. shall conduct within 60 days an election to determine the sole collective bargaining agency for the hourly rate employes in the company plant.

Case Began in 1935

Settlement of the controversy resulting from the lumber company's anti-unnion stand was reached through an agreement signed by Charles H. Logan, regional director for the NLRB at New Orleans, by R. W. Fullerton, president of the company and representatives of Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union, Local 2645, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America.

The case is one of the oldest before the board, having begun with the filing of charges of unfair labor practices by the Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union on Nov. 25, 1935. After examination of the charges the board issued a complaint and summoned all parties to a hearing on the facts. This first hearing, set for Jan. 13, 1936, was postponed by injunction on the ground that the conduct of a hearing by the board did not cause the company any irreparable damage.

Witnesses Moved by Bus

A hearing was then set for March 16, 1936, at Warren, Ark., but this was interrupted at the moment of its opening by injunction proceedings brought in a state court. All witnesses in the case were forthwith moved by automobile bus to New Orleans and the hearing took place there. The injunction suit was removed by the board to the Federal District Court in Arkansas, where the injunction was dissolved.

Green Hits C. I. O. Destructive Policy As Disastrous to Workers

A. F. of L. President Tells Congressman Luecke That "The Riots, the Reprisals, the Violence and the Deaths in Recent Labor Disputes Are Clearly Traceable to the Evil Influence of C. I. O. Leadership.

Washington.—In a letter to Representative John Luecke, of Michigan, President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor, expressed deep concern over "an evil influence which has caused groups of newly organized workers connected with the C. I. O. to follow a destructive policy," and declared that "thinking people can now begin to see just what it all means."

Mr. Green's letter was in reply to one from Mr. Luecke, who had written to Mr. Green and to John L. Lewis, chairman of the committee for industrial organization, urging them to unite their two groups for tried leadership of newly organizers workers.

Mr. Luecke was informed by Mr. Green that for a number of months the American Federation of Labor had been ready to confer with the C. I. O. in an effort to adjust the dispute which led the American Federation of Labor to declare the C. I. O. a dual organization, but that the Lewis group had steadfastly refused to meet with the A. F. of L. committee.

Mr. Green's letter to Representative Luecke read as follows:

"My Dear Congressman:

"I herewith reply to your letter dated June 11. The logic of your letter, the opinions you express, and the suggestions you offer have been carefully considered and deeply appreciated. I readily understand that your interest in the success of labor and labor organizations is above and beyond any preference which you may hold for a form of organization. You are interested in the success of labor, rather than in the form of organization which may be launched or which may be administered.

Unity Is Desired.

"I have appealed for solidarity and unity. As evidence of this fact I have repeatedly urged that a committee from the C. I. O. organizations meet a committee appointed by the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor, which has been standing waiting for an opportunity to confer for more than ten months. It is impossible for the Executive Council's committee to meet when the C. I. O. group refuses to meet with it through its own committee. The American Federation of Labor still stands on a solid foundation it established more than half a century ago.

C. I. O. Created Dual Organization.

"Please bear in mind that the C. I. O. group left the American Federation of Labor and created its own organization. The American Federation of Labor created no new movement. It did not sponsor or support a dual movement. It functions now as it always did. It is those who left the American labor movement and who created a dual and rival movement that should return to the house of labor, unite with labor and develop a solid, strong, united labor movement.

C. I. O. Influence Deplored.

"Like you, I have been apprehensive over what has been taking place in the C. I. O. organization movement. An evil influence has caused groups of newly organized workers connected with the C. I. O. to follow a destructive policy. As a result, public opinion is turning against them. I pointed that out in a statement I made condemning sit-down strikes, a copy of which I enclose herein.

"The riots, the reprisals, the violence and the deaths which have occurred can be traceable to one destructive influence. The seizure of the city for a limited period, the cutting off of electric power and light in thousands of homes, all show the effect of the evil influence which has shaped and is shaping the policies of these new organizations recruited under the C. I. O. leadership. Surely, thinking people can now begin to see just what it all means.

"I thank you for your letter and I appreciate the advice you give and the deep interest which you manifest in the welfare and success of organized labor.

"Very sincerely yours,

"WM. GREEN,

"President American Federation of Labor."

TRUSTEE'S SALE

Whereas, by deed of trust, dated the 14th day of February, 1934, executed by Clint Carver and wife, Annie May Carver, conveyed to J. Mitt Payne, Trustee, the property herein described, said deed of trust being registered in Book H, Volume 27, Page 120, et seq., of the Register's office of Hamilton County, Tennessee.

Said deed of trust provides, "It is further expressly provided that the Corporation, in any event, is hereby authorized at its option to appoint in writing a substitute trustee to act instead of the trustee herein; and the authority to appoint other substitute trustees, successively during the life of this loan and said trustees shall each and all succeed to all the rights and powers of the first trustee named herein," and

Whereas, the time has arrived when action under the powers conferred by said trust deed is required; and,

Whereas, the Home Owners' Loan Corporation is now the owner of the indebtedness herein secured; and whereas, under the above described power of substitution, said Home Owners' Loan Corporation has by a written instrument, duly acknowledged and registered, appointed the undersigned trustee and successor to J. Mitt Payne, to execute said trust, with all the powers conferred and duties imposed upon and all the title invested in said original trustees; said appointment being dated June 29, 1937, and filed for record in the Register's office of Hamilton County, Tennessee, on July 1, 1937.

And default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness, which still remains due and unpaid, the holder of said indebtedness having so requested; therefore, under and by virtue of the authority vested in me by said deed of trust and appointment as substitute trustee above referred to, I, Nesbit B. # Electrical Workers Negotiate Agreement Covering 3,000 Crosley Radio Employes

Green Says Pact Finalized in Cincinnati Safeguards Autonomy of Machinists, Engineers and Other Unions.

Washington. — The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers has negotiated an agreement with the Crosley Radio corporation of Cincinnati, O., covering over 3,000 employes, according to an announcement here by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

"President Hurst, of the Cincinnati Central Labor council, and Ellsworth Bundy, special representative of the American Federation of Labor, negotiated and signed a closed shop contract with the Crosley Radio corporation at Cincinnati on June 17," Mr. Green said.

"This contract covers more than 3,000 members who will be accepted into the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

"In negotiating the contract the autonomy of the Machinists, Engineers and other organizations was recognized and maintained.

"The representatives of the American Federation of Labor who succeeded in their efforts to organize the employes of the Crosley Radio corporation and who negotiated the agreement for collective bargaining between the representatives of the workers and the management, were quietly at work carrying on an organizing campaign among the employes of the Crosley Radio corporation for a number of months.

"The contract provides for union recognition, for collective bargaining and for the establishment of a co-operative relationship between employer and employes."

Peoria Brick Workers Union Gains Increased Wage Rates

Peoria, Ill.—The local union of United Brick and Clay Workers won a great victory here, when a contract was secured with the Purington Brick company, covering all workers. Brick wagoners had been on strike.

All employes who had been getting 40 cents an hour were advanced to 50 cents, while those who had received over 50 cents an hour were advanced 12 per cent.

Two hundred employes of the Galesburg plant and 150 at the Streator plant also benefit by the settlement.

PLUMBERS UNIONS JOIN BATTALIONS OF HIGHER PAY

Fatter Pay Envelopes Result From Agreements in Evansville, Memphis, Los Angeles, Jackson and Santa Monica.

An agreement providing substantial wage increases has been negotiated by Plumbers and Steam Fitters Local Union No. 136, of Evansville, Ind., with the Master Plumbers and Steam Fitters of that city. The contract calls for a scale of $1.25 an hour for an eight-hour day and five-day week, with time and one-half for overtime. There is also a section defining apprentices, setting forth the conditions under which they shall work at learning the trade, the wages they shall receive and the period of apprenticeship.

An agreement with contractors under which wages will be boosted from $1.25 to $1.37½ cents an hour is reported by Plumbers Local Union No. 17, of Memphis, Tenn. Back in 1931 the union rate for plumbers was $1.50, but the union accepted a cut of 25 cents an hour because of the depression. The new agreement restores in part the old rate with the prospect of the $1.50-per-hour rate being secured in the next agreement.

Plumbers Union No. 78, of Los Angeles, Calif., has negotiated a new contract with plumbing contractors which fixes a wage rate of $9 per day.

Plumbers' Local Union No. 631, at Jackson, Mich., secured a new contract through collective bargaining, in which a substantial increase in wages was won for these workers. The contract went into effect May 15.

A wage rate of $10 per day has been won by Plumbers Local Union No. 545, of Santa Monica, Calif., from plumbing contractors in that city. The higher pay scale followed an organization campaign started by the Plumers Union the first of the year, which has greatly increased its strength and consequent bargaining power.

ASBESTOS WORKERS WIN WAGE BOOSTS

Hourly Rates Increased by Agreements Negotiated in Memphis, Cleveland and Columbus.

Local Union No. 44, International Association of Heat and Frost Insulators and Asbestos Workers, has secured contracts with the Clark Asbestos company, of Cleveland, Ohio, and the Johns-Manville and Earl Bright concerns in Columbus, Ohio. The new contracts establish a 40-hour work week and increase the wage rate to $1.80 an hour.

Memphis, Tenn., Asbestos Workers are now working under a new wage scale which boosted wages 12½ cents an hour, from $1 to $1.12½.

San Francisco Nursery Union Wins Eight Pay Boost Pacts

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif.—Nursery Workers Union No. 20462, of San Francisco, has negotiated an agreement with eight large wholesale flower-growing firms here providing a scale of wages ranging from $4.25 a day for general labor to $5 a day for expert growers. The contract also grants preferential employment to union members.

Union Agreement With St. Louis Restaurant Ends Eight-Year Job of Waitress as Picket

One Concern closed After Being Patrolled for Four Years; the Other Agreed to Union Hours, Wages and Work Conditions.

St. Louis, Mo.—Some sort of a record for continuous picketing service is believed to have been established here by Mrs. Edith Brockman, member of the Waitresses' union, Local 249. Eight years and two months on the picket line is her record.

For the past three years and eleven months, Mrs. Brockman picketed the Little Bevo restaurant, carrying an umbrella bearing the lened "We demand a closed shop and union wages." But now she is off that job, because the restaurant finally signed a union agreement.

Prior to the last assignment, Mrs. Brockman spent four years and three months, together with Mrs. Ethel Taylor, president of the Waitresses' local, as a picket on a restaurant in the 4000 block of Olive street, which eventually folded up and quit.

Galesburg and Houston Bakers Win Union Shops

Bakers' Local Union No. 168, of Houston, Tex., has added Golman Bros. Baking company to its growing list of union shops. The agreement provides for the use of the union label.

Golman Bros. formerly operated a union bakery in Dallas, and are now erecting a plant in Houston which will be open for business about the 1st of July.

The newly organized bakers union at Galesburg, Ill., has negotiated agreements with the six master bakers of that city providing for the closed shop. With the bakery employes 100 per cent organized, union officials report that only one bakery operator is outside the union. One of the union's requirements is that every applicant must have a physical examination.

1,100 Portland Stores Sign Pact With Clerks

Agreement Covers Over Three Thousand Employes and Provides $27.50 Minimum Weekly Wage.

Portland, Ore.—The Retail Grovery Clerks' Union of Portland hit the bull's-eye in organization achievements when it negotiated agreements covering over eleven hundred chain and independent grocery sores in this vicinity, involving more than three thousand clerks.

The agreement includes all the Safeway Stores in Portland, Gresham and Oregon City, in addition to stores operated by Hudson-Duncan and the Fred Meyer company.

For the purpose of negotiating an agreement with the union the stores formed an organization known as "Food Employers, Inc."

Under the agreement head clerks, both men and women, will be paid $27.50 minimum wages, with apprentices starting at $17.50. Women delicatessen and bakery workers will receive a minimum of $20 with apprentices starting at $14. It is estimated that the annual increase in wages provided by the contract will amount to over a half million dollars.

Factory Employment Steady.

ALBANY, N. Y.—Both factory employment and payrolls in New York State showed almost no net change from the middle of April to the middle of May, Industrial Commissioner Elmer F. Andrews reports.

TYPO UNION MEET POSTPONED WEEK

Because the regular session of Chattanooga Typographical union falls on July 4, the executive board of that organization has decided to postpone the meeting one week.

The meeting will be held on Sunday, July 11.

Colston Electric Signs

Colston Electric company, in Brainerd, signed a union closed shop agreement with Local 175, Electricians, last week. Mr. Colston years ago, while an active journeyman electrician, held important posts in the local union, and the signing of his shop last week brings this industry nearly completely organized in Chattanooga.

UNION SHOP PACT SIGNED

New Orleans.—The Moran Printing company, one of the largest nonunion shops in Louisiana, has signed a union shop contract with the Allied Printing Trades council and will hereafter use the union label on all its work. The firm has a contract for a part of the state printing.

DELICIOUS
CHOCOLATE FLAVORED DRINK
furnishes CALCIUM needed for FIRM, SHINING TEETH

WE are sure that if adults really knew the importance of milk in maintaining their teeth in sound, healthy condition they would drink it every day

But for one reason or another, some people don't care for milk. They just won't drink it.

That's where KRIM-KO Chocolate Flavored Drink comes to the rescue. Here, in a delicious form, is a food beverage that is ever so easy, ever so pleasant to take.

KRIM-KO is equal to milk in food energy value—rich in calcium and phosphorus, those two "ingredients" which not only build but maintain straight, strong bones and firm, sound teeth. Taken in place of concentrated sweets, it satisfies sugar hunger without "piling on pounds."

Citizens Vote "No" in School Fund

A. F. L. MEETING NEXT SATURDAY TO PUT CLAIMS

Memorial Auditorium to Be Filled by Metal Craftsmen of Chattanooga.

Employes of the Combustion Engineering company, known in Chattanooga as the Hedges-Walsh-Weidner division, will attend an A. F. of L. mass meeting next Saturday morning in the Little Theater of the Memorial auditorium.

The meeting is arranged by the A. F. of L. groups in the plant, namely, molders, boilermakers and machinists, for the purpose of discussing the end of the strike and to tell other visitors from other plants what the A. F. of L. stands for.

The meeting is set to start at 10 o'clock and will be under direct supervision of Sam C. Godfrey, representing the boilermakers; John Heald, representing the molders, and O. H. Dye, of the machinists. T. R. Cuthbert, secretary of the Tennessee Federation of Labor, will probably occupy the chair.

A. F. of L. Representative Fox, who was formerly a representative of the textile groups before they went over to the CIO, will be the feature speaker.

Both white and colored workers are invited to be present.

J. Leahy Gets Commission

James Leahy, of Knoxville, who has been representing the International Association of Machinists in East Tennessee and part of Kentucky and Alabama, has been appointed international organizer for the I. A. M. with assignment in the Fort Worth, Tex., district and left last Friday night to enter on his new duties. Brother Leahy was vice-president of the Knoxville Central Labor union and is known in labor circles throughout the state.

A. F. L. GETS BUSY

The American Federation of Labor has appointed Maynard Baird, of Knoxville, as a part-time organizer in that section of the state. Mr. Baird has been serving as chairman of the organizing committee in Knoxville for the past few months.

KNOXVILLE SPECIAL

We have received a copy of the supplement to the Knoxville Labor News, of which Brother W. Clay McKenzie is editor.

This magazine contains news about all the local unions in the Knoxville district, together with daily reports from the convention of the Tennessee Federation of Labor which met in Jackson in May. It made interesting reading and we congratulate the labor movement in Knoxville on its magazine supplement.

CONTRACTS WITH GUILD SIGNED IN THREE CITIES

St. Louis.—The Star-Times and the St. Louis unit of the American Newspaper Guild have signed a contract establishing the 40-hour five-day week for editorial workers. The agreement also provides for a guild shop and minimum wages.

Denver.—The Rocky Mountain News and the local unit of the American Newspaper Guild have signed a contract providing a 40-hour, five-day week for editorial department employes. Most provisions of the agreement, which makes no mention of the guild, or preferential shop, become effective July 12.

San Diego.—The San Diego Sun announces it has signed an agreement with the American Newspaper Guild establishing the five-day, 40-hour week and minimum wages for editorial department employes. No mention of the guild or preferential shop is made in the Sun agreement.

"GO STARVE" IS EDICT AS ONLY 6,000 TURN OUT TO DECIDE ON SCHOOLS' FATE

"Trust There Will Be No Bitterness," Says "Home-Owner" Abernathy as He Saves His Five Bucks.

A scant majority of six thousand voters yesterday told the city school teachers that they must continue to hold their jobs with very little pay but a whole lot of credit for doing a "noble" work in educating young America. The election was to decide whether an act passed in the last session of the state legislature would provide a separate school fund and tax levy which could be used for schools only and not be "raided" for other purposes.

City teachers believed that this act, if ratified by the voters, would enable them to secure decent salaries for the work performed, heretofore denied them on the plea that there was not enough money in the till to pay the salary schedule already provided by law, and which is still the law.

However, as the campaign got started there bobbed up an organization calling itself the Home Owners' association, headed by Mr. Ed Abernathy, which spent hundreds of dollars warning taxpayers that they may be forced to pay millions, billions, well, three or four dollars, anyway, in increased taxes, if the advocates of the school levy succeeded.

Coupled with the usual apathy displayed in most referendum elections and the militant reactionary element, the teachers were told Thursday that the answer was "No."

However, Mr. Abernathy patted the teachers and kissed them where it hurt by saying that he hoped "there would be no bitterness," but that they "Will join with us in working out what should be the mutual problem and interest of the citizens of this city—our schools."

After, however, our first problem and interest is looked after, our pocketbooks.

Brewery Workers Elect

Brewery Workers, Local 79, held their annual election on Thursday night, July 1, and were so well pleased with the work that their present officers had been doing during the past two years that every officer was re-elected without opposition. The following officers were given a unanimous "vote of confidence" by the membership:

John Etter, president; Joe Thomas, vice-president; Erskin D. Fischer, recording secretary; Bob Reich, financial secretary; Leo Lee, treasurer; Bob Parker, sergeant-at-arms.

Trustees—Tom Ellis, D. W. Boddy, Charlie Davis.

The present board of officers are determined to do away with the market for any non-union drinks in Chattanooga.

NEUHOFF STRIKE NOT SETTLED

Telegram from Gerald Foley, president of Tennessee Federation of Labor, whose office is in Nashville, Tennessee, said yesterday that the strike of the Neuhoff Packing company was still in progress. Rumors put out, evidently, by the company that the strike had been settled are entirely false.

Cement Finishers in Oakland Win $1.25 Per Hour Contract

Oakland, Cal.—The Cement Finishers Union of Oakland has negotiated a closed shop agreement fith the Master Cement Contractors' association providing a new wage scale of $1.25 an hour.

Union officials said the closed shop contract agreement was the first one to be signed by cement contractors on the Pacific coast.

Negotiation of the agreement was effected following a six months campaign for membership which brought practically all cement workers in Oakland into the union.

10,000 Shipyard Workers Strike in New York Area

NEW YORK CITY,—Union officials estimated that 15,000 shipyard workers were on strike in 16 shipyards in the Greater New York area.

The strike, which started in Staten Island at the United Shipyards, Inc., spread to Manhattan, Brooklyn, Hoboken and other parts of New Jersey.

Col. Kenneth Gardner, attorney for the United Yards, admitted that work at the United's yards was at a standstill and that $12,000,000 of construction work was tied up.

Bottlers Battle Scab Canada Dry As It Fizzles

B. L. Talley Company Sees Its Business Destroyed as Customers Protest.

Three Other Distributors Refuse to Market Non-Union Drinks Made in Atlanta.

Canada Dry is drying up in Chattanooga. Made under non-union conditions everywhere, and in this territory in Atlanta, the non-union company decided recently to push its sales in Chattanooga. The Kelly Cigar company secured the agency and started its trucks out to distribute before the Brewery Workers' union got in touch with Mr. Wiley Couch, owner, to tell him the product was unfair to labor. When Mr. Couch was informed of the conditions he called in every truck by telephone and sent the Canada Dry stock into the warehouse and notified the Atlanta office that he would not attempt to sell any non-union drinks.

Two other drink distributors were offered the agency, but refused to handle the non-union stuff.

B. L. Talley company said they would sell the line in spite of it being non-union, and as a result Local 79, Brewery Workers, are busy telling the public. Results have been splendid. Not only is Talley's $14 per week truck drivers not selling much Canada Dry, but their deliveries of wholesale groceries are falling off. It is estimated that their wholesale business has dropped 60 per cent.

Every bottled drink in Chattanooga is union except Canada Dry, it is reported, and from the looks of things, Canada Dry will not do very well unless it gets right with organized labor.

Machinists Sign Movie Agreement With Producers

July Sees 77 Contracts Secured by International Association of Machinists.

Continuing its phenomenal drive to organize the unorganized, the International Association of Machinists announce this week that during the month of July seventy-seven signed contracts were secured with various employers located all over the United States.

One of the signal achievements was the agreement with eleven of the major film producers of Los Angeles. Wages secured range all the way from 55 cents per hour for the new apprentice up to $1.41 per hour to the journeyman mechanic. All work done over six hours per day receives time and one-half pay.

One clause of the agreement says that in the event the machinist local should cease affiliation with the American Federation of Labor, contract becomes automatically canceled.

NEW JERSEY CARPENTERS BACK PRESIDENT GREEN

Elizabeth, N. J.—A resolution commending William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, for his militant defense of the democratic principles of the A. F. of L. was adopted by the 150 delegates to the convention of the New Jersey State Council of Carpenters in session here.

M. F. Cantwell, secretary of the convention, sent the following telegram to Mr. Green at the A. F. of L. headquarters at Washington, D. C.:

"The New Jersey State Council of Carpenters, assembled in convention at Elizabeth, N. J., Saturday, June 19, 1937, by resolution indorses your stand against the C. I. O. and pledges to you our unanimous support."

OHIO GOVERNOR CHANGES FRONT IN DEALING WITH STEEL STRIKE

Davey Orders State Troops to Let Mills Reopen and Protect the Men Returning to Work—Police and Sheriffs Accused of Waging Campaign of Terror Against Strikers.

Washington, D. C.—The most startling development of the steel strike in the last few days did not take place on the picket lines. It was the complete flop of Governor Davey, of Ohio. Elected party by his profuse declamation of profound sympathy for labor, Governor Davey for a time seemed to follow the example of Governor Earle, of Pennsylvania, and keep peace in a way that would not make the state an ally of the steel companies.

All that changed in a breath. Gov. Davey pledged the state troops to aid in the opening of the strike-closed mills. Secretary of Labor Perkins suggested that Davey use his subpoena power to bring the steel barons and strike leaders to the state capital, put them together and see if they would not come to an agreement. Davey not only reflected this suggestion, but branded it as "dictatorship," and vowed that nothing of the sort could happen while he was in office.

What is happening is this: State troops under Davey's orders are relieving Youngstown police and Mahoning county sheriffs from duty at the steel plants. These police and sheriffs, including 500 special deputies sworn in for the occasion, are arresting strikers by the dozen each day, in an effort to browbeat and demoralize them. This statement does not rest on the authority of CIO officials; it is made by an experienced and responsible reporter on a metropolitan paper.

Reign of Terror Charged.

CIO officials say that there is a veritable reign of terror in the strike regions, and backs it by sworn affidavits of men who have been clubbed. Roland E. Rodgers, 58 years old, was stopped by police on his way to see a physician, and beaten until he was dazed.

"Being dazed from the beating," he makes oath, "I was booked for drunken driving, although I had not taken a drink. Before I was put in a cell, the turnkey hit me across the head with a police club, and when I fell to the floor, he kicked me about the head and body, even brinding my hands under his heel."

Davey has virtually put martial law into effect, though Ohio statutes provide that only the legislature can declare martial law, and the legislature has not acted. CIO officials, after telegraphing Gov. Davey in vain, sought an injunction in the federal court at Columbus to restrain him and other officials from their present practices. It is charged in court that a large share of the special deputies have police records.

Delay in Indiana.

In Indiana, Gov. Townsend won a delay in the proposed reopening of the closed steel plans, and worked strenuously for a conference to bring peace.

In Pennsylvania two "mysterious explosions" wrecked the pipes which bring water into the Cambria plant of the Bethlehem and forced the plant for a time to remain closed.

Some men are going back to work in the struck mills, and they are working 12 hours a day. How many have gone back, there is no way of telling. Tom Girdler claims that the strike is "definitely broken" and that the "normal working force" is now employed. This is manifestly untrue. Union officials have claimed that 72,000 men are still out and less than 10,000 back.

KIDNAP FAILURE?

Reports have come from Nashville that attempts have been made to kidnap Ray Wolfington, international organizer for the Meatcutters' International union. Mr. Wolfington has been directing a strike of packing plant employes in the capital city which is now in its third week. An American Federation of Labor representative has been sent into Nashville to investigate the reports.

Labor Committee Starts An Elaborate Program

The Labor Day committee met last Wednesday afternoon in Mr. Ed Hargraves' office and started making plans for the Labor day celebration at Warner park.

V. W. Hallmark was elected general chairman of the committee with Felix Hamil serving as vice-chairman. Miss Edna Brown was elected recording secretary and Erskine Mabee financial secretary.

The program is being prepared and will be published later. The committee plans for a full day of events, beginning at 9 in the morning and ending with fireworks at 10 o'clock in the evening.

A tentative program will be presented to the Central Body for approval at its next meeting, and all local unions are requested to cooperate with the committee.

STRIKE HEADS FREE ON BAIL.

Portland, Me.—Powers Hapgood, New England CIO secretary, and five other jailed leaders of the Auburn-Lewiston shoe strike, have been freed on bail.

Miss Perkins Sees Unions Giving Up Use of "Sit-Down"

New Strike Method Full of Hazards to Orderly Development of Organized Labor, Secretary Points Out.

Washington.—Answering a letter from Congressman J. William Ditter, of Pennsylvania, Secretary of Labor Perkins takes occasion to state her position on the sit-down strike, and to give offcial statement to some things which every worker knows. Mr. Ditter had complained of the "attitude" of the department of labor, and called attention to the decision of the Third federal circuit court of appeals that sit-downs are unlawful. Miss Perkins answers that "of course" she accepts the decision of the court; but says:

"It is not and never has been an official position of the department of labor or the secretary that sit-down strikes are either lawful, desirable or appropriate. . . .

Labor Not Revolutionary.

"From many aspects, the method appears to be one that should be abandoned. . . . It is full of hazards to the progressive, democratic development of trade unionism and to the orderly process of collective bargaining. . . . I believe that it will be abandoned by the unions.

"I want to assure you, sir, that American wage-earners—however unwise they may have been at times—are not revolutionary in thought or feeling, and do not seek to impair civil government, ruin industry, or change our conceptions of private property.

"They sometimes have been hard-pressed, treated with impatience, contempt and brutality when they were trying to improve their working conditions and status by collective bargaining.

Opposed to Violence.

We all hope that that will soon be a thing of the past. I am opposed to the use of force and violence in labor disputes by the employers, as well as by the wage-earners, and if public officials are obliged to use force, it should be only after every effort at reasonable persuasion of both sides has broken down."

A. F. of L. Gains 622,664 Members

Total Membership Is 3,062,719, With an Increase of Over 600,000 for Ten Months, Secretary-Treasurer Morrison Reports.

Washington.—The pronounced success achieved by the organizational activities of the American Federation of Labor is strikingly revealed by the official membership report made public here by Secretary-Treasurer Frank Morrison.

Since last August, according to Mr. Morrison, over 600,000 working men and women throughout the United States and Canada, hitherto outside the organized labor movement, have realized the advantages of united industrial action to improve their economic and social conditions and have taken out membership cards in over one hundred national and international unions and hundreds of directly affiliated local trade and labor unions which constitute the American Federation of Labor, raising the total membership in this constructive organization to more than three million, the average monthly increase in membership being 62,266.

Evidently impressed with the idea that facts speak for themselves, Mr. Morrison made no comment on his concise report, the text of which follows:

"The paid upon and reported membership of the 103 national and international unions and local unions directly affiliated with the American Federation of Labor as of June 30, 1937, is 3,062,719. This does not include the membership of the ten national and international unions suspended Sept. 5, 1936.

"This is a gain of 622,664 members for the ten months over the average membership of the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, 1936."

Tax Evasions

Much is being said in the daily press concerning wealthy individuals who incorporate yachts and use other legal means to avoid payment of taxes. While everyone professes to yearn for a Utopia, where no one shirks just duties, we cannot get particularly "het up" over the tax evasions as long as they are evaded according to law.

The thing to decry is the loopholes in the law which allow the evasions. We have serious doubt if suddenly a million dollars were dumped in our laps that we would be so civic-minded that we would pay out say, $300,000 in tax money, if, by employing expensive but shrewd attorneys, we could satisfy tax collectors with a mere $50,000. It just isn't being done, with human nature the way it is.

What we need is the legal knowledge and foresight that will plug up loopholes through which human avarice can slide.

Labor Queries

Q.—What has been called the world's largest company union?

A.—This term has been applied to the German Labor Front, the government-controlled organization erected on the ruins of German trade unionism by the Nazi dictatorship.

Q.—What is the basic provision of laws aimed to outlaw "yellow-dog" contracts?

A.—The provision that the agreement of workers not to join a labor organization is contrary to public policy. Most state laws provide in addition that the agreement shall not afford any basis for the granting of legal or equitable relief by any court.

IN THE NEWS
FRANCES PERKINS

Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, and the first woman member of the cabinet, was born in Boston April 10, 1882; and doesn't boggle a bit about setting down either place or date. She graduated from Mount Holyoke college, took a master's degree in sociology from Columbia university; and has been engaged in some sort of social or politico-social work ever since. She has been a member of the New York state industrial commission, chairman of the industrial board, and was state industrial commissioner from 1929 to 1933.

In this capacity, she became a thorn in the side of the administration then in power at Washington. Every time President Hoover or any of his aides tried to cook the figures and show that prosperity was coming back, Frances Perkins gave an interview in Albany stating the facts about industrial employment in New York; and any listener near the White House fence could hear the wailing and gnashing of teeth within.

Also, she didn't cook figures when she came to Washington, not even when the first wave of recovery under NRA retired.

It is the hope of every Washington newspaper man to be present on that day—if it ever dawns—when Madame Secretary says what she really thinks about Tom Girdler.

What Next!

A "robot longshoremen," invented by Angus R. Cooper, who is in the stevedoring business in Mobile, was recently given a test at New Orleans. The device is reported to be capable of removing 4,000 bags or crates an hour from a ship, cutting unloading time in half. The device is seen as a threat to longshoremen's jobs, though it takes many men working at top speed to keep the robot going.

EDUCATION BOARD FAVORS UNION SHOP CONTRACTORS

NEW YORK, N. Y.—The New York City Board of Education awarded contracts for construction work on two buildings to two contractors who were not the lowest bidders, but who were classified as union firms by Local 3, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

The action of the Education Board was in conformity with the policy of the municipal government under Mayor La Guardia that public work shall be performed by union labor.

Take It! or Leave It

Points of View Picked Up From Various Seuress

CY KOLOGY, EDITOR

The public likes to see "the big boys" dragged forth and made to confess. Well, some of them have been taking the stand to tell Uncle Sam and the public how they evade heavy tax payments. It is said—and it is probably true—that most of the schemes rigged up to avoid taxes were lawful. Yachts were incorporated, farms were incorporated and many other things were made into corporations, which are in reality "artificial persons," creatures of the state. It seems to be something of a bad joke on the government that big tax payers used "creatures of the state" to beat the state out of taxes. But that is how it is—the state sets up the machinery and offers its protection to the very devices used to keep tax payments down. Maybe the whole thing raises some questions about what ought to be done about corporations in general.

This trick of using the corporation device to avoid taxes is a fine example of special privilege. It is special privilege because only the rich can do it. The wage-earner can't resort to any such stunt to keep his taxes down. So the wage-earner pays, and pays, and pays. The corporation has the best of the argument, no matter which way you turn. Corporations fight laws enacted by congress. They go to the supreme court to challenge congress. Creatures of the state challenge the state in the matter of its own laws. We've had a grand example in the case of the national labor relations act. "There oughta be a law"—but perhaps if there were a law the corporations would get it knocked out somewhere along the line of courts.

One thing, though, seems fairly sure. Corporations are not getting away with as much as they used to get away with and they seem destined to lose a lot of the privilege and power they now have. These, by golly, are changing times and don't make any mistake about that. These corporation gents don't look so happy as they confess their operations. While their tax tricks are put on the display counter the Security Exchange commission stops a lot of other tricks. This new government agency is a grand policeman, stopping a lot of the tricky devices by which the people used to be teased into giving up their cash. Every new agency to restrain is brought into being because of some pretty flagrant previous abuse.

One thing that ought to be done is the revival of the O'Mahoney bill to license corporations, making the federal government the real boss. Of course, O'Mahoney got himself out on a limb by bucking the court reform bill and probably nothing he now wants could get anywhere in congress. But the bill itself is no man's property, because labor first offered it as a necessary measure. Corporations over a large area have been making social wolves of themselves and something has to be done about it. Because America isn't going to be a nation for wolves.

Union Shop and Higher Pay Agreements Won By 9,000 Laundry Workers in Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Pa.—A striking achievement for union labor in Philadelphia was made when nine thousand inside laundry workers, members of the Laundry Workers' International union, negotiated agreements with laundry concerns here providing for the union shop, wage increases, arbitration of disputes, and improved work conditions.

The Philadelphia local is one of the largest locals affiliated with the international union.

Chicago Cops Try Hard to Justify Brutal Attack on Steel Strikers

Witnesses Called by La Follette Committee Stick to Stories They Acted in Self-Defense, Despite Pictorial Evidence Giving Lie to Testimony.

Washington, July 8.—The renewed hearings of the La Follette civil liberties committee help to explain why Chicago has such a high crime record. Part of it must be due to the incredible, impenetrable stupidity of Chicago police.

In one day, four Chicago police officers were on the stand. All of them knew that the committee had the reports of outside observers, some of them trained observers, on the Memorial day massacre in South Chicago. All of them knew that a moving picture film in the hands of the committee told the whole story in a way that no verbal denials could shake. Most of them were shown individual pictures which utterly contradicted their testimony.

Yet man after man repeated and stuck to the obvious fake that the police were attacked by strikers, and acted in self-defense. Their stories would not have fooled a 12-year-old child, but they stuck to 'em.

Workers Called "Reds."

Some of their replies deserve to be preserved in a library of imbecilities. Capt. James L. Mooney, of the 8th and 20th precincts in Chicago, bore down heavily on "communism"—in fact, he had the whole "mob" of marching workers "communists."

"They's anti-government, an' they're here to ruin the government an' they're gettin' money from Russia," he declared. In another answer to questioning, he said that the strikers, being communists, wanted to beat up the police.

James P. Allman, police commissioner of Chicago, who declared that he fully approved everything the police did that day, was asked why he inquired into the political affiliations of the members of the "mob."

"I didn't ask for their political affiliations," said Allman, "I just wanted to know how many of them were communists."

Makes Damaging Admission.

Capt. Thomas Kilroy, in charge of the area where the trouble came, actually testified that the police fired in the air. He admitted that he clubbed, across the back, a man who was threatening him. La Follette showed him a picture, and asked him when he thought it was taken.

"Right after the trouble started," said Kilroy.

"Then how do you account for the fact that the crowd is so far away from the police?" asked La Follette.

"You don't see a single man, not in uniform, who has his face toward the police, do you?" La Follette persisted.

"I guess not."

But when his attention was called to three policemen, with drawn revolvers, Kilroy said it looked to him as if they were aiming at other policemen in the front lines!

Police Careless With Truth.

If the objective of Senators La Follette and Thomas was to give the largest possible number of Chicago policemen a chance to perjure themselves, they carried out their maneuver with Napoleonic skill. And the policemen seized every chance, and seemed proud of themselves. Lawrence J. Lyons, one of the group, at a temporary lull in the questioning looked up at some men standing near, grinned, and queried:

"How'm I doin'?"

They hadn't the heart to tell him. Later, he identified a club in a policeman's belt as "a crease in his pants." Later still, he was asked what the police did to help the injured after the ruction was over.

"Well, senator," says Lyons, "we were still in pursuit—er—er—not in pursuit, just advancing."

CIO SHOE WORKERS WIN UNION SHOP AGREEMENT

Auburn, Me.—The first CIO contract signed in Maine has granted a closed shop to the United Shoe Workers of America, sponsors of the Auburn-Lewiston shoe strike.

The contract was signed by the Highland Shoe company, one of nineteen companies affected by the strike. The U. S. W. A. was designated as sole collective bargaining agency by the company's 287 employes in a "consent election" supervised by the national labor relations board.

The contract also calls for a 10 per cent wage increase with a 5 per cent additional increase Nov. 1 and a 40-hour week.

Troy Brush Workers' Union Wins Higher Pay, Hours Cut

Troy, N. Y.—Substantial wage increases and shorter hours were gained by Brush Workers' Union No. 20468 in an agreement negotiated with the Hughes Autograf Brush company, Inc., of Troy. Michael Walsh, A. F. of L. organizer, assisted the union in finalizing the contract.

Minneapolis Upholsterers Win Higher Hourly Rates

Minneapolis, Minn. — Wage increases ranging from 5 to 15 cents an hour and reduced hours feature an agreement negotiated by Upholsterers Local Union No. 61, of Minneapolis, with Margoine, Inc., manufacturers of commercial furniture.

Flint Hotel-Restaurant Union Reports 55 Closed Shop Pacts

Flint, Mich.—The Hotel and Restaurant Employes recently won strikes on five houses here. The local has closed shop agreements with over 55 houses, with the membership nearing 500.

LABEL LEADERS

By BROWNIE HOPPER

One of our good union friends was looking around for an electric refrigerator the other day—hope the family is enjoying it by now. Anyway, here's a recipe I should like to pass on to them. It is the best I have found for ice cream, because it is smooth and very easy to make.

Vanilla Ice Cream.

1 1/3 c. sweet milk
½ c. sugar
2 eggs
½ pint whipping cream
¼ ts. salt
1 ts. vanilla

Add beaten egg yolks and sugar to the milk and heat until sugar is dissolved. Let cool and add beaten egg whites and whipped cream. Add salt and vanilla and put in electric freezing unit. Freeze as quickly as possible, stirring after the first 30 minutes and again after another half hour.

I always put the ice cream in about three hours before I want to serve it. Ice cream made in an electric refrigerator will get a little "icy" if frozen too long before it is to be served.

This recipe will serve five or six people.

I advised this prospective buyer to go by and look at the Coldspot that Sears Roebuck has been featuring these last few days. There is a special price on the six-foot box.

Curtis Sims and Mr. and Mrs. Erskine Mabee went to Atlanta Tuesday on a short business trip. They said they got "ritzy" and went to a lovely place to have dinner. Erskine said they had a big, juicy, trick steak, but that it will probably be their last meal for a week.

Wouldn't hurt anybody's feelings for the world—and the only reason I didn't say anything about your fishing trip last week, Mr. Cox, was because the catch was so small I didn't want to embarrass you. It is rumored about that the net catch on that trip to Norris was one good case of poison ivy, which a member of the party got trying to gig a poor froggie.

Big Wage Boost Won for St. Louis Hotel Workers by Closed Shop Pact

Agreement Negotiated by Five Unions Covers 28 Establishments and Benefits Hundreds of Employes; Hours Are Limited and Disputes Will Be Settled by Negotiation and Arbitration.

St. Louis, Mo.—The recent agreement negotiated with the St. Louis Hotel association by five local unions affiliated with the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America was a significant achievement for organized labor here.

The St. Louis Hotel association acted as the agent for twenty-eight hotels constituting its membership.

The five unions whose representatives signed the agreement are: Waiters' Local No. 220, Waitresses' Local No. 249, Bartenders' Local No. 51, Cooks and Pastry Cooks' Local Union No. 26, and Miscellaneous Hotel Employes' Local No. 430.

W. B. Brandt, secretary of the Central Trades and Labor Union of St. Louis and vicinity and representative of Miscellaneous Hotel Employes' Local Union No. 430 in the negotiations with the Hotel association, said the agreement covered over 3,500 employes, all of whom became members of the five local unions, according to jurisdiction.

Union officials estimate that the wage increases won by the agreement are as follows: Cooks, 10 per cent; Bartenders, 20 per cent; Miscellaneous Workers, 22 per cent; Waiters, 30 per cent, and Waitresses, anywhere from 100 to 300 per cent.

The agreement declares that in view of the fact that the five unions "have complete jurisdiction over all employes working in hotels," therefore "they shall be the exclusive bargaining agents for all employes working in the hotels" included in the contract.

Provision for Closed Shop.

The closed shop article provides that "all employes now working for the respective hotels must join their respective union within ten days after the signing of this agreement," and that "all new employes must join their respective union within fifteen days after date of employment."

There is the added provision that "there shall be no discrimination in any respect whatever by either the union or the hotels in regard to any employe on account of such an employe having hitherto joined or failed to join the unions."

48 Hours for Women; 54 for Men.

With regard to hours the agreement provides as follows: Working hours for women shall not exceed 48 in any one week; working hours for men shall not exceed 54 in any one week except in the case of the receiving clerk, watchman or back-doorman; overtime in excess of these hours will be paid for at the rate of time and one-half. Six days shall constitute a working week, but the employer shall have the right to work the employes only five and pay them proportionately.

Disputes Arbitrated; Strikes Banned.

Although the agreement runs for three years, either party has the privilege of taking up wages and hours at the end of each year at last 30 days prior to the expiration of the first year, with the stipulation that desired changes shall be subject to negotiation. If an agreement on the changes in wages and hours cannot be reached between representatives of the unions and the hotel association the agreement provides for submitting the matter to an arbitration board composed of two representatives of the hotel association, two representatives of the unions, and an impartial chairman to be agreed upon by both parties. The decision of the board of arbitration shall be final and binding on all concerned, and during the negotiations or arbitration work shall proceed as prior to the dispute.

ANTI-UNION MOB FETED AT DINNER

Tupelo, Miss.—Members of the mob who forced two women organizers of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union, Miss Ida Sledge and Mrs. Lillian Messiner, to leave town, were tendered a testimonial dinner by business men of the town. The women attempted to organize the employes of Reed Bros., Inc., in the hope of securing better working conditions and an advance in wages.

The Rev. J. S. Greenshaw, a minister, invoked the Divine blessing on the members of the mob, while Wallace E. Ballard, past president of the Association of Commerce, assisted Frank A. Henderson, a wholesale grocer, in raising funds for the entertainment. D. S. Burnett, local hotel manager, was host on the occasion.

Closed Shop Pact With 4 Pittsburgh Cold Storage Firms Won by A. F. of L.

Agreement Fixes Hours and Minimum Wage Rates; Arbitration Board Will Settle Grievances; A. F. of L. Executive Council Will Adjust Jurisdiction Disputes.

Ice and Cold Storage Workers' Union No. 20356 of Pittsburgh, Pa., directly affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, announces the negotiation of a closed shop agreement with the North Pole Cold Storage and Ice company, the Federal Cold Storage company, the Wainright Cold Storage company, and the Union Storage company, all located in Pittsburgh.

Eight-Hour Day Established.

In the warehouse department the hours are fixed at eight per day and 48 per week; in the ice department the hours are eight per day and 56 per week. Work performed in excess of these hours will be paid for at the rate of time and one-half, which is also the rate fixed for work performed on the usual holidays.

The agreement fixes the following minimum hourly rates of pay: Specially fitted egg candlers, 65 cents; ice pullers and ice handlers with one year or more of service, 60 cents; warehouse checkers and gang leaders, 60 cents; all other employes with one year or more of service, 55 cents; new or part time employes with less than one year's continuous service, 50 cents.

Grievances of employes will be referred to the shop committee, who will consult the foreman; if the dispute cannot be adjusted by the shop committee and the foreman, it will be taken up with the plant superintendent or other company officials; if this conference fails the grievance will be submitted to a board of arbitration chosen by the union and the company with an impartial chairman, who, if the two parties cannot agree on the man, shall be chosen by either the secretary of labor of the U. S. department of labor or the secretary of labor and industry of the state of Pennsylvania, preference being in the order named. The board's decision will be final and binding on all parties.

Provision for Closed Shop.

The agreement stipulates that within thirty days after the agreement becomes effective all employes of the four companies, excepting the supervisory and administratory forces, shall become members in good standing of either the Ice and Cold Storage Workers' Union No. 20356 or of a local union of a national or international union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor having jurisdiction over the work performed. New employes will be given two weeks in which to apply and become members of the union.

In case of a dispute concerning the proper organization having jurisdiction over any employe, the decision of the Executive Council of the American Federation shall decide the dispute.

Portland Upholsterers' Union Signs Pacts With Two Firms

Portland, Ore.—The Portland Upholsterers' union reports excellent progress in gaining new members and in securing agreements with employers. Union contracts were recently signed with the Bunnett Venetian Blind company and Fishel's Columbia Awning and Supply company.

Oglesby City Council Pays Library Janitor Union Rate

Oglesby, Ill.—The city council of Oglesby, following overtures made by a committee of the Building Service Employes' local union, raised the wages of the janitor of the public library from $50 to $75 per month for 100 hours of work. This is in accordance with the new wage scale of 75 cents an hour fixed by the union.

LONGSHOREMEN SEE CIO AS "THREAT" TO LABOR

NEW ORLEANS.—Condemning the tion as a "subversive group," the Gulf Committee for Industrial Organiza- Coast district of the International Longshoremen's association in convention at Lake Charles, La., reaffirmed its American Federation of Labor affiliation. A resolution criticized the CIO as a "dire threat to legitimate international labor unions." It dedicated the ILA policy to "purging its ranks of both Communists and any membership that advocates the principles of the CIO."

The industrial organization committee, the resolutions said, is founded on "the same principles as those of the now defunct Industrial Workers of the World and the Maritime Federation."

CARDUI

In this modern time something wonderfully worth while can be done for practically every woman who suffers from functional pains of menstruation. Certain cases can be relieved by taking Cardui. Others may need a physician's treatment.

Cardui has two widely demonstrated uses: (1) To ease the immediate pain and nervousness of the monthly period; and (2) to aid in building up the whole system by helping women to get more strength from their food.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

Whereas, on the 15th day of January, 1932, Roy H. Jones and wife, Anna C. Jones, of Hamilton County, Tennessee, executed a deed of trust conveying the property hereinafter described and advertised for sale, to Hamilton National Bank of Chattanooga, Tennessee, Trustee, which said deed of trust was filed for registration March 2, 1932, and recorded in Book G, Vol. 26, page 469, et seq., in the Register's office of Hamilton County, Tennessee; and,

Whereas, said deed of trust was executed for the purpose of securing the payment of a certain indebtedness, fully described in the said deed of trust, to which reference is made for a complete description; and default has been made in the payment of the said indebtedness secured by said deed of trust and interest thereon, and the said Roy H. Jones and wife, Anna C. Jones, have failed to perform covenants in the note evidencing the indebtedness, and have failed to perform covenants in said deed of trust, and have remained in default for more than thirty days, and the holder of said indebtedness has made demand upon the undersigned trustee to sell the property conveyed by said deed of trust, as therein provided, to satisfy the payment of said indebtedness and interest, as said holder of said indebtedness has a right to do under the terms of said deed of trust:

Now, therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in the undersigned as Trustee, Hamilton National Bank of Chattanooga, as Trustee, will, on

sell, within the legal hours of sale, at the west door of the Court House in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at public outcry, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, in bar of all equities of redemption, dower and homestead, the following described real estate in the City of Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, to-wit:

Lot No 18, North Chattanooga Land Company's Subdivision of part of the Cowart Estate, as shown by plat thereof of record in Plat Book 1, page 28, of the Register's Office of Hamilton, Tennessee. Said lot fronts 50 feet on the east line of North Market Street and extends back eastwardly, of uniform width, a distance of 150 feet to the west line of Hamilton Avenue. Being the same property that was conveyed by F. L. Underwood and wife to Roy H. Jones and wife, Anna C. Jones, by deed registered in Book Q, Vol. 23, page 585, of the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee.

Said deed of trust recites that title to the said property is clear, free and unencumbered, and title thereto is believed to be good, but the sale will be made as Trustee only, and subject to any unpaid taxes.

A. F. of L. Auto Service Union Signs Pact With 19 Pittsburgh Tire Companies

Agreement Includes 48-hour Week, Wage Rates, Vacations With Pay, Arbitration of Grievances, and Ban on Strikes and Lockouts.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—An outstanding agreement carrying a number of good features was recently negotiated here by Automobile, Accessory and Service Station Employes' Union No. 20511, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, and nineteen Pittsburgh tire companies.

The agreement provides that 48 hours shall constitute a week's work and limits work on three consecutive days to 32 hours. The 7-day week rule is qualified with the provision that each employe shall receive one day off in every seven days.

Three Wage-Rate Periods.

The monthly wage rates carried in the agreement are:

Station attendants—Starting rate, $90; after 6 months, $95; after 1 year, $100.

General service men, battery service men, tire service men, lubricators, vulcanizer and retread helpers—Starting rate, $100; after 6 months, $105; after 1 year, $119.

Vulcanizers and retreaders—Starting rate, $120; after 6 months, $125; after one year, $135.

Brake and ignition men—Starting rate, $115; after 6 months, $120; after 1 year, $125.

One week's vacation with pay is granted to each employe with one year's continuous service in the employ of the company.

The principle of seniority is recognized for reducing the force and making additions to the force.

Adjustment of Grievances.

For adjusting grievances an employe or his representative is required to present the matter to the management with 48 hours, with the provision that in case a grievance is not adjusted within 10 days in conference between the representatives of the union and the representatives of the company the matter shall be referred to an arbitration board of three members, one selected by the company, one by the union, and the third by the first two.

In case the arbitration board is unable to agree on a chairman within ten days, the selection shall be made by joint submission to the Pennsylvania secretary of labor and industry, or the commissioner of conciliation of the U. S. department of labor, preference being in the order named. The decision of the arbitration board is final and binding on all concerned.

The agreement also contains the provision that "employes shall not cease work, strike, or be locked out during negotiations for settlement of any differences that may arise."

In negotiating the agreement the local union was assisted by H. A. Bradley, A. F. of L. organizer and president of the Pittsburgh Gasoline Station Employes' union.

Bottle Stopper Firm Signs A. F. of L. Pact

Closed Shop Agreement With Pittsburgh Company Establishes 40-Hour Week and Provides for Arbitration of Disputes.

A closed shop agreement has been negotiated by United Crown Workers' Union No. 20723, of Pittsburgh, Pa., directly affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, and the Pittsburgh Stopper company, manufacturer of crowns for beer bottles.

In the agreement, covering about sixty employes, the company recognizes the principle of collective bargaining and accepts the union as the sole bargaining agent for the employes.

Union Membership Provision.

There is a stipulation in the agreement that all employes of the company except foremen and higher officials shall become members of the union within 15 days after it becomes effective. The company is given full discretion in hiring new employes, with the important qualification that such new employes shall also become members of the union within the period of 15 days.

The work week is fixed at 40 hours with the alternative of five eight-hour days for five days beginning with Monday, or seven hours per day for five days beginning with Monday and five hours Saturday forenoon. Time and one-half for regular overtime is provided and double time for holiday work.

In case employes are required to report for work but are not used, they shall be paid for two hours straight time.

If the working force is reduced, employes shall be laid off and re-employed according to seniority of service.

Use of Union Label.

The union agrees to make the necessary arrangements with the American Federation of Labor and its affiliated organizations for the use of the union label appropriate to its products.

Grievances that cannot be settled between union representatives and the management will be referred to a board of arbitration, arranged mutually by the union and company representatives, with a chairman or umpire chosen by such representatives if possible; if they cannot agree on the chairman, the choice will be made by either the secretary of labor of the U. S. department of labor or the secretary of labor and industry of Pennsylvania, preference being given in the order named. The board's decision will be final and binding on both the company and the union.

Because of the provisions for adjusting disputes, both strikes and lockouts are banned during the life of the agreement.

Furniture Workers Win Strike Against Wage Cut

Nashville, Mich.—An agreement settling a strike of forty employes of a Nashville furniture factory, negotiated by the newly-organized Furniture Workers' union, carried a wage increase of 5 cents an hour and a minimum rate of 35 cents an hour, pending further negotiations. Three men discharged for labor activity were reinstated. Before the strike the wages in the plant were reported as running from 20 cents to 45 cents an hour.

The employes were not organized when they declared the strike, which closed the plant. J. L. Sage, A. F. of L. organizer in the Battle Creek area, entered the scene, organized the strikers in a furniture workers' union, and assisted the union in negotiating the agreement.

Gas Station Union Wins Four Closed Shop Pacts

St. Louis, Mo.—Closed shop agreements were recently negotiated here with the Goodyenr Tire and Rubber company, the Goodrich company, the R. N. Wood company and the Independent Oil company by Gasoline Service Station and Warehouse Employes Union Local No. 18362.

The agreements increased the wages, decreased the hours and bettered the work conditions for thirty-five men, according to I. L. Frowitter, secretary of the union.

CLOAKMAKERS WIN INCREASE IN PAY AND 32½-HOUH WEEK

New York City.—More than 50,000 cloakmakers won an increase in wages under terms of a basic wage and hour agreement between the joint board of the Cloakmakers' union, affiliated with the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union, and employers' associations.

The agreement provides increases of 10 per cent for all piece workers, comprising about 50 per cent of the employes, and a flat $5 for week workers, with a 32½-hour week.

While immediate wage increases are promised, the clause will not become effective until June, 1939. David Dubinsky, union president, said the delay was provided to avoid conflict with union contracts in other areas that do not expire until 1939.

Baltimore Federal Labor Union Wins Holtite Strike

Baltimore, Md.—The strike of members of Federal Labor Union No. 20777, directly affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, against the Holtite Manufacturing company was settled by an agreement calling for improved work conditions. Anna Neary, A. F. of L. representative here, assisted the union in the negotiations.

DELICIOUS
furnishes CALCIUM needed for FIRM, SHINING TEETH

WE are sure that if adults really knew the importance of milk in maintaining their teeth in sound, healthy condition they would drink it every day

But for one reason or another, some people don't care for milk. They just won't drink it.

That's where KRIM-KO Chocolate Flavored Drink comes to the rescue. Here, in a delicious form, is a food beverage that is ever so easy, ever so pleasant to take.

KRIM-KO is equal to milk in food energy value—rich in calcium and phosphorus, those two "ingredients" which not only build but maintain straight, strong bones and firm, sound teeth. Taken in place of concentrated sweets, it satisfies sugar hunger without "piling on pounds."

Order delicious KRIM-KO now. Make it a part of your regular "beauty treatment." You'll be richly rewarded.

Wage and Hour Bill Needs Strong Support

Legislative Jam May Bring Defeat To Labor Measure

Hope for Proposed Law Rests in Quick Action of Labor Forces for Early Enactment.

Whether the wage and hour bill es through to enactment in this ession depends almost entirely upon bor and members of congress who e friends of labor and are quietly ending out the cry for help.

The cry is for labor to go into ction.

Some members, ordinarily friends f labor, are telling friends quietly at they are glad of the chance to dge on an issue in which labor ows no deep interest.

Other members, earnest in their riendship, frankly say they wish abor would turn on the heat so as to heck the weak ones.

With the passing of Congressman Connery, an entirely new phase enters the house of representatives labor picture.

Hague in the Saddle.

Mary Norton, new chairman of the ouse labor committee ,is utterly responsive to the wishes of Boss Frank Hague, of Jersey City, capital of her ongressional district. Thus Frank Hague, less liked by labor now than ome time ago, assumes from his Jersey bailiwick a big place in the naional labor legislative picture. Frank Hague has to be counted in now.

Up to this time Congresswoman Norton has been extremely cautious n doing or saying anything about the wage and hour bill. If and when it reaches the floor in the house it will e piloted, not by her, but by Congressman Robert Ramspeck. Ram-

Erskine Mabee, secretary of Chattanooga Central Body, announced this week that over 65 per cent of the restaurants in Chattanooga had signified a willingness to meet with the Culinary Workers' union Thursday to form plans which will endeavor to make conditions in the restaurant industry more uniform and which will alleviate bad competition.

Membership of the Culinary Workers' union has reached the 500 mark, and it is believed that as a result of this conference the entire city will become unionized.

DRIVE STARTED AS AFL GROUPS HOLD MEETING

Hedges-Walsh-Weidner Employes Hear Organizers Announce Campaign.

C. R. Fox Invites Textile Workers to Come Into AFL Charters—Headquarters to Be Set Up Here in Two Weeks.

Speaking for George L. Googe, southern representative of the American Federation of Labor, C. R. Fox, AFL representative, told attendants at a Hedges-Walsh-Weidner rally last Saturday morning in the Memorial auditorium that offices would be set up in Chattanooga in two weeks for the purpose of organizing the unorganized into American Federation of Labor unions.

The rally was attended by about 300 employes of the Hedges plant, which is already over the half-way mark in organization for the AFL. The foundry department of the plant is 100 per cent in the molders' union.

Fox stated that "the American Federation of Labor believes that the time is auspicious for it to start its campaign. The CIO has had several months in which to show results, and it is apparent that it cannot deliver on its promises. From now on the real labor movement of America will extend a helping hand in telling workers that there is a place for them in the AFL regardless of the kind of work they do.

"We are assured that here in Chattanooga a majority of the textile workers want the American Federation to bargain for them—that they are wanting the sane policies of the AFL and not the dictatorial and destructive rule-or-ruin policies of the CIO."

At the rally representatives from the various crafts in the Hedges plants spoke, telling a bit of the history of the 57-year-old federation and the dangers of the CIO.

Pressmen Land Higher Pay In Pact With Columbus Firm

Columbus, O.—Local Union No. 62, International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' union, of Columbus, recently secured a three-year union contract with the Ohio Wax Paper company, with many advantages. ## Truce Declared With Atlantic Co. and Bldg. Trades

Announcement has just been made that a truce has been declared with the Atlantic Brewery for a few days while negotiations are being carried on which it is believed will result in satisfactory agreements being made.

The Chattanooga Building Trades council declared war on the local brewery because of some non-union work being done at the location of the brewery. Officials of the Brewery Workers' union, with the building trades, have been discussing the situation with Atlantic management, resulting in the whole dispute being taken to the Atlanta office.

It is believed that during the truce peace will be secured.

C. I. O. in Philadelphia Defeated by A. F. of L.

Employes of Freihofer and Ward Bakery Companies Roll Up Large Majorities for American Federation of Labor Teamsters and Bakery Workers Unions as Bargaining Agencies.

Philadelphia.—The American Federation of Labor defeated the committee for industrial organization in the fight for exclusive rights to organize the baking industry in this area. The fight was precipitated by the action of the C. I. O. Bakery Workers Industrial union in claiming the right to organize the employes of the Freihofer and Ward Bakery companies here.

This scheme was opposed by Bakery and Confectionery Workers' International Union Local No. 6, with jurisdiction over inside bakery workers, and by International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers Local No. 463, with jurisdiction over teamsters.

Teamsters Declare "Holiday."

The crisis in the controversy was accentuated when the C. I. O. union announced that it had negotiated agreements with the two baking companies. A a protest against this action, six of the seven locals composing the joint Teamsters Council No. 53 declared a city-wide "holiday" on the part of the teamsters, which brought business activity in Philadelphia and its surrounding area to the edge of paralysis, including the suspension of publication of five daily papers and two daily papers in Camden, N. J.

Election Favors A. F. of L.

Following conferences at the city hall convened by Mayor Wilson the teamsters and bakers unions agreed to settle the controversy by a vote of the employes of the two companies on the question of whether they wished to be represented by the

Mr. Tom Spalding, popular reporter of the Chattanooga Times, and incidentally one of the best news writers, many say, who has ever been employed by a local newspaper, is what his friends believe today the first victim of the movement to organize news writers and others connected with daily papers. Mr. Spalding was summarily fired by council of big-wigs on the morning paper following immediately some alleged remarks which he made, it is related, in a jocular vein, which reflected on the extreme dignity of one Julian LaRose ("The Rose") Harris, who was imported into Chattanooga some few months ago following the passing of Mr. Adolph S. Ochs and the subsequent determination of the Times to go ritzy, and after, it is said, Harris had failed to lift the people of various other communities out of their darkness into the light.

Upon request of Brewery Workers' Local 79, and after investigation by the executive board of Chattanooga Central Labor union, Canada Dry products have been declared "unfair to organized labor."

The Chattanooga Building Trades council last night voted to support the brewery workers actively.

RELIGION MUST NOT ENTER IN LABOR DISPUTE

Central Body Condemns Revivalist for "Butting In." Says He Smacks of Fascism Which Is Dangerous to Democratic Principles.

Declaring that one Jackie Burris is "an enemy of organized labor, as a defiler of the Christian pulpit, as an enemy of democracy and a harbinger of fascism," Chattanooga Central Labor union Monday night condemned the practice of exponents of religion entering into internal labor disputes.

Although Central Body itself is greatly opposed to the CIO, it felt that the haranguing attacks made on the CIO by this Jackie Burris smacks of vigilante methods and might become an element which will disturb the peace of the community and which, in the future, if condoned now, might be used later against other labor organizations.

The resolution in full follows:

Whereas, one Jackie Burris has carried on a vicious campaign of slander and vilification against organized labor in Chattanooga during the past few weeks; and,

Whereas, this racketeer has hypocritically masqueraded under the banner of the religion of Jesus Christ; and,

Whereas, Burris' manner of living strongly indicates sources of income other than the collection plate; and,

Whereas, his tactics have all the earmarks of incipient fascism; and,

Whereas, Chattanooga has a labor conciliation board for the purpose of taking care of labor disputes and does not need the services of one of Burris' ilk; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we of the Chattanooga Central Labor union meeting July 12, 1937, condemn the said Jackie Burris as an enemy of organized labor, as a defiler of the Christian pulpit, as an enemy of democracy and as a harbinger of fascism; and, be it

Resolved, That we advise all friends of organized labor, of industrial peace, and of American freedom and democracy to have nothing to do with the self-styled "Reverend" Burris and his vigilante gang; and, be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to The Labor World, the daily press and to Jackie Burris.

Sells Advertising for Labor World

MR. A. T. ROBERTS

Advertising man of wide experience, who will assist in selling advertising for Labor day edition.

Planning the most ambitious Labor day issue in its history, The Labor World has employed Mr. A. T. Roberts, an advertising man of wide experience, to devote his entire time to the solicitation of advertising for this edition.

Mr. Roberts is a Georgian who has been in Chattanooga for more than a year, and has made many friends and acquaintances here. He has been connected with several reputable concerns and has established for himself a reputation of great merit.

The Labor World belongs to the union people of Chattanooga, and members of the various crafts can materially assist in making the Labor day edition a success by telephoning the names of concerns they think might be interested and by boosting for the edition.

Referring to the edition, Mr. T. R. Cuthbert, editor of The Labor World, said: "We have felt that the business and industrial concerns of Chattanooga would welcome this occasion to lend indorsement to the American Federation of Labor. The task was too large for our present staff. We have had Mr. Roberts under observation since he came to Chattanooga, and feel that he can render a very distinct service in connection with this issue. We recommend him to the business and industrial interests of Chattanooga, and will appreciate any favors shown him."

CIO Has Failed in First Major Test, Green Says

Washington.—The strike against the Republic Steel corporation and other independent steel companies has been "lost" and the committee for industrial organization has "failed to meet its first major test successfully," President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor, said in a statement issued here.

"The hosts of labor are truly sorry because of the failure of the costly experiment and its tragic outcome," President Green added. "They regret that thousands of workers were persuaded to sacrifice themselves as victims of ill-advised and untimely strikes."

Green said there were outstanding reasons why the strikes were lost. The reasons he cited were:

First, only a minority of the steel workers employed were organized when the strikes were called. Second, public opinion was aroused because of the "violent policies pursued by the CIO in the automobile and steel industries during the past year." Public opinion "became openly hostile," he asserted.

Green declared that the policies of the CIO have brought the threat of repressive legislation against labor all over the country and that as a result, the American Federation of Labor must intensify its fight against anti-labor legislation such as compulsory arbitration, the incorporation of unions and restrictions on labor's right to organize and strike.

Spokane Bakery Union Wins Pay Increase for 300 Workers

Spokane, Wash.—The Bakery and Confectionery Workers' union here secured a new contract with employers, bringing wage increases for about 300 workers, which is about 95 per cent of all bakers employed in Seattle.

DEFENDS NEGRO MEDICO RIGHTS WITH ERLANGER

Central Body Petitions Board of Trustees to Admit All Competent Doctors.

Says That Public Hospital Should Be Open for All Citizens Regardless of Race or Creed.

Looking forward to the time when Chattanooga will have its new million-dollar hospital, Chattanooga Central Labor union last Monday night asked the Erlanger board of trustees to allow negro doctors who conform to medical standards to practice in that institution.

At present negro patients in Erlanger do not have the privilege of securing the services of physicians of their own race. Since the hospital is a public institution it is felt that the bars should be let down, excluding no one because of race or creed.

The resolution says:

Whereas, the negro physicians of Chattanooga have never been allowed to practice their profession in Erlanger hospital; and,

Whereas, this is a public hospital to which all citizens should have equal access whether as patients or as practicing physicians or surgeons; and,

Whereas, the reason for this discrimination in the past has been attributed to lack of facilities; and,

Whereas, with the building of a new $1,000,000 unit adequate provisions can be made to accommodate negroes as well as whites; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Central Labor union of Chattanooga in regular session assembled, this 12th day of July, 1937, hereby go on record as favoring the free entrance to the public hospital of all competent physicians and surgeons according to standard practices and without regard to race, color or creed; and be it further

Resolved, That we petition the board of trustees and the building committee to make such provisions and regulations as are necessary to accomplish this purpose, the civic, spiritual and physical welfare of Chattanooga demanding it; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be given to the individual members of the board of trustees and to the building committee, to The Labor World and to the daily press.

Tennessee Paper Mill Workers Get A. F. L. Charter

At a meeting last week the employes of the Tennessee Paper mills perfected a local organization, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

The officers elected were: President, Creed R. Schnee; vice-president, John Christian; financial secretary, Delmas McGhee; recording secretary, Carl Travis; treasurer, J. I. Brown; conductor, George Durham; sentinel, Luther Hostetter; board of trustees, T. Floyd, Clinton Worley and J. D. LeMay.

This local starts off with nearly a 100% membership and promises to be of great benefit to the community, as well as to the paper industry.

These employes were assisted in organizing by W. R. Barney, business agent for the International Association of Machinists.

Auto Workers' Head Promises No More Unauthorized Strikes

Detroit.—President Homer Martin, of the United Automobile Workers of America, has announced his union would demonstrate to General Motors corporation "through actions rather than words" that unauthorized sit-down strikes are a thing of the past.

Challenged by William S. Knudsen, G. M. president, to guarantee the cessation of all unauthorized strikes, Martin said:

"There have been no unauthorized strikes since the union's executive committee voted to punish locals and their members who fostered illegal sit-downs. There won't be any more such strikes, either."

Violence Threats Feared at Mascot Plant With Gunplay

Affidavit Made That Striker Was Told Plant Would Be Opened by Force and That He Might Be Shot If He Stayed Around the Place.

According to an affidavit made by a striker at the Mascot Stove Company, closed for several weeks by AFL unions, a foreman of the plant ominously predicted that the company might open the plant by force and that guns would be used to break the strike.

The threat was supposed to have been made last Monday, which was immediately transmitted to the chief of police, who is keeping in close touch with affairs on the picket line. So far there has been no disorder, and the chief said that he did not believe that there would be disorders.

The Labor World reproduces the affidavit made:

"July 12, 1937.

"Sworn statement made by B. F. Jarrall, regarding statement made to him by T. B. Hannah, foreman of Mascot Stove company, that the plant would be opened 'soon' by force:

"Today at about 4:30 p.m. T. B. Hannah, foreman at Mascot, called me was going to last.' He also said: 'You had better get right. We are going to open this plant by force. If you want to sit here and get shot, that's all right.' Regarding affidavits made previously against him and the company he said: 'If they feel that way to him and asked me 'how long this about it I am ready to go to war with any of them.'

"B. F. Jarrall.

"The above statement made in my presence and sworn to.

IN THE NEWS
ROBERT RAMSPECK

Robert Ramspeck, of Georgia, 47 years old, is one of the congressional champions of labor who have come to Washington from the deep south. He is ranking member of the labor committee of the house; and one of the most influential labor men in that body. A little below medium height, fair complexion, thoughtful face, he is not a whit spectacular under ordinary circumstances.

But when the need arises, he can show fireworks. A pure, unmixed product of his state, born, reared, educated in Georgia—he campaigned for Al Smith in 1928; and told an audience whose male members he knew largely belonged to the Ku Klux Klan that under the original charter and purpose of the Klan, Al Smith could have been a member, and subscribed to its original ritual. And proved it.

Southern papers spread the sotry of that speech all over the front pages; and the sheer nerve displayed in making it probably helped Ramspeck in his election to congress.

Teamsters and Chauffeurs Of Bay City Get Charter

Bay City, Mich.—The newly organized local of the Teamsters' and Chauffeurs' Brotherhood at Bay City was presented with their charter by President Earl Shaw, of the Bay City Federation of Labor, at a rousing meeting of drivers overflowing with enthusiasm.

The Hard Lot of Henry Ford

Henry Ford must feel himself a much aggrieved man these these days. People just won't let him alone. For instance:

The national labor relations board has held hearings on charges that Ford is alternately bullying and wheedling his employes to keep them from joining a union; and has even resorted to violence on this account.

A state judge, Ralph W. Liddy, after sitting for a month as a one-man grand jury, returned fifteen indictments against Ford's company and employes, charging them with assault to do great bodily harm. Warrants have been issued, and some of them have been served.

To a man like Henry Ford, accustomed to despotic control of an industry for more than thirty years, and totally unacquainted with any human activity not connected with mechanics, this must seem sheer persecution. What if he has threatened and blarneyed his workers to keep them out of unions? They're his workers, ain't they? What if he did have Richard Frankensteen beaten up? The fellow was interfering with Ford's business. He was actually passing out to Ford workers leaflets which contradicted almost everything that Ford had told them for years. He deserved a beating.

This, so far as anybody can tell, is the way Ford's mind is working. For more than thirty years, he has been a despot. When he found himself needing cash, he shipped unordered cars to his dealers and drew sight drafts on them for the amounts. Many of them went broke under the strain; but most of them managed to borrow money and pay the drafts. When he wanted his engineers to work out a new model, he closed his plant, and left his workers to charity or starvation. He knew, he told a reporter in New York, that the experience was doing them good.

Perhaps this experience is doing Henry good. At least, it is something new.

Take It! or Leave It

Points of View Picked Up From Various Sources

CY KOLOGY, EDITOR

Smoke gets in your eyes and all manner of things get in your hair. "These are parlous times" quoth—or quoted—a labor leader the other day. He was right, though mild. Shootings, riots, milling around—what's the sense of it?

The national labor relations act was enacted to promote peace. Peace, peace, but there is no peace! Boil and bubble. Raise hell and put blocks under it. If you know the plural of ultimatum you have it—the air rings with em', men sit up nights writing 'em. Proclamations sound and resound. Adjectives are thicker than cooties in war time. Great days, these, great days.

So what? Nobody knows. There is a contagion of violence and irrational action. There is an epidemic of to hell with things.

Employers can look back upon their long, long record of bullish opposition to organization and there find the handwriting that forecast today's maulings and caterwaulings. But do they do it? No, they do not. They take unto themselves a robe of self-righteousness and say, "Look at labor, the horrible thing."

Great guys, they are. Who remembers the Associated Industries epidemic of post-war days? Dragons teeth were sown in those days. Great big ones. They come home to bite 'em.

But there is something sobering back of the whole embattled array. You can go about as far in creating battle conditions and then it becomes a habit. Habits persist. They grow as often as they diminish. They are hard to tame. They can get the upper hand completely. They can ruin the works. They can make all things go smash, like a tray full of glassware falling downstairs. They can make fine aspirations as flat as a toy balloon touched by a lighted cigarette. Explosives are used for both beneficent and destructive purposes. The books are full of morals and platitudes and mottoes and axioms. But this is a living thing, this phenomenon of today. It responds to the laws of life—and remember, not all life is tame. Originally all life was wild—the spark lingers most everywhere, to be revived.

Some day learned gents will write books about today—about what happened and why and so on. Today all that can be done is to be done by using the old head as carefully as possible. Plenty are giving little thought to tomorrow's consequences. It is a good idea to stop, now and then, for a moment, to have a look ahead, to make a survey, to take soundings. Deep water can float great ships, and in it they can also flounder and go plunk to the bottom. There is plenty of deep water just now—all over the place.

MORE ABOUT WAGE-HOUR BILL

speck has a fine labor record, but he doesn't appear to be boiling with energy about the wages and hours bill.

Bill Faces Log Jam.

There is a strong likelihood that the bill will be strangled in a legislative jam. The senate committee has reported the bill out, hoping the house would adopt its report. The house committee members seem to have no great appetite for that, preferring to make their own report.

With two widely differing reports, a jam may come through inability to get agreement in conference. There are indications that some of the strategy being used is for the deliberate purpose of tying up the bill.

Labor, with a load of work and trouble on the industrial field, isn't burning the sidewalks to get to Capitol Hill these days. But labor's demand for the bill has been registered clearly enough and most of the important suggestions of both labor divisions have been fairly well met.

Labor Forces Must Act.

However, friends in congress make it fairly clear that unless labor really and earnestly turns on the heat and steams up its demand, the wage and hour bill may easily be among the casualties of this session. The court bill is being used as an excuse, but the court bill may be washed out of the way quickly. Then will come the danger of a quick adjournment before labor knows what has happened.

Those who point out these serious possibilities are unwilling to be quoted, but they beg that somebody should sound the alarm which they are in position to sound publicly and although they are eager to do their share in congress in helping to register a response.

The current issue of the Machinists' Journal carries an article about the salmon industry. This year, for the first time in its history, the $50,000,000 Pacific coast canned salmon industry, employing 25,000 workers, is unionized in all its branches. In addition to machinists, workers in nearly every craft affiliated with the American Federation of Labor have a part in bringing the salmon to the grocer's shelf.

And so the Machinists' Journal says, "Remember that canned salmon is now 'union-made'; that it is about the cheapest and at the same time one of the most healthful foods you can buy."

Incidentally, salmon makes an attractive, appetizing salad for these hot days.

Carpenters and Upholsterers Unions Win Dispute With Kroehler Furniture Company

Kankakee Plant Agreement Recognizes the Unions and Reinstates Discharged Union Officers With Back Pay; Strikebreakers Are Dismissed.

The United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America and the Upholsterers International Union of North America have won a considerable victory in their dispute with the Knoehler Furniture company in a consent decree entered by the company's lawyers before Trial Examiner John P. Lindsay, of the national labor relations board at Kankakee, Ill., which settles disputes with the unions at that point, the company's headquarters.

The company, which is one of the largest furniture manufacturers in the United States, with plants scattered throughout the middle west and on the Pacific coast, has hitherto been one of the outstanding enemies of organized labor.

Under the Kankakee decree the company agrees to reinstate 19 employes who were union officials and stewards discharged on September 30, 1936, at the end of a 16-day strike "because of a conspiracy to retard production." The decree also awards a total back pay of $12,500 to the 19 men.

In addition, one Neil Cecil (Red) Vickery, a notorious strikebreaker and former pugilist, and seven of his "athletes" must leave the employment of the company, under the terms of the agreement.

The unions are recognized for collective bargaining purposes and the company agrees to submit to the rules and regulations of the national labor relations board, which it had previously flouted.

"Red" Vickery had the title of "recreational and athletic director" for the company. He and his coterie of "athletes" picketed union meetings in attempts, it was charged, to intimidate the employes. Details regarding Vickery's criminal record were produced in evidence before the examiner of the national labor relations board.

When workers pick up clubs to fight strikebreakers, they are called "rioters." When "business men" form armed gangs to keep men from joining labor unions, they are called "vigilantes."

A. F of L. Unions Gain $500,000 Wage Increase for Milwaukee Hotel Workers

Milwaukee, Wis.—Agreements providing annual wage increases of around $500,000 for more than 1,500 employes of fifteen of Milwaukee's largest hotels were negotiated here by locals of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' Alliance, Laundry Workers union, Operating Engineers, and the Milwaukee Building Trades council.

Wage increases range from 25 to 60 per cent, according to classification. Hours for women are limited to 48 per week and to 54 for men. Laundry workers are put on a 44-hour week and the skilled crafts on a 40-hour basis.

The agreement provides for an arbitration committee to adjust grievances, and includes provisions against strikes and lockouts.

The unions reserve the right to refuse to go through picket lines in strikes properly authorized but beyond their control.

The Service that adds Comfort to Your Home

During these hot summer days, the time you save with a telephone to aid in settling daily problems may be the difference between a day that worries your nerves into a frazzle, and a day that includes the time you need for relaxation.

There are so many details in running a household. An extra loaf of bread from the grocer—a six o'clock order of ice cream from the drugstore—and so on. And with a telephone to run your errands, many concerns of the day are easily disposed of.

Of course, most everyone is familiar with the value of telephone service, but if you are trying to get along without a telephone you may be surprised, and pleased, to know how little it costs to have a telephone in your home.

All you need to do is to ask any telephone employe, or get in touch with the telephone Business Office. Order your telephone today, and add comfort to your home.

PENNSYLVANIA STRIKES BLOW AT EMPLOYER STRIKE VIOLENCE

* * * * * * * * *

State Puts Drastic Curbs on Employment of Deputy Sheriffs, in Move to Bring Orderly Settlements of Labor Difficulties.

Harrisburg, Pa. — Pennsylvania's law regulating the employment of d eputy sheriffs and prohibiting such deputies from receiving payment from private companies went into effect on July 5.

Briefly, this law prohibits the employment as deputy sheriffs of Any man convicted of a crime, no matter where or when;

Any man not a citizen of the United States, with two years' residence in the county where he is to be used;

Any man who has served a corporation as deputy, detective or company policeman during any strike in the two years prior to his appointment.

Sheriffs may not deputize more than one man to each 3,000 of the county's population. He must post in a public place a list of citizens who have applied for badges. Anyone making false statements to obtain a badge may be prosecuted for perjury. No weapons—gas bombs, machine guns or anything else—belonging to or bought by a corporation can be used by the police.

"Hereafter," says Ralph M. Bashore, state secretary of labor and industry, "labor difficulties will be settled in Pennsylvania by orderly processes.

"No thugs, strike-breakers, crooks or criminals will be able to work while masquerading as police, detectives, deputy sheriffs, vigilantes, law-and-order-leaguers or whatever other name they wish to hide their intentions under."

American Federation of Labor unions or the C. I. O. union, the election to be held at the city hall. The agreement to hold the election ended the one-day strike.

The election resulted in a big victory for the American Federation of Labor unions.

The employes of the Freihofer Bakery cast 631 votes for the American Federation of Labor and 519 votes for the C. I. O.; ten ballos were thrown out.

The employes of the Ward bakery cast 111 for the American Federation of Labor and 35 for the C. I. O.

It was stated here that the defeat of the C. I. O. in the two bakeries meant that it would make no further attempts to organize either inside bakers or truckers employed in the baking industry in the Philadelphia area, which is estimated to give employment to 14,000 men and women.

A few days prior to the teamsters "holiday" the Joint Teamsters Council voted to raise a fund of $25,000 per week to fight the attempted inroads of the C. I. O. in eastern Pennsylvania and southern New Jersey. The council is composed of six unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor and represents an overwhelming majority of truck drivers in the Philadelphia area.

JULIAN 'LA POSE'

Mr. Spalding has been active and outspoken in his advocacy of organization and has taken a prominent part in the formation of a local chapter of the guild. It has been apparent to old-timers since the recent visitation of the great Adler-Ochs-Julius, dictator of the New York Times and the Chattanooga Times, that agitation in favor of the Guild of news writers on the morning paper is dangerous to the well-being of any who have the temerity to insist on their American rights to hold an opinion of their own.

Mr. Spalding, it is related, made the fatal error of stating that another Chattanooga daily was issuing a good paper, and that his fellow-employes should wake up and meet the situation. He did not, of course, consider the possibility that a "stool-pigeon" was within earshot and might hot-foot it to the seat of government, and receive the plaudits of the council for relating the whole horrible details. His greatest crime, however, was when he inadvertently, perhaps, referred to Julian "The Rose" as Julian "The Pose." Horrors! This, of course, was considered les majeste.

Had not "The Rose" been imported to Chattanooga in order to instill some culture, etc., into the benighted heathens of these here mountains, to purify and to lead and advise on the various activities of the citizens of this poor community?

Tom Spalding, his friends contend, a common, ordinary reporter, dared to get fresh with the mighty "Rose."

He was called into conference (a sort of court-martial) and, the story goes, in effect was asked by the general appointed for this duty:

"Did you say that another publication was issuing a good paper?"

"Yes," he replied.

"Did you refer to Julian 'The Rose' as Julian 'The Pose?'"

"Yes, sir," replied poor Tom.

"You're fired!" was the verdict.

And the jury never even retired. Sentence was imposed without any further consultation or argument on the part of the great powers that control the destiny of our morning oracle, according to reports.

Old-time trade unionists recall the time when that paper was one of the bitterest enemies of organized labor among the publications in the entire United States. They also recall that this attitude was suddenly softened to a considerable extent when the cash register in the counting room began to show a noticeable decrease in its clicking, and the voice of the citizenship began to be raised against their unfair and unbridled statements and implications against people who work for a living.

The hand of the late Adolph S. Ochs was seen in the change in attitude of our morning paper, but veterans in the movement are skeptical as to any possibility of a reinstatement or a continuation of the high and honorable ethics always insisted upon by the late lamented publisher.

Inquiry among members of the local chapter of Newspaper Guild failed to develop any definite information as to what stand the organization may take in the summary discharge of Mr. Spalding, but there appeared to be an underlying sentiment that the incident might mean the beginning of a battle locally which may attain proportions undreamed of by the (lately) ritzy management of the Chattanooga Times and its "cultured," imported editorial writer and sub-dictator.

Legislative Committee for Labor and Big Four Brotherhoods Release Report on Events of 1937 General Assembly; Cite Failure of Governor to Pass any Labor Legislation; Says Legislators Dominated by Him; Blame for Failure of Child Labor Amendment Is Browning's.

Gordon Browning, governor of Tennessee, is charged with being entirely out of harmony with our great national leader and benefactor—President Roosevelt—in the biennial report of the legislative committee of the Tennessee Federation of Labor and the Big Four Railroad Brotherhoods, released this week.

Coupled with this is the flat declaration:

"In our humble judgment, based on a period of many years of observation, neither party as it is now dominated is responsive to the best interest of the state. Tennessee is more corporation ridden than any other state in the union, barring none."

Declaring the general assembly of 1937 has been almost entirely responsive to the governor's will, the report makes the charge of his lack of sympathy with human welfare in these words:

"Practically all of the legislation which had his approval has been en-

As a result of the conference held last Thursday with fifty-two operators of restaurants and cafes and Local 574, Culinary Workers, signatures were obtained to contracts with revised wage schedules and hour provisions. The closed shop was recognized.

Wages to be paid range from $8 per week for waitresses to $18 for waiters. Male employes will work a maximum of 63 hours weekly and 56 hours for women.

Price and one-half shall be paid as overtime.

Creighton's and S & W cafes are still being picketed because of their refusal to deal with the union.

It is believed that from day to day other signatures will be received.

The Newspaper Guild of Chattanooga furnished a statement to The Labor World yesterday relating to the account, published in this space last week, of the severance of connections between Tom Spalding, a reporter who was a member of the Guild, and the Chattanooga Times.

The Guild statement said:

"The Labor World's account of the Spalding case was incorrect. The Newspaper Guild of Chattanooga has made no commitment on the subject.

"The Guild has informed the management of the Times that it purposes to begin the pending negotiations in good spirit, and the management of the Times has stated a similar purpose to the Guild.

Ringling Brothers Circus Finds Union Closed Shop Contract Boost to Business

More People Go to the Show and Patronage of "Big Top" Grows by Leaps and Bounds After Agreement With American Federation of Actors.

New York.—Membership drive of the American Federation of Actors, Circus Employes' division, is sweeping through the outdoor amusement field following the signing of a closed shop agreement with Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Bailey circus, according to Ralph Whitehead, executive secretary.

Loyal unionists in cities along the Ringling show route are being urged to patronize the union show and results have been highly satisfactory. Samuel W. Gumpertz, general manager of the circus, has informed the A. F. A. that the esprit-de-corps and general working conditions under the union agreement have been highly satisfactory.

All Performers Members.

The Big Top agreement provided a wage increase of $1 a day for the following employes: Canvasmen, baggagemen, ringstock men, drivers, tractor employes, light men, property men, animal men, cookhouse men, ushers, wardrobe men, porters, elephant men, harness men, train men, wagon shop men and watchmen. All circus performers are A. F. A. members.

The glamour of circus life has always attracted many workers and in consequence of this ready reservoir of labor, wages and working conditions in the past have been very bad on most circuses. The Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Bailey workers have escaped from this sort of exploitation and, under the union agreement, now receive free medical care and hospitalization, workmen's compensation under the New York state scale, free transportation to and from the circus lot and other advantages.

Ask Workers' Support.

Circus toilers have been pleasantly surprised by the improvement in their lot worked by the A. F. A., which is headed by Sophie Tucker, president; Rudy Vallee, vice-president; Ralph Whitehead, secretary, and other "big shots" of the show business.

"Before another season rolls around we expect to have the entire circus field well organized," said Mr. Whitehead. "To that end we bespeak the co-operation of all good unionists in patronizing fair circus employers."

Executive Board Investigates Complaints from Building Trades.

Finds That Subsidiary of Atlantic Ice and Coal Company Evades Promises to Use Union Labor Throughout Plant.

Declaring that "while it is true that the Atlantic beer plant in Chattanooga is employing union bottlers in its plant in Chattanooga, it is also true that this concern employs non-union help in its maintenance and repair," the executive committee of Chattanooga Central Body formally placed the local beer concern on the "unfair" list.

The whole argument dates back several years ago when the Atlantic Ice and Coal company of Atlanta built its $250,000 plant here with non-union building tradesmen. After being told, so it is reported, by building crafts men, to "go jump in the river," the Atlantic Old South brewery was allowed to sign a contract with Local 79, Brewery Workers, and the grievance held against the $250,000 building was dropped. However, it is said, the brewery promised in writing that future work done on the plant would be done union.

In addition, members of the printing crafts call attention to the fact that the labels and much of the printing done by the local brewery is done in non-union printing houses.

Several weeks ago four traveling "painters" from Atlanta, all non-union, who are regularly employed by the Atlanta office, came to Chattanooga to whitewash one of the walls of the plant. The job was completed in spite of protests by Local 226, Painters.

Local management finally agreed to and did send back the four painters and offered the painters' union the sum of $90 to forget about it, it is said. The offer was refused on the grounds that acceptance of money to settle the grievance would not be ethical, but the union did insist that the job be repainted by union men.

The job in question would cost $90. Local management refused to pay union painters the $90 to do the repainting, but continue to insist on being allowed to pay over the cash.

It is the opinion of many that the local manager, Mr. Hudgins, would settle the whole affair amicably and satisfactorily if given authority to do so from the Atlanta office, but that he is helpless to buck against the apparently consistent union-hating attitude entertained by the Atlantic Ice and Coal company.

Motor Truck Co. Signs Contract

Johnson City, July 21.—The E. T. & W. N. C. Motor Transportation company, operating both passenger busses and freight lines in Tennessee, North Carolina, Virginia and Georgia, with headquarters in this city, has recognized Local 577 of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers as the bargaining agent for drivers and warehousemen, according to announcement made today by Jack Russell, secretary and business agent.

Mr. Russell said: "While no contract has been entered into between the company and the union as yet, the scale committee has presented a proposed working agreement to the company which the management has under consideration at this time. The membership of our local in regular meeting Sunday morning expressed satisfaction with the manner in which the company is co-operating with the union. The organization will continue to meet each Sunday morning at 10 o'clock until the contract negotiation is complete."

Mr. Russell further stated that while the union started out three weeks ago with only truck drivers and warehousemen, bus drivers employed by the company have decided to come into the union and he presented applications for membership from twelve new members.

Evansville Asbestos Union Wins Union Shop Agreement

Evansville, Ind.—Asbestos Workers' Union No. 37 has completed an agreement with the Asbestos and Asphalt Products company here.

Upholsterers Union Wins Four Closed Shop Wage Boost Pacts in Newark and Milwaukee

The Upholsterers' International Union of America announces two notable victories in strike settlement terms in four plants of the American Hair and Felt company, two in Newark, N. J., and two in Milwaukee, Wis.

Before the strikes minimum wages for upholsterers in the Milwaukee plants had been 6¾ cents an hour higher than those in the Newark plants. Under the agreement negotiated by the union with the company wages in the eastern plants were raised 9 to 14 cents an hour, while those in the Milwaukee plants were raised 4 to 7 cents an hour to equalize scales in the four plants.

The contract provides a week's vacation with pay for all employes in the service of the company for one year or more and recognizes the Upholsterers International union as the bargaining agency for the employes.

The strikes in the Newark plants had lasted five weeks and the strikes in Milwaukee two weeks.

Union officials announced that they were busy organizing the company's felt plants in Chicago.

Consolidated Aircraft Company Official Lauds Agreement With Machinists' Union

President Fleet Believes Pact Covering Over 3,000 Employes in San Diego Plant Should be Pattern for Other Aircraft Companies.

The recent agreement negotiated with the Consolidated Aircraft corporation at San Diego, Cal., by Aircraft Lodge No. 1125 of the International Association of Machinists is regarded by officials of the corporation as the basis for satisfactory industrial relations between the employes and the company.

When the agreement, affecting 3,295 of the company's 3,840 employes was signed, Maj. Reuben H. Fleet, president of the corporation, said:

"We feel that the country as a whole is better off if industry pays a high wage and operates on a basis under which employes do not suffer from overwork and have time for pleasure and enjoyment."

Asserting that Consolidated Aircraft corporation is the largest aircraft manufacturing plant in the United States and one of the most modern in the world, turning out planes which are flown on every continent, Mr. Fleet said he looked for continued expansion in the company's plant.

He expressed complete satisfaction with the labor agreement affecting wages, hours of work and other employment conditions of the hourly-paid employes, and declared that "we hope and believe that the amicable agreement with Aircraft Lodge No. 1125, International Association of Machinists, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, will be a pattern to govern other companies in our line of business in this country in their dealings with organized labor."

A fat D. A. R. lady says that Tom Girdler is a genuine American. So were Jay Gould, Aaron Burr, Captain Kidd and Simon Legree.

Senate Committee Approves Revised Wage-Hour Measure

Washington.—The senate education and labor committee has voted a favorable report on a much revised version of the Black-Connery wages and hours bill. The vote was said to be unanimous; but Senator Borah, a member of the committee, was not present. The bill, as it stands:

Exempts all workers in farming and fisheries. Includes horticulture, dairying and some other occupations as agricultural.

Contains no exemption for employers of a few workers. It was pointed out at the hearings that some of the worst cases of sweating, both on hours and wages, have been found in industries where only a few persons are employed in one place.

Prohibits employment of children under 16, provides penalties for such employment, and bars products of such labor from interstate commerce.

Empowers the proposed labor standards board to set maximum hours at not less than 40 hours a week, and to set minimum wages at any point up to 40 cents per hour.

Eliminates the provisions of Section 5, which empowered the board to determine whether or not a collective bargaining agency were adequate to the job or not, and to supersede findings by such an agency. This was disliked by most of the labor representatives who appeared at the hearings.

Henry Ford's paid puffer, W. J. Cameron, says that industrialists have made all progress and unions have done nothing. Well, labor unions championed and spread the free school; and Uncle Sam himself had to appropriate the money which enabled Samuel Morse to develop the first telegraph.

Carpenters Elect New Slate as Year Seems Brightest Yet

J. L. Carpenter Declines Honor of President and W. W. Orr Gets Post.

Local 74, Carpenters, facing the best year of their history, on July 9 held their regular election of officers and named W. W. Orr as its president. J. L. Carpenter, who has headed Local 74 numerous times, declined to accept re-election again due to pressing duties.

F. H. May was renamed financial secretary and also put on his job as full time secretary. A. V. Cordell was reappointed as full time business agent.

Other officers named were W. T. Wilson, re-elected vice-president; F. G. Robertson, recording secretary without opposition. H. J. Hamilton was re-elected trustee, as was H. C. Prince as conductor. J. S. Tillett was named warden.

Carpenters Local 74 takes this opportunity to say they intend to give better and more efficient service than ever, and they acknowledge with appreciation the business received from the public.

Power Company Employes Favor A. F. of L. Unions

Appleton and Iron Mountain Workers Bury "Independent" Group in Avalanche of Negative Votes.

An alleged independent union of the Wisconsin-Michigan Power company, with plants at Appleton, Wis., and Iron Mountain, Mich., was overwhelmingly defeated in an election held by the national labor relations board.

The "independent" union was known as the Wisconsin-Michigan Operators' Independent union. The other unions in the election were the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes, both American Federation of Labor affiliates.

It would be interesting to know just how much Tom Girdler has really invested in the Republic Steel corporation, which he manages as if it were his own jackknife. Also, how much income tax he paid the year he drew more than $300,000 in bonus alone from Jones & Laughlin. These facts might be of value to the board now trying to settle the strike.

BARBERS' BILL GETS OKAY ON FIRST READING

City Commission Start Ordinance Through to Regulate Trade Conditions.

Senator Fletcher Morgan Acts as Attorney for Barber Local to Steer Measure to Enactment.

Representing Local 415, Journeyman Barbers, Senator Fletcher Morgan last Tuesday presented a proposed city ordinance to the board of commissioners which is designed to conform with the recently enacted state law which allows local legislation to fix minimum prices and hours for the barber industry.

The measure was passed on the first reading and it is believed that it will get approval on the two final readings at subsequent commission meetings.

President George Perry and Secretary Tom Turner, with the enthusiastic support of the rapidly increasing membership of the local, have been receiving much praise because of their meritorious endeavor to regulate an industry that has been slowly committing suicide.

C. I. O. Union Certified At Westinghouse Co.

Pittsburgh. — Certification of the United Electrical and Radio Workers as the sole collective bargaining agency for 11,500 employes in the East Pittsburgh plant of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company has been granted by the national relations board.

The board announced that 7,200 employes had been enrolled by the C. I. O. union, more than the majority required under the Wagner act for recognition as representative of the workers.

The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, A. F. of L. affiliate, which had previously challenged the right of the C. I. O. union to represent the Westinghouse employes, did not attempt to present claims at the labor board hearings.

Four Milwaukee Unions Win Higher Wages And Union Recognition in 19 Laundries

Milwaukee, Wis.—The strike called by four Milwaukee unions against the Milwaukee Laundry association and nineteen of the association's twenty-five concerns was settled by an agreement providing for a modified closed shop, the check-off system of dues, higher wages, and shorter hours with time and one-half for overtime.

The strike was called by Laundry Workers' Union No. 174, Laundry and Dry Cleaning Drivers' Union No. 360, Operating Engineers' Union No. 311, and Cleaning and Dye House Workers' Union No. 6.

Under the agreements, minimum wages for inexperienced inside workers are set at 28 cents an hour, a raise from the former 22½ cent minimum. Drivers are to get $12 a week and a 10 per cent commission for the twelve weeks and thereafter $22 a week and a 12 per cent commission on all business over $100.

The contract recognizes the four unions as the unqualified bargaining agents for all the employes. Under the modified closed shop clause, non-union employes will be laid off ahead of union members and seniority will otherwise govern. The agreements ended a number of strikes in the laundry industry, one of which began a year ago. The other walkouts followed in rapid succession after May 11 of this year.

Pittances Paid To Workers and Dividends Soar

Wages Range From 7 to 30 Cents an Hour in Textile Mills Where Depression Profits Reached 150 per cent.

Ottawa.—New organizations, demands and strike waves reveal the existence of wage rates in heretofore unorganized occupations as scandalous as those exposed by a parliamentary commission during the trough of the depression.

When members of the United Textile Workers' union struck at the Peterboro plant of the Dominion Woolens and Worsted company, they showed their payslips for the past fortnight to reporters. Here are typical amounts:

A female weaver, employed three years, $7.41 for 98 hours work; male weaver, employed twelve years, $12.07 for 90 hours' work; male carder, employed twenty years, $32.67 for 99 hours' work.

Organization in many Ontario and Quebec textile mills has reached a stage where demands for higher wages and shorter hours are being made. Companies stall and complain of poverty, though a Royal commission showed the bigger concerns made net profits of from 60 to 150 per cent during the depression years.

The three soviet aviators who flew from Moscow to Vancouver blazed a new trail which bids fair to remain a peace trail; for war between Russia and the United States is almost unthinkable. It was a gallant exploit; and some day may prove a highly useful one.

Regulate Meat Markets

Local 600, Meatcutters, is having attorneys draw up an ordinance which will be presented to the city commission in the rear future which will provide for opening and closing hours of grocery stores and meat markets.

The city already has laws which provide for inspection of such places so that the consumer will have some sort of guarantee that foodstuffs are sanitary and fit for human consumption. However, since the working hours of these inspectors are not as long as the hours during which food stores stay open, the public is protected only part of the time.

As it is now, many food stores open in the morning at 6 and close at 8, and on Saturdays stay open until 10 to midnight.

It is not just to employes of such stores that they be kept at work such long hours. The ordinance will provide an opening time not earlier than 7 a.m. and close 6 p.m., with an 8 o'clock closing on Saturday.

This is a move which we believe the consuming public should support by their cooperation. It is a very modest demand on the part of the employe, and certainly no employer has just grounds for opposing it when it is considered that his competitor will have to observe the same hours that he does.

Mr. Shepherd Is Right

Mr. Will Shepherd, new chairman of the election commission, who made the statement last week that the holding of so many registrations of voters is a waste of money is concurred in by labor. For many years organized labor has had in its platform for legislative reform the idea that there should be permanent registration of voters.

As it is now, there is a regular biennial registration. In addition, before each and every election there is held a supplemental registration. This should be eliminated.

Voters should be registered one time, which will be good as long as they remain at the same address. Whenever a person moves, there should be a permanent headquarters to which the newcomer in the county and the person who has changed addresses might register.

We hope that Mr. Shepherd will continue to talk about this phase of our election laws. Maybe some day it will be done.

UNCLE SAM DENIES OPEN SHOP PLEAS

Washington.—Uncle Sam's employment office will not supply non-union labor to open shop contractors.

Two open shop concerns holding federal construction contract asked the District of Columbia office of the U. S. Employment Service to send them non-union workers for painting and plastering. The D. C. office submitted the question to the solicitor of the department of labor, and the acting solicitor-general, Gerald D. Reilly, declared that it would be a violation of the Wagner act to comply with the request.

The opinion says, in part:

"The employment service may not comply with a specific request of a prospective employer to refer to him only non-members of labor unions.

"It appears that an employer making such a request is engaging in an unfair labor practice, since Section 8 (3) of the labor relations act prohibits discrimination in regard to hire or tenure of employment, or any term or condition of employment to encourage or discourage membership in any labor organization.

"While this act relates only to employers and not to employment agencies, either public or private, it is my view that an agency created by act of congress is under a duty to refrain from any course of conduct which enables or at least facilitates an employer to violate another federal law."

RAILROAD MEN GIVE CIO COLD SHOULDER

"One Big Union" Propagandists Given Refrigerator Reception at Enginemen and Firemen's Convention.

Propagandists for the CIO form of unionism based on dictatorship did not make a dent the size of a pinhead on the delegates attending the recent convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen in Milwaukee, Wis.

CIO literature peddlers besieged the entrance to the convention hall with pamphlets urging all rail unions to indorse the "one big union" policy, which was repudiated by all railroad labor organizations many years ago, following the Pullman strike.

"We've gotten along successfully for years in handling our own craft problems," declared Fred Barr, of San Antonio, Texas, one of the vice-presidents of the brotherhood. "On common problems the various railroad brotherhoods work together. Five of them, for instance, are now jointly making demands for wage increases and other improved conditions from all the nation's railroads.

"There is no good for our changing our structure. The 'one big union' followers have propagandized their ideas for years, but have made no headway."

WHEELBARROW STRIKE.

The manufacturers of wheelbarrows, which also is located in Lansing, Mich., by a concern which has pioneered rubber tires on its wheelbarrows, has now also been dignified by a strike of its own. The Automobile Workers' union is also officiating in this strike, charging the company with "placing irritating obstacles in the path of collective bargaining."

Take It! or Leave It

Points of View Picked Up From Various Sources

CY KOLOGY, EDITOR

Somehow the world seems to get itself into a lot of angles these days. One day there are reports that the Russians and the Japanese are taking pot shots at each other and the next day it's the Chinese and the Japanese. Nobody knows whether the war in Spain is a war between groups of Spaniards, or between Spaniards and Africans, or between Italy and Russia, or who fits where or why. The world is going through a pretty painful process, trying to wiggle and squirm out of a lot of old clothes into some new ones—and it seems to have no very clear idea what kind of new ones it wants.

To quote Shakespeare, "it's a mess"—or maybe it was Doc. Townsend who said it.

Speaking of Doc Townsend, what a skyrocket he turned out to be. Up high, down hard. A lot of folks have described that beautiful arc before and the Doc isn't the last one. There will be others to follow suit. The laws of physics seem to apply in the realm of economics as well as in the realm of solids. Perhaps that's because there are so many solids in the realm of economics. Who knows?

Our own labor movement isn't so very different from the surrounding world. We may find some repetition of other history before we get through with that, too. Well, in the end, or something near the end, people may find out what they want and maybe they'll get it.

There's talk of a third federation. Maybe you didn't know that. Well, why not? Why shouldn't there be somebody to follow the example? The suspicion is that somehow, by some funny business, employers are seeking to federate their pet unions into something like a company-union federation. You thought company unions were "out?" Well, brother, not yet. Not yet. The breed persists, though the form changes somewhat. It's maybe a cockeyed world, but it's the one we live in.

There are so many things wrong with the way organizing work is being carried on that the doors are wide open for funny business. As a matter of fact, the wonder is that so many join unions. But it is no wonder that so many don't stick. Or don't know what to do when they get in, or what it's all about, or why the world isn't going to showed benefits all over the place right off the bat.

Oh, well, the world moves along and perhaps that's enough. It moves. And it remains the truth that the story of the world, by and large, from the start to now, is one of rather steady human progress. When we remember that for many centuries men reaped grain with sickles and that the whole modern machinery plant came within about 200 years, with its real development a matter of the last half century or less, maybe it's a good idea to curb impatience.

And yet, impatience of foolishness does seem a rather healthy thing after all.

Labor Elections Ordered on Fifty Ocean and Gulf Steamship Lines

Rivalry Between Unions Leads Employers to Ask Labor Board to Conduct Ballot Contest to Decide Majorities—Existing Contracts Waived.

Washington.—The national labor relations board has ordered that elections be held as promptly as practicable among the unlicensed personnel—with certain exceptions—employed in the deck, engine and steward's departments of fifty steamship lines operating out of Atlantic and gulf ports. The seamen will choose between the International Seamen's Union of America and the National Marine Union of America as their representative for the purposes of collective bargaining.

In another concurrently held election, the unlicensed personnel of the International Sun Oil company will select a bargaining agency from among three labor organizations, the two named and the Sun Marine Employes association.

Mrs. Elinore M. Herrick, regional director at New York City, will supervise the elections. Mrs. Herrick is given discretion to determine the exact time, place and procedure for posting notices of election and for balloting on each ship. On each vessel will be posted a notice of election, a sample ballot, a list of employes eligible to vote, and a notice of the time and place where balloting will be conducted.

Board Asked to Act.

The board's direction of the fifty-onetions follows the filing on June 11 of petitions by the International Seamen's union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. A hearing in the case was held in New York City on June 21 before Trial Examiner Robert M. Gates. At that time testimony was presented both by I. S. U. and by the National Marine union, an independent labor organization formed on May 8, 1937, and unaffiliated with any other labor organizations.

Both unions entered claims to a majority of the unlicensed personnel employed by the companies. Most of the companies, through their representatives at the hearing, admitted the existence of a controversy between these two unions, and expressed a desire that the board resolve it by holding elections.

I. S. U. and N. M. U. each have contracts with various companies included in this case. By filing petitions the board believes I. S. U. has waived its right to assert the existence of these contracts as a bar to elections. Similarly the filing of petitions by N. M. U. in the cases of International Mercantile Marine, Luckenbach Steamship company, Inc., and Black Diamond Steamship corporation, precludes any assertion of rights under contracts which it has made with any of these companies.

The record also shows that several of the other companies are operating under contracts either made directly with their employes or with other representatives of their employes. The board believes that under the present condition of unrest in the maritime industry along the Atlantic and gulf coasts, the existence of such contracts should not preclude the holding of elections.

50,000 DRIVERS ON WAGE STRIKE

Detroit, Mich.—Intra-state trucking came to a virtual standstill in Michigan when nearly 50,000 drivers and helpers abandoned 8,000 vehicles in terminals to strike for higher wages. The strike spread rapidly to all parts of the state. All shipments except those of gasoline and perishables were halted. The strike was called by the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers after negotiations for higher pay collapsed.

Labor Queries

Q.—Has any state a minimum wage law covering men?

A.—Oklahoma recently passed a minimum wage bill which includes men, the first law of its kind enacted in the United States.

Q.—Are any unions incorporated?

A.—The International Union of Journeymen Horseshoers of the United States and Canada was incorporated in the state of Ohio in 1912.

Q.—What labor union in this country has no president?

A.—Bakery and Confectionery Workers' International Union of America.

Q.—Is there another?

A.—Yes; the Brewery, Flour, Cereal and Soft Drink Workers of America, which is the international of the United B. F. C. & S. D. W. A.

These unions have a group of executive secretaries, who function as their executive oifficers. This is an adaptation of the European form of organization.

Q.—Is the American Federation a shareholder in the Union Labor Life Insurance company?

A.—Yes.

Tampa Union Cigar Makers Score Notable Gains in New Contract

Tampa, Fla.—Organized cigar makers of this city have made notable progress in winning better conditions by a new contract signed by the Tampa Cigar Manufacturers' association and the Cigar Makers' International Union of America.

The new contract, which takes the place of one that expired last December, recognizes the union as the sole bargaining agency, gives union preference in employment, prohibits discrimination for union activities and sets up machinery for negotiation as to wages, hours and working conditions. The agreement, which covers approximately 10,000 workers, was negotiated by local union officers and Vice-President Manuel Gonzales, of the international union.

Important provisions of the contract are:

The employer agrees to recognize the union as the sole bargaining agency.

The union is given preference in employment and should an employer lay off part or his whole force because of slack work, he will not be permitted to take on new employes until all his former employes have been hired.

Negotiations for wage agreements, working conditions and all other issues involved will be between committees, and if these negotiations fail, they will be arbitrated in accordance with union rules. Provision is made for adjustment of complaints by action of a joint advisory board composed of workers from local unions and a shop collector elected outside of the factory by the workers.

An interesting feature of the new agreement is the recognition given by the employers to the benefits of collective bargaining and the provisions of modern labor legislation. The contract states that the employer agrees to its provisions "In consideration of the principles of collective bargaining as a means of eliminating unnecessary strikes, lockouts, boycotts, and for the stabilization of employment through closer cooperation between the manufacturers and the union, in accordance with the provisions of the national labor relations act."

Los Angeles Market Workers Finalize Pay Boost Contract

Los Angeles, Cal.—Wholesale Produce Market Workers' Union No. 20284, A. F. of L., at Los Angeles, after only six months in existence, reports that establishment of the 8-hour work day, increased pay and better working conditions, three major objectives of the union, are gradually being attained.

Motor Companies Cited on False Advertising Charge in Car Sales

Federal Trade Commission Names Ford Company and General Motors in Charge of Misrepresentation in Price Quotations in Display Advertising.

Washington.—The federal trade commission has issued complaints charging General Motors corporation and Ford Motor company with using false and misleading representations in advertising the prices at which certain of their passenger cars are sold to the public. General Motors Sales corporation also is named as a respondent.

Advertisements of the respondent companies, it is alleged, contain illustrations or descriptions of motor cars, and feature, usually in large numerals, a designated F. O. B. price. The complaints charge the advertisements are arranged in such a manner as to create the impression that fully-equipped cars so illustrated and described may be purchased at the F. O. B. or delivery point complete and ready for operation for the prices featured, or at other points for the featured prices plus the cost of transportation.

Prices and Cars Differ.

The passenger cars so advertised, the complainants aver, are not the models usually sold for the featured price, which generally is the price charged by the respondent companies for their less expensive cars. It is alleged that the cars so illustrated or described cannot be purchased at retail for the featured price at the F. O. B. or delivery point, or at the ultimate destination for such price plus transportation charges, without the payment of additional charges for added equipment and accessories constituting part of what the public understands to be a complete car ready for operation.

Other charges frequently and generally added are for such items as taxes, advertising, handling and conditioning, according to the compalints, which further allege that in instances where statements are made of charges in addition to the specified F. O. B. price, such statements are printed in such fine type as to be almost totally obscured by the large type or figures featuring the F. O. B. price.

Deception of the public and injury to competitors allegedly result from the respondent companies' practices, which, the complaints charge, are in violation of Section 5 of the federal trade commission act.

The companies are allowed 20 days from service of the complaints to answer the charges.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

Whereas, on the 25th day of April, 1929, O. O. Mixson and wife, Bessie E. Mixson, of Hamilton County, Tennessee, executed a deed of trust conveying the property hereinafter described and advertised for sale, to Hamilton National Bank of Chattanooga, Chattanooga, Tennessee, Trustee, which said deed of trust was filed for registration May 3, 1930, and recorded in Book B, Vol. 25, Page 519, et seq., in the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee; and,

Whereas, said deed of trust was executed for the purpose of securing the payment of a certain indebtedness, fully described in the said deed of trust, to which reference is made for a complete description; and default has been made in the payment of the said indebtedness secured by said deed of trust and interest thereon, and the said O. O. Mixson and wife, Bessie E. Mixson, have failed to perform covenants in the note evidencing the indebtedness, and have failed to perform covenants in said deed of trust, and have remained in default for more than thirty days, and the holder of said indebtedness has made demand upon the undersigned trustee to sell the property conveyed by said deed of trust, as therein provided, to satisfy the payment of said indebtedness and interest, as said holder of said indebtedness has a right to do under the terms of said deed of trust:

Now, therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in the undersigned Trustee, Hamilton National Bank of Chattanooga, as Trustee, will, on

TUESDAY, AUGUST 17TH, 1937,

sell, within the legal hours of sale, at the west door of the Court House in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at public outcery, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, in bar of all equities of redemption, dower and homestead, the following described real estate in the Second Civil District of Hamilton County, Tennessee, to-wit:

Tract No. 2, and the west 25 feet of the south 150 feet of Tract No. 3, Brainerd Acres, as shown by plat of record in Plat Book 11, page 81, of the Register's office of Hamilton County, Tennessee, except that part of the above described property conveyed to Hamilton County for the purpose of widening Brainerd Road, as shown by deed registered F-24-319.

Said deed of trust recites that title to the said property is clear, free and unencumbered, and title thereto is believed to be good, but the sale will be made as Trustee only, and subject to any unpaid taxes.

Mediation Board Blames Steel Firms For Strike Continuance

Company Heads, With Tom Girdler in Lead, Refused All Suggestions for Making Peace, Says Report Signed by Charles P. Taft, Lloyd K. Garrison and Edward F. McGrady.

Washington.—The report of the board appointed by Secretary Perkins to mediate in the steel strike puts blame for continued industrial warfare squarely on the steel companies, and particularly and emphatically on Tom Girdler.

The union representatives were ready to meet with representatives of the companies. The representatives of the companies, Girdler and Eugene Grace being present, refused. The union men accepted the board's suggestions for making peace. The company chiefs refused all suggestions. The board's report makes this clear, point by point, detail by detail, hour by hour. The report, signed by Charles P. Taft, Lloyd K. Garrison and Edward F. McGrady, stands as a key document in industrial history.

Peace Methods Proposed.

The board met with union representatives, John L. Lewis, Van A. Bittner, Lee Pressman and Philip murray among them, at 9:30 in the morning of June 21. After some general discussion, the board suggested three methods that might be used to record an agreement. These were, in substance:

1. An agreement between the four companies for the benefit of all their employes, and the union in so far as its own members were concerned.

2. A statement of the board of the terms agreed ubon to be initiated or acknowledged by the board.

3. Terms proposed by each company to all its employes and to the union by posting on the bulletin board; to be accepted by going to work and by letter from the union to the company.

Companies Reject Plans.

The union leaders agreed to take these under consideration. The board met at noon with representatives of the companies.

"We then presented to them," says the board's report, "the same methods which we had discussed with the union representatives by which an agreement could be recorded. The four companies rejected all those proposals."

In that way the efforts of the federal steel board began, and in that way they ended. The union representatives accepted practically all suggestions of the board, or were willing to talk it over with the companies. The companies accepted nothing and refused to talk things over.

Sought Pay-Cutting Power.

"Mr. Girdler stated positively," says the board, "that he would not consent to a term contract because he believed it necessary for the proper operation of his company that it should be in a position to meet the fluctuating price of steel by wage variations if they became necessary."

In plain words, Tom Girdler insisted on being able to cut wages whenever he pleased.

Contracts Working Well.

One of the most striking statements of the board must be quoted here:

"We talked over the telephone with the heads of a number of steel companies which have made contracts with the SWOC, and we inquired of them how these contracts were working out in practice.

"They informed us that considering the novelty of the arrangement in their plants and the inexperience of the men in union affairs, it was working out reasonably well."

MORE ABOUT GOV. BROWNING

acted into law, but the tragedy of the situation is that the governor apparently had very little or no conception of the need for social legislation in Tennessee, and outside of the enactment of the social security program promoted by President Roosevelt, is entirely out of harmony with the program and policies of our great national leader and benefactor."

The report, which covers all phases of legislation in which labor and those interested in social welfare were concerned, all of which failed of passage, especially urges members and friends of organized labor to prepare themselves to vote in all elections and to make a sincere effort to determine who are their friends, and that serious consideration be given to the political situation in the state.

There are fine, outstanding, patriotic level-headed men in both parties," the report suggests. "There is no difference insofar as our interest and the interest of the state is concerned, between a bad republican and a bad democrat. One faction of the so-called democratic party in Tennessee is in control of every state office. Whatever good is accomplished they are due credit for, likewise they are responsible for the things that are bad."

Continuing the committee calls upon the liberal, thinking people of the state to "get into the political game, throw into oblivion or into the discard those who are 'kotowing' to special privilege and make an honest effort to get unselfish men and women to serve the state."

The governor draws the fire of the committee in the matter of staffing the department of labor. Asserting that the department was created largely through the efforts of labor and holding the opinion that the personnel should be administered by men from the ranks of labor, the report says:

"Gov. Browning earnestly assured us that, with the exception of the commissioner of labor, he would appoint union people in the department of labor. He also faithfully promised to consult with us when any appointments were contemplated. To our knowledge this has never yet been done. Not only has he ignored us, he has appointed various non-union people to replace union people in the department."

Concerning the social security program enacted at the behest of the governor, the report makes the significant point that the old age pension bill is one in name only at the present time inasmuch as a rider, insisted upon by the governor, imposes no obligation on the state to pay the pensions unless there is sufficient revenue to pay them.

Abolition of the convict lease system in Tennessee is referred to by the committee as a victory by labor after many years to bring this about. Its effectiveness will come about in the next twelve months, it is recalled, thereby closing the avenue for "political favorites to build up enormous fortunes at the expense of unfortunate human beings which brought about a shameful condition that prevented any true rehabilitation of the criminal."

The committee confidently asserts there were more uniform and progressive labor measures introduced during the session than at any other previous session, but with the exception of those mentioned all died in the hands of the various committees to whom they were assigned.

The report discusses at length the fight to secure enactment of the resolution ratifying the child labor amendment to the federal constitution and carries labor back to the summer of 1936 when the State Non-Partisan Committee of Labor, heard Messrs. Burgin Dossett and Gordon Browning, the democratic candidates for the nomination, with regard to their views on this and other social legislation.

It was recalled that Mr. Browning stated frankly that he would oppose ratification of the amendment by the legislature but otherwise his views on labor legislation were on a parity with those of Mr. Dossett. After election in November Gov.-Elect Browning assured a delegation from the committee, Messrs. Chrisman and Reid, that he approved the legislative program of labor and expected to pass a bill providing for the administration of the workmen's compensation act by a commission. Later, after the inauguration, the governor is reported as again giving approval to the program with the exception of the child labor amendment, "and stated that he was favorable to a state law regulating labor of children, and further stated that he thought it a shame to work women more than eight hours in any one day."

A child regulatory bill was left with the governor, it is asserted, but to this day he has never given his views other than to "ask if we would accept an amendment which changed the age from 18 to 16 years of age."

The defeat of the resolution of ratification is then placed squarely on the shoulders of "Gov. Browning, the manufacturers' association and to the reactionary interests who have always opposed social legislation, and who opposed President Roosevelt during the last campaign."

Concerning the administration of the workmen's compensation act the report recalls a discussion between the committee and the new commissioner of labor, Gore, in which it was agreed that a bill providing this would be prepared by the attorney-general's office, that a conference would be held to iron out any differences. Such a bill was prepared and introduced, but to this date, it is charged, no conference was ever held at which the representatives of labor were present and the bill died in committee. Sinister influences, it is also charged, defeated the bill increasing the benefits for hospitalization and medical care and providing for compensation for occupational diseases and increasing the benefit in case of death.

Concerning the effort to reduce the hours women may work in industry, the committee reported that early in the session there were high hopes that such legislation would be passed, but that "after Charles Gilbert, secretary of the Tennessee Manufacturers' association, received the accolade of colonel on the governor's staff our high hopes were dashed to the ground."

Similarly, efforts to increase the exemptions under the garnishment law from $36 to $75 and then compromising on $50, failed with the committee observing that proposals to raise the exemptions are wrong and that "we should direct our efforts to have the entire garnishment law repealed."

The reports commends the favorable support of numerous members of senate and house for the child labor amendment, and asserted that the delegations from Shelby, Knox, Hamilton and Madison, with the exception of the senator from Hamilton, could always be depended upon to give favorable consideration to legislation sponsored by labor.

Signing the report are:

H. V. Reid, chairman joint committee, representing B. of L. F. & E.; Perry Daly, representing B. R. T.; W. A. Chrisman, representing B. of L. E.; W. C. Clark, representing Tennessee Federation of Labor, and T. E. Archer, representing O. R. C., all being actively on duty at Nashville during the legislative sessions.

Survey Reveals "Unspeakable" Laundry Affair

DIRT, FILTH, SURROUND 'NICE PEOPLES' CLOTHES

Unionized Laundries Found to Be "Incomparably Better" in Health Standards and Working Conditions, and to Pay Almost 100 Per Cent Higher Wages, With Shorter Hours.

New York.—In a survey of laundries primarily in the New York area, but extending in some degree into other sections, the New York League of Women Shoppers has unearthed conditions in the exploitation of labor, in working environment, and in sanitary surroundings, which are described as shocking and abominable.

In certain cases, employers are found not only to pay their employes a mere pittance in wages, but to cheat them and to use dishonest practices and "underhanded tricks" in dealing with them.

The League for Women Shoppers, 200 Fifth avenue, has issued a pamphlet by Jane Filley and Therese Mitchell, covering the results of the survey, and dealing with conditions in some cases so revolting that there appears to be hesitancy at times in stating the full truth. The document goes ito the conditions found to prevail generally in the laundry industry as a result of the survey.

Ten Cents an Hour.

Wages in unorganized shops were in many instances shockingly low. The median was found to be $13 for women and $14.15 for men, but one forelady interviewed was getting $8 a week for 60 hours. A man was getting $5 a week for 50 hours, and another with a mother to support got $6 for 60 hours. It is impossible to live on such wages without outside help, but when one considers that most laundry workers have dependents, the situation becomes even worse.

To outsiders the conditions in the laundry industry are shocking beyond words. "The laundry workers have no interval of decent, human existence," the pamphlet states. "Their home lives are as wretched as their working conditions. Their low living standards are the direct result of their low wages." The authors, Jane Filley and Therese Mitchell, show these home conditions in eight personal interviews taken in the homes of the workers.

Sanitary Rules Ignored.

Living standards are so low that investigators heard many statements like the following: "I'm wearing my husband's shoes to work now. Last time I go to show was two, three, years ago. I sit down, cook, sleep. I have not saved 18 pennies in 18 months working." "I never have a decent meal unless the girls ask me home."

Sanitary rules are disregarded in many unorganized shops, presenting a danger to the health of the consumer as well as to the worker. "The conditions in most laundries are disastrous to the health of the workers

LABEL LEAGUE PLANS OUTING

The entertainment committee of the Label League is working on plans for a hay ride and picnic, to be held at Pan Gap next month. The tentative date has been set for the night of Aug. 24.

The Label League will furnish a truck and everybody will bring a picnic supper. Further details will be announced later.

Fifty Truck Drivers Join Milford Teamsters Union

MILFORD, Del.—Following an enthusiastic organization meeting here 50 truck drivers joined Local 107, of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers of America.

Robert W. Hill, manager for the Wilmington (Del.), Maryland and Virginia district of Local 107, was in charge of the meeting.

William D. Hart, general organizer for the American Federation of Labor, was the principal speaker. He explained the necessity of working men organizing to protect their rights, which he said was especially important because of the legal rights conferred on the workers by the Wagner-Connery Labor Relations Act.

At the conclusion of the meeting the 50 truck drivers signed up with the local union.

BARBERS WIN LICENSE LAW

Passes Final Readings Tuesday as Anonymous Group Opposes Meritorious Measure.

Open and Close Hours, Sanitary Inspection and Minimum Prices Set to Protect Public.

The much-discussed barbers' license ordinance passed the second and third readings in the city commission meeting last Tuesday, but not until Attorney John Early had made a plea to stall off the action in an effort to defeat the measure.

Representing "several clients" whose names were not divulged, Mr. Early said that he had not had time to study the provisions and asked that final action be postponed.

Commissioner R. M. Cooke remarked that there had been a very thorough report of the measure in the daily press for over a week, and that it appeared to him that everyone had had ample time to become conversant with the proposition.

Senator Fletcher Morgan represented the Master Barbers and Local 415, Barber Union. Some fifty journeymen and proprietor barbers crowded the small commission room for the hearing.

The new ordinance provides for stringent sanitary regulations and sets opening and closing hours. Minimum prices of forty cents for haircuts and twenty-five for shaves are designed to eliminate cut-throat competition being offered by so-called barber schools and unskilled individual operators.

Commissioner Betterton moved for passage of second reading, while Commissioner Cooke moved for third and final reading, which was voted unanimously.

Des Moines Teamsters Win Closed Shop Pact

Agreement Covering Four Motor Freight Carriers Add 1,000 to Union Membership.

Des Moines, Ia.—A closed shop agreement with four long-haul motor freight carriers operating out of Des Moines has been negotiated by Local No. 90 of the Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers of America International Brotherhood.

Under the agreement long-haul truck drivers are guaranteed 40 hours of work a week and over-the-road drivers a maximum of 60 hours a week.

The pay rate for drivers on the highway will be 2.07 cents a mile up to 200 miles, and 2.04 cents a mile for longer trips. The rate is fixed by the distance one way. A minimum rate of 60 cents an hour is also established.

The contract was signed by representatives of the following motor truck carriers: Bruce Motor Freight Lines, Twin City-Des Moines Motor Express, Commercial Freight Lines and White Line Motor Freight Company.

Union officials estimate that the contract affected, directly or indirectly, from 800 to 1,000 long-haul truck drivers.

Carl Keul, president of the Des Moines Trades and Labor Assembly, and C. E. Bellew, of the Iowa Warehouse and Motor Carriers Association, said there has been no previous general closed shop contract here. Des Moines, they said, is one of the few middle western points where such a contract has been signed without strike difficulties.

In commenting on the agreement, Mr. Bellew pointed out that all companies operating into Des Moines are subject to the contract as far as drivers who live here are concerned. He said the pay increases amounted to from 10 to 50 per cent., depending on the companies involved.

Disputes arising under the agreement will be arbitrated by a board selected by Dr. D. W. Morehouse, of Drake University; District Judge J. E. Myer and the Most Rev. Gerald T. Bergan.

Co-operative Gasoline Filling Station Is Opened in Denver

Denver, Colo.—The Consumers' Co-operative Association of Denver, Inc., patterned on the Rochdale plan, has established Denver's first co-operative gasoline filling station.

Products are sold on a cash basis and the association expects to conform to organized labor's standards, employing members of unions and selling union products.

Two Stove Strikes Settled This Week As Workers Return

Herron Foundry and Jacobs Stove of Bridgeport Sign Closed Shop With AFL Units.

Two very troublesome disputes in and around Chattanooga were satisfactorily settled during the week when announcement was made by the Molders' union that the Chattanooga strike at the Herron Stove company had terminated with the signing of the closed shop agreement, and that strikers were returning to work immediately. Approximately one hundred men were involved.

The intermittent troubles in the Jacobs Stove company at Bridgeport, Ala., seems to have all been ironed out with the announcement that a similar agreement has been reached and that its 325 employes would resume duties at once.

National Labor Law Held Vital To Square Deal

Only Federal Statute Can Protect Workers of Progressive States From Unfair Competition, New York Official Says.

Albany, N. Y.—Most of the fundamental and immediate needs in labor and social legislation have been met, with the exception of a law establishing schedules of minimum wages and maximum hours on a sensible national basis for the protection of labor, employers and the continuing economic health of the whole nation, Industrial Commissioner Elmer F. Andrews said in addressing the forty-first annual convention of the New York State Allied Printing Trades council here.

Commissioner Andrews said, in part:

"In the past four years the greatest program of labor legislation ever enacted in this or any other state has been adopted in New York state. Our employers, who have been living under progressive labor and social legislation for the past twenty years, have accepted and complied with this program. There has been almost no obstruction and opposition.

Additional Legislation Needed.

"The recent advances in labor legislation in this state and in federal labor legislation constitute genuine progress. But it requires for its protection some system, such as is provided for in the Black-Connery bill, where minimum wages and maximum hours can be established on a nationwide basis.

"The United States is one nation, politically, geographically, socially and economically. It should be made one nation industrially. Progressive states enacting humane and economically necessary laws for the protection of labor, consumers and fair employers should not be asked to face the competition of states which, because they have recently entered the industrial age, do not have either progressive labor legislation or effective demand within their borders for such legislation.

Government Must Step In.

"It may be said by some that wage-earners can take care of establishing minimum wages and maximum hours by organization and collective bargaining. In the long run, this may be true. But cycles of prosperity and depression and of industrial disputes occur in the short run. Wage-earners are speeded up, underpaid and mercilessly exploited in the short run. Profits are made in the short run. At the present time it is probable that less than 25 per cent of the wage-earners in the United States are organized in unions. That organization is for the most part in a few of the more industrialized states where union membership and public opinion support union organization and collective bargaining. While union organization and collective bargaining are being extended to the less progressive industrial states, the competitive advantages based on sweated labor will confront employers and labor generally. It is here that government must step in to set a floor on wages and a ceiling on hours."

If members of labor unions and their families would only ask for union label brands it would help some. But to actually buy them is what brings home the bacon. Better wages and shorter hours are the "bacon"—if any one should ask.

"Uncle Bob" Squelches Treasury Opposition

R. L. Malone, known as "Uncle Bob" to hundreds of trade unionists, has made it unwise for anyone to oppose him for the office of treasurer of Local 74, Carpenters and Joiners. He was re-elected for the umpteenth time at the recent election of officers—without opposition.

Brother Malone has been sort of permanent chairman of the credentials committee in Central Body, and has been delegate to that organization for longer than most people can remember.

Culinary Workers Make Great Gains

Sixty New Charters Issued in Two Months and Union Aims at 200,000 Membership Before End of Year.

Cincinnati.—More than sixty new charters were issued by the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America to local unions in the United States and Canada during June and July, Secretary-Treasurer Robert B. Hesketh, of the international union, reports.

This big organization of culinary workers has pushed organization for many months and has made remarkable gains in every way in 1937. Agreements have been signed in many large cities, Seattle, Wash.; Portland, Ore.; Cleveland, O.; Boston, Mass.; Chicago, Ill.; Minneapolis, Minn., and other sections of the union's jurisdiction.

With a membership now of over 140,000 and growing rapidly, the organization expects to pass the 200,000 mark before the end of this year.

Groups of miscellaneous workers in the hotels throughout the country have been organized recently, joining by the thousands.

The catering industry group is now among the largest in the American Federation of Labor.

NEW ORLEANS MILL CLOSES IN DISPUTE

New Orleans.—President W. L. Landau announced the indefinite closing of the Berthadale mills textile plant here following collapse of negotiations between the management and union officials over a requested seniority rule. Approximately one hundred employes are idle.

COMPLAINT NAMES REPUBLIC STEEL

Washington.—The national labor relations board has issued a complaint against the Republic Steel corporation, charging specifically the company and its agents with:

1. Locking out employes in Canton and Massillon, O.
2. Discharging 75 for union activity.
3. Threatening employes with discharge or lay-off for union activity.
4. Refusing to rehire certain employes because of their participation in the strike.
5. Dominating and contributing financial support to company unions at five of its plants.
6. Trailing and beating up union organizers before the strike started.
7. Increasing the company police force and using this force to interfere with peaceful picketing.
8. Maintenance of arsenals "for the purpose of interfering with, restraining and coercing its employes at said plants in the exercise of their right to self-organization.
9. Promoting "back-to-work" movements during the strike.
10. Interfering with peaceful picketing and intimidation of employes by shooting at them.

FLASH—

Just as The Labor World went to press word was received that the charter for a union of filling station employes has just arrived.

There will be a meeting at the labor hall, 114 West Seventh street, Friday evening at 7:30, which will be open to all such workers. After an open meeting temporary officers will be selected.

Culinary Workers Picket Again At The Steak House

Refused to Abide by Agreement Some Months Ago, Report.

Pickets Removed From S. & W. and Creighton's Restaurants Temporarily.

Officials of Culinary Workers' Union No. 574 reported to Central Body last Monday evening that they were putting back the picket at the Steak House, Ninth and Market streets, because of failure of the proprietor, Mr. Vezdoon, to conform to his agreement to abide by the decision of the meeting of some fifty-two restaurant owners last week.

The Steak House was picketed for about one week some months ago, after which an agreement was reached which took the banner away. Failure to finalize this agreement this week caused the action taken by the union, according to information.

The pickets which have been in front of Creighton's and S & W the last few weeks have been discontinued temporarily, although neither place have recognized the union.

Governing Body of CIO Declared To Be Communists

A. F. of L. Spokesman Says Reds' Executive Committee Is Real Power Behind John L. Lewis Organization.

Dayton, Ohio.—Louis Hines, chief organizer of the A. F. of L. and a personal representative of President Green to the fifty-third annual convention of the Ohio State Federation of Labor, charged "the executive committee of the communist party was the real governing body of the committee for industrial organization."

In an address to the convention, Hines said:

"John L. Lewis may be the titular head of the CIO, but the real governing body is the executive committee of the communist party."

Hines alleged the policy of the CIO in key cities of the country "was being directed by at least one communist."

Hines also attacked Heywood Broun, president of the American Newspaper Guild, and called upon him to resign.

"Broun has disqualified himself to serve as president of the Newspaper Guild because of his hostility to Green," Hines stated. "I call upon him to resign. How can the public expect unbiased reports from the reporters of the country when the president of their organization takes the stand he does?"

Tool and Die Makers Win Contract From Racine Firm

Racine, Wis.—The Tool and Die Makers' and Machinists unions of Racine have secured a new agreement with the Peerless Machine company, by which a 5 per cent increase in wages was granted, establishing a minimum of $1 per hour. It is the first signed agreement secured with the firm, although some union people had been employed before under oral contract.

More Contracts Negotiated By Indianapolis Musicians

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—The Indianapolis Musicians Union is making every effort to see that "night spots" and resorts hire union musicians, and with marked success. The Red Gables Night Club and the Westlake Terrace summer resort are among those recently signed up, along with the Seville Tavern and others.

Peoria Distillery Workers Win Closed Shop Contract

Peoria, Ill. — Distillery Workers' Union No. 19538 recently negotiated an agreement with the American Distilling company, of Peoria, Ill., providing for the closed shop and union work conditions.

William Schoenberg, A. F. of L. organizer for the Chicago area, assisted the officials of the Distillery Workers' union in finalizing the agreement, which added about 300 members to the union and gained some members for other crafts.

Social Security Act

The Federal Social Security act approved on Aug. 14, 1935, not only represents a major achievement in the attainment of economic security for the individual and for his family, but also is a victory for the working man in providing further safeguards for himself and family.

Since the enactment of this legislation by congress and the passage of subsequent state acts, the average citizen has not been able to understand satisfactorily the various names and divisions of this important law. A great many confuse the various terms of social security, old age assistance, old age benefits, old age pensions, unemployment compensation, etc. I shall attempt to distinguish and define these terms.

We must understand from the outset that the federal government does not administer all of the divisions of this act. The provision of the act deals with a number of distinct though related measures for social security which may be grouped under the following headings:

(1) Unemployment compensation.
(2) Old age assistance (commonly called old age pension).
(3) Old age benefits.
(4) Security for children.
(5) Aid to the blind.
(6) Extension of public health.
(7) Vocational rehabilitation.

"Zeke" Witt's Son Receives Peculiar Automobile Injury

All our readers will be glad to learn that little Richard Witt, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Zeke Witt, is improving from injuries he received Sunday afternoon when he tumbled from the car of his parents as the family was returning from a visit to Norris dam.

Richard was playing in the back seat with the other children and one of them accidentally opened the back door. Mr. Witt drove 100 yards or more before learning what had happened. The child was taken to Lenoir City for treatment and several stitches were taken in his leg and head.

His condition is not considered serious and The Labor World hopes he will soon be able to be out playing again.

Cement Workers Elect

Cement Workers, No. 18269, elected James Skidmore to represent the local at the national council meeting in Pittsburgh next month. Brother V. O. Cunningham was chosen as alternate.

This meeting will probably be a very significant one for the Cement Workers, since it is expected that an international charter will be granted to this group at the convention. In the past, the Cement Workers have been chartered as Federal Labor unions, and have been working as a council. But their membership has grown and so much progress has been made that they are planning on the formation of a new international union.

Kellogg Company Signs A. F. of L. Contract

Battle Creek Cereal Firm Agreement Includes 36-Hour Week and Vacations.

Battle Creek, Mich.—Federal Labor Union No. 20388 has finalized a union shop contract with the Kellogg company of Battle Creek providing for a 36-hour basic work week for all workers excepting shipping and advertising employes and watchmen, with time and one-half for overtime. Employees of other departments work 40 hours per week.

The agreement also provides vacations with pay on the basis of one week after two years service and two weeks after five years service, seniority, rest periods and other conditions beneficial to the employes.

James Gilmartin, A. F. of L. organizer here, assisted the Federal Labor union officials in finalizing the agreements.

STUBBORN HOSIERY?

Statements made in the daily press this last week by Mr. Edward Callaghan, representative of the American Federation of Hosiery Workers, indicate that southern hosiery manufacturers may force hosiery workers to declare a strike in order to secure adjudication of certain inequalities as well as collective bargaining.

The American Federation of Hosiery Workers, both during the days of its affiliation with the American Federation of Labor and also its recent alliance with the C. I. O., has gained for itself a position in the hosiery industry which gives it a ring of reliability. Its past history in the south and east has demonstrated that it is democratic and is headed by leaders with intelligence and minute detail knowledge of the industry.

Mr. Callaghan's statement of a possible strike of hosiery workers carries with it the implied statement that many local hosiery mills are in position to strike, due to a majority of them becoming members of the hosiery union.

If local hosiery manufacturers have memories so short that they cannot recall 1934, it is hoped that there is some agency powerful enough to do so.

If there should be a strike, due to refusal of local hosiery industrialists to deal with the American Federation of Hosiery Workers, after the majority of ther employes have joined, the issue will not be C. I. O. or A. F. of L.

It will be a bull-headed, senseless industry against the rights of workers to organize, whether C. I. O. or A. F. of L.

While we do not hold a great deal of respect for the wisdom and tactics of many C. I. O. leaders, and believe that if they succeeded in their ambition labor would suffer greatly, we do know Mr. Ed Callaghan is one who speaks with deliberation, based on a deep study and knowledge of the hosiery industry.

We do not want another hosiery strike in Chattanooga. It would be disastrous to the city, to the A. F. of L. and to the C. I. O. The hosiery employer ought to know it would bankrupt him.

However, if such employers simply cannot learn that the old era is gone, we hope that we can pick the list of the first few sock mills to sock.

Fire in a Powder Factory

President Roosevelt is getting twice a day from the state department reports on the mixup between Japan and China. If anything specially important happens, news of its goes to the White House at once. For President Roosevelt realizes, what too many of us do not, that the world may be set on fire by the fighting now going on in China.

Japan is playing with fire in a powder factory. On the surface of things, she has all the military advantages. She is armed to the teeth while China hardly is armed at all. She has a unified government control; while united action by the Chinese depends on agreement between rival leaders and discordant factions. She has picked a time when the liberal powers are particularly anxious to avoid war, and when the Russian government is obviously absorbed in internal difficulties. But for all that, Japan's brutal aggression in China is not wise.

There are nearly 400,000,000 Chinese. They are perhaps the least military large people in the world; but they have made good soldiers before and can do so again. They are divided, but if anything can bring them together in a fighting unit, it is the way Japan is treating them now. And now, as for thousands of years past, time fights for China and the Chinese.

Japan is guided by military raiders, no longer by real statesmen. No statesman, no rational man who knows anything of history, would bring upon his country the hatred of 400,000,000 people whose breed has lasted for thirty centuries. The Japanese militarists are playing with fire in a powder factory. The explosion may rock the world; but it will destroy them.

Justifiable Homicide

Chicago has plumbed new depths in the official approval of crime. She has produced a coroner's jury which has declared that the killing of ten marchers by the police on Memorial day was "justifiable homicide."

It has been proved that the marchers were not armed. It has been proved that no policeman was seriously injured in the affair. It has been proved that women, one of them a well known social worker, were clubbed until unconscious or dazed, and thrust into the patrol wagon with blood streaming from their heads. It is well known, even to the kind of folk who serve on coroner's juries in Chicago, that the senate civil liberties committee has in its possession a news film which shows the police to be wanton, savage aggressors, firing into the crowd a hundred yards away, and clubbing to death a man who was caught between police lines.

"Justifiable homicide!" The jurors who joined in that verdict should join with the police of the Memorial day massacre in a petition for the release of Al Capone as a much injured, honorable and kindly gentleman.

President Roosevelt's court plan at least produced that "flash of liberalism" in the supreme court which upheld the Wagner act and the minimum wage laws.

Take It! or Leave It

Points of View Picked Up From Various Sources

CY KOLOGY, EDITOR

There has been a very interesting development in the house of labor recently. The A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. have agreed not to break each other's strikes. Of course this is the sensible thing to do. Either side, breaking the other's strikes, would be in a position hard to defend. Strike-breaking is a business that belongs all on the side of the reactionary employer. Today the decent employers themselves don't indulge in strike-breaking. If there's a strike they tie up and take a rest until the issue is settled. But this measure of tolerance doesn't mean that the internal warfare is cooling off any. On the contrary, it's plenty hot and active.

Here's an interesting note: Employers are weakening in their demand for incorporation of unions. They've been mooching around, trying to figure out a plan, but they aren't having any luck. Instead, they are finding out that they can't rig up any bill that would catch unions in their net without also catching themselves. The trap would work both ways. So, they are taking second thought about the whole business, saddened and disappointed by what their lawyers tell them.

Well, it never is easy to rig up one-way laws. Of course there will be no letup in the effort to hamstring labor, but one idea seems to be in the ash can anyway.

In Washington a big fat book has just been published. It is called the report of the National Resources committee, named by the president. This book tells us what kind of inventions are coming and what is going to be done with some of the inventions already in use. Most folks think, for example, that the electric eye is just an amusing little gadget. Well, this report tells us that the electric eye will displace a million workers. So, it seems that the electric eye is going to see a pretty big change in a great many things. Every time it takes a look a man loses his job. Did anybody say the unemployment problem was almost settled?

That's just one item in this fat and important report. At the same time the rumors of war abroad grow hotter. There will be war some day. There may be war very soon. If war starts it probably won't be long before everybody gets in. It won't be any private war. And then the world will be all upset. Anybody who tries to tell us what kind of a world we will have ten years hence is only guessing.

Inventions, wars, politics—these and other things will create our picture for us and no man can say what it will look like at any future stage of the great game of life. All we know is we are on our way—and not making a very intelligent job of it as we go along. What energy we waste in fighting!

ASK STUDY OF METAL RESOURCES

Washington.—Senator George L. Berry, of Tennessee, and Senator Henry S. Bridges, of New Hampshire, have introduced a joint resolution in the senate calling for the formation of a joint congressional committee to investigate and study the natural resources of iron ore and supplies of iron and steel scrap necessary for domestic use. The committee would report by Feb. 1.

Lehman Draws Fire Of Members of Congress

Washington. — Gov. Lehman, of New York, has come in for stinging criticism at the hands of many members of congress for his action in calling upon Senator Wagner, of that state, to vote aganist the supreme court reorganization proposal. Senator Wagner has replied to the letter with the statement that he is inclined to examine all proposals on their merits.

Lehman's utterance came at a crucial moment in the efforts of congress to effect reorganization as a result of the death of the late majority leader, Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas. Resentment was manifest especially that a governor of a state should thrust himself in to a federal matter pending before congress.

Assertions were made that the governor was attempting to take advantage of his official position in making his statement, since such statement from him as a private citizen would have passed practically unnoticed.

There is a widespread belief that the governor was attempting to vent a petty resentment toward the president and his program because of internal and local political differences in the state of New York and in New York City.

LABEL LEADERS

By BROWNIE HOPPER

I owe an apology to the Label League for not telling about their meeting last week. Had to be out of town myself, so it just slipped my mind. However, they report that there was a fair crowd present in spite of the fact that so many people are vacationing.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Reynolds and family (Paul is vice-president of the Central Labor union, you know, and Mrs. Reynolds is one of the most active members of the Label League) have joined the many other Chattanoogans who are spending vacations in Florida. The Reynolds expect to be gone for two weeks and plan to motor down the east coast of Florida and back up the west coast.

There's one nice thing about fur coats—they fit in with any sort of costume. If you get a simple, tailored style, you have a coat that you can wear to the office—a fur coat is lovely with tailored frocks. For Sundays, whether for church or to go for drive, your coat is just the thi Best of all, when you want to dancing and get all dressed up in evening frock, your fur coat make a nice evening wrap. Vogue has some beautiful coats their August sales. If you've had a fur coat, go down to The Vog now and you are sure to be surpri to find that they are so reasona priced. And, after you've studied matter over, you will realize just h adaptable and practical a fur c really is.

In the La day edition of our paper we are pl ning to have some of the recipes th our own folks like to cook—and ready I have gotten in some of t most unusual recipes. For instan Mrs. Boddy gave me a recipe f "Porcupines"—bet you never heard that one. I can hardly wait to gi it to you.

KING CHARGED HIGH COURT DODGED WELFARE CLAUSE THROUGH 140 YEARS

Washington.—Judson King, one of the greatest pamphleteers in North America and always on the liberal side, has issued a remarkable bulletin on "The Supreme Court and the General Welfare." He gives a sketch of the neglect and distortion of the "general welfare" clause of the constitution; and a good though brief review of a remarkable book written on that subject by Dr. James F. Lawson, who shows the supreme court did not rule on the general welfare clause for 140 years

And in the clause giving congress power to promote the general welfare, both Lawson and King find the authority for the whole new deal program, including the president's court plan.

But Mr. King's discussion of the good done by the public interest in government, roused more by Roosevelt than by any other man in America, is worth quoting.

"As never before," says Mr. King, "the masses are thinking, not in sectional but in national terms. They are beginning to understand the interdependence of farmers, of wage-earners, of clerical, professional and financial classes upon each other. The sentiment of justice to all is displacing the sentiment of charity to the fortunate.'

"For the first time in over half century, the White House has spok (on the court question); the pres dent, with rare courage, has clear analyzed the situation. Discussion ramified throughout the body poli from high places to the lowest ha let. . . . The masses also know wh it is all about. Said a mechanic to m this morning, 'I have long ago mad up my mind that the judges are bunch of dictators.' Said another, think 500 men (congress) ought know as much what the constitutio means as nine men.'"

City and statewide union labe weeks are going over big in all part of the country. Week must be spell w-e-e-k and not w-e-a-k.

MORE ABOUT LAW AND LABOR

All of the above services are to be administered by the state government, with the exception of No. 3, old age benefits. That is, providing the various state governments pass laws which will be approved by the social security board and which will allow the states to receive grants from the federal government.

(1) Unemployment compensation in Tennessee is governed entirely by the state law. The federal government invited all the states to enact laws to compensate their employes when they are without work. The social security act put a tax of 1% for 1936, 2% for 1937 and 3% thereafter on all employers of eight or more in the nation. Therefore, it did not matter whether or not the individual state passed its unemployment law. The employes still had to pay the tax into the federal treasury for the general purpose of the federal government, and in that way the money would go out of the state for good. To avoid paying this tax, an alternative was left open for the state. They could pass a local unemployment law, and each employer could credit the federal tax with the amount paid the state, and furthermore the administration of the law would not cost the state anything, but would be paid for by the national government.

Tennessee accepted this proposition in December, 1936, in an extra session of the legislature, and the employers of this state have already paid over two million into the state treasury. Beginning January, 1938, the employes will begin to receive the benefits from this law.

(2) Old age assistance (commonly known as old age pension) is designed in the federal act to help the states give immediate assistance to aged individuals on a basis of need. To provide old age pensions the federal government made the state the proposition of matching on a 50-50 basis every dollar spent by the state for old-age assistance. Tennessee accepted this proposition by passing an act, which was approved by the social security board, which pays an old age pension to people who fulfill the following principal requirements: (1) Be 65 years of age or over. (2) And in need of assistance. Tennessee limits any person to $25.00, half of which is paid by the federal government and the other half by the state and county. In addition the federal government allows an additional 5% of the total granted to the state for administration expenses.

(3) Old age benefits are handled entirely by the federal government, and the benefits are paid out of the federal treasury. This is an annuity plan by which the government taxes the pay of the employe and the payroll of the employers to provide a reserve from which to pay benefits to the employes after they reach age 65. These payments will not begin until Jan. 1, 1942. A qualified individual is one who is at least 65 years of age, who received total wages with respect to employment after Dec. 31, 1936, and before attaining 65 years of age, of not less than $2,000 and who has been employed in some five different calendar years after Dec. 31, 1936, before attaining the age of 65 years. The minimum monthly benefit payment will be $10.00, the maximum $85.00.

(4) The act further provides aid to the state by grants in an amount equal to one-third of any sum expended for aid to dependent children. (5) It also provides for aid to the blind by matching state funds dollar for dollar. Tennessee has already passed laws under this head, allowing a maximum benefit of $25.00.

(6) The act also provides help to the states for public health service; these allotments being on a basis of population, the special health problems and the financial need of the respective states. (7) Further grants are also made for vocational rehabilitation of the physical disabled. This is administered by office of education of the department of interior.

From the above, I trust the reader can get a general outline of the scope of the federal act. A particular discussion on each subhead will be made later.

We hope that the act will provide some safeguard against the insecurity of modern life through cooperative action of the federal and state governments. If it does it will satisfy our president, who on Jan. 4, 1935, in outlining the act, said, "Among our objectives, I place the security of men, women and children of the nation first."

Many, Many Women Say Cardui Helped Them

By taking Cardui, thousands of women have found they can avoid much of the monthly suffering they used to endure. Cramping spells, nagging pains and jangled nerves can be relieved—either by Cardui or by a physician's treatment.

Besides easing certain pains, Cardui aids in building up the whole system by helping women to get more strength from their food.

Cardui, with directions for home use by women, may be bought at the drug store. (Pronounced "Card-u-i".)

UNION AGREEMENTS BRING NEW FIRMS INTO UNION LABEL RANKS

Washington.—Four shoe firms and four brands of cigars were this week added to the list of union label products, it was announced at A. F. of L. Union Label Trades Department by Secretary-Treasurer I. M. Ornburn.

The Boot and Shoe Workers' union has notified the department it has signed agreements with the following shoe manufacturers:

Walter Booth Shoe company, Watertown, Wis., makers of men's dress shoes to retail at popular prices;

Freeman Shoe corporation, Beloit, Wis., makers of men's shoes to retail from $5.00 to $6.50;

Ideal Shoe Manufacturing company, Milwaukee, makers of misses', children's, infants' and boys' shoes and sandals; and Doerman Shoe Manufacturing company, South Milwaukee, makers of "Great Scott" shoes for misses, children, infants, youths, boys and little gents.

John J. Mara, general president of the Boot and Shoe Workers' union, said that he was pleased that shoe manufacturers by these concerns will bear the union stamp.

Secretary-Treasurer Ornburn, of the Union Label Trades Department, stated that the increased demand for union-made shoes by consumers was an outgrowth of an intense union label campaign being carried on in every part of the country. "The wholesaler and retailer are also demanding the union stamp," he said, "because educated buyers are not purchasing non-union shoes or other non-union products and are not patronizing non-union services."

The Coony Bayer Cigar company, of Fort Wayne, Ind., has signed an agreement with the Cigar Makers' International Union of America. The factory is completely unionized and the new brands, "Lady Wayne," "Coony's Broadleaf," "Win Craft," and "LaRienta," will bear the union label of the organized cigar makers.

R. E. Van Horn, international president of the Cigar Makers International Union of America, stated that these brands add to a long list of union-made cigars which can be purchased in every locality, and urged labor unionists to give as much publicity as possible to all union label cigars.

Mr. Ornburn, former president of the Cigar Makers' International union, urges all members of organized labor to smoke only "union mades" and to get their friends to always ask for union label brands.

CLEVELAND GASOLINE STATION OPERATORS WIN WAGE INCREASE OF $8.75 PER MONTH

Pay Raise Totals $150,000 Annually for Union Members; Employes of 13 Firms Included in Contract.

Cleveland, O.—Members of Gasoline Station Operators' Union No. 18378, affiliated with the National Council of Gasoline Station Operators, won a wage increase of $8.75 per month for every classification in the recent renewal of their working and wage agreement with the oil companies in the Cleveland district.

The wage increases were in addition to the provision for one week's vacation with pay for employes with one year of service or over and two weeks vacation with pay for employes with four years of service or over carried in the 1936 agreement, which was signed by the representatives of thirteen companies.

Under the new scale, managing operators are paid $121.25 a month plus $5.00 a month for the first full time operator working under them and $2 a month for each additional full time operator.

The scale for senior operators, including all full time operators who have been employed one month or more, is $111.25 a month.

Junior operators, including all full time operators who have been employed less than one year, are paid $91.25 a month for the first six months and $98.75 for the next six months.

Specialized operators Class A, including those who work as full time operators and in addition perform other services such as overhauling of various parts, vulcanizing, and battery attention, are paid a minimum of $15 a month above the scale of managing operators, or $136.25 a month.

Specialized operators Class B, including full time service operators and other functions not covered in Class A, are paid a minimum of $111.25 a month for the first three months of their employment and thereafter a minimum of $5.00 more than the minimum salary of managing operators, or $126.25 a month.

Part time operators are paid not less than 50 cents an hour.

H. A. Bradley, A. F. of L. organizer here, who assisted the union in negotiating the agreement, said that the wage increase "means $90 per year per man and will affect something better than 1,600 men, which means an annual increase to the union membership of approximately $150,000."

Bartenders Union Signs Up Three Cafes in Iima, Ohio

Lima, O.—Organized labor in Lima recently increased its strength by the negotiation of agreements by the Bartenders' International union with three cafes, which now display union bar cards.

An agreement providing for union conditions for one year was also negotiated with the Superior Body company.

Valuable assistance in negotiating the agreements was rendered by Alfred P. Murphy, A. F. of L. organizer in the Lima area.

A. F. of L. Pact Signed By Aluminum Foundry

Closed Shop Agreement With Manitowoc Company Provides for Wage Increases and Arbitration of Disputes Without Strikes.

Manitowoc, Wis.—A closed shop agreement negotiated by Aluminum Workers' Federal Labor Union No. 20585 with the Wisconsin Aluminum Foundry company, of Manitowoc, carries a wage increase of 15 per cent, 10 per cent effective July 1 and the remaining 5 per cent effective Oct. 1.

On Sept. 1 hours will be adjusted to the 45-hour week based on eight hours per day for five days and five hours on Saturday, when necessary.

Seniority rules will be applied both in laying off and rehiring employes as well as in advancement to new jobs or vacancies.

Important Wage Rule.

An important provision of the agreement declares that "when an employe is required to fill the place of another employe receiving a higher rate of pay, and qualifies for such job, he shall receive the higher rate; but if required temporarily to fill the place of another employe receiving a lower rate, his rate will not be changed."

Five-Man Arbitration Board.

In order to settle disputes without resort to strikes, the agreement sets up a board of arbitration to adjust grievances failing of settlement by representatives of the company and representatives of the union. It is provided that the arbitration board shall consist of two officials of the company and two officials of the union, who shall jointly petition the Wisconsin labor relations board to select a man to act as chairman. The board's decisions will be final and binding on both the company and the union.

Closed Shop Provision.

The closed shop provision reads:

"On or before thirty days after the signing of this agreement, all employes of the Wisconsin Aluminum Foundry company, as hereinafter defined, shall become members in good standing of the Aluminum Workers' Federal Labor Union No. 20585, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

"The word employe or employes shall be interpreted for the purposes of carrying out the provisions of this agreement to mean all employes with the exception of administrative and supervisory forces, foremen, commanders and apprentices.

"New employes will be given four weeks in which to apply and to become members of the union."

Carl K. Greene, American Federation of Labor organizer, assisted the officers of Federal Labor Union No. 20585 in negotiating the agreement.

MORE ABOUT LAUNDRIES

as well as dangerous to consumers," the pamphlet states. "Fastidious people put on their bodies clothes which have been in contact with dirt in laundries. They use towels and eat off tablecloths which have been handled by workers forced to work in germ-ridden places. They struggle to keep their children healthy, yet put them to sleep on sheets and pillow cases which have been ironed by workers with colds and sore throats who were unable to stay at home to cure them."

Disease Prevalent.

One worker said, "The ventilation is awful. The walls and ceilings sweat terribly. It actually rains down on us. I was healthy when I started but the damp and heat break you down." These conditions result in rheumatism, pneumonia and other diseases.

Terrific exploitation exists in the industry. In unorganized laundries speedup is prevalent. One woman said:

"You get to be a horse to stand it. It's a rush all the time. The speedup is something awful. They never think you do enough for what they pay you. The shirt girls make $1.25 for 100 shirts and it's just like fighting a war. They're wet from their necks to their waists."

One Race Against Another.

Many cases of discrimination against negro workers were found. Some employers play one race against the other, keeping wages down by telling each he can get the other to work cheaper.

The pamphlet also shows how some employers use unfair practices and underhand tricks to cheat their employes. "We nearly always have to do wash-over and we're not paid for it," one woman said. "They chisel us out of ten minutes at lunch time, and slip in extra work on us because we have to work so fast we haven't time to count the pieces."

These conditions have continued to exist because of the prevalence of discrimination and intimidation against union members. Threats and discharges for union activity are common. Many of the workers are afraid to mention the union in their shops. In their homes they told league investigators that the union is a good idea but will only get them fired.

Union Conditions Better.

Conditions in union laundries are incomparably better. Union wages are far above the average. A union shirt folder gets $1.95 for 100 shirts, while the average is $1.50. A union washer gets $40 for a 48-hour week, while most non-union washers get about $22 for 55 hours. Conditions in union laundries are also far better fro mthe point of view of health and sanitary conditions. The pamphlet, therefore, concludes that the union offers the most complete solution for the laundry workers, urges support of legislation favorable to the workers, and the use of laundries which have union contracts or employ union members.

The pamphlet has a special appeal for union members who can learn what degradation the worker suffers who does not organize with other workers to use the powerful instrument of collective bargaining.

Green and Lewis Urge Approval of Wagner-Steagall Housing Bill

American Labor Declared Unit In Backing Measure

Nation Plunging Headlong Toward Greatest Housing Crisis, A. F. of L. Head Warns in Plea for Action.

Washington.—American labor is a unit in support of the Wagner-Steagall housing bill, William Green and John L. Lewis told the house committee on banking and currency, in asking that a favorable report be made on the measure without delay.

Urging on behalf of the American Federation of Labor the necessity of prompt action on housing legislation, Green cited six reasons why organized labor is "solidly united" in support of the Wagner-Steagall bill. Outlining the first reason he said:

"The latest reports show that the country is plunging headlong toward the greatest housing crisis in the entire experience of the nation. Already, sky-rocketing rents in many localities are wiping out every gain made by the workers through increases in their earnings."

Bill Will Aid Idle.

Other reasons for labor's support of the bill were given as follows:

The bill will provide modern homes for the nation's one-third of the population tthat is ill-housed; the housing program contemplated by the bill will give work to great numbers of unemployed building trades workers; the bill sets up an independent United States housing authority whose full time will be devoted to the solution of the problem of providing decent housing for the masses; the bill contains provision for initiating a housing program in rural areas; labor standards, including prevailing wage rates, are provided for under the bill.

Speaking for the United Mine Workers of America and the committee for industrial organization, Lewis told the committee that American labor is "universally in support" of the Wagner-Steagall bill.

Building Lags in Recovery.

"The bill has been before congress for some time and has been the subject of exhaustive investigators and hearings," Lewis siad. "We accept it as presenting, if not the most generous, a practicable federal contribution to an objective universally recognized as no longer capable of evasion."

Lewis said housing construction "has limped far behind general recovery." He said employment of men in manufacturing industries is approaching the 1929 level but that "the building industry has given slight evidence of taking up the slack of unemployment."

Lewis contended that the measure should be designed to remove slums in rural as well as urban districts. He pointed out that in mining, textile and other industries the remoteness of operation from cities has made it necessary for corporations to build and rent homes to the workers.

Senate Debates Bill.

The pleas of Green and Lewis for action on the Wagner-Steagall bill came as the banking and currency committee began hearings on the measure. The senate had already begun debate on the bill, with Senator Wagner, of New York, co-author of the measure, opening with a vigorous speech asking its approval and declaring that "no proposed social legislation within my recollection has won such widespread support."

"The initiation of this program," said Wagner, "will have a marked direct effect upon the revival of the construction industry generally, and its ramifying effects will flow into every channel of trade and commerce.

"No wiser step can now be aken to round out the currency recovery, to introduce a permanent stabilizing influence into this recovery, and to eradicate one of the most costly and dangerous social evils in our midst."

A. F. of L. Union Wins Iron Company Election

Employes of Toledo Firm Vote Heavily Against C. I. O. Union as Bargaining Agent.

Toledo, O.—By a vote of 343 to 252 the American Federation of Labor defeated the committee for industrial organization here in an election conducted by the national labor relations board at the Interlake Iron corporation.

The result gives the Blast Furnace and Coke Oven Workers, an A. F. of L. affiliate, sole bargaining rights with the company.

The election was held following a hearing held in May at the request of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, a C. I. O. group, which claimed a majority in the plant.

Andrew A. Mayer, NLRB attorney, conducted the election. Of 623 eligible to vote, 596 ballots were cast, one being thrown out. Interest in the election was tense, for while the polls were open until 6 p.m., by noon 517 had voted. I. E. Moore and A. Fazokes acted as observers for the Blast Furnace Workers.

Francis J. Dillon, general organizer in charge of the Toledo office for the A. F. of L., contended at the hearing that an election was not necessary and claimed the evidence showed that the Blast Furnace men had the majority. The result of the election proves his contention.

LABOR DAY PLANS PROMISES WELL FOR BIG EVENT

Complete Athletic Program Will Continue Annual Awards.

Ed Hargraves Says "Watch Our Stuff" as He Prepares to Entertain Largest Crowd in Warner Park.

Under the chairmanship of Victor Hallmark and Ed Hargraves, director of recreation, it seems that Labor day celebration plans will be one of the most complete ever held in Warner park.

For several weeks Director Hargraves has been mapping out an all-day program of events that will keep busy the hundreds of youngsters on up to the elder folk.

The annual cup prizes for athletic events, awarded by Central Body, will be the main events of the athletics, interspersed during the day with softball and hard ball games. The carpenters and painters are already rolling up their sleeves for their baseball game which was so full of excitement last year.

It is thought that an excellent horse show will be available for those who can stay in the saddle, and to wind things up there will be fireworks.

There will be no parade, but at the end of Labor day it is predicted that everyone will be pleased with the holiday.

Machinists Add 40,000 Members in Six Months

Union Strength Is Larger by 107,202 Than in 1933; 2,000 Signed Agreements Are in Effect.

Washington.—The International Association of Machinists has added 40,000 new members during the last six months, according to a statement by International President A. O. Wharton. This figure raises the membership past the 156,000 mark, the highest point in the peace-time history of the organization.

Since Jan. 1, 1937, the net membership of the union has increased 40,000, but the net increase since July 1, 1933, has been 107,202.

In commenting on the fact that the association has around 2,000 signed contracts, President Wharton said that "more agreements are now in effect than at any previous time in the organization's history. In fact, the International Association of Machinists now has more agreements and more industries than any other labor organization in the world."

"Most of these agreements," Mr. Wharton added, "were secured without strikes, but none was handed to us on a silver platter. The union has had to fight for all it got. And we've ran up against some tough propositions from violently anti-union employers who had totally wrong ideas about relations with bona fide labor unions.

"In most instances, with a big majority of the plant's employes enrolled in the union, we have been able to win through negotiations and avoid strikes. The reputation which the I. A. of M. has established in keeping its contracts has been a heavily contributing factor along that line.

"But we have not hesitated to strike when such action has been necessary—as a last resort, when all other methods of settlement were exhausted and when we felt our requests were reasonable and just and were being refused for selfish reasons."

GUILD TO BALLOT ON JOINING CIO

New York City—The international executive board of the American Newspaper Guild has authorized a referendum on CIO affiliation and other actions taken at the guild's recent St. Louis convention, provided that the questions to be presented were "properly drafted and capable of application" and "within the spirit" of the original motions.

The board voted to limit the referendum to guild members as of June 1. Both votes were unanimous.

Cement Unions Gain Wage Increase Pact

A. F. of L. Units in Buffalo, Iowa, and Dewey, Okla., Also Secure 40-Hour Week in Cement Company Agreement.

Dewey, Okla.—United Cement Workers Unions No. 19329, of Dewey, and No. 19338, of Buffalo, Iowa, have accomplished what they have sought for a long time—the negotiation of an agreement with the Dewey Portland Cement company.

Although a number of the union members have been employed by the company for a number of years, it was not until recently that the union included in its membership every eligible employe of the plant. Following this achievement, it required only eight days to finalize the agreement, which grants a 10 per cent increase in wages and an annual bonus of approximately $75.

40-Hour Week, Seniority Rights

Other provisions are a check-off system, seniority rights which are generally the same as apply to other cement workers elsewhere, an arrangement whereby employes may apply for advancements or other types of work by the posting of a five-day notice showing such changes contemplated by the company.

Under the paragraph covering working conditions, notable provisions are the fixing of an eight-hour day and a 40-hour week, time and one-half for overtime, no lay offs to equalize the overtime work and equitable distribution of all possible work during slack periods.

Overtime Rates.

The agreement also provides that in cases of emergency, when an hourly or piece work employe is called for work in addition to his regular job, he shall receive one and one-half times the regular rate with a minimum of three hours, where the work provided in such an instance is less than three hours, he shall receive pay for at least that time.

All overtime work, excepting regular operations on national holidays, calls for time and one-half.

The splendid results of almost completely organizing the Dewey and Buffalo local unions and the successful negotiation of their contract were gained through the efforts of Harold Williamson, first vice-president of the National Council of United Cement Workers and an organizer for the American Federation of Labor.

Stanton E. Smith Struts Because He Is "Proud Papa"

"Junior" Arrives at Children's Hospital Last Sunday.

The labor movement of the next generation received a great asset last Sunday when Stanton Everett Smith, Junior, arrived at the Children's hospital—ringside weight, seven pounds and thirteen ounces.

Prof. Smith, when interviewed, said that he was very calm, and that the doctor merely misunderstood him when they threatened to run him away from the hospital for getting in the way.

Mrs. Smith—"Nancy" to you—is doing fine and will be receiving admirers of the new infant in a few days.

Meatcutters Going Forward

C. C. Peek, formerly secretary of the Oil Refiners, a branch of the Meatcutters International, was in town for a few days last week. Brother Peek is now organizing for the Meatcutters' International union and has been in the southern part of Georgia for the past three months. He reports that five new local unions of Butcher Workers have been set up in that district.

Meatcutters Met Monday

Meatcutters, Local 600, met Monday night, Aug. 2, in regular session. There was a good attendance and three new members were initiated.

Brewery Local Busy

Brewery Workers, Local 79, will meet Thursday night in regular session. According to Erskine Fischer, secretary of the local, there will be important business up for discussion. Plans will be made to increase the drive against the Canada Dry products and there will be some discussion about picketing all stores in town which handle these goods.

Old-Age Assistance Is Not Lifelong Pension

Assistance checks granted to the needy aged, blind, and children of Tennessee under the social security act do not constitute lifelong pensions once they are granted, but are liable to be changed or withdrawn entirely, as the need of the person changes, according to a statement made to The Labor World today by Mr. Frank C. Lears, unit supervisor in Hamilton county, who has just received a bulletin, emphasizing this point, from Dr. Roy L. Garis, executive assistant to the commissioner in the state department of institutions and public welfare.

"Assistance grants in the first place are made only on a basis of extreme need," said Dr. Garis. "A person who meets the legal qualifications, and whose income is not enough to feed, clothe and shelter him decently and in health, is granted a monthly check, the amount of which is based upon the difference between what he needs and what he has.

"However, each case will be reviewed from time to time, and the amount of assistance will be increased, decreased, or withdrawn entirely, in relation to any changes that may have occurred in the financial condition of the recipient.

"In this manner each person is cared for according to his individual needs, with a minimum of waste and a maximum of efficiency."

18 MEMPHIS FIRMS SIGN BUILDING TRADES PACT

Memphis, Tenn. Eighteen building contractors, heretofore employing non-union help, have agreed with the board of business agents of local building trades unions to employ union men in the future.

This signal victory for the unions is expected to be followed soon by similar agreements with other contractors, thus marking a very definite step forward for local building tradesmen.

Central Bodies Will Direct Activities In Every Jurisdiction

American Federation Preparing to Receive Additional Members as Local Organizers Are Named.

Accompanied by approximately thirty trades unionists from all sections of the state, the executive board of the Tennessee Federation of Labor met in Nashville at the labor temple last Sunday, Aug. 1. The meeting was called at the request of Geo. L. Googe, southern representtive of the American Federation of Labor, for the purpose of initiating an organizing campaign for the federation.

Reports from the different sections of the state indicated that there is a definite trend on the part of unorganized workers to join the American Federation of Labor; however, each representative insisted that there should be a full-time organizer placed in his district to coordinate their efforts.

Mr. Googe announced that arrangements have already been made to place a full-time organizer in Nashville and Knoxville. However, the central bodies in Chattanooga, Memphis and Johnson City will advise the A. F. of L. which local man they wish to head the campaign in their respective cities.

Most of the work will be done through the central bodies by voluntary organizers and the different business agents of the local unions. It was decided that vigorous efforts would be made to afford every worker the privilege of setting up an A. L. of L. unit.

Chattanoogans accompanying W. A. Witt, board member, were Curtis Sims, president of Central Body; Erskine Mabee, secretary; Roy Reynolds, O. E. Cook, Plumbers; J. B. Huff, Hod Carriers; W. J. Everhart, business agent for Iron Workers, and W. J. Davidson, business agent for the Sheet Metal Workers.

Morrison Reports Membership Gains

A. F. of L. Secretary-Treasurer Says Affiliated Unions Have Increased Strength by 666,363 New Members During Ten Months; Present Membership Is 3,106,439.

Washington.—"The paid upon and reported membership of the 103 national and international unions and local unions directly affiliated with the American Federation of Labor as of July 20, 1937, is 3,106,439," Frank Morrison, secretary-treasurer of the A. F. of L., declared in a statement here showing the continued progress of the federation.

"This is a gain of 666,363 for the ten months and twenty days over the average membership of the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, 1936," he added.

"This does not include," he said, "the membership of the ten national and international unions suspended Sept. 5, 1936."

Wage Increase Agreement Won by Lincoln Teamsters

Lincoln, Neb.—An agreement providing wage increases ranging from 14½ to 50 per cent, check-off system of dues collecting, and other union conditions has been negotiated by Local 608 of the Teamsters and Chauffeurs' Brotherhood with the Lincoln District Truck Operators.

HOSIERY WORKERS SIGN NEW PACT WITH INCREASE IN WAGE FOR MANY

New Union Scale Calls for 40 Hour Week and Continues Machinery for Impartial Arbitration of All Disputes—Covers 70 Per Cent of the Industry.

Philadelphia, Pa. — Continuation of peace in the unionized portion of the hosiery industry is assured for another year with the signing of an agreement between the American Federation of Hosiery Workers and the Full Fashioned Hosiery Manufacturers of America. The agreement provides for numerous increases in many classifications of work. Emil Rieve, international president of the union, said the raises will average from 8 to 10 per cent as a whole. The 40 hour work week is maintained together with the machinery for impartial arbitration of all disputes.

With the signing of the agreement, Dr. George W. Taylor, of the industrial research department of the University of Pennsylvania, returns as arbitrator for the industry. He held that post for many years, but resigned it last year only to persuaded to return to oversee the operation of the present agreement.

All Workers Get Raise.

The American Federation of Hosiery Workers is affiliated with the Committee for Industrial Organization. This agreement provides increases for all classes of workers ranging from knitters to machine fixers and maintenance men.

Affected directly by the agreement are 50,000 members of the Federation comprising 70 per cent. of the full-fashioned hosiery industry. However, all workers in the industry will benefit by the increases gained for the union workers as it has been the custom of the non-union manufacturers to pay union wages in an effort to stem organization of their employes.

Gets the Chiseler.

In commenting on the agreement Rieve pointed to the stabilizing factor the union is in the industry. "It is by such agreements," Rieve said, "that much of the grief and chaos existing in other industries where chiselling and cut-throat competition has freer play has been avoided in the manufacture of hosiery. It is in just such negotiations as have been concluded that lies the path to a peaceful and prosperous industry."

LAW AND LABOR

By JOHN T. MAHONEY

of the Chattanooga Bar.

(Editor's Note—Mr. Mahoney, a member of organized labor, served in the state legislature last term. He is an energetic young attorney who is interested in legislative problems for the welfare of labor.)

In Tennessee we have two kinds of divorce, one a total and complete dissolving of the bonds of matrimony, and the other a limited divorce, referred to as a divorce a mensa et thoro (from bed and board). In the former case the parties are returned to their former status of unmarried persons, excepting the guilty party in an adultery action. In the latter the bonds are not dissolved, only the right of cohabitation.

Originally in Tennessee a person could only get a divorce by legislation. This proved both cumbersome and expensive, and an act was passed giving the constitution of 1836 that legislative divorces were outlawed.

In recent years several states have made a positive effort to attract divorce litigation. This is usually done by lowering the residence requirement. Tennessee has not openly entered into this competition as our laws require the petitioner to be two years a resident before divorce.

Chattanooga leads the state in per capita divorces. We have one divorce to every two and a half marriages; Memphis one divorce to every three, and Knoxville only one to every four. Chattanooga has twice as many divorces as Knoxville, which is a city of practically the same size. There are several reasons, one being that Chattanooga is so situated that many people come from the rural sections of north Georgia for their divorces. The city being primarily a manufacturing town, many laborers come in to work and often staying a short time get a divorce through the Tennessee courts. Then, too, the Georgia laws require a waiting period of six months, and to the couple seeking separation, this appears a long time. It is, therefore, easier to say they are residents of Tennessee and get the divorce here. This may be the fault of certain lawyers who obtain divorces for clients whom they know are non-residents. It is impossible for the courts to determine this fact without investigation, as in Chattanooga alone 600 divorces are granted per year, about two per day.

The causes for a complete divorce are ten in number. (1) Impotency. (2) Previous marriage still subsisting. (3) Adultery. (4) Desertion. (5) Conviction of a crime. (6) Confinement in penitentiary. (7) Either party attempting life of other. (8) Wife refusing to move to this state with husband. (9) Pregnancy at time of marriage. (10) Habitual drunkenness.

The following are causes for either a complete divorce or one from bed and board, in the discretion of the court: (1) Cruel and inhuman treatment. (2) Indignities by husband to wife. (3) Abandonment and failure to provide.

Alimony is founded upon the legal obligation of the husband to support his wife. There is no provision in the law requiring an erring wife to pay alimony to her husband. An order for alimony remains in the court, and may be modified upon application by either party. The amount paid thereunder is usually proportioned to the rank and quality of the parties. It may be in monthly or yearly payments, or when an absolute divorce is granted the alimony paid may be in one settlement. The court is governed by the circumstances of the case with respect to the position and financial standing of the parties, children, etc. The wife may also be granted alimony pendente lite (during the litigation) and further require the husband to pay her attorney's fee.

Security for costs is always required for divorce litigants except a woman may institute her suit on the pauper's oath providing she makes a deposit of $6.00. If the costs are later collected from her husband she is refunded the $6.00.

According to statistics the first five years are the hardest and contribute more than their proportionate share of the divorces.

IN THE NEWS

BURTON K. WHEELER

Burton K. Wheeler, senior senator from Montana, has been through the fires, and naturally shows his temper at times. His background is that of a fighter, one of the kind who could fight alongside Robert M. La Follette in the olden days—and that took some spunk. He was the means of tearing open the Teapot Dome oil scandal, and that also took some guts.

Knowing the necessity for political parties, Wheeler has nevertheless managed to be pretty much "his own man" in politics, and that also revealed a caliber unusual. Perhaps the thing that has made him has been his constant resentment at being tied to anybody or anything but his own convictions. It is not yet easy to understand why he has refused to go with the new deal on the supreme court reorganization plan—for not everybody of intelligence accepts his indictment of the plan, nor his analysis of its objectives.

He has stood quite consistently for organized labor, and no one has yet questioned his integrity. He is a family man, having a wife and six children, whose ages range from 10 to 28 years. His oldest son is serving the government, in the securities and exchange commission. The others are living at the Wheeler home, in Glacier National park country. Burton Wheeler is a real independent in politics, and that has been a good thing for this country.

Green Says A. F. of L. Defends Democracy

"In Addition, We Will Resist Every Attempt Made by Subversive Forces to Impose Upon the Organized Labor Movement of America an Imported Philosophy Designed to Substitute Dictatorship and Autocracy in America for Democratic Rule, Individual and Collective Freedom and for the Right to Establish and Maintain Trade Unions Founded Upon the Principle of Industrial Democracy," He Tells Ohio State Federation of Labor Convention.

Dayton, O.—The delegates to the annual convention of the Ohio State Federation of Labor here received with cheers the reading of the following telegram from William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, to Thomas J. Donnelly, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio Federation:

"I extend to you and through you to the officers and delegates in attendance at the Ohio State Federation of Labor convention the fraternal greetings of the officers and members of the American Federation of Labor and my personal felicitations.

"The loyalty and devotion which those in attendance at your convention are showing the American Federation of Labor, its laws, principles and policies is deeply appreciated.

"The American Federation of Labor is standing now as it always has stood for the maintenance and protection of democracy and democratic procedure, the principles of organized labor which are near and dear to the heart of every worker and for the advancement of the economic, social and industrial welfare of the masses of the people.

"In addition, we will resist every attempt made by subversive forces to impose upon the organized labor movement of America an imported philosophy designed to substitute dictatorship and autocracy in America for democratic rule, individual and collective freedom and for the right to establish and maintain trade unions founded upon the principles of industrial democracy.

"The American Federation of Labor will give your state federation of labor a full and complete measure of support.

"May your convention follow a constructive course and may its deliberations and decisions be of great benefit to the working people and all their friends in Ohio."

Convention Pledges Loyalty to A. F. of L.

Michael J. Lyden, president of the state federation of labor, sent the following telegram to Mr. Green:

"Regret your inability to be present with us during our convention. Appreciate the sending of your representative Lewis G. Hines, who delivered an inspiring and constructive address, bringing the delegates to their feet cheering.

"This convention extends to you greetings as president of the American Federation of Labor and pledges to you and your fellow officers the continued loyalty and support of the organized labor movement in Ohio."

Restaurant Union Organizes Owosso One Hundred Per Cent

Owosso, Mich.—Owosso has been made the most completely organized town in Michigan for Hotel and Restaurant Employes, according to officials of Local Alliance No. 666.

With only one minor strike, the local, assisted by International Representative Paulen, brought a whirlwind campaign to a highly successful conclusion when 100 per cent organization was announced.

Every eating establishment in town now displays the famous union house card of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America.

Why not do a little collective subscribing and take your local labor newspaper?

Garage Mechanics Gain Pay Boost in Des Moines

Agreement Negotiated by Machinists Also Provides Shorter Hours for 500 Men.

Des Moines, Ia.—About 500 garage mechanics benefit through a new agreement reached by the union here with employers. Machinists Lodge No. 254 signed up the Automobile Dealers' association. The closed shop agreement reduces hours approximately 54 to 44 a week, establishes seniority rights and changes the method of pay for mechanics to a salary basis, which will mean about 25 per cent more pay.

W. B. Jordan, International Association of Machinists' representative, states the agreement applies to every garage, super service station or other establishment in Des Moines employing automobile mechanics and that it is the first union agreement ever signed here between garages and automobile mechanics.

WHAT A DELIGHTFUL WAY TO GUARD AGAINST FAULTY TEETH!

DELICIOUS
CHOCOLATE FLAVORED DRINK
furnishes CALCIUM needed for FIRM, SHINING TEETH

We are sure that if adults really knew the importance of milk in maintaining their teeth in sound, healthy condition they would drink it every day.

But for one reason or another, some people don't care for milk. They just won't drink it.

That's where KRIM-KO Chocolate Flavored Drink comes to the rescue. Here, in a delicious form, is a food beverage that is ever so easy, ever so pleasant to take.

KRIM-KO is equal to milk in food energy value—rich in calcium and phosphorus, those two "ingredients" which not only build but maintain straight, strong bones and firm, sound teeth. Taken in place of concentrated sweets, it satisfies sugar hunger without "piling on pounds."

Order delicious KRIM-KO now. Make it a part of your regular "beauty treatment." You'll be richly rewarded.

BILLION DOLLAR BUYER!

THE Railroads are the nation's best customer. They spend more than a billion dollars a year for equipment, materials and supplies. They buy more than 70,000 different items. They trade in practically every city, town, and agricultural community—thus stimulating business everywhere. As the railroads go ahead, business goes ahead. The railroads have been doing a good job. To do a still better job all they ask is that equality of treatment and opportunity to which a progressive, competently-managed and essential business is entitled.

VACATION THIS SUMMER BY TRAIN
Rates are low—Safety, Speed and Comfort greater than ever before!

No other transportation in the world can match the American railroads for speed with safety. And every modern convenience contributes to your comfort when you go by rail. Air-conditioning of coaches, Pullmans and diners has created for the enjoyment of the traveling public a genuinely pleasant atmosphere—cool—clean—quiet.

Labor World's Question Box

Q.—What was the issue between Alexander Campbell and the Baptist Church, causing them to divide, and what was the date?

—J. B. S., Georgetown.

A.—Alexander Campbell and his "Reformers" or "Disciples of Christ," as they called themselves, began friendly relations with the Baptists around 1820, due to the adoption of immersion by the Reformers. For a time it seemed that union of the two bodies would be effected, but it was never really completed. Each group suspected the other, and at times made counter charges of unsoundness of views. Gradually the two bodies drifted apart, and by 1840 they were two separate religions again.

Q.—How did Tennessee get its name?

A.—From the Cherokee Indians. Tennessee was the name of the capital village of the early Cherokees, located on what is now Little Tennessee river.

Q.—What did the present Spanish Civil War begin?

A.—The first real division of Spaniards occurred about a year ago, July 19, 1936.

Q.—What is the best metallic conductor of electricity?

A.—Silver. But copper is used because it is less expensive and because it resists corrosion.

Q.—Why do the French have a national holiday July 14?

A.—In celebration of the capture of the Bastille, former French prison for political offenders, by the people July 14, 1789.

Q.—How many Tennessee counties grow tobacco

A.—Sixty-five. And tobacco is one of the majour sources of income in 30 of those 65.

Q.—What state was the first to require license tags for automobiles?

A.—New York, in 1901. The first year only $945 was collected.

Courts O. K.? Read This; Sheer Exhaustion Beats Him!

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Here is one item of thousands that could be cited which show how the laws delay, owing to congestion of the lower Federal courts, make it practically impossible for an ordinary individual to recover from a great corporation.

A man named Steele sued the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railroad for damages. The suit was filed in the United States District Court for the western district of the state of Washington, April 29, 1931. The defendant's answer was filed June 2, 1931; and the case was ready for trial.

Did it get tried? It did not. It dragged along until Mr. Steele mistakenly blaming his lawyers, called in another law firm. Still it dragged. Finally, it was set for trial May 2, 1933. Before that date came the sitting judge announced that all civil cases would be reassigned—in plain words, postponed—on May 1, 1933. Worn out and disgusted, Steele consented to settle for a nominal sum, "slightly better," says the lawyer who gave ILNS the final statement of the case, "than what could be termed a nuisance settlement."

In other words, here is a case which, after dragging for twenty-three months after both sides were ready for trial, never came to trial because the delay and the certain prospect of further delay wore out the weaker party. "Justice delayed is justice denied."

President Roosevelt's court plan would go far to stop that sort of thing.

Hollywood Film Concerns Sign Up With Machinsts

Hollywood, Cal.—A union shop agreement has been secured with leading Hollywood moving picture producers for the first time by the International Association of Machinists. Those signed up include: Warner Bros., Twentieth Century, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Paramount and Universal.

The agreement, which was negotiated for the I. A. of M. by C. F. Grow, general vice-president, provides a minimum wage for precision machinists of $1.41 an hour, with a minimum of $16.64 a day or $98.92 a week when on distant locations. Higher levels were also obtaied for journeymen, helpers and apprentices.

Work on Sundays and holidays, or any over six hours a day, will be at the rate of time and one-half.

A closed shop provision stipulates that all employes coming under the jurisdiction of the union must be members of Machinists' Studio Local Union No. 1185.

STEEL DEMANDS POLICE SHOOT LABOR BOARD HEARING REVEALS

Washington.—Officials of the Republic Steel corporation believe that strikers and strike sympathizers should be shot and clubbed without warning and without mercy, according to testimony at hearings by the national labor relations board on the complaint against Republic Steel. Stanley W. Switter, chief of police of Massillon, Ohio, where one of the Republic plants is situated, told how Carl Meyers, in charge of the Canton-Massillon district for Republic, "kept pounding me for weeks."

"He wanted to know why in hell we didn't do like the police of Chicago did, and shoot the hoodlums up."

Other Republic Steel officials and of course Law and Order league and the chamber of commerce joined Carl Meyers in "turning on the heat." In bringing out the "business men" on their side, Republic officials had a refrain which was almost set to music, and ran in substance like this:

"If you let these hoodlums (the strikers) run the town, the mill will close. Then this town will be nothing but a junkheap. It won't need a mayor or a chief of police. It won't need anything. It will be just a prairie."

Apparently, a steel official doesn't need to know the difference between a junkheap and a prairie. The two Smiths composed the NLRB for this hearing; J. Edwin Smith, chairman, and Donald W. Smith, member. J. Edwin Smith interrupted at this point.

"How many people are there in Massillon?" he asked.

"I should say about 30,000," returned Chief Switter.

"How old is the town?" queried Chairman Smith.

"About 110 years."

"Then it was there before the Republic Steel plant came there?"

"O, yes."

The strike began on May 26; and until July 7, Chief Switter and the other public officials of Massillon held out against following the example of Chicago. Questions by the shrewd young Laurence Hunt, who conducted the examination for the board, brought out that through all those weeks of strike, there were fewer arrests for violence than in normal times.

"We arrested everybody against whom a warrant was sworn out, or anybody charged with violence in an affidavit," declared the chief, and this part of his testimony was not even challenged. "We didn't consider ourselves a strike-breaking organization. We were keeping the peace; and high officials of the national guard complimented us on the way we were doing it."

He testified, too, that the strikers offered to tend the coke ovens, so that the plant would not suffer from the strike. This offer was refused.

He told how the Republic officials offered him arms and ammunition, and delivered to him—after dark and out at the Brookside Country club—three sawed-off shotguns, six boxes of shells, three tear gas guns and ninety tear gas projectiles.

All this time, the Law and Order league and the chamber of commerce were joining with Republic officials in "turning on the heat" to make Switter appoint special deputies from a list presented by the Republic officials. Switter held out until he had gone four days and nights almost without sleep, and then:

"I said all right, I would appoint the whole damned outfit," he said. "I would give them everything they wanted. I could see there would be a battle and bloodshed as soon as they put guns into those rookies' hands."

Four days later, July 11, violence came. Two men were killed, more than a score wounded, and 160 were arrested without warrants and held in jail, or in the county prison when the jail became chock full.

Labor Board Satisfactory, President Roosevelt Says

Washington.—President Roosevelt has served notice that he is entirely satisfied with the national labor relations board, and does not favor any present amendments to the act under which the board is operating.

This announcement probably had two purposes. There has been a concentrated drive here against the NLRB; a drive in which some congressmen and senators almost always on the liberal side have helped in several ways. The apparent object of this hullabaloo is to block the request of the board for more funds to carry on its work. The White House approval will outweigh a whole lot of other complaints on that matter.

The other effect of the statement is to tell Senator Vandenberg, who has worked out a scheme to amend the national labor relations act by amendments tagged to the wage and hour bill now before the senate, that this little trick won't work.

10,000 TEXTILE WORKERS QUIT.

Montreal.—Eight mills of Dominion Textile company throughout the province closed as employes called a strike demanding union recognition, a 48-hour week and increased wages. It was announced the workers had voted 90 per cent in favor of a strike. A ninth mill, the Valley Field plant of Montreal Cottons, Ltd., also was closed. Approximately 10,000 workers were affected.

Pass the word along to your friends that by demanding union label products they can command better wages.

The first law of self-preservation requires that labor unionists purchase their own products.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

Whereas, on the 17th day of February, 1928, E. Mennen and wife, Anna Mennen, of Hamilton County, Tennessee, executed a deed of trust conveying the property hereinafter described and advertised for sale, to F. L. Underwood, Trustee, which said deed of trust was filed for registration February 18, 1928, and recorded in Book O, Vol. 22 Page 700, et seq., in the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee; and,

Whereas, said deed of trust was executed for the purpose of securing the payment of a certain indebtedness, fully described in the said deed of trust, to which reference is made for a complete description; and default has been made in the payment of the said indebtedness secured by said deed of trust and interest thereon, and the said E. Mennen and wife, Anna Mennen, have failed to perform covenants in the note evidencing the indebtedness, and have failed to perform covenants in said deed of trust, and have remained in default for more than thirty days, and the holder of said indebtedness has made demand upon the undersigned trustee to sell the property conveyed by said deed of trust, as therein provided, to satisfy the payment of said indebtedness and interest, as said holder of said indebtedness has a right to do under the terms of said deed of trust:

Now, therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in the undersigned Trustee, F. L. Underwood, of Chattanooga, Tennessee, as Trustee, will, on

sell, within the legal hours of sale, at the west door of the Court House in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at public outcry, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, in bar of all equities of redemption, dower and homestead, the following described real estate in the City of Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, to-wit:

Beginning at the Northwest corner of said Lot 49, in Anderson's Addition and in the southwest line of Rossville Boulevard, running thence southeastwardly along said Rossville Boulevard 61.83 feet to a point in the Northeast line of said Lot 49, which point is located 81.32 feet Northwestwardly from the West line of Washington Street, running thence Southwardly across Lots 49, 50, 51, 52, 54, and 55, a total distance of 181.8 feet to a point in the South line of said Lot No. 55, located 60.32 feet Westwardly from the Southeast corner of said Lot No. 55 and in the North line of East 18th Street, thence Westwardly along the South line of said Lot No. 55, 46.43 feet to the southwest corner of said Lot No. 55; thence Northwardly along the Western and Southwestern lines of said Lots Nos. 55, 54, 51, 50 and 49, to the place of beginning.

Said deed of trust recites that title to the said property is clear, free and unencumbered, and title thereto is believed to be good, but the sale will be made as Trustee only, and subject to any unpaid taxes.

This July 27, 1937.

F. L. UNDERWOOD, Trustee.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

Whereas, on the 25th day of April, 1930, O. O. Mixson and wife, Bessie E. Mixson, of Hamilton County, Tennessee, executed a deed of trust conveying the property hereinafter described and advertised for sale, to Hamilton National Bank of Chattanooga, Chattanooga, Tennessee, Trustee, which said deed of trust was filed for registration May 8, 1930, and recorded in Book B, Vol. 25, Page 519, et seq., in the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee; and,

Whereas, said deed of trust was executed for the purpose of securing the payment of a certain indebtedness, fully described in the said deed of trust, to which reference is made for a complete description; and default has been made in the payment of the said indebtedness secured by said deed of trust and interest thereon, and the said O. O. Mixson and wife, Bessie E. Mixson, have failed to perform covenants in the note evidencing the indebtedness, and have failed to perform covenants in said deed of trust, and have remained in default for more than thirty days, and the holder of said indebtedness has made demand upon the undersigned trustee to sell the property conveyed by said deed of trust, as therein provided, to satisfy the payment of said indebtedness and interest, as said holder of said indebtedness has a right to do under the terms of said deed of trust:

Now, therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in the undersigned Trustee, Hamilton National Bank of Chattanooga, as Trustee, will, on

TUESDAY, AUGUST 17TH, 1937,

sell, within the legal hours of sale, at the west door of the Court House in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at public outcry, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, in bar of all equities of redemption, dower and homestead, the following described real estate in the Second Civil District of Hamilton County, Tennessee, to-wit:

Senate Passes Wage-Hour Bill Despite Southern Opposition; More Drastic Measure in Houes

Washington.—Considerably amended, the wage-hour bill giving a proposed labor standards board power to fix wages as high as 40 cents an hour and a work week as short as 40 hours, was passed by the senate on July 31 by a vote of 56 to 28. The bill was sent to the house, where the labor committee was at work on a more drastic wage-hour measure.

President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor, made it plain that labor wanted enactment of the proposed house bill rather than the milder senate measure. He said the senate bill was not satisfactory to labor and added that the major objection to the bill was "its lack of protection for collective bargaining gains of organized workers."

Passage of the bill in the senate came after nearly five days of debate, opposition of southerners to government control of wages and hours. A last minute move to defeat the bill by sending it back to committee for further study was beaten, 39 to 48.

Farm Labor Exempted.

The senate eliminated child labor provisions of the bill and substituted the Wheeler-Johnson child labor bill as an amendment. The Wheeler-Johnson will would prohibit interstate shipment of products produced by child labor and as an alternative method of accomplishing its purpose, would make child labor made goods subject to the laws of the state into which they are sent. A previous attempt to bar the shipment of child labor goods in interstate commerce was held unconstitutional by the supreme court.

Amendments to the bill adopted before passage exempted farm labor, and the processing or packing of perishable farm products during the harvest season.

Green for Passage.

President Green, in a formal statement, said he did not favor recommitment of the bill. He said:

"The wage and hours bill in the form before the senate does not meet the expectations of labor. However, we recognize the need for the enactment of wages and hours legislation. For that reason rather than recommit the house-senate bill for further committee consideration it would seem advisable to pass the best wages and hours bill possible in the senate with the hope that it can be revised and amended in the house in such a way as to make it more nearly satisfactory and acceptable to labor."

Sentiment in the A. F. of L. was not united in favor of passing the senate bill, as opposition to its approval was expressed by John P. Frey, president of the Metal Trades Department, and J. W. Williams, president of the Building Trades Department.

Bottle Industry In Agreement For Full Unionization

Manufacturers Are to Cooperate With Union in Organization of All the Skilled and Unskilled Workers.

Atlantic City, N. J.—Complete unionization of the glass bottle industry is near as a result of an agreement between the manufacturers and the Glass Bottle Blowers' Association of the United States and Canada, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. The agreement provides for cooperation between the industry and the union to bring about unionization as quickly as possible.

Announcement of the agreement was made by representatives of the manufacturers and the union at the close of their fiftieth annual collective bargaining conference here.

When the unionization is completed, a total of 40,000 workers, skilled, semi-skilled and unskilled, in all the bottle factories will have been organized. A present the union membership totals 30,000 and has contracts with about 85 per cent of the manufacturers. About 4,000 of the 30,000 received raises of 10 cents an hour during the negotiations here for the next annual contract, effective Sept. 1.

The agreement for complete unionization resulted from a plea by President James Maloney, of the union, who argued that open-shop competition would be eliminated and disputes ended between the skilled workers, now covered by contracts, and the unskilled, some of whom are not organized.

Every effort must therefore be made that fathers of families receive a wage sufficient to meet adequately ordinary domestic needs. If in the present state of society this is not always feasible, social justice demands that reforms be introduced without delay which will guarantee every adult workingman just such a wage. —Pope Pius XI.

Take It! or Leave It

Points of View Picked Up From Various Sources

CY KOLOGY, EDITOR

A great many workers don't know it, but organized labor has a selling job to do. Selling jobs require selling ability. Some places are arrived at by battering down the door. At some places you just announce that you have arrived and you are asked in. But at some places you have to do a lot of arguing. Generally the argument revolves around "what do we get?" Sometimes a better bargain is secured by showing also "what we can give." Organized labor has something valuable to give to employers. Why not talk about that once in a while?

It is better to convince a man by persuasion than by using a club on him. The fellow who is knocked out is likely to carry a grouch, but the man who is convinced remains a friend. Labor can do a lot of things for an employer. It does most of them anyway, so why not do a little crowing about them? Why not use them as selling arguments?

The fellow who has a can of beans to sell tries to convince you that they are good beans. He doesn't say, "You take these beans and like 'em, or we'll jam 'em down your so-and-so throat." If he should try that you would buy something else.

Organized labor, under a joint agreement, is the best medicine there is for industry. Why not say so—and say why?

Why not say that organized labor can turn out a better product?

That it can cut down lost time and lost motion.

That it can help expand the market for the product.

That it can stabilize the whole industrial operation.

That it means system instead of lack of system.

That it means satisfaction instead of suspicion.

That it means responsibility instead of irresponsibility.

That it means volunteer effort instead of driven effort.

That it isn't just something provided for by law, but that it is something justified through decades and finally recognized by the law of the land.

That it means industrial progress and consequently merchandising progress.

And many other things.

Remember, an employer is and has to be interested in what becomes of his product. He wants production and a market. If he lacks either he quits. Why shouldn't organized labor use its own sound arguments to help him answer the problems that he has to meet?

The "tough guy" had his place—years ago. Then labor found out it needed the statistician. It still needs the salesman.

CHICAGO PRINTER TO ASK HIGHER I. T. U. PENSION

By JOSEPH A. WISE

Chicago.—A. B. ("Red") Jones, one of the five delegates-elect from Chicago Typographical Union No. 16 to the annual convention of the International Typographical union, to be held at Louisville, Ky., early in September, says that he intends to offer an amendment to the international law with a view of increasing the printers' old age pension from $8 a week to $15 a week.

"This is a matter that has been too long neglected," says Mr. Jones. "There have been wage increases several times in almost every local jurisdiction since the time when the old-age pension was fixed at $8 a week. Living costs have gone up tremendously, and yet we continue to give the old-timers a niggardly $8 a week. No man or woman can live decently on that amount of money. Men here in Chicago who are forced to eke out a miserable existence on the $8 are compelled to live in quarters equivalent to flop joints and to eat the poorest sort of food and to wear cast-off clothing.

"Chicago printers years ago recognized the inadequacy of the international pension and established a local pension of $6 a week to add to the international pension of $8 a week, making a total of $14 a week. Many of our aged members are finding it difficult to maintain themselves on the two combined pensions. And then there is a hitch in reference to the local pension. A man or woman must have been a member of the local union for 20 years in order to be eligible for the local pension. The result is that we have pensioners with memberships of 30 and 40 and even more years in the international union who are not entitled under the law to the local pension.

"Printers never have been stingy," continued Delegate Jones. "I am going to the convention with the thought in mind that the other printers will vote for an increase in the pension if they are offered a chance to do so. It is just one of those things that has been overlooked in the press of many other important matters, in my opinion."

PHILLIP MORRIS NOW UNION MADE

Washington. — Another cigarette company has come to see the benefit of dealing with organized labor. The manufacturer of Phillip Morris cigarettes has recognized the Tobacco Workers' International union, Local 203, as sole bargaining agent in an agreement providing for an 8-hour day, 40-hour week, time and a half for overtime and double time for Sunday work. The agreement, however, does not provide for the union shop and Phillip Morris cigarettes therefore do not bear the union label.

Every new labor union member means a new union label buyer and believe us, the army is growing.

ongressmen Urged o Support Bills

nessee Federation of La- or Asks Its Congressmen to Vote for Wages and Hours and Housing Measures.

very one of the nine Tennessee ngressmen received Wednesday a gram from the Tennessee Federa- n of Labor which urged upon them importance of congress passing wages and hours and the housing ll as reported by the house labor mmittee.

At the same time the state federa- on called upon every local union central body in Tennessee to take ilar steps.

These measures are important to or and have been indorsed by Wil- m Green and John L. Lewis.

reen Is Praised For Improvement Of Pay-Hour Bill

ouse Committee Approves Amendments Submitted by A. F. of L. Chief — Labor Not Satisfied, But Sees Progress.

Washington.—Reactionaries worked feverishly to weaken vital measures supported by organized labor as congress cut short debate on important bills in an endeavor to wind up its business and go home to get away from further facing of issues.

Only determined effort by William Green and the American Federation of Labor prevented greater weakening if not actual defeat of wage-hour, housing and other legislation demanded by labor and progressive forces.

Greatest speed was shown by senate action on the procedural reform bill for the lower federal courts, which was put through in less than an hour and without a record vote, with Vice-President Garner denying opponents a chance to be heard. Approval of the court bill bore every evidence of being a "put up" job, with Garner leading a steam roller committed to shut off debate and prevent reopening of the controversial court reform issue.

Senate Changes Housing Bill.

Housing action was taken by the senate in passing an amended and weakened Wagner-Steagall bill, by a vote of 64 to 16, as the house banking and currency committee was completing hearings on the measure.

Most weakening of the amendments backed on the bill was a provision restricting the cost of housing to $4,000 a family or $1,000 a room, sponsored by Senator Byrd, of Virginia. Senator Wagner, of New York, co-author of the bill, denounced the amendment as killing the measure, declaring that if expenditures were limited to $1,000 per room, it would mean that only very small areas of the United States could have slum clearance projects.

Friends of the bill contended the $1,000 limitation would be impossible to meet in New York City and other large cities.

Housing Authority Set Up.

An amendment by Senator Logan, of Kentucky, placed the housing authority, set up by the bill, under the interior department. The amendment was passed over the vigorous opposition of Wagner and other members of the education and labor committee, who contended the authority should be an independent agency.

The bill, as finally passed by the senate, creates a United States housing authority of three members to float a $700,000,000 bond issue to make loans and grants to public housing agencies for slum clearance purposes and the construction of low-cost dwellings for families of poorly paid wage-earners.

Green's Work Lauded.

President Green, of the A. F. of L., was highly praised in labor and progressive circles for his fast and effective work in behalf of a better wages and hour bill. He suggested seven amendments to protect the basic rights of organized workers and his amendments were approved by the house labor committee, in recommending for passage the bill previously adopted by the senate.

The committee declared the amended bill would greatly strengthen collective bargainin efforts. "The bill is intended to aid and not supplant the efforts of American workers to improve their own position by self-organization and collective bargaining," the committee said.

Labor Day Planners Happy When Berry Accepts Local Bids

Labor Senator to Be Main Attraction at Warner Park as Thousands of Unionists Enjoy Their National Holiday.

SENATOR

GEORGE L. BERRY

Members of organized labor in Chattanooga were exuberant this week when news was received that Senator George L. Berry had written his acceptance of an invitation to speak at Warner park this Labor day.

The honor was especially appreciated due to the fact that the newly appointed United States senator is himself the president of the Pressmen's union. He is considered to be one of the brainest men in the labor movement and of the nation. This has been corroborated by the fact that our George has been one of the right-hand men of President Roosevelt in mapping out new deal policies.

The appearance of the labor senator will of itself bring thousands of people to Warner park to hear him speak. He is known nationally for his quiet but effective oratory.

While here it is believed that there will be sufficient time for him to personally renew old friendships and greet well-wishers who have not had the opportunity since his elevation to the senate.

HOUSE LABOR COMMITTEE BACKS WAGE-HOUR BILL WITH CHANGES SUGGESTED BY WILIAM GREEN

Washington. — With amendments suggested by President William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, to protect the basic rights of labor, the house labor committee voted on Aug. 4 to recommend for passage the hour and wage bill already approved by the senate. The committee vote for the bill was 17 to 2.

Amendments previously adopted by the committee giving the proposed labor standards board power to set minimum wages as high as 70 cents an hour and maximum working hours as low as 35 a week were eliminated in the bill as reported out. As regards minimum wages and maximum hours, the bill was left in the form approved by the senate, under which the board would be limited to 40 cents an hour and 40 hours a week in fixing standards.

Harmony Restored.

Final steps in passage of the bill are: Action by a conference committee of house and senate, followed by votes in the senate and house, the house being the last to vote.

Amendments suggested by President Green restored harmony in the house labor committee, split over the bill. Following approval of the amendments, Green indorsed the measure, characterizing it as a "practical and constructive" proposal.

Amendments proposed by Green and adopted by the committee provided that:

"1. The board has jurisdiction over wages and hours in any occupation only if it finds that collective bargaining agreements in respect to them do not cover a substantial number of employes of such occupation, or that existing facilities for collective bargaining in such occupation are inadequate or ineffective:

"2. Wage and hour standards established by collective bargaining agreements in any occupation are prima facie of the appropriate wage and hour standards in the occupation.

Prevailing Wage Protected.

"3. The board cannot lower the wage standards or increase the hour standards from those already prevailing in the occupation in the community considered.

"4. The board cannot establish any wage or hour classification in any community which adversely affects the prevailing wage or hour standard in the same or other communities.

"5. Industries protected against prison-made goods, which are outlawed in commerce.

"6. The label provision of the original act, which is a survival of the NRA blue eagle, is eliminated, so as to protect industry from that nuisance.

"7. Government work is removed from the control of the board and placed under the Walsh-Healy act, as before."

Chester Wright's labor letter said the results of Green's action were inescapable and listed them as follows:

"1—Re-established White House influence in congress and status before nation; 2—Vast gain in political prestige and White House importance for Green and A. F. of L.; 3—Assurance that wage-and-hours bill will pass; 4—Enhanced chances for other administration-and-labor measures, headed by Wagner housing bill."

Labor Sees Gains.

The wage and hour, housing and court bills, in the form they seemed likely to take on final passage, were not regarded as satisfactory by labor but were looked upon as establishing valuable principles and therefore as making distinct progress.

REGISTER!

Every union man and woman of voting age should not forget to go to their respective polling place and register themselves on the voting lists by Aug. 19!

Regular biennial registration is now going on. Persons registering at this time will not have to register again for two years unless they move their residence within that time.

Register now! Do not depend on not forgetting to register in subsequent supplemental registrations, but do it now and be ready in future elections to elect our friends and defeat our enemies.

14 RAIL UNIONS WIN PAY RAISE OF 98 MILLION DOLLARS YEARLY

Non-Operating Organizations Get 5 Cents an Hour Increase in Settlement Ending Dispute With Carriers—Five Operating Brotherhoods Vote Overwhelmingly to Authorize Strike.

Washington.—A wage increase of 5 cents an hour was won by members of fourteen non-operating railroad unions under terms of a compromise settlement between the unions and managements arranged here by the national mediation board. The settlement averted danger of a strike of between 750,000 and 800,000 workers, who had voted by a big majority in favor of quitting work unless an agreement was reached.

It is estimated the wage increase will add about $98,000,000 yearly to the income of the workers belonging to the fourteen unions, who had asked an increase of 20 cents an hour.

Negotiations on Other Demands.

Demands of the unions for a guarantee of steady work were left to negotiation which will begin Sept. 1 between the unions and the respective railroads involved. These demands were for a guarantee of a year's work for "full-time" employes, and for two-thirds of a year's employment by "stand-by" men who are largely seasonal workers.

Terms of the agreement were made public by Otto S. Beyer, a member of the mediation board, who has been working since July 16 to compromise differences between the respective factions.

The unions, led by George M. Harrison, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives' association, filed notices of their demands with the individual roads on March 4. Then, in accordance with the provisions of the railway act, the spokesmen for each union held separate conferences with the respective railroads, at which it was agreed that the demands would be taken up on a national scale.

LABEL LEAGUE PLANS HAY RIDE PICNIC

Plans are practically complete for the hay ride and picnic supper at Pan Gap for all Label League members and their friends.

All members will meet at 5:30 Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 24, at The Labor World. Transportation will be furnished and arrangements have been made for a large truck for the hay riders.

The Label League invites its members and their friends to bring a picnic basket supper and enjoy the fun.

There's a grand place to swim, so bring your bathing suits.

STRIKE IS AUTHORIZED.

Cleveland, O.—Five railroad operating unions, with 350,000 members, have voted to strike if their demands for a 20 per cent wage increase are not met. Ninety-six of the members voted for the strike authorization.

After announcement of the vote, officers of the unions involved agreed to confer with the national conference committee of the railroads in Chicago.

The organizations which took the strike vote are the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, Switchmen's Union of North America, Order of Railway Conductors and Brotherhood of Locomotive Enginemen and Firemen.

Brewery Workers Push Their Fight With Canada Dry

Most Grocerymen Cooperate as Non-Union Trucks Are Followed Up.

It looks like it is a long dry spell for Canada Dry and its distributor, B. L. Talley company, according to reports of cooperation being received from grocerymen who in the past have been handling the Talley products.

Declared "Unfair to Organized Labor" because it is made under non-union conditions in Atlanta, Canada Dry ginger ale and other drinks are rapidly being weeded out from the market shelves of Chattanooga.

Every B. L. Talley route is being covered by Howard Smith and Miss Louise Tinker, under the supervision of President John Etters and Secretary Erskine Fischer, of the Brewery Workers, Local 79. Merchants that are visited by B. L. Talley company are also visited by these two "missionaries," and usually said merchant refuses to handle the products which are unfair to labor.

Cleveland Union Agreement Bans Sit-Down Strikes

Pact Signed With Vacuum Cleaner Co. Also Forbids Lockouts—40-Hour Week Set and Wages Increased.

Washington.—Sit-down strikes are specifically prohibited by an agreement recently made between the Metal Trades Council of Cleveland, O., and the Electric Vacuum Cleaner company of that city, the A. F. of L. Metal Trades Department reports.

Details of the agreement given in the Bulletin of the Metal Trades Department show that it contains a number of interesting features. The agreement forbids lockouts, establishes a 40-hour week and increases wages.

One of the features is that the agreement, covering nearly 1,000 union members, recognizes five A. F. of L. unions as the bargaining agencies for the company's employes.

Shorter Week in Slack Season.

The unions are local units of the Metal Polishers' International union, the International Association of Machinists, International Molders' union, Pattern Makers' association and a federal labor union.

The contract strictly limits overtime and contains the following provision in regard to laying off employes when business decreases:

"When it becomes necessary to reduce expenses or reduce production in any department, the hours worked in such department shall be reduced to 32 per week before the force is reduced. Hours of worki n any department shall not be reduced below 32 per week except by mutual consent of the employes and the management."

Seniority Rights Protected.

There is a union shop provision and a provision for settling grievances without resort to strikes. Members of t he union, the agreement says, shall not take part in "any sit-down or stay-in strikes, or any slow-down strikes" while the pact is in effect.

The agreement also protects seniority rights and provides that "when hiring new help no one who is related to a foreman shall be assigned to duty under such foreman."

Battle Creek Biscuit Makers Strike for Increased Wages

Battle Creek, Mich. — Operations were completely stopped at the Weston Biscuit company plant here when fifty-four girls and thirty men came out on strike, sponsored by Grain Processors' Union No. 20703, following failure of the company to negotiate a satisfactory agreement.

The union seeks a raise of 7 cents an hour from the ridiculously low wage rates of 28 cents minimum and 35 cents maximum for girls and 35 cents minimum and 50 cents maximum for men.

Federal Old Age Benefits

A few weeks ago I discussed in a general way the entire social security act. This week I shall deal only with old age benefits, which are handled entirely by the federal government.

We must understand the difference between old age benefits and old age assistance, commonly referred to as old age pensions. The former are paid directly by the federal government to the individual, and are based on the wages earned by the individual before reaching age 65. They are not handled by state agencies, and the federal government collects the tax and pays the benefits. While on the other hand, the states handle the old age assistance with money granted to them by the federal government and supplemented by their own funds. Old age assistance is for individuals who are over 65 years of age and who are in need.

The purpose of the old age benefit section of the act is to provide a monthly income for people who have worked until they reach 65, and so most of the payments will be made on a monthly basis, depending on the individual's earning power in the past. However, two other modes of payment have been provided, one a death benefit to the employe's beneficiary, and the other, a lump-sum settlement at age 65.

In order to receive monthly old age benefits from the federal government at age 65, individuals must have been employed in at least five different calendar years after 1935 in what might roughly be termed industry and commerce, and their wages from such employment must be at least a total of $2,000. Those fulfilling these requirements will be eligible on and after Jan. 1, 1942.

The law specifically excludes from benefits those engaged in agriculture labor, domestic service, casual labor, army or navy service, federal, state, or county employment, service for welfare corporations such as Community chests and religious orders, and railroad employment.

To determine the amount any individual will receive as a monthly benefit, you must first find his total wages from December 31, 1936, until he reaches age 65. If the total is less than $2,000, he will not be eligible for monthly retirement benefits. If the total wages paid exceed $2,000, the individual will receive a monthly benefit after 65 in proportion to the amount of his accrued wages. In no event, however, will his benefit exceed $85 per month.

As an example, a man is now 30 years of age, and is averaging $150 per month. In 35 years he will reach 65, and if he has maintained his average wage of $150.00, he will have earned about $62,000. His benefit, based on that amount, would be approximately $57.00 per month.

In another case, a man is earning $80.00 per month, and is 35 years of age. When he reaches 65, his total earned wages will be $27,600.00. On this amount, his benefit will be about $35.00 per month.

In the event a person dies before reaching 65, his estate will receive a death benefit equal to 3½% of the total wages after Dec. 31, 1936. For example, a man receiving $100.00 per month dies after working ten years and at age 55, his total wages would be $12,000, and the death benefit to his estate $420.00.

A person may also be eligible for lump-sum payments. These are for individuals who have worked after Dec. 31, 1936, until age 65, but have not met all of the requirements necessary for monthly benefits. They will receive at age 65 a lump settlement. As an example, a person may be otherwise qualified, but have earned less than $2,000. He will not be eligible for monthly payments, but will be eligible for a lump-sum settlement, which is 3½% of total earned wages.

More A. F. of L. Membership Gains

Secretary - Treasurer Morrison Reports Affiliated Unions Have Increased Strength by 702,940 Since Last August, Which Is an Average Monthly Growth of Over 62,000; Present Membership Totals 3,143,016.

Washington, D. C.—The continued onward march of the workers into bona fide trade unionism, based on democratic procedure and the sanctity of agreements negotiated with employers, was again revealed in the current membership report of the American Federation of Labor made public by Frank Morrison, secretary-treasurer of the federation.

The figures showed that on August 6 the paid upon and reported membership of the 103 national and international unions and local unions affiliated with the A. F. of L. was 3,143,016.

This was a gain, Mr. Morrison said, of 702,940 over the average membership of the fiscal year ending August 31, 1936.

The increase in membership averages over 62,000 per month for the last eleven months.

Mr. Morrison pointed out that these figures do not include the membership of the ten national and international unions suspended Sept. 5, 1936.

Alben W. Barkley

Allen W. Barkley, senator from Kentucky, new majority leader of the senate, is a moderately tall, well nourished, fair skinned, ruddy faced gentleman not quite sixty; and one of the few real orators of the senate.

He makes some sweeping statements in his speech—and means 'em. He has been a champion of the new deal since before it was named. Two paragraphs from Barkley's keynote speech at the democratic convention in Philadelphia last year will show what sort of support President Roosevelt can look for from the new senate leader:

"We have assembled to justify in government a liberalism designed to promote those primal and inalienable rights which outweigh all political formalism and all conceptions of special privilege.

"We are assembled here, not merely to defend but to proclaim the new deal as the surest highway to that 'life, liberty and pursuit of happiness' to which Thomas Jefferson devoted his life and Franklin D. Roosevelt is consecrating every fiber of his immortal spirit."

Nothing doubtful or defeatist about that. It is the first time the White House has had such support from such an influential quarter.

Take It! or Leave It

Points of View Picked Up From Various Sources

CY KOLOGY, EDITOR

Funny about reporters and newspapers, the way they get all mixed up at times. Same reporters that used columns to razz William Green now say mighty nice things about him, because they know he was the man who prevented the wage-and-hour bill from going to the slaughter house. One columnist says it took courage to do what Bill Green did.

Now whatever may be said about Bill Green—and something can be said about everybody—anyone who knows him at all knows that lack of courage is not one of his weaknesses. Bill Green doesn't go out hunting fights, he doesn't like to fight; but above all things, he isn't afraid to fight. He has what it takes when he has to fight. And those who have fought him know plenty about that.

One of the babies shooting at Green is Heywood Broun. Broun, as some people know, is president of the Newspaper Guild. Broun uses his syndicated column for shooting at folks he doesn't like. How long his publishers will allow him to waddle around swiping people right and left on personal scores remains to be seen. Broun says Green is one of those characters nobody would believe could exist. Now why should any intelligent person say anything as foolish as that? Or is Broun intelligent?

Of course there's a battle on in the ranks of labor. And of course it's a hot and heavy battle. But must grown persons lose all sense of balance and of decency because there's a war on? Once Mr. Broun came very politely to Mr. Green. He wanted help. He didn't then write any nasty things about Mr. Green. Mr. Green hasn't changed. The same thing goes the other way around. Why smear nasty words over John Lewis? Why let this thing get personal at all? There are some people who resent the saying of untrue things and they resist them all the more when they are said to help win a fight. If the fight rests on such insane things, then surely there's nothing worth fighting about and everybody better go home and go to sleep.

If there is any real issue it won't be long before nobody will remember what the issue is. All they'll know is that so-and-so said so-and-so is a so-and-so and that they are supposed to be mad about it. Well, is that worth splitting a movement over?

This column would like to see partisans take their stand on issues. It would like to see people state the issues. Every leader who is now a leader has long been a leader and his character is known. The Green of today is the same Green who has held the job for some thirteen years. He is an honorable man and his enemies know that as well as his friends. Why not fight this thing out on an honorable and decent basis?

GOODYEAR ACCUSED OF WAGING TERROR CAMPAIGN ON UNIONS

Atlanta, Ga.—A complaint filed by the national labor relations board against the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company of Gadsden, Ala., accused the company of fostering a campaign of terrorism against union workers.

The complaint charged that Goodyear had interfered with the right of its employes to organize and had discharged employes for affiliating with the United Rubber Workers of America, a CIO union.

Judge Charles N. Feidelson, regional director of the labor board, said the effect of a supreme court decision of April 12—upholding constitutionality of the Wagner labor relations act—was to dissolve the Goodyear and other injunctions against the NLRB.

The latest complaint, however, covered offenses alleged to have occurred since April.

Picketing Campaign Is Launched Against Markets That Operate on Sunday.

Springfield, Ill.—Retail Clerks' Local Union No. 1159, which succeeded No. 208 after the charter of the latter was revoked by the Retail Clerks' International Protective association, already has about fifty stores in Springfield operating under union conditions.

In an effort to break the unnecessary practice by working employes seven days a week, all markets here that remain open on Sunday are to be picketed by members of Local 1159. Other local unions will probably assist in the picketing and give general support to the union clerks.

Rochester, N. Y.—George Scott, A. F. of L. organizer here, reports that the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and the Metal Polishers, Buffers, Platers and Helpers International union have negotiated a closed shop contract with the Samson United Corporation, of Rochester.

In addition to wage increases the contract provides for a 40-hour week, time and one-half for overtime, double time for Sundays and holidays, seniority, together with general union shop conditions.

It was announced that the products of the company will carry the union label.

Labor World's Question Box

The Labor World offers to its readers a question and answer service through the cooperation of the University of Tennessee. Send questions either to this paper or to Box 4013, U. T. Station, Knoxville, Tenn. Answers will appear in this column.

Q.—Who are the Egyptians (spoken of in the Bible) and what race did they spring from? J. M. L., Riceville.

A.—The ancient Egyptians were those who inhabited the Nile basin in northeast Africa. The date of their origin has not been determined, but it is certain that they were there before 3000 B. C. They believed themselves to be people free from foreign admixture, and all known facts tend to support their contention. Their language and physical characteristics show they belonged to the Mamitic branch of the Caucasian race, the white inhabitants of northern Africa.

Q.—Is it possible for a person to attend the University of Tennessee without having a high school diploma?

A.—Not unless he is 21 years old. Then he may enter as a special student, but he is allowed to take only courses for which his previous training has equipped him.

Q.—Where can I get the rules for table tennis, tenpins, croquet and basketball for boys and girls? Mrs. O. M. C., Stanton.

A.—Several companies publish rules for games. One is Milton Bradley Co., 200 Fifth Aye., New York City.

Q.—Can a person hunt or fish on national forest land?

A.—Yes, unless the land is specifically closed and posted against such use. But one is still subject to the state game and fish laws.

* * *

Q.—How many Tennesseans were president of the United States?

A.—Andrew Jackson, James K. Polk and Andrew Johnson.

Q.—Is Tennessee very rich in ineral resources?

A.—Yes, very. Of the 62 known minerals, 57 are found within the boundaries of Tennessee.

Q.—Are the Indians really dying off?

A.—Not the Indians of North America, though that is a common belief. Probably no group is increasing as fast. In 1920 they numbered around 244,000, and in 1936 they had increased to about 334,000.

Q.—Was Montgomery county ever known as Tennessee county?

A.—The area now occupied by Montgomery and Robertson counties once was one county, named Tennessee. On April 9, 1796, the name was given up to the state, and the area was divided, Montgomery county named after John Montgomery and Robertson county after James Robertson.

* * *

Q.—Is steel mined or manufactured?

A.—Manufactured. Steel is an alloy, essentially of iron and carbon.

Q.—Where is the Nantahala national forest?

A.—Five hundred thousand feet in extent, the Nantahala national forest lies at the joining point of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, lapping over into each of the three states.

Q.—When was the cotton gin and the reaper invented?

A.—The cotton gin in 1793, by Eli Whitney; and the reaper in 1832, by Cyrus H. McCormick.

Q.—Wasn't David Crocket one of the first settlers of Lawrence county?

A.—He was not one of the first to live in Lawrence county, but he moved there shortly after it was organized. He was a member of county court and of the building committee that erected the first courthouse.

Unemployment Compensation Plan Now Covers All States In Union

Program of Job Insurance Takes in 21,000,000 Workers and Provides Partial Pay for Employes Who Become Idle Through No Fault of Their Own.

Washington, D. C.—Every state and territory in the United States now has an unemployment insurance law that conforms with the Social Security Act. This became a fact when the Social Security Board approved the last state law, that of Illinois.

The board estimates that nearly 21,000,000 are in employments covered by the 51 approved unemployment insurance laws which provide compensation to employes who lose their jobs through no fault of their own, the amount of compensation and the length of time for which it is given varying in different states.

Commenting on this fact, Chairman Altmeyer, of the board, said:

"Greater progress has been made in the enactment of unemployment insurance laws in the past two years than has been made in workmen's compensation for (accidental injury) in the past quarter century. The rapid extension of unemployment insurance has been due very largely to the elimination, under the Social Security Act, of the fear of unfair competition as between employers in a state having such a law.

"While even the most ardent proponents of the Social Security program hardly expected that every state and territory would enact an unemployment insurance law which conformed to all the requirements of the Social Security Act within the first two years of the life of that Act, many problems are yet to be solved in the field of unemployment insurance before we can be satisfied that the workers of this country have adequate protection.

"For example, most states exempt small employers from their unemployment insurance provision, and also exclude the occupations, such as domestic service and agricultural labor, not covered by the present Federal act.

"No one questions the need for protection among these excluded groups, but there are serious administrative difficulties which would be encountered if we attempted to provide all-inclusive coverage at the outset of this new program. No country in the world has tried to establish all-inclusive coverage; wider coverage has in every case grown slowly over a period of years.

"The problems involved in this country are even greater than in other countries. It is unfair to expect that the United States should start at a level reached elsewhere only after long administrative experience. To make this attempt would be to run the risk of bringing the entire system into disrepute because of administrative failures. The state authorities administering unemployment insurance have turned to their tasks with energy and intelligence."

Q.—Who said: "The American Federation of Labor will never surrender the principle of democratic control or yield to minority force and domination?"

A.—William Green.

NLRB Member Urges Government Encourage Workers to Organize

Strong Unions Effective in Promoting National Welfare Through Preventing Strikes and Workers' Raising Stanards of Living, Edwin S. Smith Tells Social Workers Convention.

Indianapolis. — Edwin S. Smith, member of the three-man National Labor Relations Board, urged that the federal and state governments keep legislative hands off of organized labor's right to strike and turn their attentions instead toward encouraging and protecting the unionization of labor.

Speaking before the social action section of the sixty-fourth annual meeting of the National Conference of Social Work here, Smith said strong unions serve to prevent strikes and at the same time keep up wages, thus contributing to the national economic welfare.

"Legislative proposals which look to governmental investigation before a strike may be called, serve to deflate the threat of strike and by so much weaken labor's bargaining power," he declared. "Labor is likely to suffer by such legislation."

Protection Needed.

Concerning governmental aid in the organization of labor unions, Smith said: "There is no doubt of the need for governmental protection of the right to organize. This function can be discharged by both federal and state governments in their respective spheres. What is fundamental in such legislation is adequate provision for enforcement and for penalties against the employer who transgresses.

"Under the influence of governmental protection against abuses by employers the organization of labor in most fields of endeavor will undoubtedly go forward rapidly. This will result in a more effective balancing of our economic forces and a substantial raising of the standard of living of the workers."

Strong Unions Needed.

Smith stressed the value of strong unions, stating:

"When industries are well organized strikes are comparatively rare, although the threat either spoken or understood of a withdrawal of labor power by strong unions is always an important factor in keeping up wages.

"A weak union can marshal no such respect. If a union is protected by government in its efforts to organize it will soon grow strong enough to command the necessary influence with the employer. In the meantime minimum wage legislation to prevent employer exploitation is highly desirable, serving among other things to raise competition to a level of decency."

Smith urged governmental mediation to end "strikes which become bogged down because labor is not strong enough to enforce its demands." No elaborate new governmental machinery is necessary for this, he said, as many state labor departments and the federal department of labor are equipped for such service.

"DEATH OF A. F. OF L. MUCH EXAGGERATED"

(From the New York Times)

It is only a passing illusion, or is there really some ground for believing that these last few weeks we have heard and seen very little of John L. Lewis but a great deal of William Green? One might almost say it is like the present situation in the starry firmament, where various celestial bodies are passing through phases and peaks of obscurations. But yesterday, as Mark Antony might have said, the word of John L. Lewis was all over the front page. Now it is William Green who spends apparently the greater part of his time between the White House and the Capitol; and the senators stand at attention as he goes by.

All along, to be sure, news of the death of the A. F. of L. was greatly exaggerated, even when John L. Lewis was most of the newspaper. Recent figures would indicate that Mr. Green's organization has been taking in new members by the hundreds of thousands instead of rapidly melting away.

Trucking Workers Win Pay Increase By Short Strike

Cincinnati.—A four-day strike of long-distance trucking employes here ended with announcement by an official of the Teamsters' and Chauffeurs' union that firms involved had signed agreements providing for a 48-hour week and a wage increase.

The new scale represents an average increase of nearly 20 per cent for the workers. About 2,500 will benefit.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

Whereas, on the 17th day of February, 1928, E. Mennen and wife, Anna Mennen, of Hamilton County, Tennessee, executed a deed of trust conveying the property hereinafter described and advertised for sale, to F. L. Underwood, Trustee, which said deed of trust was filed for registration February 18, 1928, and recorded in Book O, Vol. 22 Page 700, et seq., in the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee; and,

Whereas, said deed of trust was executed for the purpose of securing the payment of a certain indebtedness, fully described in the said deed of trust, to which reference is made for a complete description; and default has been made in the payment of the said indebtedness secured by said deed of trust and interest thereon, and the said E. Mennen and wife, Anna Mennen, have failed to perform covenants in the note evidencing the indebtedness, and have failed to perform covenants in said deed of trust, and have remained in default for more than thirty days, and the holder of said indebtedness has made demand upon the undersigned trustee to sell the property conveyed by said deed of trust, as therein provided, to satisfy the payment of said indebtedness and interest, as said holder of said indebtedness has a right to do under the terms of said deed of trust:

Now, therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in the undersigned Trustee, F. L. Underwood, of Chattanooga, Tennessee, as Trustee, will, on

TUESDAY, AUGUST 31, 1937,

sell, within the legal hours of sale, at the west door of the Court House in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at public outcry, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, in bar of all equities of redemption, dower and homestead, the following described real estate in the City of Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, to-wit:

Beginning at the Northwest corner of said Lot 49, in Anderson's Addition and in the southwest line of Rossville Boulevard, running thence southeastwardly along said Rossville Boulevard 61.33 feet to a point in the Northeast line of said Lot 49, which point is located 31.32 feet Northwestwardly from the West line of Washington Street, running thence Southwardly across Lots 49, 50, 51, 52, 54, and 55, a total distance of 121.5 feet to a point in the South line of said Lot No. 55, located 40.32 feet Westwardly from the Southeast corner of said Lot No. 55 and in the North line of East 18th Street, thence Westwardly along the South line of said Lot No. 55, 46.43 feet to the southwest corner of said Lot No. 55; thence Northwardly along the Western and Southwestern lines of said Lots Nos. 55, 54, 51, 50 and 49, to the place of beginning.

Said deed of trust recites that title to the said property is clear, free and unencumbered, and title thereto is believed to be good, but the sale will be made as Trustee only, and subject to any unpaid taxes.

Drive Pressed Against "Unfair" Clothing Company

St. Louis, Mo.—Headquarters of the nationwide campaign against the unfair attitude of the Curlee Clothing company of St. Louis reports that the drive is continuing with the same determination that has marked it hitherto. It is felt by leaders of the drive that with union labor gaining ground in every direction and with the American clothing industry becoming more and more unionized, the Curlees can not continue their hostility toward union labor without inviting disaster to their business.

The number of merchants discontinuing business relationship with the Curlee Clothing company is increasing from week to week and the moral support given by a sympathetic public all over the country is most encouraging. Union officers and members and friends of union labor are requested to report names and addresses of Curlee dealers direct to the C. C. C. auxiliary, G. A. Hoehn, secretary, 320 North 19th street, St. Louis, Mo.

Peace with the Curlee firm will be made when it signs an agreement with the malgamated clothing Workers, Secretary Hoehn says.

LINCOLN GARMENT PLANT WORKERS DEFEAT C. I. O.

Lincoln, Ill.—An overwhelming majority of the employes at a garment factory in Lincoln favored the American Federation of Labor in a recent vote. Ninety-one ballots were for the A. F. of L. and only four for the C. I. O.

Bottle Makers Favor Plant Unionization

Manufacturers Agree With Glass Bottle Blowers' Union on Plans for Complete Organization of Both Skilled and Unskilled Employes.

Atlantic City, N. J.—Those who own and control the glass bottle manufacturing industry have agreed to the complete unionization of all its employes and will cooperate with the Glass Bottle Blowers' Association of the United States and Canada in realizing this objective as speedily as possible.

This announcement was made by representatives of the manufacturers and the union at the close of their fiftieth annual collective bargaining conference in the Hotel Marlboro-Blemheim here.

It is estimated that when the unionization is completed a total of 40,000 workers, skilled, semi-skilled and unskilled in all the bottle factories will have been organized. At present the Glass Bottle Blowers' association membership totals approximately 30,000. The association has agreements with about 85 per cent of the manufacturers. In the neighborhood of 4,000 of the 40,000 gained pay raises of 10 cents an hour during the week's negotiation for the next annual contract, which becomes effective Sept. 1.

The agreement for complete unionization of the industry followed an urgent plea by James Maloney, of Philadelphia, president of the Glass Bottle Blowers' association, who argued that open shop competition would be eliminated and disputes ended between the skilled workers, covered by existing contracts, and the unskilled, some of whom are not organized.

$15,000 Pay Raise Won By Denver Machinists

New Metal Trades Department Formed With Nine Unions and 2,500 Members.

Denver, Colo. — The purchasing power of 120 union workers on the Denver & Rio Grande Western Motor Way was increased over $15,000 when District 20, International Association of Machinists, reached an agreement with the carrier on behalf of union members.

The various metal trades in Denver have associated together and formed a Metal Trades council, which has been chartered by the Metal Trades Department of the American Federation of Labor. About 2,500 union workers are represented, in nine affiliated unions.

PLASTERERS CHANGE TIME OF MEETINGS

The Plasterers' local union announces that the regular meeting time has been changed. In the future, the meetings will be held on the first and third Friday nights at 7 o'clock in the labor hall. All Plasterers will please remember this and be present at the next meeting, which will be held on Aug. 20.

L. C. Batey was elected to succeed Paul Garber as business agent of the local.

Pittsburgh Union Labor Man Wins City Council Election

Pittsburg, Cal.—The high esteem in which members of the American Federation of Labor unions in California are held by the public was exemplified in the recent election for members of the municipal council here when W. E. Jones, of the A. F. of L. Chemical Workers' union, was unanimously chosen for that body, although Harry Gill, of the Steel Workers, had announced his candidacy for the office.

What Is Talk Worth?

By DR. CHARLES STELZLE

Executive Director, Good Neighbor League.

It has often been said that talk is cheap; but it is altogether a question as to who does the talking. As a matter of fact, what a man is means more than what he says, for it is a man's character which determines the value of his speech. This implies that the value of man's words vary.

In this respect men are divided into three classes. Men of the first class have their words taken at par. They mean precisely what they say. Of this type of man it has been said: "His word is as good as his bond." Men of the second class have their words taken at a premium. Such men are usually slow to speak. Their words are few. But when they promise, one rests assured that ordinarily they will do more than has been asked. The words of the men of the third class are always discounted. Twenty per cent off—often more—is the value that others give them. So it often happens that exactly the same words, spoken by three different men, have three different values.

It is rather curious that while most of us flatter ourselves that we cannot be fooled by the other fellow, few of us seem to realize that we cannot fool others. It does not take men very long to form a proper estimate of our real value. Everybody soon knows whether our words are to be placed at par, at a premium or at a discount. Therefore, let's quit trying to fool one another. It doesn't pay. It is a waste of time and of energy.

Note the speeches of the delegates in your labor organization. Soon you will learn to know just whose words count for most. It will not be the man who speaks on every question. It will not be the fellow who is always cock-sure. It will not be he who always agrees with you. It will be the man who is quiet, thoughtful, conservative—not dull and stupid—but of unquestioned character. This is the type of man who is coming to the front in labor circles, and it prophesies better things for the working man's cause.

Q.—When was the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America formed?

A.—It was organized in December, 1890, at Detroit, as the Waiters' and Bartenders' National Union of the United States. The present name was adopted in 1898.

Many Contracts Renewed By Paper Makers' Nnion

Pacific Coast Members Land 10 Per Cent Wage Increase and 40-Hour Week.

Albany, N. Y.—Practically all union agreements with paper companies operating in eastern United States and Canadian mills have been renewed, according to an announcement by President Matthew Burns, of the International Brotherhood of Paper Makers.

Workers on the Pacific coast have also ratified a tentative agreement by a vote of 6,190 to 2,797. Changes in the 1937-1938 contract include such gains as a general wage increase of 10 cents an hour for both men and women, overtime at time and one-half in excess of 40 hours a week, or over eight hours a day, including time and one-half for any Sunday or holiday work; also recognition of seniority rights with due regard for ability and other benefits.

The increase in wages is expected to amount to $4,000,000 annually for the union paper makers.

JACKSON SERVICE UNIONS GAIN MEMBERS, WIN PACTS

Jackson, Mich.—The service trades in Jackson are among those reporting steady progress.

Bartenders' Union No. 671 has doubled its membership and several new agreements have been secured with employers.

Hotel and Restaurant Employes' Alliance No. 666 added 50 new members during July and likewise reports a number of new agreements by which substantial gains are made for the workers in this important industry.

Laundry and Firemen's Unions Win Higher Pay in Springfield

Springfield, Ohio.—Wage increases of from 5 to 20 cents an hour and adjustment of working conditions and hours were secured following a three-day strike against the Springfield Laundry company here involving Workers Local No. 70 and Brotherhood of Firemen and Oilers Local No. 295.

The closed shop agreement also brought the truck drivers employed by the laundry into Local No. 654 of the Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Morris C. Taylor, A. F. of L. organizer, commended the Springfield police for their sympathetic handling of the strike situation.

WE are sure that if adults really knew the importance of milk in maintaining their teeth in sound, healthy condition they would drink it every day.

But for one reason or another, some people don't care for milk. They just won't drink it.

That's where KRIM-KO Chocolate Flavored Drink comes to the rescue. Here, in a delicious form, is a food beverage that is ever so easy, ever so pleasant to take.

KRIM-KO is equal to milk in food energy value—rich in calcium and phosphorus, those two "ingredients" which not only build but maintain straight, strong bones and firm, sound teeth. Taken in place of concentrated sweets, it satisfies sugar hunger without "piling on pounds."

Order delicious KRIM-KO now. Make it a part of your regular "beauty treatment." You'll be richly rewarded.

Black Nomination To Supreme Court Pleasing to Labor

William Green and John L. Lewis Voice Hearty Approval, as Nomination Is Seen Assuring Continued Supreme Court Liberal Attitude.

Washington, D. C.—Continuation of a liberal attitude toward labor and other progressive legislation is assured by the nomination of Senator Hugo L. Black to the supreme court, labor observers here believe.

Leading spokesmen of labor quickly voiced approval after it became known the president had nominated Senator Black to succeed the reactionary Justice Van Devanter, who retired in May.

William Green and John L. Lewis declared the organized workers would throw their full support to senate approval of the Black nomination.

Green said: "The appointment is pleasing and satisfactory to labor."

Lewis said it was an "admirable appointment" and one that "will carry with it the confidence of the nation. The CIO will be unanimous for Senator Black."

Friend of Labor.

Hugo LaFayette Black, senator from Alabama, is a strong friend of labor. Chairman of the senate education and labor committee, he has long been regarded as one of the most progressive of the southern democratic senators. He was a vigorous champion of the president's court reform plan and has backed the Roosevelt administration from the beginning.

The Alabama senator first won senate renown with his searching inquiry into air mail and ocean mail contracts inaugurated as the new deal came into power. He was also in the limelight as sponsor of the lobby investigation and as fighter for 30-hour week legislation.

Is Only 51.

Black is 51 years old, having been born on Feb. 27, 1886, in Clay county, Alabama. He would thus have nineteen years to serve before reaching the 70-year retirement age proposed by President Roosevelt. He was a captain in the Eighty-first field artillery in the world war. He was elected to his first senate term in 1926 and re-elected in 1932.

Resignation of CLU President Rejected

D. C. Long to Continue as Labor Head in Johnson City.

Central Labor union of Johnson City announced last week it had rejected the resignation of its president, D. C. Long, submitted at its last regular meeting.

"Owing to the fact that I have recently accepted a job as a member of the state board of barber examiners, and that by reason of my holding this position and the presidency of the Central Labor union at the same time, it might cause the labor movement some criticism; therefore I hereby tender my resignation, effective this the 13th day of August, 1937," Long's statement to the union read.

"I wish to say that my interest in the labor movement will not falter in the least, by reason of accepting this job, because I expect always to be in the labor movement, regardless of any job," the statement concluded.

Long has been president of the CLU for five years.

R. W. Bowdoin, secretary of the organization, explained Long's resignation was offered because the president did not wish the union to suffer any embarrassment, and not because Long is barred from holding the two positions. He will continue in the presidency, Bowdoin added.

Irby Sheaff, J. B. Johnson, L. H. Cannon and Bowdoin were obligated as delegates to the CLU from Johnson City Typographical Union No. 763.

Richard Brummitt was appointed CLU delegate to the chamber of commerce.

Printers' Trade Blotters Bring Good Results

Allied Printing Trades Council Doing Fine Job in Making City Label Conscious.

"TRADE AT HOME" IDEA IS STRESSED

Union Printing Houses Report a Noticeable Increase in Label Demand — Campaign Will Continue for at Least Twelve Months.

The series of blotters being issued monthly by the Allied Printing Trades Council in the interest of union-labeled printed matter is producing some good results, according to J. D. Frawley, printer delegate to the council, who is in charge of the campaign.

The series, which is to continue for at least twelve months, presents a new brief message each month concerning the advantages of the union label to the buyer of printing, and lists the local printing firms which can furnish the union label. The blotter is of a different color stock each month, and is attractively printed in two colors. The message is different and the design is different, but the "Buy in Chattanooga" idea is being stressed. Six thousand of the blotters are distributed monthly to the buyers of printing in Chattanooga, and Mr. Frawley states he could easily distribute twice that amount, but the budget of the council won't permit the printing of a greater amount.

Local printing firms report a good response to the blotters, and are cooperating with the council in the campaign. The council plans to continue the series indefinitely beyond the 12-month experimental period if the results continue to justify the expense.

A large desk size blotter is being planned as a part of the series, to be printed on a heavy blotter stock, designed for longer use than the small blotters; but due to the greater expense involved only a limited amount will be printed.

The Allied Printing Trades Council is the governing body for the union printing label, and is composed of delegates from the Typographical union, the Pressmen's union, the Bookbinders' union and the Stereotypers' union. W. Y. McKenzie is president of the council and C. E. Davis is secretary.

RAIL PAY MEETINGS BEGIN.

Chicago.—Three hundred general chairmen of the train service brotherhoods met here with representatives of the principal railroads, beginning Aug. 11, to seek a settlement of the union demands for a 20 per cent wage increase.

MASCOT STOVES ARE UNIONIZED AS STRIKE ENDS

Molders and Mounters Sign Agreements After Nine Weeks of Picketing.

Molders' Union in Chattanooga Now Have Over 1,000 Members Working Under Union Contracts.

After twelve years the Mascot Stove foundry is once more in the union fold, according to information received that the company negotiated peace settlement which sent the men back to work Thursday morning.

Settlement was secured after a nine weeks' strike in which molders and mounters picketed the plant, remaining firm on the union shop clause.

The Mascot contract came shortly after the unionizing of the Herron Stove foundry. These two victories bring the total membership of the Molders' union well over the one thousand mark now working under union conditions.

Oakland Unions Vote In Favor of A. F. of L.

C. I. O. Tactics Spurned by Calculating Machine and Cannery Workers.

Oakland, Cal.—Cannery Workers' Union No. 20905, chartered by the American Federation of Labor, gained a smashing victory when 145 of the total of 180 workers at the Berkley Heinz plant designated the union as the exclusive collective bargaining representative for all the plant's workers and operations were resumed after a shutdown lasting since January.

The charter of the old union No. 20099, which called the strike shutting the plant in January, was revoked and the new strictly A. F. of L. union organized under the auspices of the California State Federation of Labor.

Five hundred workers at the Marchant Calculating Machine company have become affiliated with the Machinists' union, A. F. of L. affiliate. According to M. J. Nicholas, I. A. of M. organizer, "They were fed up on the tactics of the C. I. O."

36 Salinas Restaurants, Hotels, Sign Union Pact

Salinas, Cal.—Thirty-six hotels and restaurants here are now displaying the famous union house card of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance and Bartenders' International League of America.

Salinas Culinary Alliance No. 467, which has gained fifty members since the first of July, anticipates still further gains.

BAKERS SIGN 2 MORE SHOPS

Curtis Sims, business agent for Bakers' Local 25, reports that two more Bakeries have signed union contracts.

The Manhattan Bakery, which has been on the "we do not patronize" list, has signed a closed shop agreement as has Becker's Bakery, at 3228 Brainerd road. This will be good news for our East-of-the-Ridge friends.

Brother Sims also reports that negotiations with Erskine's Bakery have been unsuccessful and that a company union has been formed at that bakery —one of the so-called "independent" labor groups, said to be sponsored by Jac Chambliss, an attorney in town.

Portland Cement Company Strike Won by Four Unions

Redwood City Plant Agrees to Pay Raise and Closed Shop—Wage Increase Totals $100,000 Annually.

Redwood City, Cal.—A big victory for organized labor resulted in the settlement of the strike called against the Pacific Portland Cement company here by machinists who are members of the San Francisco union, Local No. 68.

Following the strike call members of the Redwood City local of the Carpenters' Brotherhood, the San Mateo local of Elecrticians and the newly organized United Cement Workers, Local No. 760, also walked out of the plant, which is said to be the largest wet process cement concern in the world.

The unions had been negotiating with the management for two months, but were compelled to strike to enforce their demands. After the walkout had been in operation less than two days an agreement was reached between the unions and the management which granted practically all of the strikers demands, including wage increases, the closed shop and preferential hiring.

It was stated that the wage increase for all groups—machinists, carpenters, cement workers, electricians and other craftsmen — will amount to about $100,000 annually.

Under the terms of the agreement the machinists will receive the same wages and conditions as are provided in the San Francisco union scale. This includes $9 per day, the 5-day, 40-hour week, 10 per cent additional for night work and double time for overtime.

Tennessee Mill Ordered To Take Back Workers

Bemis, Tenn.—Eight cotton mill employes dismissed from the Tennessee plant of the Bemis Bag company, St. Louis, Mo., during the 1934 textile strike have been ordered reinstated by the national labor relations board. They are to receive back pay since the time of their dismissal, less earnings made in the interim.

The board found the company guilty of interfering with the union activities of its employes and ordered it to abolish the Independent Textile Workers of Bemis, a company union organized by three employes in October, 1934.

Safety Council To Stage Rally

Community Singing to Be Part of Program.

At a meeting of the Chattanooga Safety council, plans were completed for a community sing and safety rally to be held at the Municipal auditorium on Tuesday night, Aug. 31, at 7:30 p.m.

Purposes of the rally were outlined by Mr. H. H. Bailey, president of the council.

Through the co-operation of Newton Chevrolet the council has obtained the use of a series of sound motion pictures designed to better acquaint the public with safety on the streets, in the home and in the factory.

Mr. J. Oscar Miller will lead the community sing and included in the program will also be some entertainment films for the enjoyment of those who attend.

"We are highly pleased," said Mr. Hall, manager of the council, "to be able to present to the citizens of Chattanooga an evening of real entertainment without cost. The program has been selected with care, and with the moving pictures along with the community sing, the evening's entertainment should prove to be a gala event.

"We have arranged to set aside a section of the auditorium for the colored citizens of Chattanooga."

Chattanoogans are fortunate to be able to have presented to them such a comprehensive program and the cafety council is to be commended on the work which they are doing in the community.

Wage Increases Won By 3 Oakland Unions

Cannery Workers, Auto Mechanics and Milk Wagon Drivers Gain Higher Living Standards by Agreements with Employers; Auto Workers Get A. F. of L. Charter.

Oakland, Cal.—Sustained labor activities on the East Bay are bringing increasing gains almost daily to unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

National Auto Workers' Local Union No. 1360 has received its charter from the A. F. of L. and officials announce a splendid organization in the Chevrolet plant here.

A. F. of L. Cannery Workers in southern and northern Alameda county have won a 5 per cent wage increase and union recognition, affecting 60,000 workers in this important industry.

Automobile Mechanics' Union No. 1546 reports big gains in membership and many new contracts with employers, with $8 a day for mechanics and $9 for metal men, for an 8-hour day included in all contracts. Union auto mechanics are now employed in 275 shops here.

Milk Wagon Drivers No. 302 won a 4-hour strike recently, which brought an increase in wages of $15 a month to inside workers, with $185 a month for drivers and up to $197.50 for extra drivers, a boost of $15 a month in each case.

Indications are that practically all A. F. of L. local unions in this territory will be represented by delegates at the convention of the California State Federation of Labor, called to meet in Long Beach, beginning September 13.

COLORED PEOPLE HAVE PROGRAM FOR LABOR DAY

Lincoln Park Will Be Scene of Great Activity for First Time on Labor Day.

Central Labor Union Plans to Make Affair Annual Occurrence for Colored Unionists.

A new feature has been added to organized labor's program in celegram in celebrating Labor day. In the past the only celebrations held in Chattanooga have been held in Warner park for white unionists. Now that there are probably thousands of colored workers organized into local unions there is a justified feeling that provisions should be made for them the same as for white people.

To that end the Central Body Labor day committee has spent great care in assuring the new unionists thaf they may have a good time with their own race in observing the holiday.

Carl Mitchum, president of one of theMolders' locals, is chairman of the Lincoln park program, with Frank Anderson assisting.

The following program indicates that nothing has been overlooked:

2:00 p.m.—Ranking tennis tournament. Committee in charge of tennis is composed of Sherman Jefferson and Emarita Pitts, co-chairman, assisted by Ethel Wasson and Eva Patterson.

2:00 p.m.—Track meet. Committee in charge of track meet is composed of Wesley McAdams and John Pitts, co-chairman, assisted by Marian Bynes and Viola Brydie.

2:00 p.m.—Horseshoe tournament. Committee in charge of horseshoe tournament is composed of Sam Ellis and Esther Byers, co-chairman, assisted by Beatrice Scruggs and Syd Byers.

2:00 p.m.—City series, quarter finals and semi-finals of softball. Committee in charge will be the Lincoln park softball board, composed of W. J. Davenport, chairman, Butler Richardson. Theodore Gaston and Otis Cox.

2:30 p.m.—Greasy Pole Climb. This activity will be in charge of George Jackson.

3:00 p.m.—Fat man's race.

3:00 p.m.—Baseball game between the molders and Hod Carriers, with Hasker Mitcham, captain of the Molders, and Kirby Sledge, chairman of the Hod Carriers.

4:30 p.m.—Husband calling contest, with Ella Hayden in charge.

5:00 p.m.—Speaking. Speaker to be provided by the Central Labor union.

7:30 p.m.—Semi-finals in softball.

10:30 p.m.—Excellent display of fireworks.

RESOLUTION

Be it Resolved, That Local Union No. 74, Carpenters and Joiners of America, extends to Brother George W. Slaten their deepest sympathy in the passing of his father, Mr. John Slaten; and to Brother P. H. Sullivan their deepest sympathy in the loss of his beloved wife, Mrs. Lena Sullivan. Be it further Resolved, in respect to their memory that this resolution be spread on the minutes and a copy provided The Labor World for publication.

San Francisco Hotel Strike Settled; Unions Recognized; Wages, Hours to Be Arbitrated

San Francisco, Cal.—The three months' strike affecting San Francisco's leading hotels was ended by agreements with all of the unions concerned under which wages and hours will be determined by a board of arbitration, but until the decision is made the unions will continue on the 40-hour week, which was one of their original demands.

Strikers affiliated with the culinary union voted 1,531 to 615, by secret ballot, to accept a proposal that provided: (1) Recognition of all six striking unions for purposes of collective bargaining; (2) preferential hiring for all except "front office" clerks and executives; (3) arbitration of wages and hours by a board composed of three representing the unions, three the employers and a chairman selected from a list of five; (4) the 40-hour week pending outcome of arbitration; (5) a contract renewable from year to year until June 30, 1941. With preferential hiring guaranteed, union members prepared to make this clause as effective as a union shop provision.

New Local Given Recognition.

One provision of the agreement approved by the strikers provided that all unions who went out in sympathy with the strikers must be taken care of before the nearly 3,000 would return to work. Each striking union set about to see that no one went to work except those sent by the unions themselves.

Recognition for Hotel Employees' union, Local 283, for the first time since its organization, was considered one of the big gains made by the strike. Hotel owners would have nothing to do with representatives of this union when they sought to make arrangements for a meeting last spring.

Statement by Strike Leaders.

A statement on the strike settlement by Walter Cowan, chairman, and Hugo Ernst, secretary, of the joint strike committee, was as follows:

"We regard this as a victory. The cause of our strikers, which was union recognition for the clerks, has been won. Three thousand hotel workers went out on strike on May 1 because the hotel owners refused to recognize the collective bargaining rights of the clerks. Now that this has been granted the strike comes to a victorious close for the hotel workers.

"Eighty-seven days of strike have won for some three thousand hotel workers conditions for which we have been fighting for twenty years. Each of us is recognized as a union man and woman. Hiring by the hotels henceforth will be through our union offices. We are guaranteed a fair wage and hour settlement through the arbitration board award.

"This strike ends unsatisfactory conditions that have for so long existed in San Francisco hotels.

"We are grateful in our victory for the solidarity of the six unions, the backing of the unions who walked out with us, the support of organized labor, the whole-hearted co-operation of the advisers in the labor council, and Federation Conciliator Mathewson. We will hail the end of the end of the strike when other unions involved reach a satisfactory settlement.

"As soon as the hotels inform us of the number of workers they need in various departments we will supply them with competent help. All help will, of course, be supplied through the unions."

SPECIAL NOTICE

All members of the Chattanooga Label League and their friends are invited to attend the hayride and picnic at Pan Gap next Tuesday, Aug. 24. Bring a picnic basket and meet at The Labor World, 310 West Eighth street, at 5:30 o'clock. The league is furnishing a large truck and it will be at The Labor World to take the picnickers out to Pan Gap.

A. F. OF L. FORCED TO ACT AGAINST CIO IN FEW CASES

Washington, D. C.—The American Federation of Labor has had to take action in not more than ten instances of state and city bodies refusing to expel unions affiliated with the committee for industrial organization, it is reported at federation headquarters here. In all other cases, state and city central bodies have taken necessary action against CIO unions. Many organizations have not been confronted with the problem.

Only one state organization, so far as could be learned, namely, Iowa, has taken a vote adverse to the A. F. of L. order in the matter. Practically all of the prominent city central bodies, except San Francisco, have taken the action requested by the A. F. of L. in cleaning their membership of local unions having affiliation with the CIO.

In Columbus, O., the central body refused to act, and after its charter had been revoked, it was reorganized. In Philadelphia, summary action by a national organizer, declaring all elective offices vacant, and the holding of another election in compliance with the national order, cleared the situation. In South Bend, Ind., there has been a refusal so far to comply, as the membership is quite evenly divided, and there seems to be no friction. Action by other state bodies will be taking place soon, as their state meetings are held; and there is little doubt that most of them will follow the lead of South Carolina and Ohio in approving A. F. of L. policy.

The national membership drive of the A. F. of L. is gradually being whipped into shape, based upon offices at key points of which there will be upwards of seventy-five, with approximately 200 national organizers working out of them, under supervision of the central office at Washington, D. C.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 20, 1937

LAW AND LABOR

By JOHN T. MAHONEY

of the Chattanooga Bar.

(Editor's Note—Mr. Mahoney, a member of organized labor, served in the state legislature last term. He is an energetic young attorney who is interested in legislative problems for the welfare of labor.)

U. S. Department of Labor

The United States department of labor was created in 1913. It is primarily concerned with the well-being of the American family, inasmuch as it was specifically directed by congress to foster, promote and develop the welfare of wage-earners, to improve their working conditions, and to advance their opportunities for profitable employment.

To develop the welfare of the worker, he must necessarily be found a job, so the department of labor has one office given entirely to that probleb, the national re-employment service. Formerly, it was a kind of placement agency and assisted in connecting jobs and seasonal labor and veterans, but in 1933 under the Wagner-Peyser act, it was authorized to establish a national employment system of public employment offices in co-operation with the various states.

After getting the worker on the job, there comes the task of keeping him there. When disputes arise between the employer and employee, in the present departmental set-up, the secretary may "act as mediator and appoint commissioners of conciliation whenever in his judgment the interests of industrial peace may require it to be done."

We, therefore, see that the department of labor is intended to be also a department for labor. It acts to obtain the information and techniques that will build a better society, one that is fair to and holds opportunity for the majority.

The department is also directed to collect information upon the subject of labor, its relation to capital, the hours of labor, and the earnings of laboring men and women, and the means of promoting their material, social, intellectual and moral prosperity. As a result, many subjects relating to human welfare are studied or interpreted. Among them are accident prevention, labor legislation, social insurance and the cost of living.

The children's bureau in the department has done much in bringing to light facts that have created new opinions on the rights of children, and that have been instrumental in giving all children a better chance. It is hard to believe that less than 100 years ago, children under 12 worked in mills from sun to sun, and earned on an average of about $1.00 per week. Facts developed by the bureau brought this to light, and now industry is beginning to realize that such labor is not only unfair to the child, but is costly to industry in reduced purchasing power, and to the adult in depressed wages.

Not all of the activities of the children's bureau deal with assisting children where conditions exist contrary to their health. There are also projects dealing with recreation and leisure; community and rural programs, which include sports, games, dramatics, clubs and other activities.

We can readily see that the department of labor, in serving the worker, has also aided the employer and bettered living conditions generally. It serves as a guardian to the children of the country. All of its activities are pointed towards the development of a fuller and richer life for all. It could well have been named "the department of human relations."

Labor World's Question Box

The Labor World offers to its readers a question and answer service through the co-operation of the University of Tennessee. Send questions either to this paper or to Box 4013, U. T. Station, Knoxville, Tenn. Answers will appear in this column.

Q.—Give me the name of the largest mule market in the world and the largest in the United States. S. A., Rogersville.

A.—Memphis, Tenn., is the largest in the world, hence in the United States.

Q.—I have heard that teeth cut early will soon decay. Is that true?

A.—No. The time a child cuts his teeth has nothing to do with the quality of the teeth.

Q.—What do they mean when they say a person is judge pro tem?

A.—Pro tem means "for the time being." Thus a judge or official "pro tem" serves temporarily until someone is appointed to the position.

Q.—How did the Mason-Dixon Line originate?

A.—Named after the two men who did the surveying, the Mason-Dixon line was the outcome of a long boundary dispute between the Baltimore family of Maryland and the Penn family of Pennsylvania. This was in the 1760's. The name afterwards was used to signify an imaginary boundary line between the north and the south.

Portland Carpenters Boycott Products of C. I. O. Plants

Portland, Ore.—The attempt of C. I. O. adherents to promote a rival to the carpenters' union, known as the International Woodworkers of America, is reported as meeting with stiff resistance all along the Pacific coast, where C. I. O. activities in this line have been centered.

A growing boycott threatens to tie up the entire lumber industry of the northwest, it is revealed. The strong Portland local of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, affiliated with the A. F. of L., has joined with other northwest locals in declaring that they would not handle products manufactured by members of the C. I. O. organization.

Take It or Leave It

Look out for war.

There isn't much you can do about it, except to keep your eyes open and see what's happening.

Diplomats, on the inside, believe war is right here. They believe the Jap-Chinese outbreak is "the real McCoy"—and that it won't for long be confined to those two nations.

Russia, looking down over the rim of the Asiatic world, is likely to slip off and land right in the middle—and then, the fat will be in the fire.

Why are things this way?

Oh, for lots of reasons, but principally because the human race hasn't learned how to get along with itself without hairpulling.

Well, if conflict of world war proportions develops, America's divided labor movement had better hurry back together again. You can chalk that down as something to remember. There will be something bigger to think about than who thinks what, who wants what, or whose policies are best.

If that's treason, put it in the closet until the weather gets colder. Too many people are het up about too many inconsequential things as it is right now. However, war has a way of eating up just about everything that gets in its way, including nations. It distorts vision, brains and ideas. But if we can keep a cold and fishy eye on the storm as it approaches we'll be less likely to be swept off our feet and out of our heads.

You say war can't come? Oh my, Oh my.

The other day the substitute for the president's court reform plan, totally unlike the original, was swept through the senate on a wave of gavel poundings by so-called Cactus Jack Garner, who is a darned shrewd politician as well as vice-president.

The vice-president probably was tickled pink when that substitute went through, because he is one gent who doesn't like the kind of proposals the president has been making.

When Jack Garner said at Philadelphia that he would follow his leader he probably hoped his leader would stay inside the good old fence. He didn't count on court reform.

Well, court reform is out the window for a while, but chances are it will bob up again.

The president's plan was beaten in a test between progressives and conservatives. The plan itself was secondary—and still is.

There seems to be a lot of organizing going on these days. There are something over six million union members in the United States now. That's double the membership of two years ago. Say what you like, something has been happening.

CIO took a bunch of chips out of the old basket and ran them up to around three million.

A. F. of L. took what was left and ran the pile up to close to three and a quarter million.

You can bet something has been doing, is doing and will keep on doing.

Getting into a union seems to be the popular thing to do.

Where are you?

Ten acres of orchards can be protected from frosts with a new giant hot air heater, says its inventor, G. W. Grable, of Los Angeles. The machine, which is 30 feet high, has a rotating blower mounted on a central standard, surrounded by a flue carrying heat from an oil-burning boiler. The heater is said to keep the air in motion and keep it at a safe temperature when the thermometer falls.

St. Louis Unions Win 20,000 New Members

125 Provision Dealers Become Members of Packing House, Chauffeurs and Salesmen's Union.

St. Louis, Mo.—Continued growth of established A. F. of L. unions here, together with the organization of several new locals, has given the St. Louis Central Trades and Labor union a big increase in membership despite the fact that twelve local unions and one joint board associated with the C. I. O. were dropped from membership.

Notable gains have been made in the moving picture industry, the building trades, teamsters and chauffeurs, and other unions, bringing over 20,000 new members into the A. F. of L. fold and giving the local central body a net gain of over 10,000 members since the beginning of this year.

About 125 provision dealers of the St. Louis district have been granted membership in the Packing House, Chauffeurs' and Salesmen's Union Local No. 700, an A. F. of L. affiliate, according to William J. Bingel, Jr., union secretary. Mr. Bingel said this addition to the union brought the membership up to about 450 persons.

All Springfield Dairies Have Union Shop Pacts

Springfield, Ill.—Another notable victory for A. F. of L. unions was achieved here when the Dairy Workers' union announced that it has been successful in signing all local dairies to union contracts.

Wheeler Warns Hard Times Often Bring Dictatorship

Providence, R. I.—Warning that dictatorships often were born of hard times, Senator Burton K. Wheeler expressed confidence here that this nation's problems could be solved in a democratic way.

Any change in the supreme court, he said, would be a threat to individual liberties guaranteed by the constitution.

"The supreme court is the brake on the governmental machine and ours is a time when we need a brake on the machine of government if democracy is to survive," he told the graduating class at Bryant college's 74th commencement.

NLRB Orders Elections In Ohio Metal Plants

Washington, D. C.—Elections have been ordered by the national labor relations board in the plants of the Globe Machine and Stamping coming company, Cleveland, and the City Auto Stamping company, Toledo, as part of the board's investigations in determining the appropriate unit for collective bargainin.

Several of the unions involved are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, and one is affiliated with the committee for industrial organization.

Cleaning and Dye House Union Formed in El Paso

El Paso, Tex.—Labor organization in this community and indeed throughout south Texas is making steady gains in practically all lines, with an outstanding preference for organizations affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

Among recent additions to local unions is Local No. 77, International Association of Cleaning and Dye House Workers, organized here with a substantial membership right from the start. The union is expected to be instrumental in improving the lot of these workers, who have been shamefully underpaid and overworked, largely, it is intimated, because of cut-throat competition.

30,000 Workers Strike In Silk and Rayon Mills

New York City.—In response to a strike call, the Textile Workers' organizing committee, a C. I. O. affiliate, announced that approximately 30,000 of the 58,000 workers in the silk and rayon industries had quit work in New England, New York, Pennsylvania and nordthern New Jersey.

While the immediate purpose of the strike was to compel a shutdown of the silk and rayon industries for the purpose of bringing about collective bargaining on a general scale, the specific demands of the union include wage increases of from 10 to 20 per cen, a minimum of $18 a week for weavers, $15 for auxiliary help, a 40-hour five-day week recognition or seniority rights and designation of the T. W. O. C. as the sole collective bargaining agent.

Part of Gompers and Wilson In Founding ILO Is Recalled

Geneva.—The part played by two great Americans—Samuel Gompers and Woodrow Wilson—in the founding of the International Labor organization was recalled recently by Josephus Daniels, United States ambassador to Mexico, when he visited the headquarters of the ILO here. Ambassador Daniels was accompanied by Representative J. Walter Lambeth, of North Carolina, and Brig.-Gen. Benedict Crowell, U. S. ordnance reserves. All three were on their way to take part in the dedication of American war memorials in France and Belgium.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

Whereas, on the 17th day of February, 1928, E. Mennen and wife, Anna Mennen, of Hamilton County, Tennessee, executed a deed of trust conveying the property hereinafter described and advertised for sale, to F. L. Underwood, Trustee, which said deed of trust was filed for registration February 18, 1928, and recorded in Book O, Vol. 22 Page 700, et seq., in the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee; and,

Whereas, said deed of trust was executed for the purpose of securing the payment of a certain indebtedness, fully described in the said deed of trust, to which reference is made for a complete description; and default has been made in the payment of the said indebtedness secured by said deed of trust and interest thereon, and the said E. Mennen and wife, Anna Mennen, have failed to perform covenants in the note evidencing the indebtedness, and have failed to perform covenants in said deed of trust, and have remained in default for more than thirty days, and the holder of said indebtedness has made demand upon the undersigned trustee to sell the property conveyed by said deed of trust, as therein provided, to satisfy the payment of said indebtedness and interest, as said holder of said indebtedness has a right to do under the terms of said deed of trust:

Now, therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in the undersigned Trustee, F. L. Underwood, of Chattanooga, Tennessee, as Trustee, will, on

TUESDAY, AUGUST 31, 1937,

sell, within the legal hours of sale, at the west door of the Court House in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at public outcry, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, in bar of all equities of redemption, dower and homestead, the following described real estate in the City of Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, to-wit:

Beginning at the Northwest corner of said Lot 49, in Anderson's Addition and in the southwest line of Roosville Boulevard, running thence southeastwardly along said Roosville Boulevard 61.83 feet to a point in the Northeast line of said Lot 49, which point is located 81.32 feet Northwestwardly from the West line of Washington Street, running thence Southwardly across Lots 49, 50, 51, 52, 54, and 55, a total distance of 181.6 feet to a point in the South line of said Lot No. 55, located 60.32 feet Westwardly from the Southeast corner of said Lot No. 55 and in the North line of East 18th Street, thence Westwardly along the South line of said Lot No. 55, 46.48 feet to the southwest corner of said Lot No. 55; thence Northwardly along the Western and Southwestern lines of said Lots Nos. 55, 54, 51, 50 and 49, to the place of beginning.

Said deed of trust recites that title to the said property is clear, free and unencumbered, and title thereto is believed to be good, but the sale will be made as Trustee only, and subject to any unpaid taxes.

The Label League members are planning another good time at the hayride and picnic at Pan Gap next Tuesday night. Everybody is to bring a picnic supper and meet at The Labor World at 5:30, Tuesday afternoon.

The league is getting one of those great big trucks (yessir, that driver will have a union card—in fact, the committee has arranged with the Truck Drivers' union to furnish the truck) and we shall all ride out together.

Swimming is grand out at Pan Gap, so bring yours and the children's swimming suits. You'll have a lot of fun, I'll promise you.

I just couldn't believe it when Mack Ball, of the Meatcutters, said he hadn't known about it. If there is anybody else who hasn't tried these good products, go by the labor hall, The Labor World or the Coop store in the Market House and try these RICH-MAID, union-made products.

The Label League receives a fresh shipment every ten days from the company in Virginia. And in buying these products you will not only get something you like, but you advance the use of the union label and help out the local Label League.

Warning Issued On Pension Frauds

A grinning old colored woman trotted into the public welfare office yesterday, breathing heavily with heat and excitement. She held out a piece of blue paper.

"Here's my membership card," she announced gleefully. "Please, ma'am, I want my old age pension!"

A puzzled welfare worker took the paper, exclaiming, "Nancy, you don't need any membership card to get old age assistance, if you're eligible—what is this?"

"I done paid a man $3 to get that," said Nancy. "I'se way past sixty-five, and he say this membership paper give me $50 a month till I dies. He read it to me."

"Nancy," said the worker, gently, "that man cheated you. You can't get a pension by paying anyone anything. All these big words on here just say that you are now a member of an association of men and women who would like to have pensions, and that you hereby cast your vote for Dr. J. E. Pope as permanent president of the association. That's all it says, Nancy. It doesn't mean a thing."

When Nancy had gone, the case worker picked up the "membership card" again and sighed. "She did a lot of washing and ironing for that three dollars."

The card itself was harmless—and worthless. As the worker had said, it simply announced that the bearer was a lifetime member of "The National Old Age Pension association, Unincorporated," of which Dr. J. E. Pope was "Original Founder and President." In complicated phraseology and impressively long words, it declared that this association favors congressional enactment of federal pensions for everyone, beginning at age 55; the card was to be sent with 25 cents to the "executive offices" of Dr. J. E. Pope in Washington, D. C. Which is legal enough.

But Nancy, like the majority of old people to whom these cards are being sold, is unable to read. The paper looked official. The words of the agent who sold it to her were thrilling—he said it meant a lifelong pension. Three dollars was the price he quoted her, so she gave it to him.

Last year, appalled at the number of "old age pension" rackets springing up all over the country, congress appointed a committee to investigate them.

According to the report in the Congressional Record of Feb. 19, 1936, Dr. J. E. Pope is one of many "quack doctors of social progress" who "makes his living by fraud and crookedness." He has been arrested and convicted for fraud four times. Today he and others are at large and preying upon the faith and credulity of the old and infirm of this country.

Illiterate, poverty-stricken, anxious to believe, these old people listen to the spellbinders, then bring forth their hard-earned nickles and dimes. The slippery agents disappear, and the purse of the "head-man" swells with the bursting point with contributions from these, who are among the most helpless and trusting of our citizens.

JOBS FOR 100,000 WORKERS SEEN IN PROPOSED SUPER HIGHWAY

New Road From Boston to Washington, Avoiding Cities, Would Be Powerful Employment Stimulus and Solve Big Congestion Problem, Congressional Sponsors of Plan Believe.

BY B. C. CLARKE

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Jobs for 100,000 workers, continuing over a period of more than four years, are visualized in the proposed new super highway from Boston to Washington. The stupendous project, consisting of two four-lane concrete strips separated by a central parkway would be built at a minimum grade, and passing around practically all cities and towns.

The project is covered by a bill pending in Congress which has been brought in by Congressman Ira Walton Drew, of Philadelphia, and is intended primarily to solve the increasing problem of congestion on the eastern seaboard. Later, it is expected that similar roads will be extended into the interior parts of the country.

In the matter of construction, supervision of traffic and regulation of tolls, the road would be under the sole control of a commission or authority set up by the Federal government. The various traffic lanes would entirely separate truck and passenger car travel, and with a minimum speed limit on one of the traffic lanes of 50 miles an hour.

No Grade Crossings

There will be no grade crossings, and entry upon the road will be at toll gates established at appropriate points along the way. The road would pass within easy travel distance of New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore, but removed from the heavily traveled thoroughfares of those cities. Toll rates, according to the present intent, would be fixed by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Congressman Drew, who has consulted with Senator George W. Berry, of Tennessee, and other interested individuals on the project, believes the super highway would solve the costly and wasteful problem of traffic congestion in the eastern states area, and in addition to the heavy consumption of manufactured products, such as steel and cement, would provide directly for the employment of not less than 100,000 men in the actual task of road building.

The road would be an integral link in the national defense system along the coast, and with the advice of War Department engineers, would be built to carry any predictable weight without damage to the roadway.

Aid to Low Cost Housing

Low cost housing areas would be brought closer to industrial centers through easier means of rapid trans-

"Criterion" Belts Unfair; Consumers Support Strike

New York City.—The Beltmakers' Union of New York City is appealing to members of union auxiliaries and friends of labor to refuse to buy "Criterion" belts. One hundred and twenty workers of Slote & Klein, Inc., largest women's belt company in the country and makers of "Criterion" belts, have been on strike since April 15 for the elementary right of collective bargaining. Slote & Klein have closed their factory in New York and are attempting production in Jersey City with the help of strike-breakers.

Consumers' organization in New York City has made an impartial investigation and voted to support the Slote & Klein Strike. They have written to department stores asking them to co-operate by withdrawing their patronage until the strike is settled.

CONGRESS PASSES RAILWAY SAFETY BILL

Washington.—Congress passed and sent to the president a bill to permit the Interstate Commerce Commission to require railroads to install block signals and other safety appliances.

The bill gives the I. C. C. power to require railroads to inspect, maintain or install block-signal systems, interlocking, automatic train-stop, train-control and cabinet signal devices.

Proponents contended that the measure is essential to railroad safety and is supported by railroad labor groups.

Union Iron Worker Suffers Fatal Fall

Harry Gooden, 35, of Hixson, died in a Kingsport (Tenn.) hospital last Friday night from injuries suffered in a 30-foot fall while working on a construction job there, according to information received by relatives.

Mr. Gooden was employed by the Converse Bridge and Steel company, of Chattanooga, and was a member of Structural Iron Workers' Local No. 384.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ruth Barker Gooden; two daughters, Misses Wilma and June Gooden; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gooden; four brothers and three sisters.

Label Leaguers Enjoy Hayride

Undaunted by the rain, the members and friends of the Label League went right ahead with their plans for the straw ride and picnic at Pan Gap Tuesday night and a truck load of them left The Labor World on schedule.

Supper was served at 7 o'clock in one of the buildings at Pan Gap and, as hungry as that crowd was, they couldn't eat all of the good food that the members had brought. The truck and the drinks were furnished by the league. After supper the entire party went up to the dance hall and joined in the dancing and fun-making.

Dowell Patterson, international representative of the Typographical union, was a visitor at the picnic.

Garment Maker Agrees to Observe Labor Relations Act

New Orleans, La.—The National Labor Relations Board announced at its regional offices here that Charles H. Logan, regional director, had reported the settlement at Tupelo, Miss., of a labor dispute involving Reed Brothers, Inc., a garment manufacturing concern. The settlement provides for the official posting of a notice by the company that it will comply with provisions of the National Labor Relations Act in that it would not "restrain or coerce employes in the exercise of their rights of self-organization; to form, join or assist labor organizations to bargain collectively with representation of their own choosing," and other provisions as provided for under section 7 of the act.

The Tupelo concern also agreed to place Susie Belle Wilson, a discharged employe, on the preferred list for reinstatement as a regular employe, the board said.

INDIANAPOLIS TEAMSTERS WIN WAGE RAISE STRIKE

Indianapolis, Ind.—Teamsters and Chauffeurs' Local No. 135 here gave full support to 200 members, employed by 13 concerns, who became idle as a result of refusal of the trucking concerns to sign contracts granting pay increases up to 70 and 75 cents an hour, the closed shop and similar advantages for warehousemen. Local No. 135 reports to have 3,000 members of teamsters, chauffeurs and helpers employed in Indianapolis, at wages ranging up to 82½ cents an hour.

Erskine Cakes Declared Unfair By Central Body

Charges to Be Presented to National Labor Board After Jac Chambliss "Installs" Puppet Group.

H. G. B. King, Attorney for AFL Bakers' Union, Says Independent Union Is Company-Dominated.

The Erskine Baking company, on Rossville avenue, was placed on the unfair list by the Central Labor union Monday night after the American Federation of Labor Bakery and Confectionery Workers' union announced it would file charges against the company for alleged violation of the Wagner act by sponsoring the formation of a unit of the League of Democratic Unions at the plant.

The Central Labor union's action was taken after Curtis Sims, president of the labor body and business agent of the bakers' union, reviewed a meeting of representatives of the A. F. of L. union held at the company plant Monday afternoon with officials of the company and the unit of the league.

Sims said the charges against the company would be sent immediately to the national labor relations board.

During the conference Monday afternoon H. G. B. King, attorney for the bakers' union, charged that the league unit was "company-dominated, company-sponsored and company-aided."

LABEL LEAGUE MEETS

The regular meeting of the Chattanooga Label league will be held Friday night, Aug. 27, at 7:30 at the labor hall. All delegates and members are urged to be present.

British Union Leader Dead

London.—John Hodge, for half a century a British trade union leader and Great Britain's first minister of labor, died on Aug. 10 at 81. Hodge was elected to the house of commons in 1906 with the group of labor members who established the parliamentary labor party. He was minister of labor and minister of pensions during the World war. He retired from politics in 1923 and held no office under the J. Ramsay MacDonald labor governments.

PASSAGE OF HOUSING ACT SEEN AS BOOM TO BUILDING INDUSTRY

New Law Big Aid To Employment, Green Says.

Measure Much Weakened from Original Form, But Retains Protection of Labor Standards and Other Good Features.

BY GEORGE L. KNAPP

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Battered and bashed, reduced to half its original financial size; but still representing a start on a long-needed work and still capable of giving some good service, the Wagner-Steagall Housing Bill passed both House and Senate.

In one respect, the much-altered bill is not changed. Labor standards are protected in the last version as in the first. The prevailing wage of the locality must be paid on all projects, thus:

"Any contract for loans, annual-contributions, capital grants, sale, or lease pursuant to this Act shall contain a provision requiring that the wages or fees prevailing in the locality, as determined or adopted . . . by the Authority, shall be paid to all architects, technical engineers, draftsmen, technicians, laborers and mechanics employed in the development or administration of the low-rent housing or slum-clearance project involved."

Special Interest In Black Appointment Discovered Here

The local union of the American Federation of Teachers can claim close contact with the newly appointed Associate Justice Hugo Black. Mrs. Charles L. Hail, who has been a teacher in the Hamilton county school system for a number of years and who is a resident of Chattanooga in the Red Bank section, is a first cousin to the most recent member of the supreme court.

Mrs. Hail's maiden name was Margaret Mildred Toland. Her father and Justice Black's mother were brother and sister.

Mrs. Hail teaches at Red Bank and she and Mr. Hail have had their home at 3717 Tacoma street for a long time. They have one daughter, Evelyn Mildred, who is 11 years old. Mildred is a family name, having been handed down from Mrs. Hail's grandmother.

Associate Justice Black has been a visitor in the Hail's home and they know him well. Naturally, they are quite proud and elated over his appointment.

TVA Laborers Will Get AFL Charter at Chickamauga Dam

Initial Meetings Indicate Interest—Meet Again Next Sunday to Perfect Organization.

Reports sent in by Hodcarrier and Common Labor unions in Chattanooga say that workers in those groups at Chickamauga dam are busily engaged in signing application cards for the new A. F. of L. local here.

It is apparent that a good majority will have signed up by the time of their next meeting, which will be held Sunday, Aug. 29, at 3 o'clock.

One of the objectives of the organization will be to establish a 50-cent per hour wage scale on the dam.

BIRMINGHAM CHIEF OF POLICE ORDERS ALL PICKETS' ARREST

Birmingham, Ala.—A sweeping anti-picketing order which is clearly unconstitutional has been issued by the chief of police here, according to Yelverton Cowherd, CIO regional director. Declaring that he did not intend to allow "disruption of legitimate business in Birmingham," the police chief stated that the right of anyone who wanted to work would be protected.

He claimed that the order was issued to serve notice that the section of the state code prohibited picketing passed in 1923 would be enforced. In a press interview the chief is quoted as saying: "There is no such thing as peaceful picketing. We have been fooling around with this situation long enough and we will enforce the law in spirit and in letter from now on."

One paragraph of the order reads: "Strikers or sympathizers who attempt to picket any place of business where a strike has been called must be promptly arrested and warrants sworn to in county courts for violation of Section 2448 of the code of Alabama, 1923."

Union officials believe the order was aimed against the organizing campaign beidng conducted in the city by the United Automobile Workers. Rumors of a strike have been floating around the city, although C. N. Parson, CIO field representative in Birmingham, has denied that any strike is being planned.

Parsons said that the majority of the workers in mechanical departments of Birmingham firms had already joined the U. A. W., and that the union was interested in organizing, not in striking.

Band Concert Feature Of Labor Day Menu With Senator Berry

Music in Afternoon and Evening Arranged in Front of Granlstand for Weary Celebrants—Enormous Crowd Expected.

Carpenters and Painters Post Prize as They Practice Up for Annual Baseball Game and Hurl Defies—Nothing Overlooked in Athletics—Fireworks to End Day.

Chairman V. W. Hallmark said yesterday that he was only waiting for the word "Go." Everything is set. He and his committee have left nothing undone—and plenty has been done.

The latest announcement of attractions for Labor day is that there will be a twelve-piece band which will play in the grandstand from 4 till 5 o'clock immediately before Senator George L. Berry makes his address. After his address the band will entertain for two hours.

To climax the day an excellent display of pyrotechnics (fireworks to you) will be seen. And it is believed that the thousands of Labor day celebrants will be ready to go home satisfied.

Much excitement is seething in the ranks of the carpenter and painter unions. They are practicing swings and curve balls. Each local says it will show the other how the game should be played when they line up at Warner park Labor day in their annual game. To make it really worthwhile a handsome prize will be given to the winnah.

"Uncle Bob" Malone has been suggested as umpire—nobody ever agrees with him anyhow.

Director Ed Hargraves and "Rudy" Olgiati have done their jobs of preparing the athletic fields and the program for something doing every minute of the day. All is ready. See you at Warner park Labor day.

Brewery Workers Still Hammering At B. L. Talley Co.

The Brewery Workers, Local 79, sent their "missionaries," Howard Smith and Louise Tinker, into foreign fields this week when they invaded the towns of Whitwell, Jasper, South Pittsburg, Stevenson and Bridgeport. The visitors were treated royally in each of the towns. It is an evident fact that the people in the little mining town of Whitwell do not want, and will not tolerate Mr. Talley's produce there, and not one bottle of Canada Dry was to be found. These good people well remember the two and one-half years they sat idle because of labor difficulties. They stayed until they won and they encouraged their visitors to stay with Mr. Talley until he decided to get right. These folks were well informed about Canada Dry and its unfairness, and did not hesitate to express their opinions. As far as this town is concerned Mr. Talley can ship his Canada Dry right back to the distributors in Atlanta.

The drive against this non-union drink continues under the direction of President John Etters and Secretary Erskine D. Fisher.

Weirton Rules Workers' Lives Witnesses Say

Company Controls Amusement Facilities of People, Forces Employes to Sign Anti-Union Pledges, NLRB Is Told.

NEW CUMBERLAND, W. Va.—The National Labor Relations Board hearing on charges that the Weirton Steel Company is violating the Wagner Labor Relations Act has already brought out the fact that the corporation controls even the amusements and open air hours of the people. The company, through a subsidiary, has built many of the houses, paved the streets, and controls the parks, playgrounds, athletic field and stadium, which, its attorney claims, it "gave" to the community.

The company is charged with fostering and maintaining two company unions, and with discharging men who refuse to sign a pledge of "loyalty" to the company and repudiating "outside" unions.

Witness Warned, Then Fired

Matt Suntala testified that he had been a wheelwright for the Weirton Company for twelve years, until discharged Jan. 12 of this year. He refused to sign the pledge of "loyalty" to the company and hostility to unions. He was warned shortly before the presidential election of last fall that his superiors knew that he didn't go along with the company," and on Jan. 12, his foreman came to him and said:

"I got to give it to you. I can't help it."

"It" was the discharge. His discharge slip said that his work was unsatisfactory, although the week before he had been called on his day off to do some work.

Unions Win Fight on Auto Accessory Stores

DULUTH.—The strike of employes of the Western Auto store here has ended with the signing of an agreement providing an increase in wage scales and shortening of the work week by eight hours.

It is the first time the powerful chain system of auto accessory stores, with headquarters in Kansas City, has recognized a union by signing an agreement with its clerks and warehouse workers.

The Duluth strike lasted five weeks, while the strike of Minneapolis and St. Paul employes of the firm lasted eleven weeks. The agreements cover eight stores in the Twin Cities.

The agreements are with the Retail Clerks Unions, A. F. of L., of Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis, and with the Warehouse Workers' Union, of St. Paul.

Minimum guaranteed weekly wages plus a commission on gross sales, seniority rights and paid vacations are provided in the agreements.

STRIKERS FIGHT POLICE WITH BEES

Montreal.—Strikers at the Cote St. Paul mill of the Dominion Textile company threw two hives of bees at police who were guarding the mill. The police battled the insects for several hours and finally called on the fire department. Streams of water routed the bees.

Robert Weston, eight years with the company, said that his foreman told him three times to vote for the company union plan. If he didn't, "you're through, and you'll never get another job around here." Then an official of the Employes' Security League came to get him to sign the pledge, and told him:

Told to Vote for Fake Union

"Youse boys know what it means if you don't sign. We ain't fooling."

A former postmaster of Weirton testified as to the absolute domination of the town by the company.

THE PRESIDENT

The 1924 democratic national convention was the longest on record, lasting twenty-nine sessions. There were 103 ballots taken with Alfred E. Smith and William Gibbs McAdoo the leading candidates. A dark horse, John W. Davis, was finally nominated.

* * *

In the past the nominees were notified formally several weeks after the convention. In 1932, however, Franklin D. Roosevelt appeared before the convention and accepted the nomination.

* * *

Under the constitution of the United States a president is elected every four years, and may succeed himself indefinitely. There is an accepted tradition, however, that two four-year terms or a substantial part of two such terms is all that one should have. Both George Washington and Theodore Roosevelt so expressed themselves.

* * *

When President named Miss Frances Perkins to the post of secretary of labor she was the first woman selected to serve on a president's cabinet. Until this time all members had been men.

* * *

During the first ten months of his presidency, Franklin D. Roosevelt received 1,620,000 letters, telegrams and like communications.

* * *

There is no constitutional requirement that a president has to stay within the borders of the United States. Wilson went to Europe twice after the World war, Harding made a trip to Alaska, and Roosevelt has gone to the Panama [illegible] and somewhere.

No Jobs for Workers Over 40?

Does man's economic life end at 40? Labor doesn't think so and neither does a New York legislative committee which will soon begin an investigation of the question.

The committee, headed by State Senator Prichard H. Strong, of Rochester, will take up discrimination in employment against older workers in a series of public hearings throughout New York. Because of the state's outstanding importance in industry and commerce, the investigation is of national interest and should throw light on age discrimination throughout American industry.

Senator Strong has been told by many workers they could not find employment because they are past 40. He points out the injustice of this, saying:

"It is not age which determines a man's worth in business and industrial fields. If there is discrimination in the employment of persons over 40, we want to know it."

The investigation, if thorough, should prove of much value and help in the formulation of effective educational and legislative policies for dealing with age discrimination.

Eliminating Labor Spies

Gov. Elmer A. Benson, of Minnesota, has shown a way to end the career of labor spy agencies.

"I consider Pinkerton's activities detrimental to the general welfare of the people," the governor said in a public statement explaining his refusal to renew the agency's license to operate in Minnesota.

Benson said his action was based on the fact that "Pinkerton service consists largely of espionage directed against organized labor."

Benson's action is said to be the first of its kind by a governor in the United States. Labor hopes that it will not be the last. If other state executives folllow Benson's example and refuse to license Pinkerton, Pearl Bergoff and other notorious spy and strike-breaking agencies, the end of road for such organizations will be near.

And this will mean the elimination of something which has long been an unmitigated evil in American life.

Lower Fares Benefit Public

Vacation and other travelers who have enjoyed lower railroad fares in the eastern territory for more than a year have the Baltimore & Ohio railroad to thank.

Over the protests of other big eastern roads, which vociferously opposed lower fares, the Baltimore & Ohio won a fight for reductions in June, 1936, bringing fares in the east in line with those which had already benefitted the public and increased railroad revenue in the south and west.

The B. & O., more farsighted than other lines, saw that the trend of the times called for lower fares unless the railroads were to continue to lose passenger traffic. So it pioneered in seeking reductions, as it had pioneered in air conditioning of passenger cars and in other moves to make railroad travel more attractive.

Mrs. Rutherford B. Hayes, first lady from 1877 to 1881, refused to permit wine or spirits to be served at the White House dinners or receptions, substituting lemonade. She was nicknamed "Lemonade Lucy."

BOO HOO!

To the Editor of The Labor World:

Booing and hissing is never a dignified procedure, even when caused by aggravated and unjust treatment. The action of the county board of education in drawing a resolution upholding dignity and condemning the booing at the last county court meeting was just a detail in the deliberations of the dignified board of education.

While defending and upholding decorum, dignity, and what have you, it is amusing to note that the same day the board of education named as a principal a person depicted in the public press as a male exponent of Lady Godiva who performed, it was said, a nude strip tease act on the public highway.

What Next!

An Illinois inventor has obtained a patent on a revolutionary cotton-picking machine which utilizes the "electric eye," or photo-electric cell, to select only fully ripened bolls for automatic plucking. The inventor, Charles H. White, Moline, Ill., has already assigned his patent to a manufacturer of agricultural machinery. By use of the photo-electric cell, patent office experts said, White has overcome a major defect found in earlier cotton-picking devices. The defect is lack of selectivity.

Labor World's Question Box

The Labor World offers to its readers a question and answer service through the cooperation of the University of Tennessee. Send questions either to this paper or to Box 4013, U. T. Station, Knoxville, Tenn. Answers will appear in this column.

Q.—Is Labor Day now observed in all parts of the United States?

A.—All states, the District of Columbia and the territories celebrate Labor Day.

Q.—Who said: "Trade unions are the bulwark of modern democracies"?

A.—William E. Gladstone, great English prime minister.

Q.—Mr. J. A. M. of Delano has written the Query Box describing a certain mineral he found near his home, and asking what mineral it is.

A.—The only definite way to determine minerals is by testing. All inquiries like this will be handled individually. Mr. M's letter has been referred to the U-T geological department, which will inform Mr. M. the steps to take in finding the answer to his question.

Q.—Can you tell me where I can find a copy of "God in American History" or some book by a similar title? S. A., Rogersville.

A.—There is a "God in History" written by James Strahan. It is published by Doubleday, Doran & Co., 75 Franklin Ave., Garden City, N. Y.

Q.—On what day of the month did the third Sunday of November come in 1910? "Review" subscriber, Smithville.

A.—November 20.

Q.—What is the meaning of "savvy"?

A.—Though spelled differently, the word is taken from the Spanish word "sabe." It means "do you understand?" or "do you get me?"

Q.—Why and how did the country start celebrating Labor Day?

A.—In 1882 labor unions started to move for the celebration of a "Labor Day" once every year. This resulted in the passage of a bill by congress in 1894, making the first Monday in every September a legal holiday in respect to labor. Further legislation was enacted by the states. Labor Day this year will fall on Sept. 6.

Take It or Leave It

The President springs a new one when he brands tories as the American Lord Macauleys.

Lord Macauley was the old boy who, in colonial times, predicted disaster for the United States because of democracy — the "right people" were not in control of goverment.

Nobody is more clever than FDR at the trick of making phrases and he has made few that are better than this latest — "the American Macauleys."

A lot of these fellows have been extremely busy during this first phase of the new congress, trying to throw the harpoon into progressive legislation; and with a good bit of luck, too.

It may seem like quite a time since "we have just begun to fight," but whether or not it is a long time, we can be even surer that we shall have to keep fighting for an even longer time to come.

* * *

If labor goes down the line to beat the congressmen who have played fast and loose, it will have a lot of congressmen to fight.

There have been few congresses in which buck passing has been more generally done, or done with more skill.

It will be many moons before the people generally understand how cleverly the wage and hour bill was shot full of holes by those who professed to be its friends, or what their true purpose was in doing what they did.

It will be many moons before all the tricky lobbying is understood or uncovered—perhaps never.

Progressive legislation never got such a sabotaging.

And last of all, the terrific lather for adjournment. THAT was the biggest link of baloney in the whole box of tricks.

* * *

But wait a minute. Here's another phenomenal thing.

Administration "spokesmen," persons supposed to be guiding the legislative program for the administration, accuse labor of backing out on the wages and hours bill.

In other words, they WANTED a strong lobby. Well, next time you hear anybody yapping against lobbies, just spring it on them that here was a case where the very tops wanted lobbying done.

It all means, of course, that there are good lobbies and bad lobbies. Labor is a GOOD lobby.

If anyone is unkind enough to say that it depends upon whose ox is getting gored, or whose pet project is being booted around, you can go so far as to agree with them, which doesn't change the facts in the case a bit.

The world is full of contradictions, it seems.

* * *

Well, a lady politico has been appointed to the social security board.

Friend of Mrs. Roosevelt.

Very able person, it seems, in a way. Social uplift, and all that—but also something of a practical politician.

Probably an appointment of the Perkins type, which doesn't set labor leaders to cheering very loudly.

However, it may be a good idea to suspend judgment until the lady has a chance to show what she can do.

And there are some who think the social security board couldn't be much more of a mess than it has been.

It isn't all beer and skittles, it seems. Sometimes it's cactus and sagebrush.

A couple of bouquets—to Mrs. Arch Underwood and Mrs. Paul Reynolds for the good work they did on the entertainment committee of the Label League. The hayride and picnic at Pan Gap was something "different," and everybody had a good time.

The younger generation in the labor movement seems to be "taking the air," socially. Seven-year-old DeWitt Ayers, young son of T. D. Ayers, the movie operator, won second prize in the amateur contest at the Bijou theater Friday night. If you remember, DeWitt sang at the banquet that the Central Body gave for its visiting delegates at the Tennessee Federation of Labor convention here in Chattanooga a year or so ago.

And, I heard Betty Jane Underwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arch Underwood—printer and label leaguers—speak up on the "Kwestionite" program at the Park theater.

When 400,000,000 people are kicked into learning how to fight, look out!

History may well record that the downfall of fascism and other forms of arbitrary government began with the attempt of Japan to conquer China.

The public utility commission of Pennsylvania has refused to let the Northern Pennsylvania Power company sell its properties to the Metropolitan Edison company. Every little while, the march toward monopoly meets a check like that, and the jolts are coming closer together.

Shipping companies and ship officers persist in the claim that military discipline is necessary on ship board. Labor denies this. It is one of the many places where labor upholds democratic principles against the claims of would-be industrial autocrats.

Privilege Up to Old Tricks—

Same Interests That Fought Brandeis Now Oppose Black

BY GEORGE L. KNAPP

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Senator Hugo L. Black should feel highly honored. His appointment to the Supreme Court is denounced by the newspapers, columnists and privilege propagandists that slanged President Roosevelt during the last campaign; and opposed by the same interests that fought the confirmation of Justice Brandeis 21 years ago—and for the same reasons.

The morning after President Wilson sent the nomination of Brandeis to the Senate, the Boston News Bureau said:

"There is only one redeeming feature in the nomination, and that is that it will help to bury Wilson at the next presidential election. * * * Mr. Brandeis has been the leader of all the political and financial forces smashing the credit of the Boston & Maine and the New Haven railroad systems."

Brandeis Foretold Crash

Brandeis had no part in any legal struggles against these roads until they had crashed. His real sin was that he foresaw and foretold the crash so early and so accurately that the schemers never forgave him for uncovering their tricks. The air and ocean mail subsidy grabbers and the utility holding company gougers feel the same toward Senator Black.

C. W. Barron, the Wall Street mouthpiece, denounced Brandeis in very severe terms. A few years before, Brandeis had put into the record in a lawsuit a letter in which Barron asked for 50 shares of stock in a new company for his favorable comments on it.

Same Charge Against Both

A group of gentry headed by A. Lawrence Lowell, president of Harvard University, wrote the Senate that Brandeis did not possess the "judicial temperament" needed. Black has already been charged with lack of judicial temperament; and Harvard is the place which hissed President Roosevelt in the last campaign.

Brandeis had the opposition of all the privilege hunters. So has Black. Brandeis had the enthusiastic support of labor. So has Black.

Ex-President Taft signed a memorandum declaring that Brandeis was "not a fit person to be a member of the Supreme Court." A few years later, but before Taft became Chief Justice, he encountered Brandeis one rainy evening, and stopped him.

"Mr. Brandeis," said Taft, "I did you a very great injustice once. I am sorry."

Labor for Black

Senator Black has telegrams and letters of congratulation and good wishes literally from every state in the Union. One of the most interesting of the letters is that from Alfred Lief, author of "The Dissenting Opinions of Mr. Justice Brandeis," who notes how closely Black's reception resembles that accorded to Brandeis in 1916.

Organized labor rallied to Black, with no difference between the two opposing organizations. W. James Williamson, secretary of Maryland Lodge 186 of International Association of Machinists, an A. F. of L. union, wired: "Your labor record has stood out for years as one that cannot be surpassed." The Birmingham Industrial Union Council wires: "Thirty thousand workers in this area congratulate you."

Cardui is a purely vegetable medicine which you can buy at the drug store and take at home. Pronounced "Card-u-i."

MORE ABOUT HOUSING BILL

public works also apply to housing projects.

"As a result of the enactment of the bill," said William Green, president, of the American Federation of Labor, "a housing program will be launched in all the larger cities. We estimate that more than 150,000 homes will be built in the next year as a direct outcome of the bill, along with a considerable amount of slum clearance."

One hundred and fifty thousand homes in a year will provide many jobs for building trades workers and for those in industries supplying materials, Green pointed out.

Housing Authority Set Up

The main features of the bill are as follows:

It creates a United States Housing Authority, a corporate body under the Secretary of the Interior. Its powers will be vested in a single administrator, with an advisory board.

The Authority is given a capital of $1,000,000, and is authorized to issue and sell $500,000,000 in bonds, interest and principal guaranteed by the United States. The original Wagner bill provided $1,000,000,000.

Out of this fund, the Authority may loan money to public housing groups for the purpose of financing low-cost housing. Loans must be amortized in 60 years, and the interest is the rate of interest paid by the Federal Government, plus one-half of one per cent. At present, Uncle Sam is paying two and a half per cent. on borrowed money, which would make the loan rate 3 per cent.

Two Loan Methods

Loans may be made in two ways.

In the first, the Authority lends up to 90 per cent. of the cost of the project, the local community being required to put up 10 per cent.

In the second plan, the Authority may make an outright grant of 25 per cent. of the cost, and the president may grant from relief funds an additional 15 per cent., to be applied on labor costs. These two grants total 40 per cent. Under this plan, the local community must pay 20 per cent. of the cost, the Authority lends 40 per cent., and the remaining 40 per cent. is granted outright, as described.

Contributions Authorized

The Authority may make annual contributions to the public housing groups, which is equivalent to paying a part of the rental that otherwise would be charged to the tenant. This contribution must not exceed 3½ per cent. of the total cost of the project, and must be applied first to the payment of interest to the Authority. These contributions cannot exceed $5,000,000 the first year, nor be more than $7,500,000 for the second and third years.

The local group which wants a subsidy must agree to demolish in the same area as the project as many slum units as are replaced by new buildings.

In cities of 500,000 inhabitants or fewer, the Authority may not lend money on projects where the cost is more than $1,000 per room or more than $4,000 per family unit. In cities of more than 500,000 inhabitants, the Authority may loan on projects costing up to $1,250 a room or $5,000 for the entire project. This does not include the cost of land or of clearing a slum to make room for a project.

Renters' Qualifications

Dwellings in the projects thus constructed will be rented only to families whose total income is not more than five times the rent. If the family contains more than three minor dependents, its income may be up to six times the rent. Say the dwelling has four rooms and the rent is $6 per room; $24 per month or $288 per year for the apartment. The family with two or three children taking this dwelling must have an income not more than $1,440 per year; while a family with four children would be eligible if its total income were not more than $1,728 per year.

The Brookings Institution has found that in 1929, 12,000,000 families, more than 52 per cent. of all the families in the United States, had incomes of less than $1,500 per year. Clearly, there will be no shortage of eligible applicants for homes constructed under this act.

The Authority may require the inclusion of a playground for children in any large project, if deemed necessary to the safety or health of the youngsters.

Not more than 10 per cent. of the total fund for loans, grants and subsidies can be laid out in any one state.

Jersey High Court Asked to Reverse Ruling Holding Union Shop Illegal

Trenton, N. J.—The court of errors and appeals, in effect the supreme court of this state, has been asked to reverse a decision of the chancery court holding closed shop contracts illegal.

The story, in brief, is this: Employes of the International Ticket company of Newark struck, asking, among other things, a closed union shop. The chancery court not only ruled that closed shop contracts are unlawful, but that the strike was unlawful. "The object of the strike being unlawful," says the decision, "all acts in support thereof, including picketing, are also unlawful." And an injunction prohibiting the strikers from picketing was granted on that ground.

In the appeal, Meyer M. Semel, attorney for the strikers, offered 21 reasons for overruling the chancery court. One claim, striking at the very root of the injunctions, says:

"The decision unlawfully usurped the exclusive prerogative of the legislature of New Jersey in attempting to establish the public policy of this state in connection with labor disputes."

The chancery ruling, declares the petition for an appeal, "deprives the defendants of their constitutional rights of free speech, free press, and to peacefully assemble to petition their grievances."

The case will be argued before the court of errors and appeals in October.

Q.—How does the International Labor organization function?

A.—The ILO, as it is popularly known, is composed of three parts: 1, the international labor conference; 2, the governing body; 3, the international labor office. The conference is the "congress" of the ILO, at which representatives of workers, employers and governments meet, usually once a year. The governing body is the "board of directors" of the ILO, consisting of representatives of workers, employers and governments. The international labor office is the staff of the director, with headquarters in the ILO building, Geneva, Switzerland.

CHATTANOOGA CENTRAL LABOR UNION

Some Vital Labor Bills Passed; Many More of Importance Are Killed

Congress Adopts Housing, Rail Retirement and Unemployment Census Measures But Fails to Enact Wage and Hour, Strikebreaker Curb, and Other Legislation Asked by Unions.

Washington, D. C.—The most important piece of legislation passed by the congress session just closed was the Wagner-Steagall housing bill, called No. 1 on labor's legislative program by President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor.

Ranking with the housing bill in importance was another work for labor—the La Follette civil liberties investigation. This investigation, still continuing, has told the country the truth about condtions in employer-dominated Harlan county, Kentucky, and the Memorial day massacre of Republic Steel corporation strikers in Chicago. Its revelations were unquestionably a large factor in tee unionizing of the automobile and steel industries.

The housing bill is treated in detail in another column. Here, it need only be said that the bill, badly as it fared on its progress, is still a measure which makes a pretty fair start on one of America's biggest problems; which will provide many jobs at carefully guarded fair wages, and which will provide at least a small percentage of the cheap and adequate housing which the nation needs.

The railroad retirement act, giving protection in retirement to a million and a half of railroad workers, was passed with little debate and no real opposition. It provides a tax on both employers and employes to raise the necessary funds, takes over all private pension plans of the railroads up to a certain point.

Coal Control Law Passed

The Guffey coal control law, strongly approved by labor, is another effort to stabilize the soft coal industry by codes which stop cutthroat prices and require fair business practices. It has been called the "little NRA," and there is some truth in the phrase. It is a step in advance, the full value to be taken whether it brings all the expected benefits or not.

The bill providing [illegible] employment census was approved [illegible] most possible, and to limit the fluctuations of employment that are not due to the seasons.

Committee Kills Bill

A bill embodying these things in a manner not wholly satisfactory to labor but still acceptable, was put through the Senate chiefly by the efforts of Senator—now Associate Justice—Hugo L. Black. It went to the House, an dthe amendments of the House committee, on the whole, were an improvement. And it was killed by a reactionary majority of the House Rules committee, which refused to let the House vote on the question. The manner of this defeat is even more exasperating than the fact.

[illegible] branches of organized labor denounced this action, as both had supported the bill. John L. Lewis said:

"The Democratic party was chosen by the voters of 1936 because its chief and his subordinate leaders promised to take the positive action required by the national situation.

"The spectacle of four or five members of the Rules Committee defeating the will of the people of the United States is one that must cause the greatest concern to all believers in democracy."

Arbitrary Ruule Hit

William Green, after pointing that the House was as despotically ruled now as in the days of Joe Cannon, said:

"Here is a measure which passed the Senate by an overwhelming vote, and which was practically unanimously reported by the House Labor Committee. Notwithstanding this fact, the Rules Committee arbitrarily says that Congressmen shall not be permitted to vote for or against the measure."

A number of less important bills of interest to labor were killed in less dramatic fashion. The Senate passed the [illegible] freight trains to 70 cars and restricting still further the movement of strike-breakers in interstate commerce. The House let both bills die.

Other Bills Spiked

The House passed an anti-lynching bill which the Senate ignored. And bills for farm stabilization, which organized labor has uniformly reported [illegible] because of their value to the country [illegible] the Norris-Rayburn TVA bill, which the House [illegible] the Senate [illegible] the farm bill, [illegible] the TVA is in the same plight.

Turning to the things which this Congress should have done and didn't, the list is long and large.

First in that list, from a labor point of view, is the wage and hour. Labor suggested some amendments to the original bill, and most of these were agreed to in both Senate and House committees. The major purpose of the bill was to end child labor, establish minimum rates of pay which would serve as a floor to keep wages from dropping into the cellar of industry, and maximum [illegible] to distribute employment as widely as

AMERICAN CAN CO. SIGNS CIO CONTRACT FOR BROOKLYN PLANT

Union Wins Various Pacts, Including One With Largest Can Concern in Country.

New York.—A contract between the Brooklyn plant of the American Can company, employing 880, and the United Can Workers' Local Industrial union, CIO, was obtained last week through the New York office of the CIO, under the direction of Allan S. Haywood.

The agreement provides for wage increases ranging from 7 ½ to 14 per rcent; 40-hour week; time and one-half overtime pay; seniority rights and sole bargaining for the CIO union. The pay rises will bring minimum weekly wages up to $22 for men and $17.20 for women.

The firm is the biggest can company in the country, employing about 64.000 in sixty-five plants in United States, Canada and Hawaii. This is the first agreement to be signed for any of its plants in this area.

Organized less than three months ago, the union on July 15 won a labor board election in the plant by a 90 per cent majority. Negotiations for the pact were concluded on August 18.

The union is active in other plants of the American Can company in Newark and Jersey City, N. J., where, despite local legal strictures against many phases of organizing work, the United Can Workers expects to have a majority enrolled in the near future.

Watch Case Union Wins.

Contracts with ten watch case makers, signed last week by the Watch and Watch Case Workers' Industrial union, CIO local, brought wage increases and union recognition to 700 watch case workers here.

The agreements, which were approved by Allan S. Haywood, CIO head, provide for weekly pay increases of $2 to $4, preferential shop, and [illegible] through the union.

The Watch Case union has been in negotiations with the employers' association for about a month, when the parleys broke down over the effective date of the terms. A series of strike actions was planned and when a sit-down strike took place in one shop, the employers settled, making the contracts retroactive to July 24.

Flat Glass Workers' Drive.

A charter was issued last week by the Federation of Flat Glass Workers of America, CIO affiliate, to a New York local and an organization campaign, headed by Allan S. Haywood, CIO director here, started among the city's 4,000 glass workers.

Forty organizers of the new Local No. 56 of the federation are out to sign up the glaziers, bevelers, polishers, mirror workers and shade and awning workers in the 2,000 glass shops in New York, most of them employing only a few workers.

The local group which received the charter was formerly known as United Glass Workers' Local No. 306, and independent union with closed shop contracts in sixty shops.

STRIKE-BOUND HAT PLANT CLOSED

[illegible] Ont.—Refusing to deal with the CIO United Hat, Cap and Millinery Workers, the John B. Stetson company has abandoned its world's [illegible] hat factory here—it has been closed for six weeks by a strike—and opened a plant in Trenton, Ontario.

RADIO DRIVE— A. F. OF L. LEADS NEW CAMPAIGN

Eddie Cantor, Other Stars, Head New York Movement to Organize All Performers and Announcers in Broadcasting Industry.

NEW YORK CITY.—The American Federation of Radio Artists, an American Federation of Labor organization, has chosen Eddie Cantor as its president and to lead the drive which aims to bring into the union "every one who appears before a microphone." The vice presidents of the union are Jascha Heifetz, Lawrence Tibbet, Helen Hayes, James Wallington and Norman Field.

The election at which these officers were chosen was held at the Actors' Equity Association, 45 West Forty-seventh Street.

Formal application for a charter has been made to the Associated Actors and Artists of America. It is expected that the charter will be granted before Sept. 1.

The American Guild of Announcers and Producers, an independent union not affiliated with either the A. F. of L. or the CIO, announced that it has no intention of quitting the radio field. Its president, Roy S. Langham, said the guild was friendly to both great labor groups, but that it seemed best for the present, at least, to maintain an independent status.

Peoria Central Body Boosts Membership to Over 20,000

Peoria, Ill.—An all-time high record for labor membership and the number of active labor organizations in Peoria and Perkin and vicinity was disclosed at a recent meeting of the trades and labor assembly.

Pennsylvania reports direct relief going up as WPA work relief goes down, and complains that private industry is not absorbing the unemployed. It could employ a lot of them if it would cut out bonuses like those noted above.

MORE ABOUT SUPER HIGHWAY

portation, and at the same time every factor of safety, in the way of straigh roadway, elemination of obstructions to view on curves, and curb lighting at night on heavily traveled sections would enter into the construction.

"Fast transportation in the most congested part of the country, with a maximum of safety factors, built in by the best engineering talent available, is our objective in this express highway," said Congressman Drew. "It would take the busses and trucks from existing highways, and separate through traffic from local traffic.

Big Aid to Employment

"Most of all, it would put thousands of men to work. We have no estimate of the men employed in industrial establishments and in the fabrication of materials, that would be affected, but in the employment of at least 100,000 men in actual road building over a period of years, we would make a sizable dent in the unemployment situation.

"Details of the cost are not fully completed, but the outlay would be covered by a bond issue, in the same manner as the Holland tunnel and George Washington bridge in New York, and the Delaware river bridge in Philadelphia have been built.

"Construction of the road by private capital, and not at public expense, would involve no outlay or increase in debt of either the Federal government or of any of the state governments."

New Road System Needed

Congressman Drew feels that the basic trouble with the highway system in the eastern states is that, just like Topsy, it just grew, and has largely followed the old horse-drawn system of highways of a half-century ago. He believes the time has come when the country must consider the construction of a system of express highways wherever the traffic is of sufficient density to justify them from the standpoint of cost and amortization.

In this process he sees the employment of possibly 500,000 workers within the next few years, and an entirely new system of express highways that will be just as important to commerce and pleasure travel as are the great railroad systems that stretch through the heavily populated areas.

GREEN SELECTS DALLAS FOR LABOR DAY SPEECH

Washington, D. C.—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, wired Thomas R. Jones, secretary of the Central Labor Council of Dallas, Texas, that he accepted the invitation to deliver the principal address during the Labor Day celebration of Sept. 4-6 in that city.

Mr. Green will speak Monday afternoon, Sept. 6. His address will be broadcast by the National Broadcasting company. Details will be made public later.

IN THE NEWS
JACK GARNER

John Nance Garner started things down in the Red River country in Texas back in 1869. By 1898 he was a member of the Texas legislature, and in 1903 started going to Washington, D. C., to attend meetings of the new lodge he had joined in the congress of the United States. He got himself admitted to the bar somewhere down in Texas, and must have an old shingle hanging out there in Uvalde—so that's how much a cowboy John Garner is.

Most any lawyer in Texas can get some kind of a title to a ranch; but Garner has the old place, where he has been going fishing for about half a century. He never had much of a reputation as an orator; but he has a way of being sudden, which is quite appropriately Texan. All inside the rules, he is liable to tell an uncertain house or senate just what they have been going to do for some time; as when he passed the recent much-reformed court act with his little gavel.

The boys have gotten in the habit of liking the way he does what he does do, and he has a funny smile that goes along with that and so much of what he doesn't say, that a lot of people think they agree with him to a much greater extent than they probably would if he talked out loud more. His first—and only—wife thinks he is the only John worth talking about, and that is really sumpin'.

O yes—he was elected twice as vice-president of these United States.

Fall into line, even if you have to wait, to buy union label merchandise.

General Motors last year paid bonuses to insiders ranging from $32,000 at the bottom, up to $411,161 at the top. Will A. P. Sloan, Jr., pay income tax on that, or invent a few new personal corporations?

The labor unionist who does not buy union label products and does not patronize union services is committing economic suicide!

This Edition of Labor World Largest of All Years In Its History

Made Possible by Splendid Appreciation of Advertising Value by Approximately 200 Merchants and Business People.

For nearly two months the staff of The Labor World has been working hard in preparing a Labor Day edition of the paper which would reflect credit on the growing labor movement of Chattanooga, and upon the merchants and business men who appreciate the returning prosperity and strength of organized workers.

That buyers of advertising believe that The Labor World has an advertising appeal peculiar to itself alone is borne out in this edition—24 pages—which is, by the way, the largest edition in all The Labor World's twenty years of existence. Because this paper is not owned by any one individual, advertisements are read closely by the owners of the weekly labor mouthpiece, the Chattanooga Central Labor Union.

The list of advertisers this year is so pleasing that the editor cannot refrain from printing the complete array of shrewd advertising buyers:

Annual Labor Day Program Will Attract Thousands to Warner Park to Hear Berry

Committee, Headed by V. W. Hallmark, Ably Assisted by Hargraves and Olgiati, Have Everything in Readiness With Complete Preparations.

Raising of Colors at 9 O'Clock Starts Off Minute-by-Minute Program That Ends With Fireworks in the Evening—Handsome Prizes for Athletes, Baseball Games, and the Usual Concession Attractions.

This year's Labor day celebration will be the tops. Nothing has been neglected. Thousands will swarm over Warner park all day long, being entertained every minute with the complete program worked out with exacting care by the committee headed by V. W. Hallmark, who was ably assisted by Director of Recreation Ed Hargraves and Park Superintendent "Rudy" Olgiati.

The Davis King Summers post of the American Legion will have charge of the raising of the colors at 9 in the morning, and from then on the program of games and athletics will start off. In many of the contests there will be handsome prizes.

High spot of the day will be the address by Senator George L. Berry, who will speak in the grandstand at 5 o'clock, preceded by a band concert. After the senator speaks there will be another band concert for an hour or more, and then the fireworks, which will delight the kids, not to mention their parents.

Duluth Washing Machine Union Wins Wage Strike

Duluth, Minn. — Federal Labor Union No. 20776, chartered by the American Federation of Labor, won a clean victory, after a five weeks' strike, at the Zenith Washing Machine company. The men returned to work under a contract providing for wage increases, seniority rights, vacations with pay and improved working conditions.

Milk Drivers' and Dairy Employes' Union No. 32 has secured a contract with the Carlton Creamery company, granting wage increases and improved working conditions, thus adding to the growing list of closed shop contracts which this local has with Duluth dairies.

NOTES ABOUT OUR FOLKS

Mrs. Pearl Campbell will leave Sept. 11 for Montgomery, Ala., where she has accepted a position in the home economics department of the Huntington School for Girls. We all hate to see Mrs. Campbell leave us, even temporarily, but she promises to come back often for week-ends.

* * *

The Label League entertained Wednesday evening, Sept. 1, for Mrs. Campbell at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Reynolds on Dartmouth street. Pearl has been very active in the league since its organization, and the members of the league, wishing to show their appreciation of her loyalty, presented her with a week-end bag.

All members of the league and some of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell's close friends were invited and enjoyed an evening of games, after which the hostess served delicious refreshments.

Our teachers are beginning to arrive back in town for their term's work. Jenny Lea has returned from Duke university, the Burgners are at home again and the Muncies are expected back this week. Mrs. H. L. Strout has returned from teaching during the summer school in Little Rock, Ark.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Erskine Mabee and Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Weidner left Friday morning to attend the convention of the International Painters' union. Mr. Mabee and Mr. Weidner will represent Painters, Local 226, at the convention. The Mabees and Weidners are motoring to the convention city and will be gone about two weeks.

* * *

The business agents of the building trades have been kept busy on trips for their local unions. Practically all the "B. A.'s" were in Knoxville Friday. W. J. Everhart is in North Carolina, and E. E. McDaniel left Aug. 31 for Cincinnati.

* * *

The printers are all set to leave for the International Typographical convention in Louisville soon after Labor day. Mr. L. M. Worthington and Harry Maupin will represent Local 89 as delegates to the convention, and there will be several other members from the local union who will attend the Louisville convention as visitors. Mr. Walter Gardner will be there, after a vacation in Red Boiling Springs.

Union-made razor blades can now be secured from the Official Blade Company, of Cleveland, O. They are reported as being sharper than the nonunion-made blades. That is expected.

CHAIRMAN

V. W. HALLMARK

Local 77, Elevator Constructors, may well be proud of V. W. Hallmark, one of its members. "Vic" served as chairman of the Labor day committee for Central Body this year, and boy, did he do the job!

"Vic" visited every local union in the city asking for cooperation. His wife, a good trades-unionist herself, had reason to start mumbling to herself because she has hardly seen her husband for the past four weeks.

However, when the day is done at Warner park on Labor day, the entire labor movement will know that they owe a debt of thanks to the chairman of the program—"he did it up proud."

BUY UNION LABEL!

By I. M. ORNBURN

Secretary-Treasurer, Union Label Trades Department, American Federation of Labor

As we approach Labor Day of this year, the great problem in America still is the solution of unemployment. It is the problem of all problems. Until we place the millions of idle men who are willing to work on permanent jobs, America cannot boast of having fully recovered. When these idle workers are employed at collective bargaining wages, purchasing power will be increased and then we shall have permanent prosperity.

The question arises—How are we to solve this baffling problem? The only answer is the remedy which has been continually advocated by the American Labor Movement. That is shorter hours with no reduction in wages.

Mass production is here to stay, provided the consuming public has mass purchasing power to absorb it. Thus, if hours are shortened so that all workers who desire jobs are placed on the payroll and weekly wages are maintained or gradually increased, there will be a great era of prosperity. If those who are underpaid and unemployed receive decent wages, there would be an increase of over twelve billion dollars in purchasing power. This would take millions off of the relief rolls. It would relieve the taxpayers and there would be a greater amount of business than there has ever been in the history of our country.

The best way to maintain the purchasing power is for Americans to buy only those products which bear the Union Label and patronize only those services that are unionized. It is the best guarantee that the products are made in America and it is the only assurance that the products are manufactured by industries that recognize collective bargaining agreements, pay higher wages, work their employes shorter hours and under better conditions.

Across the great chasm of this depression spans an uncompleted bridge. On the one hand, mass production stretches out to meet mass consumption. There is still a small portion of the arch that is required to complete this economic structure. It is the keystone. That keystone is Union Label buying. Until all members of labor unions and their families and the general consuming public are educated to the fact that Union Label buying is the important link between mass production and mass consumption, America will not fully recover from this disastrous depression.

Ten Per Cent Increase With Minimum Wage of 42½ Cents Per Hour—100 Involved.

Announcement was made this week that a signed contract was reached with the Tennessee Paper mills and the International Brotherhood of Papermakers. This is a new local union formed thirty days ago.

The agreement calls for a wage increase of 10 per cent, with a minimum of 42½ cents per hour.

The local involves a little more than 100 members, and is an affiliate of the A. F. of l..

International Typographical Union in Better Condition Than Ever Before in Every Phase.

Annual Convention to Be Held in Louisville, Ky., Sept. 11-18—Will Be Most Important in Decade as Vital Issues Are Discussed.

Every August the Typographical Journal contains the annual reports of the officers of the International Typographical union. The reports this year are quite interesting due to the optimistic vein in them over the advances the union is makipg back from the depths of the depression.

Believing that many new unionists in Chattanooga might be interested in the activities of one of the oldest and strongest labor organizations in the United States, I am herewith passing on a few pertinent facts gleaned from the reports of Charles P. Howard, president; Woodruff Randolph, secretary-treasurer, and various other officers of the I. T. U. I could fill up this whole section of The Labor World with interesting "dope" from the reports, but that wouldn't be

Compliments from One Big Edition to Another

The Labor World takes off its hat to the Free Press' first anniversary edition of 144 pages which went on the streets this week.

Take it from one who has just gone through the ordeal of arranging and compiling an edition six times the usual size, this community should be proud of the workmanship and artistic efforts which went into the making of the birthday celebration of the Free Press.

Organized labor can rightfully reflect a bit of the credit of Chattanooga's largest single issue. It was all done in its usual routine in the mechanical departments manned entirely by members of the printing crafts unions.

Although not wishing to dim one ray of the glory of their issue, there is one thing lacking which would have made it 100 per cent perfect.

The reportorial staff has not yet seen fit to join the union of their profession, the Newspaper Guild.

SLEEPING CAR PORTERS WIN WAGE INCREASE

Chicago.—An agreement giving a wage increase to members of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, has been signed by the union and the Pullman company, it was announced here. A. Philip Randolph is president of the porters' organization.

Absolved of his anti-union sins, Buck Jones, star in movie "horse-operas," is again extended the hand of friendship by labor unionists.

Proclamation For Union Label Week Issued by Governor Allred of Texas

Seven Days Beginning Labor Day Will Be Devoted to Promoting Use of Goods Produced Under Union Labor Conditions.

Austin, Tex.—Gov. James V. Allred, in response to the request of the Union Label Leagues in Texas, issued a proclamation for a Union Label week in the "Lone Star" State, beginning Labor day, Sept. 6.

This is said to be the second statewide Union Label week to be held this year, the first one being in Utah.

The text of the governor's proclamation follows:

Text of Proclamation.

"To all to Whom These Presents Shall Come:

"Whereas, The cause of union labor can be benefitted by the purchase of goods bearing the union label; and,

"Whereas, union label leagues have been organized in the various communities of Texas for the purpose of pledging members to purchase only those manufactured products which bear the emblem of union labor, signifying that 'sweat shops' and child labor will not be increased by such purchases; and,

"Whereas, State Union Label weeks in other states have resulted in increased purchases of merchandise bearing the union label; and,

"Whereas, as governor I am requested by the Texas State Federation of Labor to set aside such a week in Texas,

"Now, therefore, I, James V. Allred, governor of the state of Texas, do hereby set aside and proclaim the week beginning with Labor day, Monday, Sept. 6, 1937, as State Union Label Week in Texas, and I call upon all the citizens of our state interested in the welfare and progress of the labor movement to observe this week in a fitting manner.

"In testimony, I have hereunto signed by name officially and caused the seal of state to be impressed hereon at Austin, this the 31st day of July, A. D., 1937.

"JAMES V. ALLRED,
"Governor of Texas."

APPROVED BY ORNBURN.

Washington.—I. M. Ornburn, secretary-treasurer of the Union Label Trades Department of the American Federation of Labor, in commenting favorably on the action of Gov. Allred, said he was greatly pleased with the growth of union label sentiment throughout the enitre country. He pointed out that Union Label weeks have been proclaimed by mayors of many cities and are being held during the week preceding or following Labor day.

Mr. Ornburn will deliver an address over the Columbia Broadcasting system on Labor day which will be picked up by the various Labor day celebrations in connection with the union label drive.

MORE ABOUT RY. WORKERS

ice brotherhoods came to a sudden end when the management group declared that they not only would not grant the 20 per cent increase in wages asked by the men, but would not concede any part of it, or compromise in any way.

The brotherhoods include engineers, enginemen and firemen, trainmen, conductors and switchmen. All these unions have given authority to their officers to call a strike, the vote running up to 97 per cent of the membership. But two things are provided for in the national railway labor act before a strike will come.

The national mediation board can intervene. If it cannot settle the trouble, the president can appoint a special committee to hold hearings and report. These measures have averted anything approaching a major railroad strike for eleven years.

The brotherhood negotiators issued a stinging statement, in part as follows:

"Thus far the conference committee of managers has responded to our requests for a 20 per cent increase in wages of the railway workers by the oft-repeated cry, 'Where is the money coming from?'

"The carriers should be more concerned with an inquiry as to where and to whom the money has gone. The history of American railroads is a story of plunder by financiers. The senate committee investigating railroad finances has refreshed the memories of the people of this phase of railroad operation. The employes are in no way responsible for this plundering of the railroads, and the right to just wages must not be denied because of the sins of financiers.

"The financiers are doing their best to lead the nation down the same dismal road of exorbitant returns to capital, with a corresponding inadequate mass-purchasing power to afford sufficient markets to maintain the capacity of our productive system."

Washington—Following word of the deadlock on wage negotiations between carriers and unions in Chicago, the national mediation board proffered its services to settle the dispute. In a telegram to spokesmen of the carriers and workers, the board said it had designated William M. Leiserson, member of the board, to begin new mediation steps.

If the latest peace move should fail, the board is empowered under the railway labor act to notify the president and delay any strike threat for a maximum of sixty more days.

Courage and persistence have a magical talisman before which difficulties disappear and obstacles vanish.—John Quincy Adams.

HIS WORDS LIVE ON !

"What does Labor want? It wants the earth and the fullness thereof. There is nothing too precious, there is nothing too beautiful, too lofty, too ennobling, unless it is within the scope and comprehension of Labor's aspirations and wants. We want more school houses and fewer jails, more books and fewer arsenals, more constant work and less crime, more leisure and less greed, more justice and less revenge—in fact, more of the opportunities to cultivate our better natures, to make manhood more noble, womanhood more beautiful, and childhood more happy and bright."

Q.—When did the states begin to pass laws establishing Labor day as a legal holiday?

A.—In 1887, Oregon being the first to pass such a law. Oregon's law yas adopted on Feb. 21, 1887, and fixed Labor day as the first Saturday in June. Later the law was amended to fix it on the first Monday in September, which was the date of Labor day as declared by the American Federation of Labor.

COOKS AND WAITERS GOING AHEAD

By MISS LOUISE TINKER

It was on the night of March 15, 1937, that the Culinary Workers made their debut in Chattanooga, for it was then that their charter was installed. There were ten members. The following officers were elected and installed: L. G. Alley, president; E. O. Gueler, vice-president; D. R. Snell, recording secretary; Edna Brown, financial secretary.

In a very few days all of Chattanooga knew of the existence of the Culinary Workers when a picket appeared before the door of the Steak House. To a greater part of the citizens of our fair city this picket was a novelty since until that time these "furriners" were rare. After a week's duty before this eating establishment this same blond picket was moved to another location.

Then came the first law suit. Mr. Silas at the Maypole became very much upset over the failure of the Young Men's Democratic club to put in their appearance at his cafeteria after they had made reservation. The cause for the breaking of their appointment was the fact that those up-and-going Culinary Workers had placed pickets outside the door to Mr. Silas' cafeteria bearing sandwich signs which read, "You Democrats Say You Favor the Working Man—Prove It," and "President Roosevelt Favors Decent Hours and Decent Wages, Do You?" Mr. Silas sued the Culinary Workers along with Erskine Mabee, Mrs. Louise Petty and Miss Gladys Cox, better known as "Blond Jane Doe, for the sum of $250. The refendants were winners in the suit, their first step toward victory.

Then came another obstacle and another one, but each time these lowly Culinary Workers were victorious.

Today this same organization has grown to a membership of five hundred and forty-six (546) with two hundred (200) paid-up members. And today this same organization is progressing and pressing onward to a victory that has never been known to that particular trade in this city. In other words, Chattanooga has never had a Culinary Workers' union that survived the restaurant owners' fight.

The following officers now serve this progressive local: R. E. Middlebrooks, president; Ralph Nelms, vice-president; Louise Tinker, recording secretary; Edna Brown, financial secretary and Erskine Mabee, business agent.

Iron Workers Solid In Organization At Chickamauga Dam

Fabricating Shops in Chattanooga Rapidly Entering Into Agreements With Local 384.

WILLIAM J. EVERHART

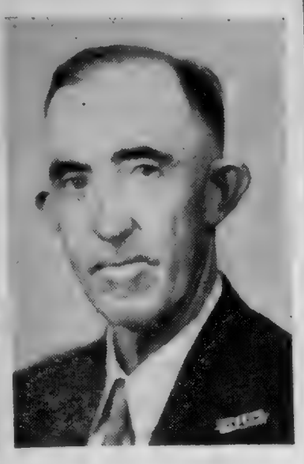
Doubling its membership during the last twelve months, Locals 384 and 526, Structural Iron Workers, have established records for progress which anyone might be proud of. An organizing campaign was started in April, 1937, which resulted in every iron worker on Chickamauga dam joining the union.

In the fabricating shops of Chattanooga, signed agreements have been secured with the Converse Bridge and Steel company and the Standard Iron and Wire Works.

Business agent for both of the locals is William J. Everhart, who, since becoming a journeyman in 1923, has seen his membership double.

Teamster Local Youngest of All Building Trades

Business Agent McGuffin Reports Membership of 150 Already, Although Few Months Old.



J. H. McGUFFIN

Business Agent McGuffin, Local 515, Teamsters and Chauffeurs, has his hands full these days as he is working hard to build up the youngest local union in the building trades. This local is composed of truck drivers for building supply houses, and did not exist twelve months ago.

Mr. McGuffin is not a youngster in the labor movement, however. He joined the union elsewhere in 1928. Through his efforts and the cooperation of the labor movement he now has over 150 members, with possibilities of even more within the next few weeks.

University Plans Honor System For Students

Southern "Lady" and "Gentleman" Disciplinary Standards To Be Followed.

Traditions of the Old South are being called up by the University of Tennessee in establishing a student "honor disciplinary system," said Dean F. M. Massey.

The University plans to follow the practice of early southern aristocrats and set up standards for "ladies" and "gentlemen"; then place the students "on their honor" to abide by those standards, the dean explained.

"I do not believe that the honor system will ever be successful unless we use it in the same manner as the aristocrats of the Old South," he said. "A college student who is a lady or gentleman in the real old-fashioned sense of the word needs no rules governing her or his activities."

Honor systems have failed in many colleges in the country, but the dean Massey.

"I believe that other schools have failed because they have used the honor system in a restricted sense, thinking it should have only to do with examinations and class room work," he said. "But a real honor system has to do with the preparation of lessons and the conduct of the student in his social life as well as his classroom life."

If there is embedded in the students the ideals of true college ladies and gentlemen, a cheater will be an outcast. He will either change his habits or leave school of his own accord, because he will not be accepted by his classmates, the dean believes.

The U-T All Students Club, student governing body, is working on the proposed honor system, aided by Dean feels that U-T students are interested enough to make a success of one.

Greetings to Our Citizens of Organized Labor

THE PURPOSE of your City Government is to render the best possible municipal service without entailing excessive tax burdens. Lacking in no element of public service and educational provisions, Chattanoogans have paid in less revenue per capita than citizens of Nashville, Memphis, Atlanta and other Southern cities of comparable population—which denotes that the per capita cost of government is correspondingly lower. The illustration above shows how your tax dollar is used.

Efficient and economical government is a fundamental step toward community expansion, and is a vital influence in the future growth of any city. The city so governed is always a favorable location for labor and all trades

Organized labor has attained a favorable position in this community, and it is vastly to the credit of our union leadership that Chattanooga has had less serious labor troubles than any other city of like magnitude and diversity of manufactures. A fine ground for confidence in the future of Chattanooga is the fact that our leaders of both labor and industry are conservative and reasonable; willing to discuss and iron out differences rather than resorting to extreme measures—which really settle nothing.

And so, on this Labor Day occasion, and on behalf of the hundreds of employes of your City Government, we say that everything is fine and promising and extend cordial greetings to organized labor.

Self-Imposed Discipline Necessary In Labor Movement

President of International Federation of Technical Engineers', Architects' and Draftsmen's Unions Declares Trade Unions Are Practical Organizations With Welfare of Workers Their Immediate Objective; Sees Little Room in Unions for the Hobbies of Either Reformers or Professional Improvers of the Social Order.

Washington, D. C.—The importance of tried and true methods used by working men and women for their economic betterment through organization in bona fide unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor is emphasized by C. L. Rosemund, president of the International Federation of Technical Engineers', Architects' and Draftsmen's unions, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, in his 1937 Labor day message issued from the headquarters of the federation in the A. F. of L. building here.

Pointing out that during every depression sporatic organizations spring up with many plans for the salvation of the workers from various sorts of oppression, and that the promoters of such schemes usually try to utilize the organized labor movement for the advancement of their utopias, Mr. Rosemund accented the refusal of the labor movement to ally itself with these vagaries and its insistence on organizing the workers into strong, well disciplined unions to negotiate agreements with employers covering wages, hours and general work conditions.

The text of Mr. Rosemund's message follows:

Working Principle of Technical Engineers' Federation.

"In days of emergency and in order to obtain certain objectives, it has been the frequent practice in this country for temporary organizations to spring up to meet these specific issues. The depression of the past seven years has not been an exception to this general rule and particularly does this hold true as a result of the unemployment situation that prevailed during this period. There are dozens of such organizations formed ostensibly to meet this situation.

"The International Federation of Technical Engineers', Architects' and Draftsmen's unions is not of this type. It has lived through lean and prosperous years and is steeped in the traditions and practices of the American Federation of Labor as such. Broadly speaking, its purposes are to improve the lot of the working people of this country. That is the fundamental principle.

"Its policies, made to harmonize with this fundamental principle and considered by many of a makeshift nature, follow the lines of an opportunist after results. There are no hard and fast lines so far as policies are concerned, but it never departs from the fundamental principle.

Opposed by Three Groups.

"It is opposed and critizied by different elements that go to make up our national life. There are the employers, both large and small, whose opposition can be readily understood. Then there are the professional improvers or intellectuals, perched very close to the lunatic fringe, who proceed with the beautiful and abstract theory that everyone should receive in accordance with the service which he renders society. Then there are those who have their political and economic reform hobbies who endeavor to use the established labor movement of this country to pull their chestnuts out of the fire, and when we refuse to be tricked into any such vagaries they also criticize and heap contumely on our movement.

Rewards for Services Rendered Society.

"Referring back to that abstract theory that everyone should receive in accordance with the service he renders society, no one will dispute the justice of such a principle. But a very practical problem is here involved. Just how and by whom is the answer to this problem to be determined? Are we to wait until everyone is in full agreement as to what the answer shall be? This problem has been discussed and answered in various ways from the active days of Eugene Debs down to date. The workers have been urged to throw off their chains and proceed to allow the proletariat to run the works.

Liberty Submerged by Radicals.

"But notwithstanding all of this advanced thinking, the fact remains that the world has not advanced one single step closer to any of the so-called reforms. If anything, wherever radical attempts have been made, liberty has been trampled under foot and once liberty is destroyed, such gatherings as union meetings would not be permitted.

"Furthermore, and in keeping with the fundamental principle of the American Federation of Labor, it is evident that we have a long time problem before us. It is as old as the race and will continue as long as humanity exists. The American Federation of Labor and its constituents realize that a constant problem will always be before us because the very answer to the problem of today simply results in another question which will become the problem of tomorrow.

"It is in this respect that the practices of the American Federation of Labor differ entirely from the sporadic attempts which arise and spring up to meet specific issues. That is why the federation is so reluctant to be identified with makeshift organizations who, at their best, can be only of temporary nature.

Menace of Dual Organizations.

"It is further realized by those of experience that the existence of independent organizations, dual in character, acts as an impediment to and discourages organization. The word organization, as here used, implies a necessary self-imposed discipline and regularity.

"The International Federation of Technical Engineers', Architects' and Draftsmen's Unions is in complete accord and agreement with this fundamental principle of the American Federation of Labor. Before specific emergencies arose in this country it was a regularly functioning union and we believe—in fact are convinced—that notwithstanding the terrific nature of the present distress, it is in the very nature of things that these troublous times must pass and then they do many of these emergency and temporary organizations will also pass out of existence, but those organizations constituting the American Federation of Labor will remain, will still be confronted with new problems and will still continue to strive for their solution and adjustment.

Unions Must Meet Workers' Current Problems.

"We are further convinced that if we will stop trying to save the world and will confine our activities to meeting those problems that confront our day and generation, leaving to those who come after us, in their own way, to proceed in a similar manner, real and enduring service will be rendered to society. Those who can usbscribe to and abide by this logical procedure will always be welcome to become members."

Morrison Stresses Importance of Legal Ban On Discriminations

Secretary-Treasurer of American Federation of Labor Says Provisions in Labor Relations Act Protecting Union Members Resulted from Insistent Demand of A. F. of L. and Its Affiliated Unions; Deplores Tendency of Courts to Nullify Labor Laws; Emphasizes American Federation of Labor Influence in Phrasing Recovery Act to Safeguard Wage-Earners in Union Membership.

The important function performed by the American Federation of Labor and its affiliated organizations in securing the passage of the national labor relations act, which safeguards the right of working men and women to union membership and protects them against victimization by employers because they exercise this right, is emphasized by Frank Morrison, secretary-treasurer of the Federation, in his Labor day message for 1937, issued from the headquarters of the A. F. of L. in Washington, D. C.

Mr. Morrison also pointed out that the provisions in the national industrial recovery act protecting wage-earners in their right of union membership were placed there at the insistence of the American Federation of Labor.

This insistence was made necessary, Mr. Morrison explained, because of the tendency of the courts to read into labor laws meanings designed to defeat the purposes of the legislation. He cited the judicial nullification of the labor provisions of the Clayton anti-trust act as an outstanding example of this subversive practice of the courts.

Mr. Morrison's Labor day message, prepared for the Labor day editions of the official and weekly labor press, also attributed the progress of the right of working men and women to organize to the trade union regulations imposing self-restraint when confronted with severe provocation.

The text of the message follows:

Union Discrimination Banned.

As a result of years of agitation by the American Federation of Labor with the co-operation of the membership of the affiliated organizations through the enactment of the national labor relations act, we have established the principle in law under which employers are prohibited from discriminating against or interfering with employes joining a union of their own choosing for the improvement of labor conditions.

Notwithstanding the right is inherent under guarantee of the constitution of the United States, discharge from employment and various forms of discrimination have been the penalty of wage workers who have had the temerity to pioneer in union membership.

Judicial Nullification of Labor Laws.

Courts are somehow always able to read into laws enacted for the benefit of labor meaning that defeats the purpose of the legislaion. This was the development with the labor sections of the Clayton anti-trust law.

We hailed those provisions as labor's bill of rights and as prohibiting courts from rendering decisions which place wage workers in their collective relations with employes in a different category than free citizens.

The interpretation of the courts rendered the Clayton act null and void from the standpoint of any benefit to labor.

Recovery Act Protected Union Members.

The national recovery act was enacted to overcome the evils of competition that were wrecking industry and reducing the conditions of labor to levels below the subsistence line.

When the act was being drafted it was through the insistence of the American Federation of Labor that provisions were incorporated to protect the wage workers in union membership.

This legislation forced the hands of unfair employers and the company union spread like a muchroom growth as a pretext of complying with the law.

Our experience with legislation has been that it is difficult to put words together in a law that will not, when it comes to the scrutiny of the courts, provide loopholes to legalize the acts of antagonistic employers.

Union Discipline in Face of Provocation.

The struggle which our affiliated organizations have carried on in defense of the right to organize has had all the implications of warfare with enemy forces.

Our movement has made progress because trade union regulations and provisions impose self-restraint and self-discipline in the face of gruelling provocation.

These policies have permitted better judgment to prevail, gains to be secured and maintained to await the opportunity of another day.

Labor Day of 1937 Sees Nation Recognizing Labor's Right to Share Adequately in National Product

By MATTHEW WOLL

Nearly fifty-seven years ago the American Federation of Labor held its first annual convention. Forty years ago its membership was less than 300,000. The greatest economic depression of history only compressed its size, but did not menace its framework nor its vitality. Today sees it at almost the peak of its historical record in number of members, despite the secession of almost three quarters of a million members.

The innate vitality of the American labor movement is shown by the fact that what might have seemed to be an emergency has been turned into an opportunity, and has but served to stimulate the great federation of trade unions to the greatest organizing effort of its entire history. The result, even at this early stage of the effort, has been to more than replace those that have left us, with newly enrolled enthusiasts.

New Era For Labor.

In this more than half a century the American labor movement has seen the organization of the workers pass from a stage where it was dealt with as an outlaw and a thing proscribed, to the present high level where it has gained the recognition of the right to organize and the practice of collective bargaining, in the basic written law of the land. The enactment of the Wagner-Connery act, and its validation by the supreme court, marks a new era in the history of American labor, and of American economics as well.

The ripening of our civilization, the logical development of the mechanical and technical equipment of our economic system, have compelled the recognition of, and readaptation to, the basic principles of social and economic unity which control civilized society. There is nothing new in the idea that, "If one member suffer, all the members suffer with it." That is as old as the Apostle Paul. But to put this principle into the legal structure, and to actually begin its embodiment in the complicated regime of the national business, that is something new in the world.

Must Recognize Unity.

Let us hope, that from now on our industrial, legal and social processes may be so directed that we shall consciously recognize this governing principle of mutual relationships, in our efforts to avert the penalties which are inexorably imposed upon those societies which violate the social law.

Democracy may be defined as the development and use of the capacity for social self-control. It was impossible for this development to take place in any smaller segment of society than that occupied by its productive workers, if there was to be any hope of its ultimate penetration to the entire body of the nation. No other group so nearly represents and embodies the ideals and the hopes of the enitre people as the workers.

Labor Principles Now Accepted.

And so, it is not strange that in these recent years, when so many old cobwebs of economic tradition have been swept from the common mind, that the controlling economic principles advanced by the American Federation of Labor have come to be accepted as worthy of recognition and integration in the structures of legal control.

Balancing of the national economy, by giving to labor a share of the national product which shall be adequate—not merely for a wage of existence—for a balancing of production by a distribution calculated to maintain the continued operation of the productive process: this has come to be seen a seven more important than the balancing of the financial budget of the national government. From now on, those who attempt to reject this article of the national credo will be branded as the economic heretics of the era.

Carpenter Progress One of High Spots In Local Movement

Increased by 200 in Membership in One Year—Wage Rates Up —Peace Seen for Future.

A. V. CORDELL

Local 74, Carpenters and Joiners, one of the oldest unions in Chattanooga, has had varied and exciting experiences, but the past year has seen it prosper to a degree never seen before, excepting the World war period, which was not a stable and permanent condition.

During the past twelve months practically every contractor has signed agreements with Local 74, bringing their membership list over the 400 mark. Wage increases amounting in some instances as high as 20 cents per hour have been secured, and most of the membership is getting plenty of work, too.

Business Agent A. V. Cordell has his hands full placing men and looking after the work incidental to his office. He joined the local in 1920, and since then has held many important posts in the local.

According to Mr. Cordell, "There is a better understanding between the public and our union than ever before. We have cause to feel that the future holds peace and harmony between us and our contractors, and Local 74 intends to bend every effort to see that such feeling will continue."

In the forward march of the building trades in Chattanooga during the last year, Local 157, Operating Plasterers and Cement Finishers' International union, has had its share of success to the same degree of all the rest.

L. C. Beaty, business agent of the local, reports that the membership of his group has not quite doubled in numbers, and that to date every contractor has signed contracts with the local with but one exception.

Brother Beaty has been an active member since 1916, and at present is secretary of the local in addition to serving as business agent.

A THREE-LEGGED TABLE

R. Alva Smith, Pres.-Treas.

Business is like a three-legged table. It will not stand on two legs. Customer, employee and employers represent the three legs. To be successful, your merchandise must reach the customer at a price that is profitable to him. If your employer does not make a profit he cannot stay in business. Successful industries and steady well paid employment is better than any amount of propaganda. Co-operation is the best way to develop naturally and effectively. Customer, employee and employer have worked together continuously 46 years at our plant, equally profitable to all and we render a helpful service to enterprises that cannot afford to equip themselves with machinery and highly skilled specialists necessary to solve their mechanical problems.

We own and operate our foundry, machine and welding shops; all fully equipped to do large or small work and carry a well-rounded stock of castings and other supplies necessary to give prompt service. We solicit your orders for special machinery, dies, jigs, tools, repair parts, rough castings or finished machinery. May we serve you?

Elevator Constructors Proud of BOB PASTOR

California required forty-five years to develop a heavyweight boxer showing potentialities of carrying on the exalted fistic traditions put away in camphor when the late Gentleman Jim Corbett bowed from the ring picture—young Bob Nestell.

Then, on the night of May 28, this year, before 30,000 spectators at Wrigley field, Los Angeles, a young man from New York—not a very large one at that—dashed all those dreams to the ground in the space of only 45 minutes.

The shatterer of hopes, the wrecker of fistic dreams on the west coast was 23-year-old Bob Pastor, a member of New York Local No. 1, of the International Union of Elevator Constructors, Operators and Starters!

Pastor floored Nestell twice, once for a nine-count in the opening round; was dropped himself in the same frame, and went on, a fighting, slashing will-o'-the-wisp from Gotham who won the decision as he pleased in ten rounds and was denied a knockout victory only because of the tigerish gameness of his west coast adversary.

Pastor's cleverly-waged battle in Los Angeles boosted his pugilistic stock immeasurably. It continued on a bullish market after the more recent title-wresting victory of Joe Louis over James J. Braddock. For while Braddock fought Louis' fight—the toe-to-toe slugging type that finds the Brown Bomber in his element—and went down to knockout defeat in the eighth, Pastor, in his fight with Louis, heeding counsel of his seconds, battled at long range and was still on his feet at the close of the ten-spot!

Pastor became the target of much criticism for his tactics in the Louis bout, criticism that was undeserved, for he had wanted to stand up to Joe, and still feels that he could have won under carte blanche orders from his corner.

But he did prove one thing—that he is better capable of taking care of himself against a fighter of the Louis type than was Braddock; that if Louis is to be classed as America's No. 1 heavyweight, then there is no question but that Bob it at least America's No. 2 fist swinger!

The great factor in Bob's favor is his speed. Nestell found him virtually unhittable in their Los Angeles battle and except for that lucky smack to the chin in the opening round that sent Bob to his haunches, hardly laid a glove on him.

Bob played a good deal of football in high school and college, but found time in between to win nine amateur boxing championships and make one of the greatest amateur records ever compiled by a New York boxer. He was three times Golden Glove champion—1932, 1933 and 1934, as well as state and metropolitan champion in the 175-pound and heavyweight classes.

When Bob is heavyweight champion, which he surely will be, he will be the second native New Yorker to mount to pugilism's pinnacle as well as the first college bred ring ruler.

Fellow Elevator Constructor Bob Pastor was down at ringside when the aging, softened Braddock lost his ermine mantle to the dusky bomber that night recently in Chicago and is more convinced than ever that when his time for a rematch with Louis comes—and it surely will come, possibly within the next year—that his will be the hand raised in token of victory at the finish.

"Joe Louis," says Bob, "does not want to be annoyed by me, but he's going to be the most disappointed guy in that respect! Louis and Mike Jacobs are going to hear and see a lot of and about a fellow named Bob Pastor. They may not like it but they're not going to forget to remember. I won't let 'em."

Pastor, watching Louis the night he wrested the heavyweight crown from Braddock's brow, saw a bomber who was slower afoot than he was the night he won that decision in the Garden last January; a bomber who was slower even than the night Max Schmeling laid him out as flat as a blotter.

"Louis," opines Bob, "can be hit with a right. He can be hit with a left. Against Braddock he revealed the same faults he revealed when I boxed him last January.

"In a 15-round bout I'll win the heavyweight championship from him—if he gives me the chance. And he'll give it to me all right, because until he does I'm going to trail him east and west, north and south!"

Atta boy, Bob. And your union is with you all the way!

Why Workers' Education?

By

FANNIA M. COHN

Secretary, Educational Department,

International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union

Three very important aspects of workers' education suggest themselves to us. First, we must consider that the management of a union is becoming increasingly complicated. The trade union officer has many functions to perform. He must be an effective speaker. He must have an understanding of human nature. He must have a knowledge of the economics of his industry, and of economic, social and political trends. He must be an intelligent and effective negotiator. In a word, he must be prepared emotionally and intellectually to take advantage of every opportunity that will strengthen the union he represents and thus add to the strength of the labor movement as a whole. Finally, the success of an administration depends upon the psychological approach and the ability of the officers to get the confidence and active support of the rank and file in the union's constructive enlightened program, policy, and tactics.

If enlightened democracy is to prevail in a union, the membership must be prepared for self-government. It must be capable of intelligently choosing its leadership and feel a conscious responsibility for its program and actively supporting the administration in carrying it through.

To this should be added the importance of a trade union as the governing body of workers. The executive board assumes administrative, legislative, and judicial functions. To act intelligently, effectively, and judiciously, its members, composed of workers who labor durng the day in shops, mines and factories, must be prepared for it.

Here is where an enlightened, far-seeing workers' education program plays its part. A workers' education program should indeed be factual where it deals with labor and social problems, but it should at the same time inspire the workers with confidence in their own collective abilities. Workers' education is based on confidence in the masses and on the assumption that human nature is not static. Given the opportunity, the proper atmosphere, and an inspiring environment, human nature can be influenced. It is also guided by the theory of modern psychology that creative imagination and initiative can be developed in varying degrees.

But the workers must be made conscious of the historic forces that are now in process. The masses, guided by dynamic and imaginative leadership, must be prepared to steer these forces in the direction of economic and social change based on equality upon which real democracy depends.

Workers' education is important both for younger and older workers. The younger workers need it in order to develop a new orientation as workers and citizens. The older workers need it because, by keeping their minds open and receptive, they may make the best use of their experience. They will then be a valuable asset to the labor movement.

Finally, the leaders of the workers' education movement should not lose sight of the fact that the problem is not merely to impart information, but how to use the newly gained knowledge intelligently and effectively.

FOR LABOR

O God, Thou art Thyself the Master Workman, skilled Creator. Hast Thou not also revealed Thyself to us in Jesus the carpenter, whose roughened hands bear eternal testimony to the dignity of toil?

We sense Thy presence in the labor movement, in the upward surge of the masses, who with the awakened self-respect of children of God, have through the centuries cast off the shackles of slavery and serfdom, and stand now gazing toward the dawn of a greater freedom.

We praise Thee for those brave spirits who have led the way; who have dared to risk even their children's bread in organized endeavor to improve the lot of all; who for their unselfish devotion have been condemned as outcasts of society; suffered contumely; endured prison; sacrificed their lives as martyrs to the cause.

Help Thou the laor movement of our day to be worthy of its heritage. Unite in high purpose the workers in the factory and on the farm. Preserve them from temptation to selfish complacency in partial gains for any favored craft or race or nation. Guard their leaders from lust for personal power. Guide them in the service of the common good.

Help the workers of all lands to stand shoulder to shoulder for justice and peace among the nations. Save them from contamination with the sin of selfish nationalism. Keep them from supporting national armaments under the false illusion of providing work or special privilege for themselves, while they betray the workers of the world for a mess of pottage.

Grant to labor the wisdom to seek a world peace and plenty by means of organization and the ballot, keeping their movement free from hate and violence, building into the cooperative commonwealth those spiritual values which alone can make it endure.

Bring, at last, all workers by hand or brain into worldwide brotherhood; into closer fellowship with Thee, O God, the Father of us all.—From Prayers for Self and Society by James Myers.—Association Press.

Vice is a monster of so frightful mien,
As to be hated needs but to be seen;
Yet seen too oft, familiar with her face,
We first, endure, then pity, then embrace.—Pope.

Working with Today's Citizens for Tomorrow's Chattanooga!

CHATTANOOGA has grown from the trading post days of Ross' Landing to the busy, enterprising, promising city it is today because of the vision and courage of great men — men who came up from the ranks of labor as well as from the realm of capital.

What the future holds for us as a city is largely in our hands. Today, as in the days of Ross' Landing, we are still blessed with men of vision. Opportunities are greater than ever before. The little shop of today may be the great industry of tomorrow — as is the history of many of our substantial enterprises.

This bank recognizes its obligations and its opportunities. The man who is just starting gets the same service, the same benefits of experience and specialized knowledge, as the largest concern.

In the ranks of labor today undoubtedly are some of the big men of tomorrow. So, on this Labor Day, we salute Organized Labor and renew our pledge to work for the greater city which should be ours. We all have our part to perform.

Democratic Self-Government Is Solid Basis for American Organized Labor Movement

By WILLIAM GREEN

President, American Federation of Labor
(As told to Fred Pasley)

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following statement by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, was published on the "Economic Battle Page" of the July 5 issue of the New York Daily News, the Cleveland News, and other newspapers.

One hundred and seventy-one years ago the people of America joined together against the rule of absolutism to safeguard their future security. They declared themselves independent to end the mounting injuries inflicted upon them by an absolute, arbitrary and tyrannical government. Having achieved that independence they proceeded to perfect a nation upon the foundations of democracy, freedom and justice.

Built upon the solid foundations of liberty and self-government America has attained a place in the family of nations that is characterized not only by its industrial and technical supremacy, but most of all by the enduring quality of its political organization which make it possible for the people to achieve better living as well as the greatest degree of freedom in self-government.

A. F. of L. Stands on Voluntary Principles

Fifty-six years ago the workers of America joined together to cement an effort extending over a period of years—to form a thorough federation which would embrace every union in America into one national labor movement. That marked the beginning of the American Federation of Labor, conceived as one great national organization to which all unions should belong and which could speak and act with the strength of all. Striving to attain freedom and independence from economic oppression through union organization, the American Federation of Labor, like the nation itself, was founded on the principles of voluntary, democratic self-government. The enduring quality of democratic organization of the federation was forcefully demonstrated to the workers in the successful growth of the federation from a modest beginning into the best labor movement in the world.

The American Federation of Labor has successfully weathered all the crises it encountered in the fifty-six years of its existence and has outlived all its competitors. It did that because it has been an organization that abhorred arbitrary and dictatorial action, an organization that had no authority and no power except of a voluntary character. The voluntry coming together of unions with common needs and common aims has proved to be a stronger and more lasting bond than could be welded by any autocratic authority no matter in whom such authority were vested.

Gompers Visioned Self-Seeker Menace

That the future advancement of labor depends on its adherence to voluntary principles was recognized with solemn emphasis by Samuel Gompers, who dedicated his whole life to the service of labor, in the last word of counsel he left for the movement which he had led and helped to build.

"The very success of our organization has brought additional and serious dangers," said Gompers. "Office in the labor movement now offers opportunity for something in addition to service—it offers opportunity for the self-seeker who sees an instrumentality for personal advancement, both in the economic and in the political field."

Speaking as one who with clean hands and with a singleness of purpose had served the labor movement honorably, he urged devotion to the fundamentals of human liberty—the principles of voluntarism."

"No lasting gain has ever come from compulsion," he said. "If we seek to force, we but tear apart that which, united, is invincible. There is no way whereby our labor movement may be assured sustained progress in determining its policies and its plans other than sincere democratic deliberation until a unanimous decision is reached. This may seem a cumbrous, slow method to the impatient, but the impatient are more concerned for immediate triumph than for the education of constructive development."

C. I. O. Leadership Flouts Democratic Procedure

The danger to labor which Gompers foresaw did not confront the movement until there came forward a man who has proved himself to be a self-seeker and who saw the labor movement as an instrumentality for personal advancement. That man was John Lewis.

He has defied the democratic processes; he has rejected the majority rule; he has flouted the voluntary principles of unionism. Having broken his oath of allegiance to the American Federation of Labor, which he had taken voluntarily when he entered the labor movement, he by persuasion and compulsion has made others violate their trust.

The record of what followed is well known. Surrounding himself with men he had previously considered so unfit as to denounce, John Lewis proceeded to build political capital on the bitter resentment of the workers of their economic oppression. Having gathered a following, he attempted to rule unions, not serve them. He discarded union self-government and brushed aside the democratic majority rule. He replaced union democracy with union dictatorship. No matter what the means before him he never turned and never stayed.

Tries to Rule by Minority Control

He always possessed a minority complex. He attempted to dominate the American Federation of Labor through minority control. Through the force and coercion exercised by a minority he carried that same principle into his attempt to win strikes. He endeavored to win strikes with only a portion of the workers organized. He neglected the essential, fundamental, primary principle necessary to success, and that is, organization of the workers first. Without asking the workers whether they wanted to strike or wanted to work he called them out on strikes, even when he knew that such action could only lead to violence and in the end to defeat. The lawlessness and anarchy wreaked through the nation by his committee for industrial organization have produced bitterness and resentment on the part of workers, employers and the public alike.

Responsible for Repressive Legislation.

The only ultimate result of this could be restrictive and repressive legislation from which all labor will suffer. A bill restricting the freedom and independence of trade unions has already been voted out of the Michigan legislature. Other and even more dangerous measures are now pending before legislatures of other states and before congress.

Just as the responsibility for the present division in the ranks of labor fully rests on John Lewis and his committee for industrial organization, so the responsibility for any and all damage to the trade union movement by the current flow of restrictive legislation will fall on him and his.

A Brief History of the American Federation of Labor

WHILE the American Federation of Labor was actually organized in 1886, yet its history should properly include the organizations which preceded it. Therefore, it could rightfully be said that the American Federation of Labor really started with the organization of the Knights of Labor in the late 1860's.

The Knights of Labor was a secret organization with signs and passwords and admitted practically all workmen regardless of craft to membership. Current labor questions were discussed and voted upon by men of all trades, rather than solely by those belonging to the craft most affected, and this one fact was later the cause of the Knights of Labor being merged into the Federation of Organized Trades and Labor Unions of the United States and Canada, which organization came into existence Nov. 15, 1881, at a convention held at Pittsburgh, Pa., in which 107 delegates participated.

In 1886 the convention was held at Columbus, Ohio, and a number of "outside" trade unions were invited to send representatives for the purpose of discussing the formation of a national body to which all could hold allegiance. These two groups of labor representatives convened on Dec. 8, 1886, and as a result the American Federation of Labor was launched under the leadership of Samuel Gompers, who was chosen as the first president. Since the Federation of Organized Trades and Labor Unions of the United States and Canada, by this merger became a part of the American Federation of Labor, the latter is said to have been really organized Nov. 15, 1881.

State and central bodies, which are composed of representatives or delegates of local unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, are also affiliated with the parent organization, and act locally in the same capacity in which the parent body, the American Federation of Labor, acts nationally and internationally. Regular meetings of these central bodies are held at which points of issue of interest to the labor movement are discussed and acted upon. Thus, the American Federation of Labor binds the various national and international unions into a voluntary federation that operates for the welfare of all, individually and collectively, and stands ready to assist any or all of its affiliates at any time the need for such assistance should arise.

The American Federation of Labor maintains a corps of organizers in action practically continuously whose work it is to organize such crafts or groups of workmen as may not have been previously organized, and to assist the organized crafts in making additions to their rolls. It protects the workers' interests in the law-making bodies of the country by striving for the enactment of such laws as would be beneficial to the worker and to protest such laws as would operate against them. It fosters better conditions, better standards of living for the workers through education, agitation and organization, and is continually studying and developing ways and means by which these things may be accomplished.

The American Federation of labor is founded upon the principle that in union there is strength; that unionism is teamwork and not individual effort; that individual crafts and organizations can handle their own internal affairs much better than outsiders who are not familiar with their particular problems. Once each year it gathers chosen representatives of all its affiliated organizations together in a convention where general problems are discussed; where ideas are exchanged and methods are considered for the promoting of the interests of the labor movement in general.

The officers of the American Federation of Labor are the president, fifteen vice-presidents, a secretary and a treasurer, all of whom must be members of an affiliated organization. These officers also compose the Executive Council which administers the affairs of organized labor between conventions. It is the duty of this council to watch all labor legislation and see that the workers' interests are protected; to propose laws that would benefit labor; to supervise the organization of new unions and to assist in the adjustment of any grievances which might arise between affiliated organizations. In short, the work of the Executive Council is to study and provide ways and means of advancing the cause of organized labor, and to supervise the carrying out of such provisions.

The organization in 1881 started with approximately 50,000 affiliated members. In 1920 the American Federation of Labor reported a membership of 3,080,000, but this number suffered a decline in 1921-22 but came back a year or so later, the average membership being approximately 3,000,000 until the depression years of 1932-33 again reduced its ranks. In 1934 the membership began again to climb until it reached the official number, in April, 1937, of 3,808,692, an increase over that of August, 1933, of more than a million and a half members, the exact increase being 1,681,696. At the present time it can be safely said that the affiliated membership of the American Federation of Labor is near the 4,000,000 mark and is still growing.

In 1935 this parent labor organization was made up of 109 national and international unions, four departments, 49 state federations of labor, 730 city central bodies and 1,354 local trade and federal labor unions. In the past two years the work of organizing has gone steadily forward, as has been evidenced by the increase in membership, until the above figures have been materially increased especially in the number of local trade and federal labor unions. These figures, however, do not include all of the membership of organized labor, since there are a number of independent labor unions which are not affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. Among these are several Railroad Brotherhoods, several organizations of employes in government service, and a number of smaller unions. The total membership of these independent labor organizations is estimated at approximately 1,000,000 workers.

The American Federation of Labor and those affiliated with it can point with pride to its more than fifty years of constructive service to the working people of our nation; service whereby the lot of the worker has been materially bettered through increased compensation, better working conditions, more equitable labor laws and the right to organize for mutual protection and advancement. The American Federation of Labor has consistently, throughout these years, operated for the best interests of those who compose its membership; it has steadily gone forward not only in the fact of much opposition, but it has surmounted handicaps that promised to virtually stop the progress of labor and its program; weighed in the scales of inexorable action and singleness of purpose it has not been found wanting; but on the other hand, it has proved its integrity and loyalty to the the workers by setting a true course toward its chosen objectives and refusing to be sidetracked for any reason.

The American Federation of Labor with its more than fifty years of service in labor matters is a tried and true institution and one that continues well worthy of every confidence reposed in it by those who would so continue to improve their working conditions and standard of living until that objective which guarantees peace, happiness and contentment has been fully attained.

Q.—Are pearls found in a can of oysters of any value? Miss D. B., Greenbrier.

A.—No. The amount of steam pressure necessary to can the oysters will ruin the pearls. There are no exceptions to this rule.

Q.—Is it true that a person should come to the top of the water three times before drowning?

A.—Positively not. A person may go down once and never come up again. In most cases, a person who "drowns' dies of heart failure before water has taken possession of his lungs.

Q.—There are yellow vines twining around the flowers in my yard. I believe they are called "love vines." How can I get rid of them?

A.—No spray has been concocted that will kill those vines and let the plants live. The botanical name for it is "dodder." It is a parasite, harmful to the plants. Usually the dodder seeds come intermixed with other seeds. The only method so far conceived to get rid of them is: Mow the infested area, and rake it into a pile in the center. Allow the pile to dry, and burn it. Do this before the dodder blooms, or it will infest your whole yard.

The desire to be "in front" — to lead the parade — is inherent in every red-blooded American.

To excel in his particular line is a commendable goal sought by every good citizen.

In the business world, as in our personal affairs, Leadership may be attained only by displaying an ability to serve; to gain friends and to hold them by fair and honorable dealing.

On such a foundation has Miller Bros. Co. been built, and our reward has come in the thousands of citizens of this territory who have come to regard this store as their Department Store Home.

Serving YOU Our Constant Policy

This business, since the day of its establishment, has striven for the good will and the friendship of the people and has constantly broadened its policies and expanded its facilities to meet the demands of its trade.

To merit your confidence, to impress you with our desire to serve you in a thoroughly acceptable manner, has been our constant aim and desire. And being deeply appreciative of the loyalty of our friends and patrons in the past, we come with this Labor Day message.

This store has long been the shopping center of the most discriminating patronage—it has been, and still is noted for its quality progressiveness and value aggressiveness. Every new customer who joins the legion of loyal supporters is a booster for us. Our buyers scan the markets many times each season for values—the best obtainable in style, service and intrinsic worth at each relative price.

LABOR DAY SUNDAY MESSAGE

Issued by the Executive Committee of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

ON this Labor Sunday, dedicated to a consideration of the meaning of the Christan Gospel for our industrial life, we remind ourselves of the spiritual insight of the prophets of Israel who saw that the God who rules the universe is also the God of justice in human affairs. God, as revealed in the Bible, calls us to share in His concern for justice for all. As Jeremiah said of King Josiah, "He judged the cause of the poor and needy; then it was well. Was not this to know me? saith the Lord."

On this day we remind ourselves also of the compassion of Christ for tht poor and disinherited. That compassion, in a day when poverty was inevitable, becomes for us in our day, when poverty can be abolished, a demand for justice in the distribution of the product of industry. From the perspective of Christianity it is intolerable that masses of men, women and children should be denied the opportunities which comfortable people regard as necessities. God did not create wage-earners to be mere instruments for the making of money for others; the welfare of all must be inherent in the end for which all the process of production and distribution are carried on.

Religious Significance of Labor Relations.

It is because of the concern of religion for justice and for social welfare that church bodies have for thirty years officially declared for the right of employes as well as employers to organize. Back of these declarations has lain a conviction of the sacredness of human personality and of the dignity of the common man, which is born of the teaching of Jesus that all men are children of God. Such a belief issues in a demand for democracy, both in political and industrial relations. This leads to the organization of workers in order that they may have a recognized voice in determining the conditions under which they live and work. Experience has shown that since industry is often organized on a national or even wider basis, labor unions of corresponding scope are needed if workers are to be adequately represented in truly democratic relations, and if industry-wide standards are to be maintained.

Many industries in this country have been organized over a long period of years. It has been demonstrated that it is possible for organized employers and organized employes to maintain generally harmonious relations, and to adjust their differences through joint conciliation without recourse to strikes or lockouts during the terms of their contracts. The past year has been marked by a significant advance in wider organization of workers. Of great importance was the evidence of industrial statesmanship on the part of a great steel corporation which reached an agreement with a union without the necessity of a strike. The decision of the supreme court validating the national labor relations act marks a wider and more far-reaching recognition in law of labor's right to organize and bargain collectively.

As yet only a minority of American workers are organized, and it must be recognized that annual wages of many skilled workers are still below a comfort level of living, while the wages in many industries both urban and agricultural are grossly inadequate for a decent standard of living for an American family. Many millions still can find no work. We are convinced, therefore, that thoughtful Christians will welcome the contemporary gains in status and economic welfare on the part of labor as in line with the social ideals of Christianity.

In the growing complexity of society many of us have been so cut off from the lives of the industrial workers that we are tempted to think of them not as neighbors, not as persons whose welfare in this world is as important in the sight of God as our own, but as strange masses. While there are millions of wage-earners in our churches, yet many of our congregations have drawn their membership, by reason of location and association, chiefly from the more comfortable middle classes. Many church members see the world from a point of view quite different from the point of view of the laboring masses. As a result of belonging to a class that is relatively secure, many of us tend to fear the very social changes which we should welcome because of the ethical demands of our Christian faith. While protesting against anything that accentuates class consciousness, we fail to realize that our own point of view is largely controlled by the bias of class. Our first need is for self-knowledge and repentance, and sincere desire that the same mind may be in us which was in Christ Jesus who counted not privilege and power as things to be grasped, but emptied Himself in the service of man.

Wider Issues Involved.

There are many parties to industry. The demand of the hour is for greater tolerance, understanding and fair play among them. Voices have been raised among employers urging modification of the older attitudes of many toward organized labor. Leaders of labor should realize that with increasing power, the labor movement must accept greater responsibility, not only fulfilling its traditional ideal of a fair days work for a fair day's pay, but also taking a broad view of the economic scene as a whole. The achievement of increasing industrial wages alone will not solve the total problem. A balance between agriculture and industry must be attained. Prices to consumers must be taken into account. Labor and consumers in many countries have been quick to grasp the advantages of consumers' cooperation as a vital part of the movement toward a better day. Comprehensive collaboration of all groups is urgently needed. Employers, labor, consumers and the government must work together to provide for the economic needs of all the people. We must create also such cooperative relations among the nations and such access to raw materials for all as shall promote international peace.

As industrial and economic life becomes more complex we discover increasingly urgent need for more personal consecration of individuals to the religious life. For religion will always be indispensable not only for the soul of the individual, but also as social cement to hold any society together in the bonds of peace. Selfish struggles for prestige or power on the part of individuals or groups can become divisive forces in any society. There must, indeed, be such a reorganization of our economic life as will remove the fear of economic insecurity on the part of men and nations which now leads to inter-class and international conflict, but there may still remain in individual lives those destructive and socially divisive forces of sin and selfishness, of jealousy and pride and intolerance which would tend to tear apart any social order. The church must therefore continue to serve society by proclaiming Christ's gospel of justice, love, and reconciliation, and by insisting that both individuals and economic and political institutions shall conform to the will of God of justice and love.

Immortal Last Words of Samuel Gompers:

"Nurse, this is the end. God bless our American institutions; may they grow better day by day."—Last words of Samuel Gompers, just as the end came.

AN AMERICAN FIRST!

Samuel Gompers was the greatest labor leader of all time. He worked for the cause of all workers, but only that his beloved American institutions grow better "day by day." He recognized perhaps more keenly than his contemporaries that the condition of labor is closely related to the destiny of American institutions. His last words, his last thought, are worthy of such a leader, and should be an inspiration to all Americans, particularly today.

Presbyterian Labor Day Message

On this Labor day Sunday the churches of America should seriously consider the present industrial crisis confronting the nation, for to a very great degree the present chaos in our industrial life must be traced to the fact that Christianity has not yet acquired the power over our industrial relations that it is able to and intended to exert. That the Christian church has a responsibility in and for this industrial crisis cannot be denied or evaded. It must be faced frankly and considered fearlessly. Christian men and women acknowledge penitently their failures to build the kind of industrial communities that would reflect the peace, the justice, and the brotherhood of the Kingdom of God. They would dedicate themselves now to renewed interest and participation in all the efforts that are designed to create a fair-dealing, peace-minded, and kind-spirited industrial order.

It is the task of the church to get the facts of the crisis before the people so that they may know what it is they face. It is its task to hold up proper and worthwhile goals toward which they may be always driving and by which they may test their achievements. It is the task of the church to find a better technique of social change than the barbaric methods of force, lawlessness and violence. It is its task to keep open that freedom of discussion and negotiation which will enable the conflicting parties to solve their problems by reason rather than by physical force.

The first requisite, therefore, in approaching the present industrial crisis is a better understanding of the facts and forces in the entire situation. This understanding can be reached only by temperature and fair discussions on the part of all concerned—labor, capital and the public. No tolerable system of industrial relations can be developed out of intrinsically arbitrary claims on the part of any of the parties involved, for the essence of any peaceable relationship in human affairs is that nobody shall have arbitrary power. A just system of industrial relations must be based on the Christian conception of moral right as embodied in the Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount, and on the democratic conception of legal rights, as embodied in the constitution, the statutes, and the processes of our government, which are ultimately fixed and determined by the majority of our people.

Present relationships in industry make it clear that the old methods of dealing with industrial disputes are antiquated and ineffective. The methods of the past, both of capital and of labor, have proved their futility and offer no assurance of permanent peace and progress in our American industry. The time has come in our American life when public or private war as a means of settling disputes must be regarded as a relic of barbarism. If the men of industry cannot settle their own disputes, society must settle them through the use of instrumentalities set up for that purpose. In times of great social change it is extremely difficult to pass judgment an the activities of men who are struggling for the recognition of new rights and for a larger share of the things which their labor has produced. The church does not sit in judgment on the industrial strife of the past year, but it does call attention to the fact that in the anxiety of each group in an industrial quarrel to secure its "rights," action may be taken that would, if followed as a precedent by other groups, jeopardize the permanence of democratic government, the authority of law, and the existence of those rights which the contending groups are striving so hard to obtain. We as Christians and as American citizens should endeavor as far as possible to aid in the solution of all industrial misunderstandings without resort to violence, by the use of the processes of law, and by the exercise of the highest measure of intelligence and good will.

The time is ripe for the leaders of organized capital and the leaders of organized labor, with the cooperation of the government, to get together and work out some fair and sane and sensible cooperative program that will put an end to the curse of constant industrial warfare in America. It is now evident that if this is not done voluntarily and wholeheartedly by the representatives of capital and labor for the good of industry as a whole and for the safety and progress of the nation, it will be done by other methods of force and pressure which no genuine American desires to have operate in our American industry. The development of a practical partnership between capital and labor in the solution of national industrial problems is the indispensable complement to political democracy.

The right to collective bargaining is the foundation of social justice for the workers and the basis of any sensible conduct of industrial affairs by management. Progress from industrial warfare to industrial peace will require the full and generous acceptance of the principle and the methods of collective bargaining on the part of both employer and employe. Captious objections and petty fault-finding will defeat the purpose of such bargaining. The greatest possible benefit can come to both sides only if each magnanimously recognizes the full rights of the other and seeks to find by open-minded conference the solutions to their mutual problems.

What we need today in our American industrial life is a new spirit shot through the whole of it—the spirit of justice, cooperation, democracy and brotherhood. History and experience prove that however perfect, in terms of law and organization, may be the external machinery set up, it will be useless unless we apply to it the right motive power. The overlooking of this fact is the common mistake made by the advocates for collectivism and despotism alike. They are seeking to get the new order without the new man and the new spirit. Democracy in industry must be more than a piece of industrial mechanism if it is to survive in America. It must be a new human relationship based on the recognition of the dignity of man and his spiritual kinship to God. To achieve this relationship is the high task of Christian employers and Christian workers, and to it the church on Labor Day Sunday summons all who love America and would make it a brotherhood.

HISTORICAL UNION MINUTES DISCOVERED IN BASEMENT OF BOSTON CENTRAL LABOR UNION

Seventeen Dusty Volumes Date Back to 1878, When American Labor Movement Was Young—Now Famous Names Recall Momentous Incidents.

Boston.—Seventeen dusty volumes were recently uncovered in the basement of the Boston Central Labor Union by a worker employed on the Massachusetts Historical Records survey. They were found to be the orignal minute books of the organization, dating back to 1878, when the labor movement in the United States was young.

The records go back to the days when the Knights of Labor flourished, the days when wages were low and hours of labor long. Most interesting are the minutes of the early meetings of the unions when the struggle for industrial betterment seemed a hopeless fight. Pasted upon the pages of the record books are letters from labor leaders and humanitarians the world over, men and women who were later to win lasting fame for their work in behalf of the toilers in all lands.

One of these letters is from John Burns, the British labor leader and cabinet minister, who gave up a $25,000 post because he could not conscientiously approve the entrance of Great Britain into the World war. Burns, with that far-sightedness for which is was noted, saw the dreadful aftermath of hostilities; the rise in taxation; the hordes of permanently crippled and maimed; the loss of foreign trade, and the millstone of debt which the war would place upon the backs of the workers.

Names familiar to union men of another generation frequently meet the eye, as one peruses the yellowed pages of these records of labor activities in Boston. There are references to T. V. Powderly, president of the Knights of Labor; Henry D. Lloyd, John Mitchell, Samuel Gompers, Henry Abrahams, Edward W. McGrady, now secretary of labor, and the struggles in which they took part are given much prominence.

There are eye-witness accounts of the Colorado mine war; the various mining troubles in Pennsylvania and West Virginia; the Lawrence strike; the trial of the McNamara brothers for the blowing up of the Los Angeles Times building, which took the lives of 22 persons, and the Mooney case.

Some of the letters received by the union were from extreme radical organizations not affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. These demanded the aid of the local unions in industrial disputes then raging in the northwest. It is noteworthy that the local union council always tabled these appeals until the alleged conditions had been thoroughly investigated.

It is interesting to note that labor repudiated the McNamaras and denounced such acts of violence in labor disputes. It did, however, express a strong belief in the innocence of Tom Mooney, who was given a life sentence after having been convicted of hurling the bomb during the San Francisco preparedness parade, when ten persons were killed.

The meetings of the C. L. U. show that even so farb cak as thirty-five years, the members saw prohibition coming, not because the American people had lost their taste for alcoholic liquors, but because the conditions which existed in saloons and other places where intoxicating liquors were sold.

The union body, time and again, issued warnings to saloonkeepers that unless they changed their methods of doing business, their business would be wiped out by a constitutional amendment. This warning fell on deaf ears. The liquor dealers kept on as before, until the lightning struck, and then and not till then did they take the vision of the labor unions seriously. The employment of women as waitresses in saloons was deplored, the unions declaring that such employment was "degrading to womanhood."

Among the letters found in the record books are some from such well-known figures as Henry Cabot Lodge, John W. Weeks, Patrick A. Collins, Champ Clark, William Jennings Bryan and many others. Most of these are written in a sympathetic vein and promise assistance in furthering labor legislation.

A bit of color is introduced into the records by the resolutions of the Actors' union, which bear the names of several well-known troupers of the days when the stage was in flower. These resolutions take up conditions in Boston theaters, which they declared most unsatisfactory.

The work of building up organized labor in Massachusetts and the many obstacles which organizers were compelled to face is shown in these minute books.

The work in this connection of Frank Foster, Henry D. Lloyd, Edward W. McGrady and others is set forth and the reader is enabled to watch the movement grow through the years step by step.

There are stories of controversies between union leaders and the representatives of industry that make interesting reading today. The interchange of letters between these groups was often marked by passionate appeals and heated argument. Charges and counter-charges were freely made by both sides, and in some cases there were strong denunciations of the stand taken by the union or the employing concern.

The records of the minutes of the unions today show their leaders, while just as determined to attain their objectives as were the early officers of the body, more restrained in their method of handling labor disputes. Diplomacy as a weapon is used more frequently by the unions today than was the case in pioneeer labor days.

Tennessee Federation of Labor

STARTISG with a movement sponsored by Federal Labor Union No. 6617, of Nashville, a call was issued to all the labor organizations of Tennessee to meet in Nashville for the purpose of forming a state labor organization. This initial meeting was called for Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 7, 1896, and it was on that date forty-one years ago, that the Tennessee Federation of Labor was organized.

The purpose of the organization, as set forth in the original call, was the formation of a state body that would be enabled to fight labor's battles in a statewide operation. Says the call: "In times past the laboring people of this state have been unable to make their influence felt upon our large legislative bodies, both municipal and state, through lack of coherence and unity of action. It is to overcome this failing that a state league should be established. The admirable results attained by the central bodies in each of our large cities is a guarantee that a state organization would likewise be of immense benefit."

The call was sent out over the signatures of the following members of the organization committee: Albert E. Hill, chairman; William Mailly, M. J. Noonan, Theo Perry and W. E. Anderson. Each participating organization was allotted threo delegates, nearly all the organizations who received the call sending active delegations. Regular meetings of the Tennessee Federation of Labor have been held annually since that memorable date of Sept. 7, 1896, various points in the state being chosen from time to time for this purpose. This year the fortieth annual meeting of the federation was held at Jackson, Tenn.

During the forty years of existence the Tennessee Federation of Labor has accomplished much for organized labor in the state. It has been instrumental in securing the passage by the state legislature of various laws favoring the working man and in preventing the passage of others that were inimical to labors interests. Its executive board is continually watching the trend of labor situations throughout the state and stands ready at any time to render any assistance that may be possible to central bodies and local labor organizations alike. It works hand in hand with the American Federation of Labor in effecting new organizations and in promoting the interests of organized labor in every respect.

Q.—In what city were brewery workers first organized?

A.—Mutual aid societies were formed among brewery workers in the 1850's, but the first labor union was organized in Cincinnati, in 1879.

CARDUI is a special medicine for the relief of some of the suffering which results from a woman's weakened condition. It has been found to make monthly periods less disagreeable, and, when its use has been kept up awhile, has helped many poorly nourished women to get more strength from their food. This medicine (pronounced "Card-u-i") has been used and recommended by women for many, many years. Find out whether it will help you by giving it a fair trial. Of course, if not benefited, consult a physician.

Central Body Prexy Youngest To Serve In Important Post

Bakers' Business Agent Elected in April — Has Bright Prospects and Lots To Do.

PEPPY

CURTIS R. SIMS

The likeness above depicts Curtis R. Sims, who is believed to be the youngest president of Chattanooga Central Body, being elected to that important post last April.

Mr. Sims is business agent of Local 25, Bakery and Confectionery Workers, having held that post since the inception of that local about three years ago. That he has done a good job in his local union augurs well for his prospects as leader in the general labor movement.

Through his leadership and with the help of a militant and sensible membership, Local 25 has grown from about 14 members to the present membership of well over four hundred, working under closed shop conditions.

President Sims has plenty to do nowadays, too. He is constantly on the go, helping new locals getting set up and lending assistance to the older locals whenever called upon. It is frequently predicted that, with proper cooperation, he will make his administration one that will compare favorably with his predecessors.

Archaeologist Finds Proof of Indian-Negro Marriages

T. M. N. Lewis, of U. T., Uncovers 200-Year-Old Skeleton of Indian-Negro Woman.

Evidence that Cherokee Indians inter-married with negro slaves even before the American Revolution has been uncovered in the Chickamauga dam area by Archaeologist T. M. N. Lewis of the University of Tennessee.

Mr. Lewis and his staff of Indian mound investigators have found the skeleton of a Cherokee woman whose skull showed negro characteristics. The archaeologist judged the skeleton to be about 200 years old.

"We know today that many negroes are part Indian. And stories have been passed down from generation to generation of inter-marriage between the two races," Mr. Lewis said. "This evidence is conclusive proof of those old stories. So far as I know, it is the earliest skeletal proof that has been found."

Either the negro slaves ran away from their masters and joined the Indian tribes, or they were stolen by the Indians, according to the old stories, Mr. Lewis said.

Mr. Lewis is in his fourth year of archaeological explorations in Tennessee. He has excavated Indian mounds in eleven Middle and East Tennessee counties: Campbell, Union, Anderson, Jefferson, Roane, Humphreys, Cheatham, Davidson, Hamilton, Rhea and Meigs.

At present Mr. Lewis is conducting an expedition in the Chickamauga dam area, with headquarters near Blythe's Ferry landing. One hundred and fifty laborers are furnished him by the works progress administration.

Out of the scores of mounds investigated by the archaeologist, he has removed a thousand Indian skeletons and many thousands of archaeological relics, which will be exhibited in a proposed U. T. museum.

Mr. Lewis has been aided recently in his work by a $1,000 grant from the American Philosophical Society of Philadelphia, the oldest scientific organization in the country.

"This society does not ordinarily contribute to work of this nature," he said. "Hence I think this grant indicative of the recognition that has been accorded the work in Tennessee."

The National Research council has been an annual donor, and the Tennessee Valley Authority has been very co-operative in the work, Mr. Lewis said.

Labor Queries

Q.—Is the "sit-down" strike really new?

A.—No. Such strikes are known to have occurred in the 16th and 18th centuries. In 1845 there was a sit-down strike of workers building the cathedral at Rouen, France. Years ago there were similar strikes in America, being then called "folded-arm strikes," and "strikes on the job."

Q.—When was the eight-hour day gained in the bituminous coal industry?

A.—April 1, 1898.

Q.—What American labor leader was among the first and strongest supporters of the International Labor Organization?

A.—Samuel Gompers.

Q.—When did retail clerks organize nationally?

A.—In 1890, when the Retail Clerks International Protective association was formed in a convention at Detroit.

Many Boys Earn Expenses at U. T.

Ambition a Powerful "Capital" For Those Who Really Want College Education.

Can the young man of today really work his way through college?

Well, there's young Howard W. Darrow, who works in the Y. M. C. A. Sandwich Shop on the University of Tennessee campus. Howard has his bachelor's degree, and is entering U-T again in September to work for a master's degree.

A little over five years ago Howard came to Knoxville from Ashland City, Tenn. His only "capital" was his ambition. Times were hard then, and his farmer parents couldn't afford to send him to college. But Howard wasn't depressed by a depression.

Howard first secured a job from a Knoxville factory, and saved enough to enter U-T. Later he obtained work in the Sandwich Shop, and earned all his college expenses.

Even after he had saved enough to put him through several quarters of school, he lost that in a bank crash. Still he didn't give up.

Of course, Howard is an exception. Jobs are hard to find, and it's harder still to work and attend college at the same time. But there are other just such "exceptions" who earn all expenses while in U-T. And there are many who earn part or most of their funds working at all kinds of jobs in Knoxville, U-T officials said.

Howard was another "exception" as far as grades are concerned. He won the faculty scholarship when a sophomore, and had to pay no fees during his junior year. That year he received A's in every subject except one, and that grade was B. He graduated with a total average above B-plus, almost a perfect record.

Howard will enter the teaching field after attaining his master's degree in English.

I am the chronic cigarette moocher who smokes your cigarettes incessantly while talking to you.

I never buy cigarettes because I know that you will always be polite and give me one if I begin feeling around in my pockets as if to find one. I know full well, of course, that I am "fresh out," but my pocket-patting is the best and surest hint that I can employ.

I know you hate me for this habit, but after all nobody knows about it but you and me. A cigarette costs one penny and if I get one a day from you I will only cost you $3.65 for a whole year. I think that makes me a very cheap nuisance.

I have seen the time when you would give me a whole package just to get rid of me. You did this hoping to embrrass me and bring me to my senses, but I am not the kind of a guy to take a hint, especially if it is anything less than kicking me in the face, and besides you are a sucker and I am not going to let you get away.

No, sir!

Mabee Serving Second Term As Labor Secretary

Popular Painter Has Long Record for Service for Movement. Busy Now With Waiters.

Erskine Mabee, now in his second term as secretary of Central Body, is not new in the labor game. Prior to election two years ago he had represented Local 226, Painters, as delegate to Central Body for many terms.

Besides that, he has been secretary of his local, business agent for Local 226, and is now business agent for the Roofer local, as well as business agent for Culinary Workers' union.

Today he is spending most of his time helping one of the newest groups in the labor movement, the Culinary Workers. That his time is being put to advantage is attested by the fact that this local now has 500 members, and prospects are that before another year there will be 1,000 members in its ranks.

Secretary Mabee has proven to be one of the most active and loyal secretaries that Central Body has been fortunate enough to secure.

Q.—Did any union ever give up previously existing privileges in promoting new contracts?

A.—Yes. The Brewery Workers' union insisted on the cancellation of unlimited beer allowance, and sleeping quarters, for its members. Independence of workers of any favors of the employers was gained, as well as improvement in health and habits.

THE MAN AND THE MACHINE

DR. CHARLES STELZLE
Executive Director, Good Neighbor League

American industry is supreme throughout the world mainly because of our system of mass production. During a recent five-year period 2,000,000 wage-earners were eliminated from the production and transportation industries, and yet at the end of this period these industries produced more in volume and value than at the beginning.

This process will undoubtedly continue. Nothing can stop it. Eventually the masses of the people will be the greatest beneficiaries of increased output. Our real problem will be one of distribution. Unquestionably the workers are already benefitting through the enrichment of life which comes through the wider use of commodities which were formerly the exclusive possession of the rich or well-to-do.

Meanwhile, there are certain human elements to which we should give more careful consideration. For example, mass production, which involves highly specialized operations, has largely destroyed the pride of craft which was once common in industrial life. The "shop" has become a "factory." Something else should be substituted which will give the worker greater interest in his job.

The modern factory is operated much like a slaughter house in which the parts of a pig pass through various channels, every part being handled by an "expert," whose task consists mainly of an automatic operation in which he may become a "specialist" in an unbelievably brief period.

This is all he knows about the industry. Needless to say, it invariably results in restriction, restraint and repression. The bosses—at the other end of the industry—are chiefly concerned about production, percentages and profits. Between them there is a chasm that very few ever cross.

The workers are regarded as so much equipment. They constitute the major part of the "overhead." They are given brass-checked numbers in lieu of names which had become sacred to them. Personality counts for little. They have become parts of the machines which they automatically operate. In olden days these men were counted as "souls." Today they are enumerated as "hands."

It is a great engineering accomplishment to creat a machine which displaces hundreds of men who formerly made a comfortable living through old methods of production, and it is still more wonderful to invent a robot—a man made of steel and filled with wheels—who responds to the pressing of a button at the side of an executive's desk, doing automatically what formerly required the efforts of a human being.

But mass production and automobiles have brought with them new problems. Their creation has not settled the labor question—they have intensified it.

After the engineers have done their very commendable jobs, it is going to take all the wisdom of the economists and sociologists, all the ingenuity of the capitalists, to say nothing of the deep understanding of the statesmen and the co-operation of the public, to solve the human problems which mass production has brought with it.

Howard first secured a job from a Knoxville factory, and saved enough to enter U-T. Later he obtained work in the Sandwich Shop, and earned all his college expenses.

Even after he had saved enough to put him through several quarters of school, he lost that in a bank crash. Still he didn't give up.

Of course, Howard is an exception. Jobs are hard to find, and it's harder still to work and attend college at the same time. But there are other just such "exceptions" who earn all expenses while in U-T. And there are many who earn part or most of their funds working at all kinds of jobs in Knoxville, U-T officials said.

Howard was another "exception" as far as grades are concerned. He won the faculty scholarship when a sophomore, and had to pay no fees during his junior year. That year he received A's in every subject except one, and that grade was B. He graduated with a total average above B-plus, almost a perfect record.

Howard will enter the teaching field after attaining his master's degree in English.

"Our Friends"

I am the chronic cigarette moocher who smokes your cigarettes incessantly while talking to you.

I never buy cigarettes because I know that you will always be polite and give me one if I begin feeling around in my pockets as if to find one. I know full well, of course, that I am "fresh out," but my pocket-patting is the best and surest hint that I can employ.

I know you hate me for this habit, but after all nobody knows about it but you and me. A cigarette costs one penny and if I get one a day from you I will only cost you $3.65 for a whole year. I think that makes me a very cheap nuisance.

I have seen the time when you would give me a whole package just to get rid of me. You did this hoping to embrrass me and bring me to my senses, but I am not the kind of a guy to take a hint, especially if it is anything less than kicking me in the face, and besides you are a sucker and I am not going to let you get away.

No, sir!

Mabee Serving Second Term As Labor Secretary

Popular Painter Has Long Record for Service for Movement. Busy Now With Waiters.

Erskine Mabee, now in his second term as secretary of Central Body, is not new in the labor game. Prior to election two years ago he had represented Local 226, Painters, as delegate to Central Body for many terms.

Besides that, he has been secretary of his local, business agent for Local 226, and is now business agent for the Roofer local, as well as business agent for Culinary Workers' union.

Today he is spending most of his time helping one of the newest groups in the labor movement, the Culinary Workers. That his time is being put to advantage is attested by the fact that this local now has 500 members, and prospects are that before another year there will be 1,000 members in its ranks.

Secretary Mabee has proven to be one of the most active and loyal secretaries that Central Body has been fortunate enough to secure.

SECRETARY

ERSKINE MABEE

Q.—Did any union ever give up previously existing privileges in promoting new contracts?

A.—Yes. The Brewery Workers' union insisted on the cancellation of unlimited beer allowance, and sleeping quarters, for its members. Independence of workers of any favors of the employers was gained, as well as improvement in health and habits.

Plumbers' Ranks Increase Greatly During Last Year

O. E. Cook, Business Agent and President, Doing His Part in Building Crafts.

O. E. COOK

ters, have made as much progress in Local 43, Plumbers and Steamfit-

the last twelve months as any of the building crafts in Chattanooga, resulting in a membership today that is more than twice that of one year ago.

The local was greatly responsible in having made into law an examining board which is designed to protect the public from incompetent work that could result in disease. As soon as work on Chickamauga dam was started a drive was made to enroll all the plumbers and steamfitters on that job, which means that today nearly 100 per cent membership on the dam has been attained. A movement is now on which it is believed will result in the complete unionization of refrigerating and air-conditioning mechanics.

Credit for a great part of these accomplishments go to O. E. Cook, business agent and president of Local 43. Mr. Cook is not a fly-by-night president. He has held that important post eleven times in twenty-nine years. That's not all. He has been sentinel, vice-president, recording secretary-treasurer and delegate to Central Body from his local.

Quite an active record for a man whose membership dates back to June 17, 1908! He is married and has one child.

Question Box

Q.—Have the organized workers always championed industrial unionism in their trade?

A.—The brewery workers proclaimed a policy of industrial unionism from the beginning of their organization, in 1886.

One of the busiest ladies in our labor movement is Mrs. Nellie Green Stevenson, who may be seen any day at the labor hall answering the hundreds of phone calls, writing letters and keeping records for the more than a dozen building trades crafts which employ her to keep their central office operating.

Everybody knows Mrs. Stevenson as "Miss Nellie" or "Miss Green." Although her duties would run an ordinary person into a sanitarium, she has a pleasant smile and a willing attitude to comply with the various requests poured into the office.

All she has to do is take the messages that keep the business agents hopping, write their letters, and listen to some of their hectic mestings, at the same time keeping a calm and collected mien. Maybe she learned to do this when she was one of the striking hosiery workers in Rossville that were chased around by Red Gallus Talmadge's tin soldiers and their bayonets.

THE MAN AND THE MACHINE

DR. CHARLES STELZLE
Executive Director, Good Neighbor League

American industry is supreme throughout the world mainly because of our system of mass production. During a recent five-year period 2,000,000 wage-earners were eliminated from the production and transportation industries, and yet at the end of this period these industries produced more in volume and value than at the beginning.

This process will undoubtedly continue. Nothing can stop it. Eventually the masses of the people will be the greatest beneficiaries of increased output. Our real problem will be one of distribution. Unquestionably the workers are already benefitting through the enrichment of life which comes through the wider use of commodities which were formerly the exclusive possession of the rich or well-to-do.

Meanwhile, there are certain human elements to which we should give more careful consideration. For example, mass production, which involves highly specialized operations, has largely destroyed the pride of craft which was once common in industrial life. The "shop" has become a "factory." Something else should be substituted which will give the worker greater interest in his job.

The modern factory is operated much like a slaughter house in which the parts of a pig pass through various channels, every part being handled by an "expert," whose task consists mainly of an automatic operation in which he may become a "specialist" in an unbelievably brief period.

This is all he knows about the industry. Needless to say, it invariably results in restriction, restraint and repression. The bosses—at the other end of the industry—are chiefly concerned about production, percentages and profits. Between them there is a chasm that very few ever cross.

The workers are regarded as so much equipment. They constitute the major part of the "overhead." They are given brass-checked numbers in lieu of names which had become sacred to them. Personality counts for little. They have become parts of the machines which they automatically operate. In olden days these men were counted as "souls." Today they are enumerated as "hands."

It is a great engineering accomplishment to creat a machine which displaces hundreds of men who formerly made a comfortable living through old methods of production, and it is still more wonderful to invent a robot—a man made of steel and filled with wheels—who responds to the pressing of a button at the side of an executive's desk, doing automatically what formerly required the efforts of a human being.

But mass production and automobiles have brought with them new problems. Their creation has not settled the labor question—they have intensified it.

After the engineers have done their very commendable jobs, it is going to take all the wisdom of the economists and sociologists, all the ingenuity of the capitalists, to say nothing of the deep understanding of the statesmen and the co-operation of the public, to solve the human problems which mass production has brought with it.

Knox Board Member Is Second Lady To Serve in Federation

Lucille Thornburg Was Named at Jackson Convention Last May—Does Her Job Well, Too.

MISS LUCILLE THORNBURG

When Miss Lucille Thornburg was elected last May in Jackson to represent Knoxville on the executive board of the Tennessee Federation of Labor, there was much digging into the records to see how many members of her sex had held such a position.

It was discovered that long years ago a Memphis lady, a garment worker, had been named. Feeling that because of her sex the responsibility to make good rests heavier, Miss Thornburg has started to work in earnest and reports from Knoxville show that she is doing a good job.

South's Greatest Home Furnishers
Salutes Organized Labor

- It is with a deep feeling of privilege that on this occasion, a day hallowed and rightly set aside as a day commemorating one of the world's greatest factors, we are permitted to in a small and inadequate way, pay our homage to the men who have made American civilization both the goal and envy of all nations.

- The progress of labor from the day of the ancient individual craftsman to the present great body of skilled artisans has been a long and far-reaching one. Each step of the way has been marked by civic and economic contributions by the men of Labor, which in their effect have rivalled and ranked all the work of diplomats and statesmen.

- Today some hear rumblings and rumors. Our positive faith in the body of Labor interprets these signs as the inauguration of a greater and more prosperous era. Such is the story of sober application and study of its changing conditions which has so characterized that great body politic in its every recorded move.

- To know and to realize as we so happily do, that we have been privileged to serve this great body in the past makes greater our resolve to merit that faith and confidence in the future—and to you on the sixth of September, Nineteen Hundred Thirty-Seven, we pledge anew our continuing friendship of many yesteryears.

You Must Admit . . . Union Men Eat Well

These Recipes, Taken From Tables of Our Trades-Unionists, Prove Their Wives Best Cooks To Be Found

BY BROWNIE HOPPER

What housewife doesn't like to prepare good things to eat? Whenever you go to visit a friend and have something that tastes especially good for lunch, don't you always ask her for the recipe? Well, that is exactly what we did for this page of recipes.

We wanted to pass on to you some really good ones, and so we visited some of our friends in the labor movement—the wives of some of the most active trades-unionists in Chattanooga—and asked them for recipes of some of the dishes they liked to prepare and that their families like to eat. We were not hunting for original recipes, nor particularly fancy ones. Rather, we have tried to "swap" recipes with our friends and pass on to you as many of the favorites as we had room for.

The interest and cooperation has been most gratifying and we appreciate the kindness of the ladies whose recipes appear below. Most of these ladies you know.

It won't be long, after Labor Day, until the cool weather of fall arrives. Therefore, in order to get you ladies all set for some good easy meals for those days, I am going to start with a meal planned around a one-dish dinner. This complete meal was given to me by Mrs. J. C. Cox, whose husband is president of Labor's Political Conference. There are three grown daughters and a younger son in the family—so she's bound to be a good cook, as well as a very busy lady. These meals are easy to prepare and good to eat.

Macaroni-Hamburger Loaf

2 lbs. hamburger, browned in butter.
1½ lbs. macaroni, boiled.
2 cups tomatoes.
1 cup tomato soup.
Onion and seasoning.

Cover all with cracker crumbs. Dot with plenty of butter and bake at 400 degrees about 40 minutes.

A good salad to serve with any one-dish dinner is cucumbers, onions and ripe tomatoes chopped together and covered with french dressing.

A frozen dessert, quite economical to make, delicious to eat is made as follows:

Dissolve one package of jello, any flavor, and one cup sugar in two cups hot water. Let cool, then add one cup fruit juice, including juice of two or three lemons. Chill and fold in one large can of evaporated milk whipped. If desired, add one can fruits prepared for salad, which have been drained. Freeze in refrigerator.

To whip evaporated cream, heat to boiling, then chill until thick. It will then whip up to twice or three times its original bulk.

* * *

Similar one-dish dinners can be prepared from some of these other recipes, too. The following was given by Mrs. R. C. Reynolds, whose husband is a member of the Pressmen's local union:

Spanish Goulash

1½ lbs. ground beef.
1 small onion.
1 package spaghetti.
1 No. 2 can tomatoes.
Small bottle ketchup.

Cook spaghetti in salt water for 10 minutes and drain. Fry meat and chopped onion in a skillet until brown. Add spaghetti, ketchup and tomatoes. Season to taste. Steam about 45 minutes in a covered steamer.

This makes eight servings.

* * *

To accompany any of these dishes, may I suggest that you get busy and put up a lot of jars of this grand-sounding recipe that was sent in Mrs. Elizabeth Echols, who is a sister of Harris Hix, well-known member of the Typographical union. I have a special weakness for

Bread and Butter Pickles

4 lbs. cucumbers.
2 cs. sliced onions.
½ c. salt.
1½ pints vinegar.
¾ pint sugar.
1 tbs. mustard and tumeric.
1 tsp. celery seed.
1 tsp. pickling spice.

Slice cucumbers and onion fine, add salt, cover with water and let stand over night. Lift out of brine and rinse in cold water. Boil vinegar and the other ingredients, pour over cucumbers, let come to a boil again and seal.

* * *

This next one has an interesting name. Mrs. Donald Boddy (her husband is active in Brewery Workers' No. 79) contributed it as one of her family's preferences. It is called

Porcupines

1¼ lbs. ground beef.
¼ lb. ground veal.
¼ lb. ground pork.
1/3 c. rice, well washed.
Salt and pepper to taste.
1 large can of tomato soup.
1 cup water.
1 small onion, diced.
1 small green pepper, diced.

Mix meat and uncooked rice, make into balls about the size of a walnut. Put other ingredients in pan and when boiling, add balls and cook slowly 1½ hours, covered.

I simply had to know where the name came in, and Mrs. Boddy said that as the rice cooks it puffs up and sticks out of the meat balls like the needles on the animal which bears the name.

* * *

It is easy to plan a meal—after you have once decided on the meat. And here is another good starter for an appetizing meal. This one was furnished by Mrs. Harry Davies, whose husband is the business agent for the local Bricklayers' union. She told me she would have sent this recipe in sooner, but that she was busy with her summer preserving, having put up 70 glasses of jellies and 25 points of jams and marmalades. She also promised that if I would come out to see her she would give me hot biscuit and butter and sweets. (Maybe she thinks I won't be out to take her up on it, but she just doesn't know that I only need an invitation like that once.)

Meat Loaf

¾ lb. ground beef.
¼ lb. ground pork.
2 eggs.
1 tsp. salt.
¼ tsp. black pepper.
1 tsp. celery seed.
Cracker crumbs.

Knead together meat, seasoning and eggs and enough cracker meal to form firm loaf, then roll in the crumbs for a crusty coating. Cook in covered, self-basting vessel in water until an inserted straw will come out clean. Serve hot with tomato sauce.

* * *

Tomato Sauce

Small can tomatoes.
2 small onions.
½ cup sugar.
½ tsp. chili pepper.

Combine ingredients and simmer until onions are tender and mixture thickens.

* * *

Here is a new kind of bread to serve with that Friday night fish supper. Mrs. Katie Frost, wife of the electrician, Jack Frost, gave this to me. It is called

Hush Puppies

2 cups meal.
½ cup flour.
1 tsp. salt.
¼ tsp. soda.

Sift together, then add ½ cup buttermilk and water sufficient to make a soft mash. Chop four small onions and mix all together. Make into small patties and fry in hot fish grease on top of the stove. Do not bake.

* * *

Do you enjoy entertaining? Mrs. V. W. Hallmark, whose husband is the leading light of the Elevator Constructors, delegate to the Central Body and a trustee of The Labor World, told me about this delicious-sounding

White Salad

2 packages lemon jello (or 2 envelopes Knox gelatin).
4 cups boiling water.
1 can No. 2 white cherries.
1 can No. 2 pears.
½ pint whipping cream.
¼ cup chopped nuts.

Mayonnaise to suit taste (Mrs. Hallmark uses several tablespoons). Fix jello according to recipe on box. When nearly congealed stir in the cherries, diced pears and chopped nuts. Then stir in mayonnaise and whipped cream.

Put in molds or square pans. To serve, unmold or cut in squares and garnish with mayonnaise, red or green cherries and broken nut meats.

Doesn't that make you want to invite some people in for bridge, or just to chat and eat?

* * *

Don't ever let anybody tell you that men don't care about sweets. All the ladies I talked to had good recipes for desserts, nice rich, fattening deserts. Just for a starter, I want to give you a cake made by Bonnie Mowery, who is the young-lady daughter of R. L. Mowery, secretary of Molders' Union No. 53. Mr. Mowery, who boasts that he is a good cook himself, admits that this cake is his favorite.

Cocoanut Cake

3 eggs.
3 cups flour.
1¾ cup sugar.
1 cup milk.
¾ cup butter.
2 tsp. baking powder.
1 tsp. vanilla.

Cream butter and sugar. Add baking powder to flour and sift three times. Then add well-beaten egg yolk to butter and sugar. Add flour and milk slowly to the mixture. Add vanilla and have the egg whites beaten stiff. Fold them into the batter the very last thing. Put in two well-greased pans and bake 30-40 minutes at 350 degrees.

Ice with the following:
4 egg whites.
3 cups sugar.
1¾ c. hot water.
1½ tsp. vanilla.

Cook the sugar and water until it spins a thread. Then add slowly to stiffly beaten egg whites. Add vanilla and beat until ready to spread, scattering fresh grated cocoanut between the layers and on top of the cake.

For another cake—and this one has an unusual name, too—I turned to Mrs. J. B. Huff. Mr. Huff is business agent for the strong Hodcarriers' local. I did not get an opportunity to ask Mrs. Huff why my two favorite cakes are named Devil's Food and

Damnation Cake

1 c. milk.
2 c. sugar.
4 egg whites.
½ lb. butter.
3 c. flour.
3 tsp. baking powder.
1 tsp. vanilla.

Cream butter until light, add sugar, flour (sifted four times) and milk, gradually. Add unbeaten egg whites last. Add flavoring. Bake in moderate oven.

Filling:
1 c. sugar.
1 c. milk.
3 egg yolks.
1 tbs. flour.
1 c. raisins.
1 c. nus.
1 c. cocoanut.
1 tsp. vanilla.
1 tbs. butter.

Mix egg yolks, sugar, flour, butter and milk. Cook in double boiler until the consistency of boiled custard. Add fruit and chopped nuts. When cool spread on cake, icing top and sides.

* * *

For our last cake recipe, I selected one of Mrs. Floyd Smith's recipes. Floyd, you know, is secretary of Woodworkers No. 1882, and has been active in the labor movement since the formation of that energetic local some two or three years ago.

Lemon Cake

½ cup shortening.
1 cup sugar.
1 tsp. lemon extract.
1 cup milk.
2½ cups flour.
1½ tsp. baking powder.
3 eggs.
¼ tsp. salt.

Cream shortening; add sugar with well beaten yolks and flavoring. Sift flour, salt and baking powder together, add alternately with milk and fold in egg whites beaten lightly. Bake in greased pans at 375 degrees F.

Lemon Cream Icing:
½ cups confectioners' sugar.
½ tbs. butter.
1 lemon rind grated and the juice.

Cream butter, add sugar with grated lemon rind and juice, using just enough cream to spread quickly.

* * *

Now here's a dessert after my own heart, because it presents an opportunity to use left-over bread and also because it calls for prunes, a delicacy that isn't always appreciated in our family. This recipe was sent in by Mrs. Elmer Crosby. She used to be manager of one of the school cafeterias, so she can be called an "expert."

INVEST YOUR MONEY IN THE

First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Chattanooga

Some of the leading business executives and some of the foremost corporations in the United States have placed part of their own funds in shares of Federal Savings and Loan Associations.

Their motive is two-fold:

1. SAFETY — Every investor's holdings in a Federal Savings and Loan Association are fully insured up to $5,000.
2. PUBLIC SERVICE — Funds so invested are loaned mainly for the building and improvement of homes, leading to the employment of labor and the purchase of materials, thus creating business activity from which everyone benefits.

We will be glad to give you further information on the ways in which this Association protects your savings and serves the interests of this community.

UNION RECIPES

2 cups milk.
1 tbs. butter.
1 cup sugar.
1 c. prunes (raisins may be used instead).
1 c. bread, dried hard.

Mix egg yolks, milk, sugar and butter as for custard. Add raisins after soaking them a few minutes in warm water. Put bread in hot water and soak soft, then squeeze out all water and stir it into the mixture. Place in baking dish which is placed in a pan of hot water. Cook until thick, remove from water and spread plum or other tart jelly over the top. Whip egg white and put on top and place in oven until it is brown.

* * *

Do you like squash? Or would you call squash a dessert? Well, neither did I, but here's a brand new recipe which does. This was gotten from Mrs. Erskine Mabee, wife of the secretary of the Central Body. Here we go, with a recipe called squash pie:

2 egg yolks.
1 c. brown sugar.
2 c. canned squash.
1 c. cream, or evaporated milk.
½ tsp. cinnamon.
¼ tsp. nutmeg.
¼ tsp. ginger.
¼ tsp. salt.
½ tsp. lemon extract.
2 egg whites.

Mix all ingredients in order given, except egg whites, and put through a sieve. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into deep pie plate, lined with a rich pastry dough and bake 30 to 40 minutes in a moderate oven. May be garnished with whipped cream.

* * *

No claim has been made that any of these recipes were reducing diets. But perhaps a warning is in order that the recipes which are coming now are practically guaranteed to add weight—so if you are trying to reduce, don't blame me, if you just will try them out. They may be fattening, but, boy, are they good?

My first recipe for pie came from Anna LaFitte, who is a member of the Culinary Workers Union.

Banana Cream Pie

Bake crust in 8-inch pan and let cool. Whip pint of whipping cream and add one tablespoon sugar. Slice 3 bananas into the baked crust, cover with whipped cream and decorate with pecans and cherries.

Mrs. Cory Backus (Mr. Backus has been a member of the Glassblowers' union for a long time) sent in this recipe for another one of those good rich pies. This one is

Butterscotch Pie

2c. evaporated milk.
1 c. brown sugar.
5 tbs. cornstarch.
2 eggs.
2 tbs. butter.
½ tsp. vanilla.
4 tbs. powdered sugar.
Baked pastry shell.

Heat milk in double boiler. Add brown sugar and cornstarch and cook 15 minutes, stirring often. Add beaten egg yolks and cook 2 minutes longer. Add butter and vanilla and cool. Pour into pie shell, cover with meringue of stiffly beaten egg whites and powdered sugar, and brown in the oven.

* * *

A school teacher's wife gave me this recipe for a pie that is one of my favorites. Mrs. W. P. Bales teaches music herself—voice, I believe she said.

Chocolate Cream Pie

1 cup milk.
Pinch salt.
1½ sqs. chocolate.
2 heaping ts. flour.
2 egg yolks.
5 level tsps. sugar.
1 ts. vanilla.

Heat milk, chocolate and salt until chocolate is melted. Mix sugar and beaten egg yolks and add to milk mixture. Add flour, which has been mixed with enough cold milk to pour into other mixture. Add flavoring and cook over heat until thick. When cool, pour into baked pastry shell and top with meringue made of 2 egg whites, pinch salt and 3 tsp. sugar and ½ tsp. flavoring.

* * *

There is one other kind of pie that vies for supremacy, according to my taste. Mrs. P. B. Garber, whose husband is business agent for the Plasterers' local in Chattanooga, was kind enough to give us a good recipe for it.

Pecan Pie

¼ lb. butter.
½ cup sugar.
3 eggs.
¾ cup dark Karo syrup.
Juice of one lemon.
1 cup pecans.

Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs, syrup and lemon juice and beat with egg beater. Add pecans and beat well. Pour into pie shell and bake 30 minutes. Serve with whipped cream.

* * *

Since chocolate is my favorite flavor, I couldn't resist another chocolate pie. But this one is a different kind. And Mrs. G. W. Axley tells me that her husband, the secretary of Machinists No. 56, agrees with me that this is his favorite, too.

Chocolate Refrigerator Pie

1 cup milk.
½ cup sugar.
3 egg yolks.
½ tsp. salt.
2 sqs. chocolate.
½ tbsp. gelatin soaked in ¼ cup cold water.
3 egg whites.

Make a custard of milk, sugar, chocolate and egg yolks. Add soaked gelatin and dissolve. Cool. Fold in beaten egg whites, adding ¼ cup of sugar and ½ tsp. vanilla. Pour into a pie pan lined with buttered vanilla wafers (using several tbsp. soft butter and 5c box wafers). Cover pie with a wax paper and leave several hours to set. To serve cover with whipped cream.

* * *

Not many recipes came in for those delicious flavors of ice cream that can be very easily made in your electric refrigerator. I am indebted to Mrs. C. F. Weidner, Sr., for this one, which sounds so good and yet is so simply and economically made.

Brown Sugar Ice Cream.

Mix 1 cup brown sugar and ¾ cup evaporated ilk, diluted with ¾ cup water. Add 1 tsp. vanilla extract. When frozen solid, remove from frigidaire and agitate, beating thoroughly. Replace in frigidaire and freeze. Serves six.

Unfortunately, space is limited, and so I shall be unable to use many of the good recipes which I got from some of our friends. However, they will be filed and perhaps can appear from time to time, in the Label Leaders column.

I might say that when Mrs. W. G. Witt was asked for one of her favorite recipes she said to ask Mr. Witt—that he was the better cook, anyway. So I thought that possibly "Zeke" would give me the recipe for some of that good barbecue which he prepares for all the big picnics. He was willing and started out,

"Well, you tage 2,000 pounds of meat———"

And I stopped him right then. Not even the largest family could use that much meat at one time.

Hodcarriers' Union A Very Strong Unit In Labor Movement

Membership of 600 Today Grew from 150 a Year Ago With Advanced Wage Scale.

Business Agent J. Frank Anderson has plenty to be proud of when he looks back twelve months ago. At that time Hodcarriers' local, composing the common labor in the building trades, had only 150 members. Today they number 600.

That's not all. They have brought their wage scale from whatever they could get up to a stable basis of 50 and 60 cents per hour. In the building trades group they compose one of the strongest units, and the fact that practically all contractors are now operating on a 100 per cent union basis is due to a great extent to the hodcarrier and common labor organization.

Effect of Low Wages

By DR. CHARLES STELZLE
Executive Director, Good Neighbor League.

Let's take it for granted that there have been men who got to the top even though they began life under very lowly circumstances, receiving small pay, and enduring all the limitations which this implies. But whatever may have been the advantages gained, such men usually missed much in mental and cultural development.

Suppose, however, that all workers were compelled to undergo the hardships which men of this character endured—merely because they were handicapped on account of low wages? What kind of citizens would they be? And what kind of fathers and husbands? How would they affect the standards of the community, and of what service would they be in building up the life of the nation?

Low-waged workers are a distinct detriment in the struggle of humanity toward higher standards and forms of living. The more low-waged workers there are, the lower would become the purchasing power of the people, the lower the quantity of production, the lower the amount of work to be done, and the greater the unemployment that would follow.

Low-waged communities are always low-standard in the life and the character of all the people. High-waged communities which make possible the privilege of travel, study, music, reading and the chance to hear and see things, are not only prosperous communities, but their inhabitants are cuultured, mentally developed and reasonable citizens. Homes are comfortable, wives and children are happy, education is more widely spread, religion is revered, and peace is more generally assured.

Because of this, the man who is constantly trying to lower wages is an undesirable citizen and a menace to the community. And the man who tries to pay the highest wages that his industry can afford, should be honored for his fairness and his worth, not only for the workers, but by all the citizens of the community, because they also share in the general prosperity which such action creates.

MINIMUM PAY RATE HEARINGS INTEREST ONTARIO EMPLOYERS

Toronto.—The Ontario wage board is arranging conferences with employers' and workers' representatives to discuss minimum wage rates for male workers. Applications from workers and employrs for minimum rates will be considered first, though it is the duty of the board to fix minimums for all industries. Unexpected interest in wage rates for males is being shown by employers who see in minimums a means of raising the levels of both competition and purchasing power.

3,500 NEW YORK BARBERS LEAVE A. F. L. FOR C. I. O.

Seven Locals, Including Beauticians' Group, Granted Industrial Union Charters.

New York.—Seven locals of the Journeymen Barbers' International union, A. F. of L., with more than 3,500 members, have voted for affiliation with the C. I. O. Application for a C. I. O. charter was approved by Allan S. Haywood, regional C. I. O. director, under the name of the Barbers' and Beauty Culturists' union. One of the locals is a beauticians' group.

Prior to the voting, the barbers' joint board turned down an offer of $1,200 a month from the A. F. of L. international for an organization campaign here.

John Tartamella, former A. F. of L. international representative for Greater New York, was named director of the new union by the joint board.

---

Q.—What did John P. Altgeld, famous Illinois governor, say about workers' organizations?

A.—"All classes are organizing on the theory that in unity there is strength, and in order to be better equipped to hold their own and to secure justice. * * * The only hope of the laboring man lies in organization."

MORE ABOUT ITU PROGRESS

fair to the editor or the reader either, as there are other subjects which must be covered in this Labor Dad edition.

In the reports of Charles P. Howard and the I. T. U. delegation to the A. F. of L. there is an interesting coverare of the controversy between the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O., but due to a lack of space, I will not be able to quote. Anyone who might be interested in the matter can borrow a copy of the August Journal from a printer friend and read those two reports.

Organization.

During the past year 6,505 new members were admitted. Of these 839 were classed as apprentices transferring to journeyman membership. There were 395 admissions from unorganized territory.

Thirty-seven charters were issued to new local unions with a membership of 634. The majority of new members came in through the efforts of an intensive organization campaign throughout the country.

Among the big plants signed up during the year are the Crowell Publishing company, the Merchant Industries, of Dayton, O.; the National Cash Register company, the McCall corporation, the Egry Register company and the Conde Nast company.

At a cost of $75,000 the I. T. U. purchased a complete newspaper plant at White Plains, N. Y., which had not been in operation for several years. At the time of the purchase there was a considerable drive in the east against union conditions on daily newspapers, but the drive was materially slackened after the purchase. As a gesture of defense the plant has proven invaluable and it has great possibilities for profitable use in the future. The equipment and building has been thoroughly reconditioned, and could be sold now for a considerable increase over the purchas price. A portion of the building is being rented to a furniture store for a rental of $400 a month.

Wage Rates and Earnings.

The average full-time weekly wage rate of the membership of the I. T. U. the past year was $45.06, or $4.25 less than in 1929. However, the indicated actual earnings was $37.59, or 83.42% of full-time, and $7.17 less than in 1929.

In sections, the middle Atlantic states lead with the highest average full-time weekly wage rate. Then come the western states, New England states, central states, southern states and southeastern states.

The total indicated earnings of the membership during the year, based on payments to the pension and mortuary funds, was $146,182,061, for an average of $1,954.80 per member. In 1929 the average earnings per member was $2,327.75. Earnings dropped to $1,594.87 in 1934, due to the depression.

The Five-Day Week.

The five-day week continues to be the favorite among printers, despite the change in the laws which makes 40 hours the maximum with the privilege of splitting the week ilnto six shifts.

There are 457 local unions with newspaper contracts specifying the 5-day week and 485 with 5-day week commercial contracts, as against 137 with 6-day newspaper contracts and 110 with 6-day commercial contracts.

Thirteen locals have contracts which permit some newspapers to operate on a 5-day week and others on a 6-day week. Chattanooga is in this class, the Times and Free Press operating under a 5-day contract and the News under a 6-day contract. Twenty locals permit the same variation in commercial shops.

The Bureau of Statistics.

Headquarters maintains a bureau of statistics for the purpose of aiding local unions in the preparation of their scale negotiations. During the past year 209 locals were supplied with necessary statistical information.

The bureau also reviews all contracts of local unions and passes upon their conformity to I. T. U. and local laws. The past year there were 754 contracts reviewed, 316 being proposed contracts and 438 signed contracts. Of the 438 signed contracts only fifteen failed to get approved.

Apprentice Training.

The bureau of education, under the direction of John H. Chambers, has charge of the training of all apprentices. It has prepared a course of training, consisting of about 55 lessons, following along the course of actual work the apprentice does in the composing room. It is mandatory that the apprentice take the I. T. U. lessons in printing, but many local unions have a merit system whereby the apprentice can get refunds from the local on the cost of the course. The bureau can suspend or terminate an apprenticeship should the apprentive get behind with his lessons or consistently make poor grades.

Besides the course of lessons for apprentices, the bureau has prepared several units of advanced lessons which have been given a good response by journeyman printers. These advanced units have proven invaluable as reference works to printers working in commercial plants.

The I. T. U. lessons in printing are used as textbooks in many high schools and vocational schools.

The cost of maintaining the bureau during the past year was $20,483, or $8,645 less than the income was.

Defense Work.

When local unions encounter a tough problem in wage scale negotiations they call on headquarters for help. For this purpose the I. T. U. has a staff of full-time representatives who are kept busy answering appeals from local unions. These men, experienced in handling labor negotiations, have been able to successfully untangle hundreds of deadlocked situations and are responsible to a large degree for the fine reputation the I. T. U. enjoys in the business world.

Very few strikes occur in the jurisdiction of the I. T. U. as compared with other fields of labor, but when one does occur the membership of the I. T. U. gives it plenty of financial backing.

Since 1891 over $24,000,000 has been spent for defensive purposes, which includes payment of strike benefits, organization work and extending special financial assistance to local unions.

During the 44-hour lockout, which started in 1921, over $15,000,000 was spent. This event is called the 44-hour lockout because hundreds of commercial shops throughout the country failed to live up to an agreement to cut the work-week to 44 hours, giving employes a half-day on Saturday.

The only big fight the I. T. U. had previous to that was one that started in 1906 when the work day was cut to eight hours. About $3,000,000 was spent in that fight.

This $24,000,000 which is classed as being spent for defensive work could also be called $24,000,000 spent for the bettering of working conditions. It would be impossible, however, to determine just how much has been spent by th I. T. U. and local unions for bettering working conditions.

Benefits.

Three forms of benefits are paid directly by the I. T. U. These are mortuary, pension and special assistance (which includes strike benefits, defensive and organization work). During the past year these benefits amounted to $2,715,250, of which $2,118,928 was paid in pensions and $553,615 in mortuary benefits. The total amount of dues collected during the year was $3,748,872.

The pension paid by the I. T. U. is $8.00 per week, $416 per year. The mortuary benefits range from $75.00 to $500, according to length of membership. The expense of the two funds is borne by a 2% assessment on the earnings of the members. The average amount paid into these funds by each member during the year was $37.77.

Another benefit maintenance by the I. T. U. is the Union Printers' Home at Colorado Springs, Colo., for sick and aged members. The cost of the home is borne by a portion of the per capita tax each member pays. The per capita tax is 70 cents a month, of which 25 cents goes into the general fund, 40 cents into the home fund and 5 cents for the monthly journal. The home's portion of this tax the last year amounted to $373,142.

There are 5,294 members drawing pensions now. During the year 473 pensioners died. The average continuous membership of these pensioned at time of death was 42 years 11 months. The average time they were on the pension roll was 7 years. During the time they were on the roll they drew $1,309,054, or an average of $2,767. Some of them had been drawing pensions for 29 years, others died just a short time after getting on the pension roll.

These 473 members paid $167,380 into the pension fund, or $1,141,673 less than they drew out.

The average attained age of the 5,294 members now drawing pensions is 70.3 years.

During the 29 years the pension fund has been in existence, a total of $26,538,000 has been paid into it, and $24,594,000 has been paid out in pensions. Clerical expenses amounting to nearly $250,000 were paid out of the fund previous to 1923. Since then expenses of the fund have been paid out of the general fund.

There were 1,272 death benefits paid during the year. These benefits aggregated $553,615, an average of $435. Since 1892 there have been 33,629 mortuary benefits paid for a total of $10,625,977.

The average age at death in 1872 was 41 years. Now the average age at death is 61.85 years.

It seems to be a general belief that printers are heavy drinkers of intoxicants, but of the 1,272 deaths during the year only five were attributed to alcoholism. That dread disease, tuberculosis, against which the I. T. U. has waged a relentless fight for years, accounted for only 43 deaths. This low figure is due to the success of the doctors at the Union Printers Home in combatting the disease.

Various local unions during the year paid out $937,866 in sick, mortuary and out-of-work benefits, pensions and donations. This, added to the $3,088,394 mentionel above as I. T. U. benefits, makes a total of all benefits paid of $4,026,260.

Union Printers Home.

The Union Printers Home is maintained at Colorado Springs, Colo., for the purpose of caring for sick and aged members of the I. T. U. The home is one of the beauty spots of the west and is visited by thousands of people every year.

Since the home was opened in 1872 the I. T. U. has spent $6,701,410 in maintaining it. The original cost of the home was $375,000. Building of additions and reconstruction work has made the total cost of it $1,185,000.

An average of 387 residents were at the home during the past year, and the average net cost per resident per month was $67.50. The gross expenditures last year, which includes construction, repairs, transportation of residents, etc., was $412,336. The net cost of maintaining the home was $312,309.

In the space available it would be impossible to tell of all the good the Union Printers Home does. Suffice it to say that under the capable supervision of Superintendent and Mrs. James McCoy it is a real haven for the tired and weary printer who can no longer work and care for himself and a health rebuilding spot for the sick printer who cannot provide for himself the treatment and care he needs.

A capable staff of experienced doctors and well-trained nurses wage a constant battle against the ravages of disease and old age, which places the home on a plane high above the average for such institutions.

But don't let a union printer hear you refer to the home as a "charitable institution," for such it is not. Each member contributes his share toward the upkeep of the home, hoping he will never have to go there, but willing and glad to go should the occasion arise when he must. He proudly refers to it as "our home." Over the bronze and stone archway at the entrance to the home property is an inscription, "Its Bounty Unpurchasable."

At the home the I. T. U. really and truly lives up to its creed, "Be Brother's Keeper."

San Jose Cannery Workers Win 5 Per Cent Pay Boost

San Jose, Cal.—A. F. of L. Cannery Workers' Local No. 20852 here has won a wage increase of 5 per cent, bringing minimum rates up to 42½ cents an houh for women and 52½ cents for men.

It was reported that eleven central California cannery locals are voting on acceptance of an offer from cannery operators providing wage increases similar to those won by Local 20852.

DEDICATED first of all to those who build, Labor Day serves to remind all of us of the necessity for building well. America can not afford the waste and loss that follow ill-planned construction or the fulfillment of ill-laid plans. And what America cannot afford, none of the individuals who make up her great population can afford.

For constructive, forward steps, there is always, in America, the means of accomplishment. The progress that comes with each new accomplishment is the result of the cooperation that built this country. As long as it remains, progress cannot be stopped.

SENATOR BERRY TELLS THRONG ONE MORE DEPRESSION WOULD MEAN END OF UNITED STATES

Climax of Labor Day Celebration at Warner Park Sees Union Senator Champion of Organization of Workers.

Says "Communism" Is Epithet Now the Vogue Which Reactionary Interests "Cuss Out" Labor—99 Per Cent of Our People Are 100 Per Cent Americans.

Our own United States Senator George L. Berry declared at the Labor day celebration at Warner park Monday that the United States could not survive another depression such as the one which began in 1929, and he called on all who are interested in "democratic institutions, private ownership, free speech and free press" to support, as a "sacred duty," President Roosevelt's program to prevent a recurrence of an economic debacle.

Warning that the job of curing the nation of its depression "disease" will not be finished until fortifications have been built against its return, Senator Berry blamed the slump on unconcern with "the welfare of our people," and said only Roosevelt's leadership prevented a revolution in the United States.

Legitimate Profits Defended.

He asserted the working men and women of the nation are "genuinely committed" to the profit system, "not profits arrived at by exploitation and secured by the enforcement of privation upon our fellow-citizens, but a profit measured by the legitimate right of the investor to an adequate return for his money, of those engaged in a managerial capacity to an adequate return for their management, and of those engaged in labor to a fair return for their services."

Senator Berry declared discipline on the part of labor, management and capital was needed to bring out "the inescapable community of interest" which is theirs, and he placed blame for lack of discipline on some of those in capital and labor alike.

"There are some in the ranks of labor who have made errors in discipline," he said. "Collective bargaining has been denied to them in the past and it is new to them. But the records indicate there are many in the ranks of management who lack discipline. There are some who believe we are still in the era of the survival of the fittest. I do not believe in that; I believe in the survival of all. There are some who believe they can bargain with labor by saying, 'This is what I will do, and anything else is out.' That is not democracy."

"Unselfish Co-operation" Urged.

Describing the profit system as the foundation upon which democracy must rest, Senator Berry said it, with the other components of America's system of government, depends upon "unselfish co-operation" in industry, for which he appealed.

"My appeal," he said, "is based upon the very firm belief that we are now faced with perhaps the greatest struggle against our selfish instinct that has ever visited this nation. That instinct is to accept the returning prosperity as a permanent cure of the trials and tribulations that came to us during the periods of violent depression.

"My belief is that the strength and the expenditures involved in the federal debt made necessary to save this country from perhaps a revolution, have had such effect upon our body politic that this, the next and perhaps the third generation, will be unable to resist and to live through another experience such as fell to our lot in 1929."

Dismissing as "foolish" the theories that the depression was caused by the World war or that it came in a natural economic "cycle," Senator Berry said, "I charge it was due to a lack of statesmanship of all of us."

"We became soft, and fat, and reckless and unconcerned about the welfare of our people," he asserted. "I propose to do all I can to prevent a return of that order, which was inhuman and without justification. Franklin Roosevelt had the courage, the patience and the wisdom to save the United States from death. Now he seeks to prevent a return of that sort of order. I am in hopes that those who stood for him will awake to the realization of the true situation in this country. I don't believe any one within the sound of my voice will question that except for his leadership we would have had a revolution in America. But we haven't finished this job. If we are interested in democratic institutions, if we are interested in private ownership, if we are interested in free speech ,if we are interested in a free press, it is our sacred duty to support the program that seeks to prevent a return of the great disaster that might have been a catastrophe and engulfed the nation itself."

Charge of Communism Denied.

Defending organized labor against charges of communism, Senator Berry said, "There is not a word of truth in the assertion that labor is going communistic."

"There are those in the United States who live by precipitating disorder," he said. "That's nothing new. It has always been here. I clearly recall that yesteryear when labor leaders were called socialists. That worked out, and they are not called socialists any more. Then they were called bolshevists. Now they are called communists. What they will be called in the future, I can't venture to predict. They are called these things because they seek for those who toil a fair return for their labor.

"I say to you, that 99 per cent of the laboring men and women of America are 100 per cent Americans. I say 99 per cent of them are for our government and for the furtherance of its free institutions. I resent the classification of these citizens—to the manor-born for generations, with freedom in their veins—as against America. They are against tyranny and oppression that brings their families into privation. There is enough in America for the needs of all. I resent the exploitation of my fellow-Americans for tyranny, selfishness and greed. In every home there should be a life of respectability and decency."

Record on Contracts Cited.

To the charge that organized labor is irresponsible, Senator Berry, who is president of the International Printing Pressmen's union, replied:

"I have been president of an international labor union for more than thirty years and I ought to have some knowledge of the responsibility of labor. In December, that union will sign a new contract for five years with the American Newspaper Publishers' association. For twenty years there has been a contract between the union and the newspapers. There is a contract with every daily newspaper in the United States and Canada except three. You don't hear of stoppage because of labor. Newspapers seem to come out with a good deal of regularity—maybe a little too much regularity sometimes; you can't believe everything you read in some newspapers, especially on the editorial pages. The publishers go home at night and sleep soundly, knowing their papers will be printed the next day, and the day after that, according to contract. And the workers go home at night and sleep soundly, knowing their jobs are secure."

Senator Berry was introduced to a very appreciative audience, which he addressed at 5 o'clock, by Commissioner R. M. Cooke, of the city department of public utilities, grounds and buildings.

Auto Workers Union Settles Internal Row

Convention Re-elects Officers, Enlarges Executive Board and Plans Big Ford Plant Organization Drive.

Milwaukee. — United Automobile Workers of America in convention here buried the hatchet of domestic strife and dug up the scalping knife to be used on Henry Ford. A compromise proposed by John L. Lewis re-elected all union officials for another term; but provided for five vice-presidents instead of three, and seventeen members of the executive board instead of twelve. This opened the way for "new blood" and Richard T. Frankensteen and R. J. Thomas, both tried by fire in the organizing campaigns this year, are the new vice-presidents.

Lewis made a speech to the delegates, urging them to end all factional fights, and get together to organize the 140,000 workers of Henry Ford.

"Henry Ford," said Lewis, "may believe that he is the biggest industrialist in America; that he is bigger than the U. A. W.; that he is bigger than the congress of the United States when he refused to obey the Wagner law; but if he continues to believe them, he's going to be a tired old man.

SMITH CHARGES ENEMIES TRYING TO SPLIT UNION

Federation President Says Purposes Plain.

TEACHERS WOULD WELCOME ANY RAISE

But Will Insist on Recognition of Professional Training.

Certain political enemies of the Teachers' union are busy spreading the false information that the union is opposing the recently proposed schedule of increases for this large and admittedly underpaid group of city employes, according to Stanton E. Smith, president of the organization. That their purpose is to split the union, Mr. Smith declared Thursday, is plain.

However, the teachers' executive points out, the teachers would not be true to their profession if they did not make plain their objections to the type of schedule which is proposed, and insist on professional training being recognized in any schedule adopted.

President Smith's statement follows:

"Mayor Bass' promise of $78,000 for salary relief for teachers means an average of $98 per teacher and will raise the average yearly salary from about $900 to $998. This is welcome, though inadequate, relief. The teachers hope that it is only the first step toward a program of general salary increases which will put the teachers on an adequate basis.

"Certain political enemies of the teachers' union are busy spreading the false information that the union is opposing Mr. Bass' increase. Their motive and purpose is plain to even the most naive: to split the teachers' union. They know the financial distress in which the teachers find themselves and the great need of any kind of salary increase. Certainly the union is not opposed to accepting Mr. Bass' $78,000.

"At the same time that we gladly accept the $78,000 we would not be true to our trust and profession if we did not set forth the obvious educational objections to the type of salary schedule which Mr. Bass proposes and the ultimate effect of such a schedule upon the type and quality of instruction which the failure to reward those who invest in professional training will produce."

Painters Strike For Wage Increase

New York City.—Nearly 15,000 members of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers have gone on strike for more pay. They demand a 30-hour week, five days of six hours each, and a minimum of $1.75 per hour, or $53.50 a week. They declare that long hours handling the oils and other substances used in paints make men ill.

Other demands are that the employers' association shall hire at least 50 per cent of their men directly from the union. And—a demand made with more bitterness than any of the rest—the painters insist that the "kick back" has got to stop. They claim that hiring agencies gyp their organization out of $2,000,000 a year by this trick.

The striking brotherhood is an American Federation of Labor union.

USUAL WEATHER NEARLY SPOILS THIS LABOR DAY

Heavy Rain Washes Out Morning Program, But Fair Crowd Braved Damp.

Senator Berry Was Just Plain Old Union Man Monday as He Laid Aside Senatorial Duties and Met Old-Time Friends in Labor Movement.

As has been the custom for the last several Labor days, old man J. Pluvius attended Warner park and wept copiously. All the athletic program was washed away in the morning as the track became so muddy that it was useless to attempt to run the races scheduled. In spite of the morning showers, the afternoon temporary sunbeams encouraged a pretty fair crowd to come on out.

One of the most pleasant parts of the day, however, was the fact that George Berry (Senator Berry to people outside of the labor movement) gave his entire time to meeting his thousands of friends in Chattanooga. He came for the purpose of laying aside politics, and it is believed that the entertainment committee succeeded pretty well in giving the senator a respite from the usual swarm of importuners that a United States senator must meet everywhere he goes.

The senator received well-wishers all morning in his suite at the Patten hotel until lunch time, when he seemed to enjoy a very informal meal in the grill room, attended by Commissioner Bob Cooke (our own Bob), who has been close to the senator long before honors began to come his way. Mayor Ed Bass and Judge Pro Tem C. E. Camp represented the city and county.

The other guests were: Curtis Sims, president of the Central Labor union; T. R. Cuthbert, secretary of the Tennessee Federation of Labor and editor of The Labor World; V. W. Hallmark, chairman of the general committee for the Labor day celebration; Miss Ina Green, secretary of the Label league; White Abel, president of the pressmen's local; Miss Edna Brown, secretary of the Cooks' and Waiters' local; R. C. Reynolds, member of the presemen's local; A. V. Cordell, business agent of the carpenters' local; Stanton E. Smith, president of the teachers' local; Charley Davis, secretary of the pressmen's local, and Mrs. Arch Underwood, secretary of the Label league.

After a short rest the senator was taken to Chickamauga dam for a quick visit, being brought back to the hotel in time to make ready for his splendid Labor day address at Warner park. After the speaking he met some more of his friends and then returned to another informal and small group of union friends for dinner at the Patten.

When a person becomes United States senator it is especially hard to keep him to one group of people, but this Labor day the senator endeared himself to local unionists by devoting his entire time to the union occasion.

As he said in his speech, "I want it to be definitely and well understood that I am first of all a member of organized labor," he certainly appeared to enjoy himself in that capacity.

Development of an airplane which virtually "flies itself" has been announced by the war department. The plane, a large army cargo type, was landed repeatedly at Wright Field, Dayton, O., under adverse conditions with a Sperry Gyra pilot. There was no human assistance. Capt. Carl J. Crane, Capt. George V. Holloman and Raymond Stout occupied the plane while the tests were made, but in no way assisted in maneuvering it to the ground.

BEAVERS SAYS BARBERS LIKE NEW SYSTEM

Public Approval Given to State-City Laws.

IS APPRECIATIVE OF FINE SUPPORT

Board Chairman Warns of Sanitary and License Inspection Oct. 1.

Chattanooga barbers are appreciative of the hearty support given to their state and city regulations, according to H. D. Beavers, chairman of the board of administration created by the new city ordinance.

The state law, passed by the recent legislature, is now in effect, although the city regulations will not be placed in full effect until Oct. 1.

"One of the primary purposes of the law," Mr. Beavers told a representative of The Labor World, "is for protection of the public against insanitary barber service, and we are pleased at the many assurances of support which we are constantly receiving.

"All of the better shops are supporting us 100 per cent., and all the regulations will be placed in effect at the proper time. In this connection, I would like to warn all journeymen barbers that they must have their licenses by Oct. 1, and to urge upon the shop owners a general clean-up and paint-up where such is necessary.

"Practically every one of the owners of higher-class shops, of course, realize the necessity for sanitation, and have long endeavored to keep their places of business in tip-top shape from that standpoint, and the above is not a criticism of them.

"On Oct. 1 a general inspection of all shops will be made, and the law will be strictly enforced. We are anticipating no trouble from the legitimate shops on this matter, however."

UNION MEMBER WINS PLAYGROUND TROPHY

In the playground contest which ended last week, the prize for the best exhibit was awarded to the Rossville youngsters. An interesting thing about this particular award is that Miss Viva Burkes was the supervisor of this group. Miss Burkes is a teacher in the Hamilton county schools, a graduate of the University of Chattanooga and a member of the teachers' federation.

Her father is J. G. Burkes, a member of the Painters' local union and active in labor circles.

Electrical Workers Win Pulp Company Strike in Charleston

Charleston, S. C.—Electrical Workers' Local Union No. 776, fifty-seven members of which are employed at the local subsidiary plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper company, won a 16-hour strike and returned to work with assurance of wage adjustments and union recognition.

The strike was very orderly and while other departments of the plant were not affected, it is believed a complete shut-down would have resulted if a prompt settlement of the difficulty with the Electrical Workers had not been reached. The plant employs about 700 people and operates its own power plant, all machinery being electrically driven.

COLORED TRADES-UNIONISTS SWARM TO LINCOLN PARK FOR FIRST LABOR DAY CELEBRATION

Organizers of Both Races Tell Workers That They Must Go Hand in Hand to Insure Better Living Conditions.

Day Spent in Athletic Contests, Dancing and Enjoying Picnic Lunches—Better Feeling Seen for Racial Relations in Industry.

A large number of colored workers crowded Lincoln pary on Labor day and participated in what one colored labor leader described as the first official Labor day celebration sponsored by the Central Labor union exclusively for colored people ever held in Chattanooga.

The program included athletic events began at 2 p.m. and concluded with speeches by both white and colored labor organizers, who talked from a rostrum set up in the middle of the park and equipped with amplifiers that carried their voices to those on the outskirts of the large crowd.

A scheduled softball game was called off because of wet grounds and most of the afternoon was spent in horseshoe pitching, foot racing, dancing and husband-calling contests. A great many colored children participated in the greasy pole-climbing contest. Dancing went on all afternoon, with an orchestra playing in the pavilion in the center of the park. Prizes were awarded the winners in the various events.

Two Organizers Speak.

Late in the afternoon after the contests had ended, the crowd was addressed by two labor organizers. Punctuated by frequent and emphatic "amens," the speaking lasted until dark. Both men urged the colored workers to affiliate with union organizations and co-operate with organized labor.

H. F. Ziegler, white pastor of the South St. Elmo Baptist church and organizer for the International Molders' union, promised the listeners the support of the white workers if they would affiliate with organized labor.

"We have had lots of opposition in the past," he said, "but the day has come when the colored worker is finding his place in the industrial world.

"There have been numerous instances when the colored worker was not given a square deal and when he was not allowed the opportunity of making a decent living.

"The white boys have realized the wisdom of going hand in hand with the colored boys and a great many colored boys are willing to work side by side with the white workers. If all of you people will line up and help get better living conditions, the white boys will march down the line with you, side by side."

Preacher Urges Affiliation.

A. C. Blackburn, a colored preacher and union organizer of Bessemer, Ala., was the other speaker on the day's program. He, also, urged the negroes to affiliate with the labor movement.

"This is the first Labor day celebration for colored workers in Chattanooga," he said. "A good many of you people think that the labor movement is a new thing, but it originated as far back as 1776, over 150 years ago.

"A few years ago, our people did not have the privilege of joining an organization. You tried to accomplish something, but you couldn't get anywhere without an organization.

"All you have to sell is your muscle, and it behooves you to get as good a price for it as you can get. A good many of your children cannot go to school for lack of clothes because you are not men.

"The cause of most of your trouble is you will not stand up to your job as a man. Instead of taking your money and buying clothes for your children, you spend it on a bottle of whisky."

New Jersey Fixes Minimum Pay for Laundry Industry

Trenton, N. J.—Minimum wages fixed by a state administrator for the laundry industry in New Jersey went into effect Sept. 6. The state is divided into zones; and the bottom rate is 33 cents an hour for Zone A, 30 cents for Zone B, and 26 cents for Zone C, all for 40 hours per week.

This works out at from $10.40 to $13.20 a week, but the best information indicates that it will give a decided boost to the wages of large numbers of laundry workers.

Several other industries are scheduled for official examination and wage decrees.

Cleveland Molders Carrying Fight to Dixie Foundry Co.

Circular Letter Notifies Merchants Over Country of Non-Union Product.

Scabs Working in Plant Herded About by Armed Plug-Uglies —Right to Organize Is Issue in Company-Union Town.

Company-unionism and terrorism against the right of workers to organize into free unions is the issue involved in Cleveland, Tenn., at the Dixie Foundry, according to N. E. Watkins, president of Local 194, International Molders' union.

Some 200 members of the newly-formed molder local struck at the Dixie foundry about July 26 when some of their members were discharged for possessing union cards. Today the place is employing approximately 300 additional "men" to take the place of the 200 strikers, all being herded together by armed "guards." In addition, one more of the many injunctions issued by company-minded judges in Cleveland have been plastered about the place to prevent picketing, if possible.

Local 194 has sent out thousands of letters to merchants and business houses over the United States asking for support in their right to organize in Cleveland, and from reports on their business, the Dixie foundry policy is not bringing good financial returns.

All the strikers are receiving the usual strike benefits from the molder and mounter unions.

J. L. Bradford Of Carpenters' Board Is Dead

Veteran Official Passes On at Nashville; Often Visitor in Local Labor Circles—Funeral Friday.

J. L. Bradford, prominent in the International Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners for a score of years, died in Nashville hospital at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening after a short illness. He was 67 years of age.

Mr. Bradford was entered in the hospital over a week ago after suffering from a severe cold which developed into double pneumonia. For a few days he held his own but thereafter his condition became very critical and early this week hopes for his life were abandoned.

A telegram received by J. L. Carpenter, president for Local No. 74, of the Carpenters' Brotherhood, conveyed the information of death and announcement that the funeral would be conducted at Nashville at 2 o'clock last Friday afternoon.

Mr. Bradford was the general southern representative of the Carpenters' organization and for the last five years had been a member of the executive board of the international union. He was a frequent visitor in Chattanooga and only recently had participated in conferences, with other officials of labor organizations, with the Tennessee Valley Authority board looking to the negotiation of a new general wage scale on the latter's projects.

He gave much time to supervision of the Carpenters Home in Florida, the institution being in the nature of a hobby for him through its policy of caring for the aged and indigent members of his organization.

SHOE WORKERS VOTE.

Washington.—The NLRB has certified that a majority of the workers in twelve shoe factories in Lewiston and Auburn, Me., have voted for the United Shoe Workers of America as their sole bargaining representative. The companies involved and two company unions have protested the result.

A. F. OF L. CONDEMNS LABOR BOARD RULING, HOLDING VOID ELECTRICAL WORKERS' CONTRACT

Atlantic City, N. J.—Action of the national labor relations board in declaring void the agreement between the National Products corporation, Ambridge, Pa., and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers was condemned by the American Federation of Labor Executive Council in session here.

The council unanimously adopted a declaration which, after stating that the council condemned the NLRB ruling, said:

"The board's action is in violation of the national labor relations act. The board had no right to void any agreement entered into by any employer with a legitimate labor organization."

The council declared its stand after listening to an account of the Ambridge case by G. M. Bugniazet, secretary of the Electrical Workers and a member of the Executive Council. Bugniazet said the union was determined to protect its rights and would take legal steps to restrain the NLRB from putting its order in effect.

Drastic action was taken by the council in the case of the West Virginia State Federation of Labor, which has refused to expel unions affiliated with the committee for industrial organization. The council announced it would take steps to reorganize the West Virginia federation with officials loyal to the A. F. of L.

The council accepted a report from Vice-President Matthew Woll in regard to reaffiliation with the International Federation of Trade Unions and thus formally rejoined the I. F. T. U. The American Federation of Labor left the I. F. T. U. in 1921.

THE WAGNER-CONNERY ACT

The basis of the present national labor relations act which we commonly refer to as the "Wagner act" can be easily traced to Section 7 (a) of the national industrial recovery act. As we may recall, the old NIRA had the following under its 7th section:

> "That employes should have the right to organize through representatives of their own choosing and should be free from the interference of employers in the designation of such representatives or in self-organization or other concerted activities for the purpose of collective bargaining."

And we may also remember committees in the nature of mediation boards were set up to pass on complaints in violation of the above section. Last among these was the national labor relations board which functioned from June, 1934, to June, 1934, developing what we might now term as the "common law" of labor relations.

So when the Wagner act was passed there was already in existence, to guide the decisions of the board created by the act, important principles as follows:

(1) That employers must not discriminate against members of unions or interfere with their lawful activities as members in any way.

(2) That employers must not seek to promote company unions by financial support or otherwise.

(3) That employers must recognize the persons selected by the majority of their employes as the agents for purposes of collective bargaining, although they are not employes in the plant.

(4) The employers must recognize the representatives chosen by the majority as the exclusive bargaining agent for the entire unit.

(5) That employers must bargain in good faith with a sincere purpose to reach an agreement.

With the above recognized principles in mind we see that the "Wagner act" or the "National Labor Relations Act," as approved July 5, 1935, was not intended to give to labor any additional weapon or to place in its hand any means of advantage. Its purpose, as can be easily read from Section 1, says:

> "The inequality of bargaining power between employes who do not possess full freedom of association or actual liberty of contract, and employers who are organized in the corporate or other forms of ownership association substantially burdens and affects the flow of commerce and tends to aggravate recurrent business depression."

Its purpose is, we see, not only to give the employes their rights to organize and bargain collectively, but also to prevent depressing wage rates and the loss of the purchasing power of the wage-earners which indirectly impairs and disrupts the general market of goods flowing from or into the channels of commerce.

Under its Section (7), the act guarantees to the workers their right to self-organization, to form, join or assis labort organizations, to bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing, and to engage in concerted activities for the purpose of collective bargaining or other mutual aid or protection.

And in the next section, 8, it sets out definitely what the employers cannot do. First, they cannot interfere with the employes, in their exercising any of the rights allowed them in Section 7. They cannot assist in the formation of any labor organization or contribute to its support, financially or otherwise. (This is to prevent the promoting of company unions by the management.) They cannot discriminate among employes for the purpose of encouraging or discouraging membership in any union. They cannot discharge any employe for giving testimony under this act, and they must bargain in good faith with the representative of the majority.

In Section 9 it is provided that the representative selected by the majority of any unit shall be the exclusive representative of all the employes, but any individual employe or group shall have the right at any time to present grievances to the employer.

The act further sets up a board for the administration. It is known as the national labor relations board and is composed of three members appointed by the president with the consent of the senate. The present members are J. Warren Madden, chairman; John M. Carmody and Edwin S. Smith. It has the power to determine the appropriate union for the purpose of collective bargaining, to hold a secret ballot election if necessary, and to prevent any person from engaging in unfair labor practices contrary to the act. It is also given broad powers of investigation, and may compel the introduction of documents and the testimony of witnesses.

To enforce its decrees, the board may petition an appropriate federal court, and also any person aggrieved may petition a like court to modify or set aside the order of the board. It is provided that the findings of the board as to the facts, if supported by evidence, shall be conclusive.

While it can be said that the present Wagner act is a culmination of a trend for twenty years to prohibit employers from interfering with the organization of their employes, there are many who say that the act is unfair and endeavor to find faults in it as bases for attacks. As far back as the World war, principles were laid down that the workers could organize and bargain collectively. The railway labor act of 1926 further guaranteed this right. Yet, enemies attempt to say that it is momentary and will last only through the Roosevelt administration.

Others say that it is a good law but favors labor. Why should it not favor labor? It has been labor who has carried the fight to reduce into the law the principles which others agreed were right but jealously guarded to avoid putting too much power into labor's hands.

Another objection frequently heard is that unfair labor practices of employers are listed in the act, but no mention of unfair practices of employes are set out. Senator Wagner gave one explanation when he said that practices of employes which are illegal and which may damage employers' property are already fully covered by the law. Another is that the employers heretofore have been able to engage in practices which are recognized as unfair but have never been declared so by law. The Wagner act goes direct into these.

In summing it up, we may say that the act represents a conviction which has become rather general. Its principles are sound and to the public's interest. We all know that the relationship of employes and employe should be under the control of the law. Abuses on both sides are almost inevitable if individual control is unrestrained.

We further know that the right of employes to organize in their own way and under their own leaders without interference from employers is now generally accepted. Protection of this right by law is justified in the public interest because it is one of the rights which experience shows cannot and ought not be repressed.

IN THE NEWS
SCHWELLENBACH

Lewis B. Schwellenbach, senator from the good state of Washington, will be 43 years old in September. He was born at Superior, Wis., the town right across a bay of Lake Superior from Duluth. A widely traveled man once reported that a summer in Duluth was the pleasantest winter he ever saw; and no doubt the climate of Superior is much the same.

His name and his birthplace indicate that he is probably descended from some of those Germans of 1848, who came to America when all hope of liberty at home had been crushed. Lewis B. was taken to Washington early enough to attend grade and high schools at Spokane. He graduated from the University of Washington in 1917; and went into the United States army. Coming out, he began to practice law in Seattle in 1919; was state commander of the American Legion in 1922; elected to the senate in 1934; married in 1935.

He is a sturdy six-footer, with a high forehead and eyes of a curiously bright brown. He is a steadfast liberal, vigorous and sometimes caustic of speech, supported the nomination of Senator Black to the supreme court and ripped Senator Copeland's attack on Black to shreds. He was one of the first in congress to talk about a special session.

Watch him; he's worth it.

Business Is Urged to Take 4,000,000 Off Relief Rolls

Silver Bay, N. Y.—Assistant Secretary of Commerce Ernest G. Draper proposed here that the nation's business associations unite for the purpose of transferring 4,000,000 persons from relief rolls to permanent jobs by September, 1939.

Draper, addressing the 20th annual conference on industrial relations, declared the time was ripe for "hard, unremitting work" by industry to cure the evils of unemployment.

"Why could not every single business association, large and small, national and local, bind itself together through inter-related committees with the sole purpose of taking off the relief rolls into jobs of more or less permanent nature 4,000,000 persons between Sept. 1, 1937, and Sept. 1, 1939?"

CY KOLOGY, EDITOR

Halt! Who goes there?

Well, it could be almost anything. It could be war. It could be a strike. It could be a sack of potatoes or a new business agent.

Things move fast these days. The world is at peace—or at least most of it is, excepting Spain.

Blooey, the Japs let go with both barrels. An American warship gets a crack on the quarter dack and then a British ambassador gets it in the liver.

The whole world has the jitters and anything can happen. This has been repeated, over and over again. Well, it's true. It takes a lot of repeating to get the truth sunk home. No "hole in one" business about that.

More than that, believe it or not, the whole trade union picture here at home could and may change over night. Most folks think the directions are all set, the cards all dealt and the long road stretches ahead.

It may be that way—and it may not. Changes come mighty fast. A good many things in this labor picture are not what they look like when you see them with the naked eye. With a microscope they are something else. There's a lot underneath that doesn't show through.

And still a lot of union officials wander along as if this were twenty years ago. They have the notion that keeping posted up to date, keeping armed with the best information, is like carrying one more piece of useless baggage on the road. Well, it isn't that way. The ones that don't think it is are the ones that are getting best results and will go farthest.

* * *

Over night the future of the International Seamen's union was changed. New officials—new everything.

Your picture may change next.

Halt! Who goes there? You're a wise guy if you can be sure.

Lecturing? Sure, and why not. A lot of lecturing is needed, but probably will not be heeded. "Smart guy," some will say. They always do. And some of them get their foot stuck in the mud afterwards, yelling for some "smart guy" to get 'em a rope. Too bad they can't get rope enough first.

But, by and large, in spite of hell and high water, things are moving along. More and more people are learning that knowledge is worth its weight in gold in a fight.

* * *

Right now some "smart guy" is perfecting some kind of an invention that will change thousands of jobs. Where is he? It doesn't matter; he's somewhere, like the fellow who discovered the electric eye and made it take over a whale of a lot of jobs.

The world laughed in turn at the men who discovered telegraphy, radio, airplanes and motion pictures. Just as they razzed the steamboat.

The human race is still at it. Some even yet laugh at research and statistics and organized information—and at modern publicity public relations. There are some who thing public relations are the inhabitants of the poorhouse, or the guys down in city hall.

It's a mad and crazy world. Things happen fast enough to make people dizzy. And they do get dizzy. And some have to work so hard all day long at their jobs that they can't think when they're through.

But leaders have to think—and plan—and know the latest and be up to snuff and on the job, alert and alive—and truly wise in the serious sense of the word. They're getting more that way—but they can keep going that way without going too far.

What Next!

Holzkohle, a synthetic coal made from wood, is being used to run a new excursion boat plying the River Spree in Germany. The synthetic coal generates a gas which drives the internal combustion engines of the boat. The coal is delivered in paper bags and can be handled almost as conveniently as liquid fuels.

Wisdom

It is not enough that honest men are appointed judges. All know the influence of interest on the mind of man, and how unconsciously his judgment is warped by that interest.—Thomas Jefferson.

Radio programs over WLW should sound more pleasant to union listeners now that the Crosley corporation's electricians have fallen into step with organized labor's march forward.

Had you realized that our union glass blowers made so many beverage bottles in a day?

NLRB Fights Court Over Decision Upholding A. F. of L. Union Pact

Board, Claiming Exclusive Jurisdiction in Labor Matters Affecting Interstate Commerce, Says Contract Between Electrical Workers and Pennsylvania Company Is Void and Orders Collective Bargaining Election.

Washington.—In a decision more far-reaching than any it has made before, the national labor relations board claims exclusive jurisdiction over all labor matters affecting interstate commerce, and holds that a federal judge of the district court has no right to issue a decree in such a case.

This is the outcome—to date—of the contest between the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, an affiliate of the A. F. of L., and the United Electrical and Radio Workers of America, a C. I. O. organization, as to which should be the exclusive bargaining agency for the employes of the National Electric Products corporation in its plant at Ambridge, Pa.

On May 22, this year, the company agreed to recognize Local 1073-B, of the brotherhood—the A. F. of L. organization—as the sole bargaining agency for its employes.

Brotherhood Recognized.

Evidence taken before the board's examiner states that this local was not organized until May 23, when it held its first meeting. On May 27, the company signed a contract recognizing the brotherhood as the sole bargaining agency, and

"Further agrees to employ only members of the brotherhood or those who have made proper arrangements for becoming members within twenty-one days after being employed."

And in the event that an employe failed to join the brotherhood, within the 21-day period, the company

"Will deduct from such employe's wages the union dues for each calendar month . . . which such employe would pay if he or she had become a member of the union."

Wagner Act Held Violated.

In other words, the check-off. The company went down the line for the brotherhood, and, by consequence, against the United.

"At no time," says the board in its public statement, "were any valid claims to a majority membership advanced by the brotherhood or by the company, one of whose officials, I. A. Bennett, when asked whether he did not think it important to make inquiry on this matter, replied on the witness stand:

"'No, we thought it important that we shouldn't.'"

"The conclusion is inescapable," the board states, "that the respondent (the company) actively participated in the enlistment of the brotherhood's membership." This, the board held, is a violation of the Wagner act; and it has ordered an election to determine the bargaining agency.

Judge Upholds Contract.

So much for the inter-union dispute. But the company took the case to the federal district court of western Pennsylvania, and the judge issued a decree, requiring the company to perform its contract of May 27 with the brotherhood. Of this, the board states:

"This decree is no bar to the instant (present) proceeding under the national labor relations act or to the making of an order by the board under the terms of that act, that the respondent shall cease and desist from discriminating against the employes because they decline to join the brotherhood. * * * This act embodies a public policy of national concern and is the supreme law of the land on the subject mattered covered by it. It empowers the board to prevent any unfair labor practice affecting commerce and expressly provides that 'this power shall be exclusive,' and that jurisdiction in the circuit court of appeals to review the board's orders is likewise 'exclusive.'"

Union Head Scores Board.

President Dan W. Tracy, of the IBEW, scored the board bitterly for its decision.

"It is a dastardly decision," Tracy said. "It affects the validity of contracts made for the improvement of working men. It affects the power of a federal court, which I understand to be superior to the laboar board.

"It is our understanding that the law is to protect the working man, and we're not going to take this lying down."

It is almost certain that the case will be carried to the supreme court.

LEGAL NOTICES

TRUSTEE'S SALE

Whereas, on the 17th day of November, 1925, M. T. Gwin and wife, Stella Lee Gwin, of Hamilton County, Tennessee, executed a deed of trust conveying the property hereinafter described and advertised for sale to F. L. Underwood, Trustee, which said deed of trust was filed for registration November 23, 1925, and recorded in Book X, Vol. 19, page 365, et seq., in the Register's office of Hamilton County, Tennessee; and,

Whereas, said deed of trust was executed for the purpose of securing the payment of a certain indebtedness, fully described in the said deed of trust, to which reference is made for a complete description; and default has been made in the payment of the said indebtedness secured by said deed of trust and interest thereon, and the said M. T. Gwin and wife, Stella Lee Gwin, have failed to perform covenants in the note evidencing the indebtedness, and have failed to perform covenants in said deed of trust, and have remained in default for more than thirty days, and the holder of said indebtedness has made demand upon the undersigned trustee to sell the property conveyed by said deed of trust, as therein provided, to satisfy the payment of said indebtedness and interest, as said holder of said indebtedness has a right to do under the terms of said deed of trust:

Now, therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in the undersigned Trustee, F. L. Underwood, of Chattanooga, Tennessee, as Trustee, will, on

sell, within the legal hours of sale, at the west door of the courthouse in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at public outcry, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, in bar of all equities of redemption, dower and homestead, the following described real estate in the city of Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, to-wit:

Being Lot Number Sixteen (16), Block Number Twenty-three (23), Highland Park addition Number One (1), as per plat of said addition now found of record in the Register's office of said county and state.

Said deed of trust recites that title to the said property is clear, free and unencumbered, and title thereto is believed to be good, but the sale will be made as Trustee only, and subject to any unpaid taxes.

This September 8, 1937.

Attempt to Spike Labor Press In South Exposed

Editor of Mississippi Labor Journal Balks Scheme of Union Foes to Deprive Papers of Advertising.

Gulfport, Miss.—An attempt by an anti-labor element of organized business to stifle or kill the labor press in the south was recently uncovered by T. M. Freeman, editor of the Mississippi Labor Journal, Gulfport, when he learned through an unimpeachable source that the manufacturers' association of the state of Texas had adopted a resolution to the effect any employer of labor, whether an individual, firm, or corporation, who in any manner contributed, directly or indirectly, to the support of any labor publication, either by advertising or any other means, was in violation of the Wagner labor relations act, and that the said individual, firm or corporation was, because of such contribution, liable to fine or imprisonment or both under the provisions of the act.

The resolution adopted by the Texas association was being quieitly distributed among the membership of other associations in Louisiana and Mississippi and possibly other states, with the request they in turn take similar action. Some of the associations in Mississippi that had received a copy of this resolution had in turn requested their attorneys for a legal opinion on their rights under the Wagner act to advertise in labor publications, and had been advised in some cases to discontinue such advertising until they could go more fully into the legal questions involved.

Immediately upon learning of this move, Editor Freeman went before the regional office of the national labor relations board in New Orleans and disclosed the information he had, and requested a ruling on the entire matter. Charles Logan, director of the regional office, immediately branded the statements contained in the Texas resolution as being untrue, and issued a statement to the effect that there was nothing in the act which prohibits legitimate advertising in any legitimate publication, labor or otherwise.

This ruling by the regional office was wired to the national board in Washington for concurrence, and the board answered by stating—"Bona fide purchase of advertising space in any legitimate publication does not violate any provisions of the national labor relations act."

New Pennsylvania Law Cuts Women's Work Week

Harrisburg, Pa.—A new law providing a maximum work week for women of 44 hours went into effect on Sept. 1 throughout Pennsylvania. Domestics, nurses, executives earning more than $25 a week and some types of agricultural employes are excepted under the new law.

Personal Notes About Tennessee's New Senator

Senator George Berry is a very genial sort of person and a great kidder. He devoted a great deal of time Monday night to putting Commissioner Bob Cooke "in the grease."

* * *

The senator is not at all sensitive about his diminishing supply of hair. He says that nobody else can train their hair to stay in place with that low part, so that it will cover up the bald spot. On being asked what he did about his hair when the wind was blowing hard, he said he just kept his hat on. (To which some facetious individual remarked that he supposed the senator kept his hat on all the time in the senate meetings.)

* * *

Any person who has seen Mr. Berry's signature, will recall that he signs his name with a wide sweep of a very broad-pointed pen. In fact, he has been accused of using a paint brush to affix his signature. But he showed that pen to a group of people Monday night and says it is one that he treasures very highly because it was presented to him in 1923 when all of the New York publishers and the pressmen representatives "got together" for the first time. After the agreement had been signed, some official gave the pen to Major Berry.

One other personal about Senator Berry. He says that he did not learn to read and write until he was 16 years old, and that he has never attended a school. He should be proud of the record he has made for himself—truly, a self-made man.

Miss Edna Brown, our financial secretary, was a guest at the luncheon given Senator George Berry Monday at the Patten hotel.

We are very sorry to hear that Mr. W. W. Davis, proprietor of the Central Dining room, is ill.

* * *

We have some union men who continue to eat at the Home Plate. Remember, folks, this eating establishment uses non-union cooks and waiters.

* * *

We urge our members to give their support to Bakers' Local 25 in their first fight against the Erskine Baking company.

We are glad to see Mr. O'Rear back at the Business Men's Lunch after a trip to California.

The fight against Canada Dry Ginger Ale, which the Brewery and Soft Drink Workers, Local 79, have been engaged in for the past eight weeks, is being put forth from a different angle. The merchants are being called upon by Miss Louise Tinker, who explains fully the conditions under which this non-union drink is being made. A great number of these merchants are giving their support in helping these boys to win their fight. Miss Tinker is also speaking before the different locals asking our union people to discontinue using Mr. Talley's produce until he decides to do something about this ginger ale. She is getting a hearty response from her fellow union members; in fact, organized labor as a whole and a number of union sympathizers are supporting these workers in their drive against this non-union ginger ale.

The officers of Local 29 are John Etter, president; Erskine F. Fisher, secretary, and R. Leo Lee, treasurer.

Government Employes Spurn C. I. O. Group

Locals in This City and Chickamauga, Tenn., Refuse to Join Lewis Disruptionists.

The Chattanooga local of the American Federation of Government Employes definitely voted down a proposal to withdraw from the American Federation of Labor and affiliate with the committee for industrial organization, established a number of months ago by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, supported by ten national and international unions which refused to obey the majority decision of the 1935 American Federation of Labor convention.

The local union is composed of 88 members among office and clerical workers of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Officials of the Chickamauga local of the A. F. G. E. said that organization had voted down a similar proposal.

The quickest way to make industry unionize is to be sure that it is a "fair" firm that you patronize.

COURT DECISION ON BREWERY WORKERS' AND TEAMSTERS' JURISDICTION IS DENIED

Federal Judge Roche, in Ruling Handed Down in San Francisco, Recognizes Right of American Federation of Labor to Adjust Such Controversies.

Jurisdictional disputes between national and international unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor must be settled by the federation itself and not by either the federal courts or the national labor relations board, Federal Judge Michael J. Roche held recently in San Francisco in dismissing the petition of the California State Brewers' Institute for a court decision on whether the institute should recognize the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers of America or the International Union of the United Brewery, Flour, Cereal and Soft Drink Workers of America in dealing with its employes. Both unions are affiliated with the A. F. of L.

The institute told the court that the dispute had arisen as to which of the two unions should represent the drivers of beer trucks with respect to negotiations covering wages, hours and working conditions.

Labor Board Avoids Jurisdiction Disputes.

Pointing out that both the petitioner and defendant, the Brewery Workers' union, had asked the court to hold that the jurisdictional dispute be determined by the national labor relations board under the national labor relations act, Judge Roche said:

"It is, however, the declared policy of congress, as expressed in that act to protect the 'exercise by workers of full freedom of association, self-organization and designation of representatives of their own choosing.' Such freedom of association and self-organization includes self-management and self-discipline.

"The two unions here involved are members of the American Federation of Labor.

"The national labor relations board in all cases which have arisen concerning jurisdictional disputes between members of the same labor organization has held that such dispute must be decided by that labor organization itself. [illegible] the national labor relations act in this respect, properly interpreted the act.

Union Decisions Not Subject to Courts.

"Decisions reached by labor unions according to their own constitution and by-laws of procedure are not to be invalidated by a court of law, provided that all parties have had an opportunity to be heard, that the decision has not been arbitrary and that the fundamental law of the association has not been violated.

"A court of law will, therefore, not interfere with the decision of the American Federation of Labor, with its internal organization, or with the method of its making or enforcing its awards.

A. F. of L. Is Supreme Authority.

"The court recognizes the right of the American Federation of Labor to adjust jurisdictional disputes. The settlement of such controversies and the enforcement of such decisions is clearly the function of the federation. That higher body to which these two labor organizations belong and of which they are members, must determine this matter and render and enforce a binding decision between them, and agreements reached recognizing the American Federation of Labor decisions would be valid and binding on the parties [illegible] such agreements be reached.

Refuses to Invoke Labor Act.

Although petitioner asks for declaratory relief, the court has already pointed out that there is no contract now existing between the parties; that the national labor relations act is not [illegible] this court to decide [illegible] that the proper [illegible] is the labor [illegible] these two [illegible] members, [illegible] State [illegible] missed; that the amended cross-complaint will be, and hereby is, dismissed; and that each of the parties [illegible]

'NOOGA PRODUCTS IN GINGER ALES ALL UNION MADE

Bottles, Drink and Handlers of Chattanooga - Made Drinks Really Union.

Brewery Workers Tell Public That Their Campaign Against Non-Union Canada Dry Is Boost for Home Employment.

"Buy union-made ginger ale and at the same time patronize Chattanooga" is the slogan of Local 79, Soft Drink Workers' union, in their campaign against B. L. Talley's non-union Canada Dry ginger ale.

Actively working over the complete Chattanooga area for the past two months or more, local unionists report that the Atlanta-made product is fast disappearing from local shelves.

The public is becoming aware that there are a half-dozen or more fine brands of ginger ales available made in Chattanooga by Chattanoogans. That's not all. The bottles themselves are made by union men in Chattanooga. Still more—the bottled drinks of these six brands are distributed by union salesmen on trucks driven by union drivers.

The various brands are sold in 5 and 10-cent sizes and are recognized as the best that may be had. They are:

Par-T-Pak, New Yorker, Monogram, Moccasin Club, Double Dry and Buffalo Rock.

The Canada Dry product is made out of Chattanooga and is distributed (what little is sold) by the non-union B. L. Talley Produce company, delivered by non-union drivers.

Erskine Fisher, secretary of Local 79, said this week:

"We appreciate the support given us in our attempt to better conditions in the bottling industry. We have been so successful, we believe, because we have been able to offer first-class ginger ales to the public that are made here at home 100 per cent union."

The ranks of American labor organizations have nearly doubled between the last two Labor days; growing from around 4,000,000 to about 7,000,000. And still there's more to follow.

U. T. Seeks Teachers To Train for Federal Educational Program

New Course Added This Fall to Provide South With Qualified Merchandising Instructors.

To provide the south with qualified supervisors and teachers for the recently enlarged federal vocational education program, the University of Tennessee this fall will add a teacher training course in distributive occupations of the merchandising field, announced Dr. T. W. Glocker, head of U. T.'s School of Commerce.

Dr. Glocker also announced the appointment of a new faculty member to direct the course—Mrs. Marion T. Lyndon, of Boston, Mass., a woman with wide experience in merchandising and personnel work and a former newspaper columnist.

Mrs. Lyndon will start her classes with the opening of regular classes at U. T. Sept. 29. Persons enrolling for the course will register along with other students Sept. 27 and 28.

The one-year course will be solely for persons who intend to apply for positions of teaching merchandising occupations in the new federal educational program created by the George-Deen act, which recently was approved by congress. It was brought out by President Roosevelt in his statement when he signed the act that there is a lack of persons qualified to teach under the new program.

The new George-Deen act is an extension of the old Smith-Hughes act, which for many years has provided for federal aid in the states for the teaching of agricultural, home economics and trade and industrial subjects. This new act not only increases the annual appropriation for vocational education by nearly ten million dollars, but it adds provisions

NEW ELECTRICIANS' LOCAL GETS CHARTER

A new local of the I. B. E. W. for construction and maintenance electricians at the Chickamauga dam was installed Sunday morning by International Representatives Gordon Freeman and A. T. Johnston.

The following officers were elected:
Arthur E. Butler, president.
Ed Carroll, vice-president.
Tillman H. Payne, recording secretary.
A. E. Hopson, financial secretary.
Thomas C. Brown, treasurer.
T. H. Payne and R. O. Shellabarger, delegates to TVA labor panel.

RESOLUTION

Whereas, Brother Floyd Wallace, a member of Local Union 1882, and son of Brother and Mrs. J. R. Wallace, passed away at a local hospital Aug. 28, 1937; therefore, be it

Resolved, that we extend to Brother J. R. Wallace and family our heartfelt sympathy in their great loss. Be it further

Resolved, That this resolution be spread on the minutes of our local union and a copy be sent to the bereaved family, also a copy be sent The Labor World for publication.

JIM TRENT HERE

Jim Trent, former mayor of Knoxville and a member of the Knoxville Typographical union, was in Chattanooga Tuesday and stopped by The Labor World long enough to say hello. Mr. Trent is a candidate for the office of mayor again in the coming election which will be held by the Knoxvillians on Nov. 13. Mr. Trent says he is confident he will defeat the other two candidates who are in the field.

DUDNEY VISITS KINGSPORT

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Dudney, of Molders No. 8, have returned from a visit to Kingsport, Tenn., where they were guests of their son, John A. Dudney, and family. Mrs. Dudney visited in Kingsport for six weeks and Mr. Dudney joined her there for a two weeks' visit.

They were accompanied home by Mrs. John A. Dudney, their grandchildren and two friends who came to do some shopping in Chattanooga.

Mr. Dudney's son is employed at the Kingsport Press and showed his father through the entire plant. Mr. Dudney says it is a very impressive sight and that the working conditions are unusually good.

CLEVELAND BOSS FAILS IN EFFORT TO FREEZE PICKET

Tries to Put Out Small Fires on Picket Lines Around Plant.

Non-Union Stoves Reported to Be Coming Back From Dealers in Car Lots as They Refuse to Handle Them.

Cleveland, Tenn., home of non-unionism at its worst, tried a small and picayunish trick last week, it is reported, when they appealed to the state fire marshal to stop the pickets around the Dixie foundry, on strike, from having small fires with which to keep warm during the night. It is reported that the state fire marshal investigated and refused the order, allowing the pickets to use fires in small steel drums.

The strike has been in progress since July 26, called by the A. F. of L. mounters and molders. An original injunction was dissolved by the high court, and within twenty-four hours another injunction was issued by the Cleveland judge. The strike and picketing still goes on.

That the strike is having effect is indicated by the appearance of carloads of stoves which had been shipped to dealers coming back home unused. The wide publicity given to merchants concerning the nonunion and unfair Dixie stoves seems to be the cause of the stoves being returned.

There is one consideration in the news from chemists that TNT can be made from oil. That is that the chief oil fields of the world are not under the jurisdiction of Hitler or Mussolini.

AFL to Coordinate Southern Members Drive At Atlanta

Southwide Conference of All Salaried Organizers, Representatives of National and International Unions and State Federations and Central Bodies Called for September 18-19.

The most important conference in the history of the American Federation of Labor in the Southern States was called last week to be held in Atlanta, Ga., next Saturday and Sunday, September 18 and 19.

Official call for the conference was issued by George L. Googe, director of the southern organizing campaign, on instructions of Director Lewis Hines of the A. F. of L., with the further announcement that President William Green would probably attend and address the sessions.

Director Hines and Spencer Miller, executive directors of the workers' educational bureau, will be other other speakers out of the federation's Washington offices.

Purpose of the Atlanta sessions, according to the call, which is directed to all salaried organizers of the federation in the southern states, will be the co-ordination of the plans for the southern organizing campaign now rapidly nearing final stages. Sessions will be held at the Ansley hotel, the first commencing at 9 o'clock Saturday morning.

The southwide conference is regarded as a follow-up of the recent Nashville conference of state federation officials, attended by Representative Googe, wherein plans were considered for a Tennessee organizing campaign to which the full assistance of the A. F. of L. was pledged. Mr. Googe has, in like manners, attended executive conferences of other state federations in the south, paving the way for development of a full, co-ordinated plan to organize the workers of this section of the nation.

Confectionery Workers Win Wage Raise Strike

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—At the conclusion of an eleven-day strike against Rockwood & Co., manufacturers of chocolate products, Bakery and Confectionery Workers International Union Local No. 105 picked up a settlement which provides for the union shop, wage increases, time and one-half for overtime and other standard union shop conditions.

PERRY APPOINTED ON BARBER BOARD

George Perry, president of Local 415, Journeymen Barbers, was named this week to the state barber inspection board for this section of the state. Mr. Perry has had a long record of accomplishment in the Chattanooga movement, and the state is to be congratulated in its selection.

SEARS, ROEBUCKS' ENLARGED STORE DESERVES PRAISE

Union Men Proud in Knowledge Entire Job Done by Members of Organized Labor.

Splendid Cooperation of Local Management With Organized Labor Believed One Reason for Expansion.

Organized labor salutes Sears, Roebuck this week in the opening of their new and greater store which is being generally conceded to be complete in every detail. More than doubling its quarters, Sears will be able to supply trade unionists' families with almost everything that they need in the way of merchandise.

They have a fine line of union-labeled suits and overcoats.

While under the management of Mr. Hal Hersheimer locally, Sears has gained for itself the name of being fair to labor, particularly evidenced by the fact that the entire job of remodeling was done by union members of the building crafts throughout.

Open house was held last Thursday when thousands of Chattanooga citizens inspected the latest improvement in local business affairs.

It might well be noted that Sears, Roebuck has been a constant advertiser in The Labor World, a fact which other business people of Chattanooga could ponder with great benefit to themselves.

CENTRAL BODY NOTES

Monday night's meeting of the Central Body was one of the shortest for a long time. The crowd was very small with several delegates out of town, including the president and secretary, who are away on business for their respective locals. Recording Secretary Virginia Munsey is back from her summer's work.

* * *

Credentials were received from the Iron Workers for Brothers J. R. Callendar and J. B. Thompson and they were obligated.

* * *

The label committee reported that a new magazine, the "Tennessee Valley Farmer," bears the union label. Also, that the Jackson Upholstering company can furnish the union label.

* * *

The chairman of the organizing committee introduced Brother W. E. Cheek, organizer for the A. F. of L., who made a short talk on plans for organization work in Chattanooga.

* * *

V. W. Hallmark, chairman of the Labor day celebration, reported on the results of the celebration. He thanked the entire committee and gave special mention to Commissioner Cooke's department for the wonderful co-operation it had given.

* * *

A request from the carpenters' union that Brother Lonnie Carpenter be indorsed for the position of organizer for this district was adopted.

* * *

The convention call was read for the annual meeting of the American Federation of Labor, which will be held in Denver on Oct. 4, 1937. It was voted not to send a delegate to this meeting.

* * *

Communications and requests were read and turned over to their respective committees.

* * *

Brother Felix Hamill, of the Movie Operators, announced that new agreements had just been reached with all movie houses in Chattanooga, including the colored. These agreements called for a rnise in pay.

"BOSS" PRINTERS HOLD SWAY HERE FOR THREE DAYS

Sentiment Expressed That Relations Between Employer and Worker Is Changing.

Local Employing Printers Show Usual Chattanooga Hospitality at Patten Hotel for Largest Assembly of Federation.

Members of the Southern Master Printers' federation were guests of Chattanooga employing printers Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 12, 13, 14, for their annual convention.

Attendance was the largest in many years and the delegates and visitors expressed themselves as "having enjoyed the entertainment and hospitality of Chattanooga more than any previous meeting" of the association.

Numerous typos and pressmen affiliated with local unions were active in the convention proceedings and entertainment. Outstanding were Neil J. Crowley, who officially opened the meeting and wrote and directed a skit which was one of the highlights of Monday night's banquet held at the Patten. Also taking active part were Phil I. Angel and John Galyon.

Wallace R. Smith, of the Purse company, was chairman of the convention committee and turned in a swell job of arranging.

George V. Kline, of Birmingham, in an address Monday night urged the members of the Southern Master Printers' federation to recognize "the danger of conflict between employers and employes," and advised the printers that they should consider their dependence on their employes.

He declared that "the world social state today is wobbling. The relation between industry and finance, between capital and labor, between employer and employe is being changed in accordance with a preconceived program.

"Most of you have a control of your business and are at least responsible for a group of employes, who are as essential to the success of your business as your machinery, your paper stock or your telephone. These employes ' ' ' respect you as their leaders and their friendly attitude toward you is in a large measure responsible for the fine work your printing plants turn out every day. You will do well to develop policies in your relationship with the employes which are based on a recognition of this dependence.

"Out of such recognition will come increased confidence between you and the employe, and there will come any number of recommendations from your employes which you can translate into actual practice and which will probably improve your operating methods and save you some unnecessary overhead. There may be suggestions coming to you from the employes on the improvement of their working conditions or suggestions for their welfare in general. Increasing confidence and co-operation will reduce and eventually eliminate wasteful antagonisms which are today in evidence everywhere.

"What a fine thing for all of us to realize that business is no longer a colorless struggle after the almighty dollar! What a satisfaction to know that business today is becoming a human science, where human values are recognized and appropriately dealt with—and that business is becoming a grand adventure, full of opportunities for service to society."

Paducah Laundry Workers Win Higher Pay and Shorter Hours

PADUCAH, Ky.—The Laundry Workers in Paducah are now working under an agreement which establishes a maximum work week of 48 hours in place of the former work week varying from 85 to 111 hours, according to Fred Olds, A. F. of L. organizer here.

The minimum wages under the new agreement range from $12 to $26.25 for the 48-hour week, with time and one-half for overtime. Before the agreement was finalized, laundry workers were paid as low as $9 per week.

In addition, the agreement provides for union recognition and other union conditions.

In the death of Thomas G. Masaryk, president emeritus of the Czechoslovak republic which he founded, the world lost one of its bravest hearts and greatest minds. But his great and good work lives after him.

Union Pact Signed Covering Meat Workers In 30,000 Retail Stores Throughout Nation

Chicago.—An agreement between the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America and the National Retail Meat Dealers' association, covering 30,000 retail stores, has been signed. Under it the union will become the sole bargaining agency.

The pact is the most far-reaching ever entered into by the Amalgamated and is the first of its kind ever negotiated on a thorough national scale. It was secured through the combined efforts of Patrick E. Gorman, president; Dennis Lane, secretary-treasurer, and James Laverty, vice-president, of the international union.

Local unions affiliated with the Meat Cutters and local retail meat dealers' associations in different cities, notably San Francisco, Cal.; Seattle, Wash.; St. Louis, Mo., and Memphis, Tenn., have been on friendly terms and in thorough accord for many years. Because such set-ups in these localities brought good results, the executive council of the national dealers' association deemed it advisable to negotiate a contract on a national basis. Together with union representatives, they drew up an agreement which was accepted by President Gorman, Secretary Lane and Vice-President Laverty on behalf of the union.

The employers gave their consent to the signing of the contract, almost without opposition, on the first day of the association's annual convention after addresses by Mr. Gorman and Mr. Lane. Five hundred delegates were in attendance.

Under the contract, both parties agreed to "co-operate to enlarge and widen their respective organizations." Both also agreed to cooperate on legislative programs advanced by either organization calculated to be of aid or value to the industry or to remedy certain unfair trade practices designated in the agreement.

Wages, hours and conditions are to be given local treatment but both national organizations are to give their "aid and good offices to the execution of fair and reasonable contracts." Provision is made for a national board of labor relations which is to act as "a supreme court on matters of importance that cannot be settled locally."

"Divide and Conquer"

While organized labor is busily engaged in calling each other names and spilling each other's blood in a silly warfare, our common enemy is busily engaged in forming company unions.

In Chattanooga a law firm that has been well-known for its labor-hating principles, is connected, through one or more of its members, in forming a so-called independent league to organize workers into "independent" unions. They have progressed so far as to call a sort of national convention.

So long as legitimate labor unions occupy themselves in killing off each other, these company unions will flourish. Experience has taught us that they never bring lasting good to the workers, many of whom are bewildered by the claims made by both C. I. O. and A. F. L. groups, and as soon as these two groups settle their argument, the "independent" dummies will soon find that they are only dummies as far as lasting achievement is concerned.

Never was labor's slogan, "One for all and all for one," more applicable than today. Equally applicable is the labor - hating slogan, "Divide and conquer."

APOLOGY

Apologies are due to Mr. John T. Mahoney, member of organized labor and of the last legislative assembly from Hamilton county. Mr. Mahoney for several weeks has been contributing very valuable stories to The Labor World explaining various phases of the labor movement's legislative program and accomplishments.

Last week he wrote a fine article concerning the Wagner-Connery act, and through oversight the usual heading was not used which would have given credit where credit was due.

We apologize to Mr. Mahoney and at the same time commend him for his very fine educational features. We hope that they will continue.

LAW AND LABOR

By JOHN T. MAHONEY

of the Chattanooga Bar.

(Editor's Note—Mr. Mahoney, a member of organized labor, served in the state legislature last term. He is an energetic young attorney who is interested in legislative problems for the welfare of labor.)

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

One of the major provisions of the federal social security act approved Aug. 14, 1935, is the section relating to unemployment compensation. To the writer's mind this provision more directly affects the working man and working conditions than any other.

While the federal act itself did not establish any unemployment compensation system, it strongly invited the states to enact laws for the benefit of their unemployed. This invitation was accompanied by a federal tax on all employers on which they would receive credit if their state enacted its own unemployment laws. To keep the tax money in the state, it behooved the individual state to pass the necessary legislation. The federal act also provided for grants to the states for the administration of the act.

The enactment of this legislation was of such importance that Gov. Hill McAllester called a special session of the legislature in Tennessee. This assembly met in December, 1936, and passed the Tennessee unemployment conservation act, which was approved by the governor on Dec. 18, 1936.

Under this law all employers in the state having eight or more employes must pay a tax based on 1 per cent of their 1936 payroll. For 1937 the tax increases to 2 per cent and then to 3 per cent for every year thereafter. It is unlawful for the employer to charge any of this back against the employe. After 1938, the employer may receive credit and pay less tax if he gives his workers steady employment.

This money is in a reserve fund and is not mixed with other state funds. It is not to be paid out in benefits until Jan. 1, 1938, and is therefore accumulating at a rapid rate. Close to $3,000,000 was collected for 1936 and at the present the commissioner of labor reports around $6,000,000 in reserve to take care of the workers when business or other conditions bring about unemployment.

After Jan. 1, 1938, the wage-earners of employers who are qualified will begin to receive benefits in the event of unemployment. The benefits will be based on weekly salaries and will be approximately one-half of their average wage. The maximum will be $15.00 per week. The benefits run not over sixteen weeks per year.

An unemployed person is eligible for benefits if: (1) he makes the proper claim, (2) has registered for work and continues to report at the employment office, (3) is able and available for work, (4) has earned certain amounts in three of four calendar quarters preceding his unemployment, (5) has gone through a waiting period of three weeks, (6) unemployment is not due to labor dispute, (7) is not receiving workmen's compensation or old age benefits, etc.

In Tennessee the act is administered through the state department of labor. This work has been so efficiently handled thus far that other states have copied the Tennessee system.

While the state has been slow in taking care of the applications for old age benefits, we are proud to say that the unemployment claims are expected to be given more prompt attention when they are presented after the first of the year. District offices have already been set up and staffs will be fully trained to handle all claims. In addition, a merit system of civil service examinations has been arranged so that the positions will be on merit and not on political backing.

Take It or Leave It!

Points of View Picked Up From Various Sources

CY KOLOGY, EDITOR

As war draws nearer in Asia and in Europe, it is well to take our bearings and get certain key facts in mind. Workers, in particular, have an interest in doing this.

In Asia, all the facts are simple and clear, with no room left for doubt. Japan is the aggressor; China the resisting victim. Leaving out all earlier matters, all of which point the same way, Japan's premier has said in substance that there will be no negotiations, that Japan will fight until China accepts Japan's will. That will, it is not denied, includes the annexation by Japan of North China, or the setting up of a puppet state in that region under Japanese control.

In Europe, the situation is more complex, but the main items stand clear. The fascist powers, Germany and Italy, but particularly Italy, have been the aggressors. Mussolini staged his pirate raid on Ethiopia—and got away with it. Emboldened by success, he and Hitler fosterer, armed and aided the fascist rebellion in Spain. In the recent campaign in northwestern Spain, six divisions of Italian troops were in the rebel army; Mussolini congratulated them on their valor and success; and Italian papers have printed the statement that the families of these soldiers are receiving regular payments from the Italian government.

Germany has furnished less active aid to the Spanish rebels, though German planes destroyed Guernica and machine-gunned its fleeing people. But Hitler's open proclamation of a "community of will" between himself, Italy and Japan makes further evidence needless.

The immediate crisis comes over the fact that submarines, certainly Italian or German and almost certainly Italian, have sunk a number of merchant ships in the Mediterranean and attacked others.

Arbitrary government, whether you call it fascist, nazi or military, is the sworn foe of peace as it is the sworn tyrant of labor, and the relentless hunter down of anything that even looks like a labor union. In the days that lie ahead, keep these facts in mind.

* * *

The British Transport and General Workers' union, one of the largest and most influential British labor organizations, has rejected, by an overwhelming majority, a proposal for the united front and any kind of association with the unity campaign, usually promoted by communists. The same action was taken with a resolution urging that support be given to the affiliation of the communist party to the labor party. An amendment regarding the united front stated that, while the desire for organized working-class unity was appreciated, such unity was best obtainable through the closer co-ordination of the three great working-class movements, the trade union, labor political and co-operative movements. The amendment keenly deplored "the action taken by people desirous of causing confusion and disintegration in the three movements mentioned, by their advocacy of so-called 'united fronts' with unattached political and industrial organizations."

A. F. of L. Union Wins Rubber Workers Election

LA FAYETTE, Ind.—In a close contest to determine the collective bargaining agency for the employees of the Brown Rubber Company here the American Federation of Labor Rubber Workers Federal Labor Union No. 20685 defeated the Committee for Industrial Organization group by a vote of 185 to 183.

The balloting granted the A. F. of L. union sole collective bargaining rights for the employees of the company here.

IN THE NEWS

DAVID J. LEWIS

David John Lewis, congressman from the Sixth district of Maryland, could give forty Herbert Hoovers cards and spades on the practice of rugged individualism, and bet them out on points. He was born in Pennsylvania in 1869, the son of a Welsh immigrant coal miner. He learned to read in Sunday school. He learned law—and Latin—while still working as a miner. He was a member of the Maryland legislature, came to congress, became father of the parcel post, served on the tariff commission, practiced law for a season, and is now back in congress.

He made the most devastating speech on the supreme court that has been made in all the debates on that subject; devastating, that is, to the Tory doctrine that the court can do no wrong. He showed that wealth-favoring decisions of the supreme court have cost the United States treasury $17,000,000,000 in revenue—and no one has tried to contradict him. "Davy John" knows arithmetic.

"Davy John" often says that he knows that good causes, the abolition of child labor, for example, will win without reforming laws—if you give them time enough.

"My grandfather," he says, "went into the coal mines of Wales when he was 7 years old. My father went into the coal mines of Pennsylvania when he was 8; and I went into the same coal mines when I was 9. There's a clear gain of two years in three generations."

PRINTER Phil Angel has been going about his place of business all week singing, "K-K-K-Katie . . . at the k-k-itchen door." Couldn't imagine why until it occurred to me that I had heard he lost a dollar on the Dr. Pepper "Kwestionite" program at the Park theater when he could not answer a question, which had to do with stuttering. Maybe he's just practicing up, so he will know next time.

Incidentally, the above item would make swell advertising copy for this column. The Angel Printing company is all union, the Park theatre uses union movie operators and Dr. Pepper is bottled in union-made bottles and delivered by union brewery workers. All three concerns advertise in this paper.

Incorporation of Labor Unions First Step Towards Fascism, Howard Shows

By CHAS. PHOWARD, President International Typographical Union

Mussolini calls his government a "corporate state." He has all labor under his thumb in a labor syndicate. There is no freedom such as we know it. Those who ape Mussolini in this country are crying for incorporation of labor unions.

What Is a Corporation?

The courts have defined a corporation in the following words:

"Corporation: A body, consisting of one or more natural persons, established by law, usually for some specific purpose, and continued by a succession of members."

"An artificial being created by law and composed of individuals who subsist as a body politic under a special denomination with the capacity of perpetual succession and of acting within the scope of its charter as a natural person." Fietsam v. Hay, 122 Ill. 293. By fiction it is partly a person and partly a citizen, yet it has not the inalienable rights of a natural person; Northern Securities Co. v. United States, 193 U. S. 200, 24 Sup. Ct. 436, 48 L Ed. 679.

Why Were They Invented?

Simply to be able to gather up vast sums of money to engage in large business enterprises and at the same time limit the responsibility of each investor to the amount he put in. If a man had a million dollars but invested only a thousand he could not be sued for a million if the corporation failed owing a million. Under the old partnership arrangement each partner was liable for the whole amount of a partnership failure.

Therefore corporations were invented to avoid individual responsibility instead of as some would have you believe—take on more.

Why Does Labor Oppose Incorporation of Unions?

Because a corporation is created by law and may be controlled by law. A labor union is created by workers in their own right as citizens and free men and women.

Because a corporation is an "artificial being." Labor unions are composed of real beings.

Because a corporation "is partly a person and partly a citizen, yet it has not the inalienable rights of a natural person. A labor union is organized to do in numbers what each may do individually under his inalienable rights.

Because there have been thousands of law suits about corporations and hundreds of thousands of court decisions and judges' opinions as to what a corporation may or may not do. A labor union does not want to be bound up in miles of red tape and rendered helpless.

Because corporations are guided by lawyers who are, by training and temperament, steeped in property rights determined by laws already stacked against labor. A labor union is better off the less it has to do with corporation lawyers.

Because labor unions do not want their funds tied up by injunction when most in need of them. Strike funds are necessary at the proper time.

Because the legal profession is least fit to deal with labor or economic matters. A judge doesn't worry over the years or irreparable damage done by his mistakes during the time it takes to appeal. The longer the appeal the better for the lawyer.

Who Asks for Incorporation of Labor Unions?

Those who do not agree to collective bargaining.

Those who have throttled labor through illegal use of force, the industrial spy and the armed thug sometimes assisted by police.

Those who are hoping to prevent organization by confounding the multitude of workers with a million "thou shalt nots" from lawyers and judges.

Those who have been compelled through strikes to bargain collectively but who are plotting and scheming some way to make collective bargaining ineffective.

Those timid souls who nod their heads every time they see a scare head in the paper or shiver in the glare of the glassy eye of their employer who has often in their presence emphatically threatened to close up before he would deal with a labor union.

Those whose customers or clients are against organized labor.

Those starving lawyers who envision a great boom in their business if labor unions had to incorporate. (Some of them had a taste of the gravy handling codes for employers' associations under NRA.)

And finally that numerous well-meaning average citizen who will agree to any proposition you put up to him just so long as it doesn't affect his comfort or convenience. He will agree either way about the weather.

What Has Been Labor's Experience?

Labor began to organize at a time when to do so meant to be punished for "conspiracy." The law was against them. The lawyers and courts were against them. These three are still against them except to that degree that laws have been adopted or the practice well established recognizing the right of free men to organize into labor unions. Even so, fine drawn legal decisions more in the realm of fancy than fact have hampered and hounded labor. The ice is still pretty thick on top.

Labor has been fighting upward for several hundred years and it has been no Sunday school picnic. All the newspaper publicity and all the "polls of public opinion" (honest or dishonest) to the contrary notwithstanding, those whose work for wages in this machine civilization will organize and bargain collectively as long as we are governed by a democracy. Beyond that it is anybody's bet.

LEGAL NOTICES

TRUSTEE'S SALE

Whereas, on the 17th day of November, 1925, M. T. Gwin and wife, Stella Lee Gwin, of Hamilton County, Tennessee, executed a deed of trust conveying the property hereinafter described and advertised for sale to F. L. Underwood, Trustee, which said deed of trust was filed for registration November 23, 1925, and recorded in Book X, Vol. 19, page 365, et seq., in the Register's office of Hamilton County, Tennessee; and,

Whereas, said deed of trust was executed for the purpose of securing the payment of a certain indebtedness, fully described in the said deed of trust, to which reference is made for a complete description; and default has been made in the payment of the said indebtedness secured by said deed of trust and interest thereon, and the said M. T. Gwin and wife, Stella Lee Gwin, have failed to perform covenants in the note evidencing the indebtedness, and have failed to perform covenants in said deed of trust, and have remained in default for more than thirty days, and the holder of said indebtedness has made demand upon the undersigned trustee to sell the property conveyed by said deed of trust, as therein provided, to satisfy the payment of said indebtedness and interest, as said holder of said indebtedness has a right to do under the terms of said deed of trust:

Now, therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in the undersigned Trustee, F. L. Underwood, of Chattanooga, Tennessee, as Trustee, will, on

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1937,

sell, within the legal hours of sale, at the west door of the courthouse in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at public outcry, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, in bar of all equities of redemption, dower and homestead, the following described real estate in the city of Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, to-wit:

Being Lot Number Sixteen (16), Block Number Twenty-three (23), Highland Park addition Number One (1), as per plat of said addition now found of record in the Register's office of said county and state.

Said deed of trust recites that title to the said property is clear, free and unencumbered, and title thereto is believed to be good, but the sale will be made as Trustee only, and subject to any unpaid taxes.

This September 8, 1937.

F. L. UNDERWOOD, Trustee.

PUBLICATION NOTICE

In Justice of the Peace Court, Squire C. E. Camp, Hamilton County, Tennessee.

Edward Mathews vs. J. W. Paradiso.

Whereas said Edward Mathews on the 12th day of August, 1937, made affidavit before me, the undersigned Justice of the Peace, that the said J. W. Paradiso was duly indebted to him for $58.25 for wages, just due, and unpaid; and that the said J. W. Paradiso has concealed himself so that ordinary process of law cannot be served upon him; and that said Edward Mathews gave bond as required by law in attachment cases; and whereas I, Squire C. E. Camp, have on that day issued an original attachment against the estate of J. W. Paradiso, returnable September 22, 1937, at 2 p.m.; and said attachment has been levied on certain property of the defendant and order for this publication has been duly made.

Now therefore, the said J. W. Paradiso is hereby notified to appear on September 22, 1937, at 2 p.m. to then and there defend the said attachment suit or the same will be proceeded with ex parte.

This 21st day of August, 1937.
C. E. CAMP,
Justice of the Peace.

A Union Label Jubilee Where Boosters and Labels Got Together

By CHESTER M. WRIGHT

In these days of fire and cross fire, it is good to see something of constructive worth emphasized.

The union printers have battled for their union label as hard and as intelligently as any union. There are few who do not know the printers' union label.

Well, the International Typographical Union has just been having its convention. It met in Louisville.

The printers were addressed by another champion of the union label—the most effective and active of all those now engaged in that work. He was I. M. Ornburn, secretary-treasurer of the Union Label Trades Department.

Now Ornburn is a cigarmaker, lately president of the International Cicarmakers' Union. That's the union that started the union label.

Strange as it seems, the union label began its life on the Pacific coast.

Other unions followed the lead of the Cigarmakers' Union and labels for a great many unions came into being. Along with them came buttons and shop cards for unions in the service trades, like the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International Alliance.

Louisville, where this convention was held, is one of the best union label cities in the country. It was a fitting setting. Looming high on the Louisville skyline are the buildings of the Brown & Wlliamson Tobacco company, which has sent the tobacco workers' label into almost every nation on earth and into just about every hamlet in the United States, on its many brands of smoking tobacco and on its five brands of cigarettes—Raleighs, Kools, Viceroys, Avalone and Wings.

It was almost like a union label jubilee.

And every union label that goes into use advances labor's cause by just that much. They are little flags of progress.

New York City.—The International Photo-Engravers' Union of North America now has a membership of about 95 per cent of the skilled workers in the photo-engraving industry, President Edward J. Volz said on his return here following the union's recent St. Louis convention.

President Volz was re-elected by the convention, which was one of the best attended in the union's history. Other officers were re-elected as follows: Matthew Woll, first vice-president; Frank H. Glenn, second vice-president; William C. Golby, third vice-president; Henry F. Schmal, secretary-treasurer.

The convention voted support of the American Federation of Labor through a resolution pledging continued affiliation and condemnation of the CIO. The convention also showed its support of the A. F. of L. by doubling the per capita tax to the federation.

CIO Peace Plea Made By Green

A. F. of L. President Invites Ten Suspended Unions to Send Delegates to Denver Convention.

In a statement following the concluding session of the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor at the council's fall meeting held in Atlantic City, N. J., William Green, president of the federation, reiterated previous statements to the effect that the A. F. of L. would welcome the ten suspended CIO unions to the federation's annual convention in Denver beginning Oct. 4 so that the question of craft unions and industrial unions could be fought out on the floor of the convention.

Mr. Green said that if the ten unions, which were suspended by the Tampa convention of the American Federation of Labor last November for being a dual organization and disloyal to the American Federation of Labor, accepted the invitation it would indicate that they were leaving the Committee for Industrial Organization. He declared they would be welcome with their increased membership and their increased voting strength would be recognized.

While expressing doubt that the ten unions would desert Lewis' committee for industrial organization, Mr. Green said that if they did so the next step toward peace would be the appointment of a joint committee from both groups to study the situation.

"The longer this fight goes on the more complicated the issues become," he declared. "It will be harder to settle today than a year ago, and it will be still harder to settle in another year."

Fascist piracy in the Mediterranean is morally a little meaner than that of Captain Kidd, and incomparably more dangerous.

for an educational program in the merchandising field.

"By adding this teacher training course now, we are getting in on the ground floor of the program," Dr. Glocker said. "The state division of education has not had time to set up all the details of the program, but we know that there will be an urgent need for qualified supervisors and teachers when the program is started. We will recommend persons who take our course as qualified to take part in the program."

Tentative plans in the program call for the opening of evening classes for employes in all kinds of merchandising stores, large and small, Dr. Glocker said. But the first problem before the administration is the organization of a staff of well-trained teachers and supervisors, he added.

"The University of Tennessee is perfectly located and equipped to train teachers for the entire south," he said. "Not only have we a large staff to call on for instruction and research, but we are located in a city large enough to provide an actual laboratory in the merchandising field, where every type of merchandising establishment is represented. No other state institution has this advantage. We plan to use the stores here as much as possible in training the teachers."

Primarily women will be needed for the new jobs, Dr. Glocker said. The university will require those who enroll for the course to have at least two years experience in the merchandising field. Some college training also is required, and those with bachelor's degrees are preferred, he said. Further information may be obtained from Dr. Glocker at U. T.

Mrs. Lyndon, new head of the course, received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Smith college, her Bachelor of Science from the Prince School of Store Service at Simmons college, and her Master in Education from Harvard. She has been personnel director for two boston department stores—R. H. Stearns company and L. P. Hollander company, buyer and fashion show speaker for the Stearns company, a stylist for the Hollander company, personnel and fashion advisor for Albert Steiger company's department stores in Springfield and Holyoke, Mass., and a fashion columnist and society editor for the Boston Herald.

Cardui is a purely vegetable medicine, found by many women to ease functional pains of menstruation. It also helps to strengthen women, who have been weakened by poor nourishment, by increasing their appetite and improving their digestion. Many have reported lasting benefit from the wholesome nutritional assistance obtained by taking Cardui. If you need help like this, get Cardui at the nearest drug store, read the directions and try it.

Louisville Convention Draws Basis For Settlement of Schism

Amendments to Be Submitted to A. F. of L. Convention Believed First Step Toward Joining Together Divided Forces—Craft Jurisdictions to Be Guaranteed Protection.

Declaring that the International Typographical union should not further widen the breach in the ranks of the American labor movement by withdrawing from the American Federation of Labor, delegates to the eighty-first convention of the union, held in Louisville, Ky., Sept. 11-17, without a recorded vote rejected a proposal that said:

"Shall the International Typographical union withdraw from membership in the American Federation of Labor and affiliate itself with the Committee for Industrial Organization?"

In place of the rejected proposition the executive council and delegates to the A. F. of L. convention, to be held in October, were instructed to present to that convention certain amendments to the AFL laws which, it is believed, will be the first step toward an amicable settlement of the dispute which has been raging over the nation to the detriment of every class of citizen.

Asking that the executive council of the American Federation of Labor be prohibited from "suspending, expelling or revoking" the certificates of affiliation of a national or international union, it also asked that the executive council be prohibited from rendering any decision affecting the jurisdiction of autonomy of any national or international union unless

DO TELL!

J. J. Chandler, superintendent of the Somerville Iron works, and Sam Wildman, molder, are back from a fishing trip "somewhere in Florida" and the tales they are telling would be doubted by many if their veracity was not so well established.

It seems (according to them) that they had very good luck. One of their catches, a big bass, was so large and hefty that everyone became alarmed and jumped out of the boat. That particular fish, of course, being of such size, got away.

However, they did bring back with them about 100 pounds of fish (not so large), which lends a bit of weight to the story about the one that got away.

DEAN OF LABOR IN SOUTHLAND THRILLS CROWD

"A. F. L. Movement Builds Character," Says Veteran Jerome Jones.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 20.—Jerome Jones, Atlanta labor editor and known as the "dean of labor in the South," and as "the Sam Gompers of the South," addressed the conference of organizers and labor officials here last Saturday morning, and was accorded reverent honor by the great throng of A. F. of L. trade unionists assembled for the two-day instructions.

"The irresistible force of labor goes on from generation to generation, from age to age, from century to century, and nothing can stop it," was Mr. Jones' manner of expressing the philosophy of the American Federation of Labor.

"Our movement," the veteran leader declared, "builds character. We have made possible the free schools of the country; we have advanced the religious movement, and made secure this civilization of ours. America owes much to the American labor movement, for without this great organization of ours this great democracy would have already passed away."

Erie Unions Get Weekly Allotment of Radio Time

ERIE, Pa.—The American Federation of Labor in Erie has been granted fifteen minutes' radio time each week by a local broadcasting station, according to a report by George McKinnon, A. F. of L. representative.

The 22 per cent. of republican voters who want Herbert Hoover to lead the party again remind one of that French description of a second marriage—"the triumph of hope over experience."

Canada Dry Scrap Goes Into New Phase

At a meeting of the executive board of the Brewery and Soft Drink Workers on Monday night plans were made to continue the fight against Canada Dry Ginger Ale and its distributor, B. L. Talley Company.

It was decided to carry the campaign to the individual merchant who has failed to give his support. On Wednesday morning, bright and early, when grocery stores began to open for the day, a picket put in her appearance before the door of Bob's Cash Store on Rossville Avenue and when the early morning arisers and shoppers arrived at this grocery store they were greeted with a smile from the comely picket.

At this early date it has been noticed that a number of people have gone elsewhere to do their buying. It is the intention of this local to continue the fight until Canada Dry ginger ale is ancient history in Chattanooga.

John Etters, president, stated this week that the fight is young yet and that the thickest part of the batle is yet to come.

SEARS & ROEBUCK SIGN AGREEMENT

Announcement was made this week that Sears, Roebuck Company had signed a union agreement with the tile and roofing union, an AFL organization, which provides that all their work shall be done by members of the union and establishes a minimum of one dollar per hour.

BRADLEY AND BANDY SIGN UNION PACT

Bradley & Bandy, corner of Sixth and Market, signed a 100 per cent union agreement with the Cooks and Waiters union this week. This is the first drug store in Chattanooga that employs union people at their soda counter.

COMMISSIONERS HEAR PLEAS FOR SALARY JUSTICE

Colored Teachers Union Protests Ratio in Salary Raises as Discriminatory.

AFL Principle of Equal Pay for Equal Service Enunciated Tuesday Before City Dads.

A formal appeal that the city adopt a single salary scale for white and colored teachers was made on behalf of the Negro teachers Tuesday afternoon as the city commission met and passed on first reading the budget ordinance.

B. T. Scruggs, president of the Mountain City Teachers' association, Local 428, a colored organization, protested the ratio of funds allotted in the $78,000 salary-increase plan, and claimed that the dual scale was discriminatory. The appeal of the colored teacher was backed by T. R. Cuthbert, secretary of the Tennessee Federation of Labor, and by Stanton Smith, president of the Chattanooga-Hamilton County Teachers' federation. Scruggs presented a statement which he placed before Mayor E. D. Bass last week.

The principle that the working man should receive equal pay for equal services, regardless of race or color, is one of the precepts of the American Federation of Labor, Cuthbert stated.

"Custom Growing."

"This principle is being put into effect more and more, even in the south," he told the commissioners. "I am a southerner myself, and possessed of many of the prejudices of the average man born and reared in the south, but I am, I hope, a just southerner. All over the country it is becoming more and more the feeling that the color line should be wiped out as much as possible as far as the economic question is concerned.

"I do not, nor does any self-respecting Negro, advocate that there be any social intermingling between the two races.

"The black teacher has even more responsibility than the white teacher. In this section of the country, where white and black are about equal in numbers, there is a great need for education for the Negro, and the black teacher should have just as much training as the white teacher. The greater responsibility of the colored teacher lies in the fact that the Negro child comes from conditions not so advanced as conditions in our own lives, and, therefore, has a longer way to go than does the white child.

"I can't believe that it is right that just because a man's skin is black, he

A. F. L. EXUBERANCE MOUNTS TO NEW HIGH IN ATLANTA AS ORGANIZERS ASSEMBLE

"Organize the Organizers" Is Objective of Conference Sponsored by Workers' Educational Bureau Under Hines and Miller.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 20.—Representatives from ten southeastern state federations of labor, 93 central labor unions and affiliated local unions, and 45 national and international unions met with the American Federation of Labor's 53 southern organizers in Atlanta last Saturday and Sunday and mapped a coordinated campaign on organization which is expected to bring many tens of thousands of men and women into the American Federation of Labor within the immediate future. The Atlanta meeting was called by General Director of Organization Lewis G. Hines, of the A. F. of L., and George L. Googe, head of the A. F. of L. forces in the south, and was presided over by Dr. Spencer Miller, director of the American Federation of Labor's educational bureau.

The meeting was opened Saturday morning in the roof garden of the Ansley hotel by Dewey Johnson, president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades, and lasted until midnight Sunday. Throughout the sessions of the meeting the tenor of President

Electricians Play At Fish Fry, Picnic

Local 175, Electricians, held their annual picnic last Saturday at Lake Winnepesaukah when members of the union and their families and also electrical contractors and their families enjoyed a fish fry.

The three hundred or more who enjoyed the frolic indulged in many varieties of games and races which the contractors livened up by awarding handsome prizes to successful contestants.

W. P. Howard, chairman of the affair, arranged a menu of fried red snapper, potato salad, slaw, fried potatoes and pickles, not to mention an abundance of soft drinks and beer. Cheese sandwiches, frankfurters and sliced tomatoes were used as "teasers" for the appetite all during the day.

Good old union-made coffee was in great demand, served piping hot, which made a hit.

Delegates Worthington, Maupin Return Home

Jack Worthington and Harry Maupin, representing No. 89, Chattanooga Typographical union, at the eighty-first convention of the union, held in Louisville, Ky., last week, returned home Saturday.

Although these two delegates will make a fine report on proceedings of the convention to their union, it is wondered by many if one of them will give in detail everything that happened—for instance, how about the little dancer at the floor show on that Monday night.

Two of the local visitors to the convention, Walter Gardner and T. R. Cuthbert, refused to comment on the matter, and it might be just as well to let the whole matter drop.

Both Worthington and Maupin are members of the Free Press chapel.

Iron Workers Boost Wage Schedules and Notify Contractors

Increases Effective Jan. 1, 1938, With Exceptions in Contracts Already in Operation.

Local 384, International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Iron Workers of Chattanooga, Tenn., in a statement sent out by J. R. Hicks, secretary, and W. J. Everhart, business representative, gives notice to contractors that after Jan. 1, 1938, a 12½-cent per hour boost in wages will be put in force.

The formal notice, bearing the seal of the union, says:

This is to notify you that Local Union 384 of the International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Iron Workers of Chattanooga, Tenn., has voted to increase their wage scale from $1.25 per hour to $1.37½ per hour on structural and ornamental work, and from $1.12½ per hour to $1.25 per hour on reinforced rod work, effective Jan. 1, 1938.

All contracts taken by you prior to the date of your receiving this notice will be completed at the old rate of wages; however, in order that you may come under this provision it will be necessary for you to send to the undersigned immediately a list of all contracts which you have contracted for prior to the date of you receiving this notice. Your co-operation in this respect will be greatly appreciated.

CIO Leaders Assailed By Green For Open Try at Minority Rule

President of American Federation of Labor, in Speech to Letter Carriers, Declares Lewis and His Associates Brazenly Schemed to Overthrow Majority Decision of Federation's Convention and Set Up a Dictatorship Within the Labor Movement, But Cites Figures Showing That the A. F. of L. Has Added One Million Members Since the C. I. O. Minority-Rulers Started Their Disruptionist Activities and Made War on Democratic Procedure.

"As Long as I Am Clothed With the Responsibility for Leading This Great Movement of Working Men and Women, the Principles for Which It Stands Will Never Be Compromised; We Will Meet the Foe Courageously and Fearlessly Wherever He May Present Himself, Let Him Be a Professing Friend or an Open Foe; the Banner of the American Federation of Labor Flies High; It Will Never Be Lowered; It Will Go on to Victory."

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, did not beat about the bush nor camouflage his words in discussing, before the convention of the National Association of Letter Carriers, in Kansas City, Mo., the democracy-assassinating and unity-destroying policy of the committee for industrial organization, ten of whose national and international unions have been suspended by the A. F. of L. for establishing a dual unit and for general disloyalty to the American Federation of Labor constitution and principles.

After paying a deserved tribute to the officials of the Letter Carriers' association in protecting the wages and hours of the housands of workers making up its membership, he poured the following shrapnel into the purpose, policies and tactics of the communist-supported committee for industrial organization:

I wish just briefly to refer to a matter about which you are thinking and to which I must refer on this occasion.

I regret that it becomes necessary for me to refer to any division that might have been created within the ranks of labor, but you would not expect me to come from Washington to Kansas City to speak to you without referring to this great division that has been created within the house of labor.

You want to know the truth from me. You want some facts about which you perhaps have been wondering or which you have been discussing. So for just a few moments, I will refer to it.

Importance of Labor Unity.

Commercial Telegraphers Pledge Loyalty to A. F. of L. and Plan Big Union Drive

CHICAGO—Extensive plans to organize all commercial telegraphers in the United States, under the banner of the American Federation of Labor, were made by the Commercial Telegraphers Union at its 1937 convention, which was, in the opinion of many, the most harmonious and constructive that has been held in years. The convention was held in Chicago, Sept. 13 to 17.

The union's international officers, including President Frank B. Powers and Secretary W. L. Allen, both of whom were re-elected by a unanimous vote, were commended for their efforts to organize telegraphers employed by the Postal Telegraph-Cable Co., Western Union, and the Associated Press 100 per cent., and an additional $9,000, over and above the present normal expected income, was voluntarily placed at the disposal of the international officers for organization purposes. This sum is to be added to as new members come into the union.

Unions Offer Aid

Wholehearted, not half-hearted, loyalty to the American Federation of Labor and its principles, was displayed by the delegates when the reports of the international officers, which favored the A. F. of L. and were strongly critical of the Committee for Industrial Organization, were adopted without a dissenting vote. The CIO was criticized severely for issuing a charter to the American Radio Telegraphists Association, a dual organization whose activities and suggestions made a proposed affiliation agreement with the CTU impossible.

Executive Board Elected

The American Federation of Labor, through President William Green, offered the services of its entire staff of organizers to the union. The offer was accepted with definite plans as to how these services could be used. Another offer of aid and assistance was made by the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, through its president, E. J. Manion, and was accepted with grateful appreciation.

The newly elected members of the general executive board are W. V. McEwan, of Winnipeg, Canadian National Division No. 43; Arthur Markel, of Washington, D. C., International News Service Division No. 61; George R. Pausen, of Toronto, Canadian-Pacific Division No. 1; John B. Alcorn, of Detroit, Michigan Broker Division, and W. O. Gedman, of Chicago, Western Broker Division. W. J. McMahon, of Milwaukee, was chosen alternate delegate to the A. F. of L. convention.

LAW AND LABOR

By JOHN T. MAHONEY
of the Chattanooga Bar.

(Editor's Note—Mr. Mahoney, a member of organized labor, served in the state legislature last term. He is an energetic young attorney who is interested in legislative problems for the welfare of labor.)

THE SUPREME COURT

The supreme court is enshrined in one of the most beautiful buildings of state erected in the western world. Its cost—ten million dollars, and requiring four years in which to be built.

Each justice has his own exclusive suite. The clerk, the marshal and the reporter have appropriate accommodations. There are also provided offices for the attorney-general and the solicitor-general of the United States. Other rooms are for the disposal of members of the bar. There is also a large library having space for 600,000 volumes.

The nine justices of the supreme court are appointed by the President, and confirmed by the senate. After this procedure, he is on the bench for life. The only way he can be removed is by a process of impeachment, in which the House must act as grand jury and the Senate as the court of impeachment. The only charge for which he can be removed is "high crimes and misdemeanors." Only once has this been attempted, against Samuel Chase, in 1805, and he was acquitted by the Senate.

We think of the judiciary of England as one of the best examples of justice in the world, yet the highest judge in England may be removed by the king at the request of parliament.

In the early days, when all the machinery of the United States was new and untried, the supreme court occupied an interesting position. By its decisions it was charting the course of a great nation. In practically all of the cases coming before them, it was necessary to interpret the Constitution. John Marshall, the fourth Chief Justice, was regarded as the greatest interpreter of the Constitution. During his time he was considered a liberal, and he often strained the precise letter of the great charter. While Marshall was liberal, his rulings tended more to strengthen than to weaken the great document.

Originally the Supreme Court was composed of five, a Chief Justice and four associates. The number was increased by legislative act to six in 1807 and to eight in 1837. Its present number of nine was set in 1863.

As the Constitution does not state what shall be the qualification of a member of the court, one, not a lawyer, might be appointed. In the past the Presidents have apparently attempted to place the highest type of jurist on the supreme bench. Some have even appointed men not of their political party to the court. Taft, republican, appointed White, a democrat, as did Harding in naming Butler and Hoover in appointing Cordozo.

The growth of the power of the supreme court is the story of the political development of the United States. It should be recognized by the American people as being the safest guide to good government.

IN THE NEWS
William M. Leiserson

William M. Leiserson, member of the national mediation board and now bringing all his arts, experience and information to bear in the effort to prevent a big railroad strike, was born at Reval, Esthonia, fifty-four years ago last April. Esthonia then was a Russian province; now it is one of the small independent Baltic states.

Leiserson did not wait for this change, however. His parents brought him across the ocean when he was 7 years old; and his education has been American. He graduated from the University of Wisconsin, specializing in economics, where he could get the able instruction of John R. Commons, and took a doctor's degree from Columbia. He taught in Toledo university, was research investigator for the U. S. commission on industrial relations, in the U. S. employment service during the World war, chairman of the labor adjustment board of the clothing industry at Rochester, N. Y.; chairman of arbitration boards, teacher in Antioch college, and now harmonizer of railroad disputes.

He is about five feet, four inches above sea level, with the round head that generally comes from the Eastern Baltic; but packed with more information than most heads from any place ever contain. He is stocky and strong, with greenish-gray eyes. He has seven children.

NLRB DECLARES UNION WINS IN KNITTING MILLS VOTES

WASHINGTON, D. C.—On the basis of elections held under its direction on August 20, the National Labor Relations Board has certified the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union as the exclusive representative of all production and maintenance employees of the Federal Knitting Mills, and has certified the American Federation of Labor as the exclusive representative of all such employees of the Stone Knitting Mills, both of Cleveland.

The August 20 election offered a choice between the I. L. G. W. and the A. F. of L. to the employees of three Cleveland mills. Objections to the balloting at the third mill, Bamberger Reinthal Company, were subsequently filed by the A. F. of L. Only four votes separated the two unions in the Bamberger Reinthal Company balloting, the A. F. of L. having received 132 votes and the I. L. G. W. 136 votes. However, 25 ballots had been challenged and were not counted. In the case of this mill the board declared that no certification would be made until a hearing is conducted on the objections.

NEW JERSEY LABOR BACKS MOORE FOR GOVERNORSHIP

Asbury Park, N. J.—The New Jersey Federation of Labor has pledged its support to A. Harry Moore, who is seeking the democratic nomination for the governorship. Passage of the resolution indorsing Moore came after a sharp debate in which Frank Hague, mayor of Jersey City, was severely criticized as an enemy to labor. Hague is supporting the candidacy of Moore.

The best wages and hours bill is the one that has a union label on it.

To Destroy Union Labor Common Aim of Chicago Reds, Daily Press and Big "Open Shoppers"

By JOSEPH A. WISE.

Chicago.—Apropos of the proposed establishment of two new communist daily newspapers—one in Chicago and the other in San Francisco—a few observations based on actual experience seem to be in order.

The main objective of the communists is the same as that of the big business "open shoppers"—to destroy organized labor. The communists never have sponsored a single constructive measure or aided in promoting one during their entire history in Chicago. On the contrary, they have devoted all of their energies toward tearing down. They never have been responsible for adding one penny to a pay envelope or taking a minute's time from the work week.

Reds Love Trouble.

The communists "muscle in" on strikes for the sole purpose of raising hell and balling up matters. A settlement satisfactory to the strikers is of no concern to the reds. Their endeavors are to prolong the agony as long as possible with the idea in mind that they are furthering the arrival of ::the day" when comes the revolution.

There are screwball employers who like what the communists are doing because every strike the reds disrupt delays an advance in wages and a shortening of hours.

An agent of the federal department of justice told me a few years ago, at the time that the national headquarters of the communist party were located in Chicago and when the Daily Worker was published in this city, that he had evidence that certain big business interests had a representative sitting in on the councils of the reds and was dictating the direction in which the attacks on organized labor were to be made.

Daily Worker's Policy Bad.

The federal agent offered to make an affidavit to that effect and said he would furnish all necessary proof.

"The whole business is a damned shame," he said.

The policy of the editors of the Daily Worker at that time was lousy in the extreme. They had absolutely no regard for the truth. They would lie when the truth would suit their purpose more effectively. The effective men in organized labor were daily targets of their lies, abuse and vilification.

The policy of the Daily Worker in this respect was the same as that of the other Chicago daily newspapers. To hold a job as labor reporter on a Chicago daily newspaper a man must have the qualifications of Ananias and a Baron Munschausen. The same rule applies to communist reporters.

Refusal to Lie Cost Jobs.

I am personally acquainted with two daily newspaper- reporters who have been fired because they refused to write the lies in reference to labor controversies that their city editors wanted them to write. I stood alongside one of these reporters while he telephoned his city desk the truth about a story he was working on. I heard the city editor shout through the phone:

"You are a damned liar. I know that there was hell to pay over there and I want that story."

Anything for a sensation that will give labor a black eye! That is what the daily press wants and that is what the communists want.

Mine and Mill Unions Repudiate the C. I. O.

Unions in Copperhill and Isabella, Tenn., Vote to Withdraw From Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers and Affiliate With the American Federation of Labor.

Copperhill, Tenn.—An overwhelming majority of the members in good standing of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers' local union at Copperhill and Isabella voted to apply to the American Federation of Labor for a charter of affiliation.

The vote of these two locals definitely repudiates the action of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smalter Workers in joining forces with John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, in the establishment of the committee for industrial organization, to overthrow the decisions of a majority of the delegates at the 1935 convention of the American Federation of Labor.

Later, the American Federation of Labor suspended the ten component unions of the C. I. O. for establishing a dual organization and refusing to dissolve it.

A large amount of resentment has been smouldering in the ranks of these two local unions ever since the officers of the international union joined up with the C. I. O., a majority of the members having refused to pay dues to the C. I. O. Group.

Following a rousing meeting addressed by George L. Googe, southern representative of the American Federation of Labor, and Paul Aymon, former president of the Tennessee Federation of Labor, and now an A. F. of L. organizer, 160 members of the union in good standing voted 155 to 5 to ask the American Federation of Labor to issue them a federal charter until the necessary arrangements were made for establishing an international union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

UNION EDUCATION PROGRAM

New York City.—Five educational and social centers, a central training course of three weekly classes for would-be organizers and officials, groups in dramatics, dancing, music (choral and instrumental), and a series of ten movies to be shown at Labor Stage, in addition to many classes run directly by locals, are included in the fall schedule of the educational department of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union.

Fort Smith Reinstates Union Men With Back Pay; Chair Company Employes in Union City Pocket Wage Raise; Portland Local Wins Five Contracts; Locals in Chicago Increase Membership.

Continued gains by the Affiliated Furniture Unions of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America are being constantly reported.

An important victory was recently achieved by Local No. 1910, at Fort Smith, Arkansas, when four employees of the Ward Furniture Manufacturing Company, discharged for union activities, were reinstated, receiving a total of $780 in pay for time lost.

According to "The Furniture Worker," published by the Advisory Council of Furniture Workers, Pacific Coast Division, at Los Angeles, the Ward concern recognized the bona fide union as the sole collective bargaining representative for its employees, and agreed to disband a "company union."

The gains were made through appeal to the National Labor Relations Board, but acceptance by the company was reported by Secretary Sprouse of the local union to have been prompted by the fact that the furniture workers at Fort Smith are now almost 100 per cent. organized.

Portland Furniture Workers, Local 1482, recently secured five new union contracts with employers, with others pending.

At Union City, Pa., 130 members of Local 1806 won a strike at the Standard Chair Company, getting increased pay of from 2 to 6 cents an hour and other gains.

Three flourishing Furniture Workers' locals are reported from Chicago, Ill., with organization started less than a year ago. Local No. 1608 has over 2,500 members and the newest one, No. 1924, already boasts of over 500 active members.

All of which, it is pointed out, assured continued progress for the workers in the furniture industry.

Japan proposes to terrorize China by wholesale airplane borbing of Chinese cities. One of the fifty-seven flaws with that seheme is the fact that with men, as with cats, terror changes quickly into rage and hate.

Some day, the democratic peoples of the world will realize that an autocratic government which has command of millions of soldiers is a rabid wolf.

PRESIDENT GREEN TO INVESTIGATE LABOR'S NON-PARTISAN LEAGUE

Atlantic City, N. J.—An investigation of Labor's Non-Partisan league with a view to possible withdrawal of American Federation of Labor support was directed by the federation's Executive Council here, in final meeting before the annual convention in October.

President William Green will make the investigation.

"Some reports come to us that, instead of being what its name implies its a CIO organization," President Green told reporters.

"If we find out it is definitely a CIO organization, we will advise our local officers to withdraw," he added.

Plans for the federation's convention and for intensifying the federation's nation-wide organization campaign were before the Executive Council meeting.

The federation's fifty-seventh annual convention will be held at Denver beginning Oct. 4.

CLEVELAND KNITTERS CAST LARGE VOTE FOR A. F. OF L.

CLEVELAND, O.—In a government-supervised election, the employees of the Stone Knitting Mill here roundly defeated the Committee for Industrial Organization and rolled up a big majority for the American Federation of Labor as the collective bargaining agency for the workers. There were 298 ballots cast for the A. F. of L. and only 148 for the C. I. O.

Spokesmen of finance now say that if corporation profits are taxed heavily, corporations will spend more money in getting the good will of customers and employes. And, believe it or not, these spokesmen are so etceteraed dumb that they consider higher wages and lower prices a threat!

CIO ASSAILED

our chief asset. United, we can meet the common enemy. They seek to conquer when we are divided.

On this occasion I want to disavow with all the power at my command any responsibility for the division which has been created within the house of labor. On the contrary, I have endeavored in season and out of season to appeal to common sense, to judgment, in order to heal the breach. However, every request for a conference has been denied, and every appeal made by the American Federation of Labor has been spurned.

Minority Rule Condemned.

How can you deal with those who refuse to meet with you and confer? What interpretation can you place upon the refusal of those who fail to meet with you? Well, it is this: "That we are determined at any cost to go on with our program of division and discord within the ranks of labor; nothing will stop us; we are going to continue."

All right. If that is the answer, we will accept it, and we will accept the challenge because I assure you that the American Federation of Labor, founded by that great patriot, Samuel Gompers, and established upon an eternal foundation supported by men who have given their lives for it and who are ready to do so again, will never surrender to a minority force.

Majority Decision of Atlantic City Convention.

Two years ago we were united. We met in a great congress of labor at Atlantic City. Just as you are threshing out your administrative and organization problems here, we thrashed them out there in the open forum of debate. These questions were settled just as you settle them on the floor of this convention.

The widest, most complete and unlimited opportunity was given to all to present their points of view, their facts and their arguments. A vote was taken only after debate was concluded by unanimous consent, and then the vote—two-thirds of the delegates in the convention sustaining the report of the committee and one-third, representing the minority, refusing to do so.

Would you not think that that would settle the question? Was that majority decisive? Suppose you settle a question here by two-thirds vote. What is the rule? The minority yields. The majority controls. That is democracy and democratic government.

C. I. O. Formed Dual Group.

But suppose that the one-third who were defeated would go out into another hall and there set up a rump, dual organization of letter carriers, how would you feel about that? You would resent it and fight it because that would mean division and discord within your ranks.

That is just what happened two years ago. The division was created by the minority going out and setting up a dual, rival union called the committee for industrial organization.

I declare to you that if there had been no committee for industrial organization we would still be united, a happy family. If there had been no dual movement of this kind set up, there would be no ripping, tearing, dividing policy within the house of labor.

I place the responsibility for this hatred, this division that has been created withinth e family of labor, at the doorstep of the committee for industrial organization.

Since then we have pleaded, we have begged, we have asked that they

They say that the cause of the division was over the question of an organization policy, whether we should pursue a policy of industrial unionism return—but no. They have refused. That is the situation now.

Craft vs. Industrial Unionism Is Not the Issue.

or a policy of craft unionism.

My friends, that was not the issue, because the American Federation of Labor has always pursued a policy which provides for the organization of the workers under both forms of organization.

The United Mine Workers was chartered by the American Federation of Labor as an industrial union. It was given jurisdiction over all men employed in and around the coal mines of the nation.

The garment trades were given the same jurisdiction.

Practically all of them who formed the committee for industrial organization were beneficiaries of charters granted by the American Federation of Labor giving them this wide, comprehensive industrial jurisdiction.

A. F. of L. Organized Auto Workers.

The Automobile Workers' International union, organized just about two years ago, was organized by the American Federation of Labor. Our money and our service established that union. I presented them with a charter at the convention held in South Bend, Ind., two years ago last month.

We organized the federal unions in the automobile industry where not a single worker had been organized before. Then having established a sufficient number of federal unions, we called them together, organized them into a national union, and gave them a charter. They are still operating under the charter granted them by the American Federation of Labor.

Industrial Charter Granted.

What did that charter give them in the way of jurisdiction? Many people have been deceived and do not understand that the charter given these automobile workers covered all production workers employed in the automobile manufacturing plants of the nation. The only reservation made was that tool makers, die-sinkers, pattern makers, highly skilled workers, should be accorded the right to negotiate for themselves if they wished to do so.

And why shouldn't the skilled worker be accorded the right to negotiate and commercialize his skill, genius and training to the highest advantage? He would rather, as a group, negotiate his wage agreements than to have common labor fix the wages for him. And isn't that sound?

One-Man Dictatorship of Labor Movement.

So the automobile workers were given an industrial charter. Consequently, that was not the issue. We have adjusted ourselves to changing industrial and economic conditions, and have applied the form of organization in a wide and comprehensive way which is suited to the needs of the workers. That was not the issue. It was another issue. I will tell you what it was.

It was the consuming ambition of one man to control the labor movement of the country and set himself up as a dictator. That was the issue, for if there ever was an organization established in America that is a one-man organization, it is the committee for industrial organization—one man.

Democracy Must Be Preserved.

We believe here in the federation that our great movement should be governed from the bottom up. They believe that it should be governed from the top down.

What can you do with anyone when he is influenced by that? There is no appeal that can be made because the door is closed. Facts make no impression. The needs of the situation have no effect.

It appears to me that if I were responsible for a split in the labor movement such as has occurred in this nation, dividing men into bitter enemies when they should be brothers in arms, separating central bodies and state federations of labor, making enemies of men who have always been friends, causing even the loss of life because of bitterness and hatred—if I were conscious that I was responsible for that, I would turn my face and say, "Gentlemen, I have made a mistake. I love the labor movement more than I love myself, and I will correct the wrong that has been done." * * *

Million New Members Gained by A. F. of L.

Now, my friends, I am through. I came here to bring you this message and in doing so I am mighty happy to be able to report to you that the American Federation of Labor had the best year in all its existence. It seems that now as the picture unfolds, as they are able to see it better, as the truth stands out, that the working men are able to discriminate and understand—and discriminating and understanding as they do, they are coming into the American Federation of Labor, the parent body.

Approximately a million new members have been added to the American Federation of Labor during the past twelve months.

Organize Workers in All Fields.

We are organizing in every field. We are organizing in fields where no organization existed because the workers, restrained by fear, hesitated to join with their fellow men, but upon the enactment of the Wagner labor relations act and the decision of the supreme court holing it valid, fear was lifted and the workers came in.

We organized in mills, in cereals, dntil we have almost completely organized that industry.

We are organizing in aluminum.

We are organizing in agriculture and in the canning industry.

We are organizing in the white collar and office workers groups. Thousands of workers have come in.

We are organizing in cement. That is a great industry where there was scarcely no organization a year ago and they have all turned to the American Federation of Labor.

Very soon we will be able to charter several new international unions in these fields.

Our organizers are carrying the message into every city and town throughout the country. We have built up an organizing staff of several hundred and they are preaching the doctrine of Americanism and the American Federation of Labor.

Nothing Can Stop A. F. of L.'s Progress.

There is nothing that can stop this forward, onward, aggressive march of the American Federation of Labor. It is thoroughly established in the hearts and the minds and the affections of millions and millions of working men and women. It has more friends today than it ever had in the history of the American Federation of Labor.

I assure you, as long as I am clothed with the responsibility for leading this great movement of working men and women, that the principles for which it stands will never be compromised. We will meet the foe courageously and fearlessly wherever he may present himself, let him be a professing friend or an open foe.

The banner of the American Federation of Labor flies high. It will never be lowered. It will go on to victory.

Konstantin von Ueurath, foreign minister for Herr Hitler, is demanding free speech—for nazi agitators in other countries.

Latest in the use of lumber by-products is the use of redwood bark to make insulation wool. Formerly a waste and a nuisance, the bark is adding $300,000 a year to the income of the Pacific Lumber company. The biggest buyer of the wool, Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, uses it to insulate electric water heaters.

ATLANTA MEET

Johnson's opening statement was the dominant thought. Mr. Johnson said, in calling the meeting to order:

"These men and women gathered here from every section of the southeast is the American Federation of Labor's answer to the CIO!"

The Governor Speaks

Gov. E. D. Rivers delivered the address of welcome for the state of Georgia, while Mayor William B. Hartsfield extended the welcome for the city of Atlanta. Charles B. Gramling, president of the Georgia State Federation of Labor, welcomed the visitors in the name of his organization, at the conclusion of which the gavel was turned over to Mr. Googe, who explained the purpose of the meeting as being two-fold; first, to review the work that has already been done since the organization campaign started, and second, to make plans for the future.

"CIO Definitely Out!"

Mr. Googe was interrupted with applause time and again as he reviewed the work of the past few months, highlights in his statements being as follows:

"The American Federation of Labor has purged every state federation of labor in the southeast of all CIO members and influences!"

"We have cleared every city central labor union of all CIO influences and affiliations."

"We have organized and chartered over three hundred local unions during the past five months, and have negotiated and obtained agreements for most of these newly formed locals!"

Mr. Googe declared that "this is the happiest day of my life. When I look into the faces of nearly four hundred men and women—leaders in the American Federation of Labor's activities in the southeast—gathered here from every section of the south to carry on in labor's cause, I am inspired as never before. With more than fifty full-time A. F. of L. organizers assembled here, with 45 national and international unions represented here by their officials, and with hundreds of representatives from state federations of labor, city central bodies and local unions of the south, I am convinced that our southland soon will be the best organized labor section in America.

"As to the CIO, it is definitely out of the picture!" Mr. Googe asserted, and the thunderous applause testified to the fact that labor's forces represented in the metting heartily agreed with their leader.

Mr. Hines Is Heard.

Lewis G. Hines, general director of organization for the American Federation of Labor, was introduced by Mr. Googe. Mr. Hines told of the great growth of the American Federation of Labor during the past two years, stating that one million new members have been added to the A. F. of L. roster during the past year, many of whom live in the south, the speaker said. He paid tribute to the members of A. F. of L. organizations in the south, the local unions, city central unions and the state federations of labor whose support had made possible the matchless showing made under the leadership of Mr. Googe. Mr. Hines' address was directed to the organizers, who gave him a rising vote of thanks for the instructions received.

Dr. Spencer Miller.

Dr. Spencer Miller, of Washington, director of the A. F. of L. educational bureau, was presented, and had charge of the meeting throughout the remaining sessions. He conducted a regular institute, calling upon those present to present questions and problems which the organizers are meeting in the field. This proved to be of great value, as he and Director Hines and Mr. Googe answered the questions in order, thus providing information and instructions of great value to the men and women who are carrying on the organization work in the southeast.

National and international officers and representatives of state federations of labor were introduced and in speaking each pledged full support to the organizing campaign.

Refreshments were served Saturday evening by the Atlanta Federation of Trades and the Georgia State Federation of Labor, hosts to the visitors. Work was resumed at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, the session lasting until midnight. The conference was declared by all to have been of great value, and it was announced that another conference of like nature will be held six months hence, probably in another city in the south.

Regional Offices Opened.

Mr. Googe announced that regional offices have been opened in several sections of the south. Headquarters have been opened in Charlotte for the two Carolinas. Paul J. Aymon is in charge of the work in the two states. A sub-office has been opened in Columbia, with Fred E. Hatchell in charge of the office, but working under direction of Mr. Aymon.

The Birmingham office, with S. E. Roper, will have charge of the work in Alabama, Mississippi and west Florida.

The New Orleans office, with A. P. Harvey in charge, will direct the work in Louisiana.

Georgia, Tennessee, Florida proper and Arkansas will remain under the direction of the Atlanta office for the time being, it was announced by Mr. Googe.

Fox in Charge of Textiles.

C. M. Fox has been placed in charge of textile organization throughout the southern territory, and organizers engaged in this field will be directly under his supervision.

Under the present set-up, Mr. Googe announced, American Federation of Labor organizers and national and international union representatives are working in every section of the south. In addition to this great force of organizers, Mr. Googe added, the loyal work being done by city central labor unions and state federations of labor is of immense value to the movement, which he predicted would result in thorough organization of the entire south.

Attending the convention from Chattanooga were W. A. Witt, Curtis R. Sims, Paul Reynolds, A. T. Johnson, A. V. Cordell, Almand Crawford, Paul Aymon, T. R. Cuthbert, Sid Robinson and J. R. Moss.

Bethlehem Paid Company Union Men To Attend Dinner, Witness Declares

JOHNSTOWN, Pa.—Hearings on charges of unfair labor practices by the Bethlehem Steel Company got off to a flying start with the testimony of John N. Zeman before Frank Bloom, examiner of the Bethlehem plant here for 14 years.

He testified that the "Employes Representation Plan" was purely a company-controlled affair, and he had been an officer in that "plan" for several years. He testified that members of the "plan" attended banquets to Eugene G. Grace, and were paid wages for the time spent in such things. At one of these meetings, Grace said that the "plan" "would be in existence if only one representative was left."

"Was there any mention of the CIO at this banquet?" asked the Board's attorney.

"No, sir." "Of the SWOC?" "No, sir." "Did you pay for the meals?" "No, sir." "How long were you there?" "Three and a half or four hours." "Were you paid for attending?" "Yes, sir." "How much?" "At the mill rate."

LINDELOF IS RE-ELECTED PAINTERS' UNION HEAD

BUFFALO, N. Y.—The Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America, in convention here, re-elected Lawrence P. Lindelof, Lafayette, Ind., as general president for a four-year term. Eight hundred delegates voted unanimously to return Lindelof to the office he has held for eight years. He is a member of Hammond, Ind., Local No. 460.

Labor World's Question Box

The Labor World offers to its readers a question and answer service through the cooperation of the University of Tennessee. Send questions either to this paper or to Box 4013, U. T. Station, Knoxville, Tenn. Answers will appear in this column.

Q.—How did Alabama get its state motto, "Here We Rest?" Mrs. W. C. R., Knoxville.

A.—"Here we rest" is supposed to be the English translation of the Indian word "Alabama." The story goes that Indians fleeing from a warlike tribe came to the bank of the present Alabama river and yelled "alabama," meaning they would stop their flight there.

Q.—What use is a person's funny bone?"

A.—"Funny bone" is the term used used to designate what is really not a bone. But slightly protected in a groove at the elbow, it is really a nerve. That is why one experiences electric thrills when it is suddenly struck.

* * *

Q.—What is the difference between a national park and a national forest?

A.—A national park is a reservation set aside by congress for the benefit and enjoyment of the people. A national forest is created solely as a forest reserve.

Q.—Why doesn't the wind sing in the summertime? W. D. F., Oak Grove.

A.—There are three reasons: (1) Summer vegetation breaks up the wind and absorbs sound. (2) The velocity of the wind is less steady during the summer. (3) Summer temperatures cause expansion of objects, making them less taut and less subject to audible vibration when struck by the wind.

Finishers Sign National Pact With Hosiery Union

PHILADELPHIA.—The entire hosiery finishing and dyeing industry is now operating under union contract, the American Federation of Hosiery Workers, CIO Union, has announced. Last-minute agreement by the National Association of Hosiery Dyers and Finishers, Inc., to the union's demands, averted a strike of more than 3,200 workers in the industry's 22 plants in Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey.

The agreement, which provides for established union wages, closed shop, adjustment of rates and removal of inequalities in various operations, will be effective until August 31, 1938.

Allen Dash, associate of Dr. George W. Taylor, impartial chairman of the hosiery industry, is named as arbitrator of any disputes which may arise under the agreement.

A number of the 32 full-fashioned hosiery mills in the city which were under short-term union contracts and were not affected by the national contract signed last month, have since signed agreements, and others are expected to sign shortly, William Leader, president of Branch 1, said.

Approximately 10,000 employes in 28 of the city's 65 mills are covered by the national agreement signed by the Full-Fashioned Hosiery Manufacturers of America.

Board of Three Set Up to Mediate Labor Disputes

Newark, N. J.—A municipal labor board of ten members has been created by the city commission to take charge of mediation of labor disputes in this city. Labor is represented by three members of the board, capital by three, and the public by four. All serve without pay, but they are allowed to name a full time executive secretary, who will be paid from city funds.

This plan was suggested by Mayor Ellenstein months ago, and now has been adopted. The three labor members are Charles W. Cullen, organizer for the A. F. of L.; Wm. J. Carney, regional director for the CIO, and Miss Agnes Fahy, president of the Newark Newspaper guild.

LABOR BOARD DIRECTS UNITED PRESSELECTION

Washington.—The national labor relations board has directed that an election by secret ballot be conducted within thirty days to determine whether the editorial employes of the United Press and the City News Service of Los Angeles, Inc., desire to be represented in collective bargaining by the American Newspaper guild.

the issue is submitted by mutual agreement of the unions affected.

The proposition also specifies that the executive council must hear charges for the purpose of recommending only to the conventions of the A. F. of L., and that only by two-thirds vote in A. F. of L. conventions may affiliations of unions be canceled or revoked.

The committee on laws of the I. T. U., adopted by the printer delegates, said that "if the above changes are made in the constitution and by-laws of the American Federation of Labor that peace and solidarity will prevail in the labor movement."

The specific proposition as adopted by the convention is reproduced in detail:

Whereas, the controversy between the American Federation of Labor and the committee for industrial organization appears to be approaching a climax and no basis for rapprochement has been proposed which offers proper protection to the workers and all other parties at interest; be it

Resolved, That the International Typographical union in convention assembled offers as basis for settlement of differences the following:

1. Amendment of the constitution of the American Federation of Labor to provide that under no circumstances or condition shall the Executive Council suspend, expel or revoke the certificate of affiliation of a national or international union; that the Executive Council shall render no decision affecting the jurisdiction or autonomy of any national or international union unless the issue is submitted by mutual agreement of the unions affected; that the Executive Council may entertain charges and complaints against national and international unions, may conduct hearings and investigations only for the purpose of formulating its recommendations and for no other purpose; that the relationship of national and international unions is that of affiliation, which relationship may be canceled only by a two-thirds roll call vote in a regular convention of the American Federation of Labor; that no action shall be taken by either the Executive Council or a convention of the American Federation of Labor which limits, restricts, abridges or interferes with the autonomous rights and privileges of national and international unions; be it further

Resolved, That the American Federation of Labor confine its activities to formulation of national labor policies to be recommended to the members of national and international unions; promotion and support of legislation in behalf of labor; establishment of adequate legal department to protect the right to organize; organization and administration of the affairs of state branches, city central bodies and federal labor unions; co-operate and assist national and international unions when requested by such unions; and be it further

Resolved, The Executive Council of the International Typographical union and our delegates to the American Federation of Labor are hereby directed to prepare and deliver to the president and secretary of the American Federation of Labor proper amendments to the constitution of the American Federation of Labor to make effective the purpose of this resolution.

should be paid less for equal services. This principle of equal pay for equal service is not only recognized by the A. F. of L., but it is recognized by the government, and I think it is time municipalities began to recognize it. I do not advocate that this step be taken in full at one time, but I do hope that the city will keep it in mind and recognize this principle."

Says Plea Fair One.

Prof. Smith said that "our own organization has long held the position that there should be no discrimination between colored and white teachers." He said he considered the plea of Scruggs a fair one, and hoped that the board would give it very serious consideration.

Scruggs said that only 17 per cent. of the money to be distributed in raises would go to Negro teachers, whereas 28 per cent. of the teachers are colored, and about 28 per cent. of the total enrollment in the schools is colored. He said the scale calls for $180 to $450 less for Negro teachers, as compared with white, and asserted that the Negro teacher never catches up on the basis of the schedule.

"Indeed, he loses ground," he said.

The budget ordinance, calling for a total of $3,369,200 in revenues and a like sum in expenditures, was passed on first reading, and will come up for second and final passage next Tuesday. An additional $40,000, to go for increases in teachers' salaries, will be appropriated from the surplus of the current fiscal year, as will $2,500 for the operation of Bonny Oaks school and $2,500 for the Chattanooga Public Library.

Wretched Housing Threatens Cities With Progressive Degeneration, National Resources Committee Finds

Urban Slums Are Large-Scale Contagious Blight, Which Endanger All Community and Call for Vigorous Rehousing Policy, Program and Action, Sensational Report Says.

By GEORGE L. KNAPP

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The report just issued by the National Resources Committee on city problems under the title: "Our Cities—Their Role in the National Economy," is a most valuable and timely document; of keen interest to every intelligent citizen, and of especial interest to labor. It proves that the billion dollars which the Wagner Housing bill provided in its original form is not too much but far too little for the tasks that lie ahead. For example, take this from the sketch of a typical American city:

"Beyond the city center are wholesale houses and warehouses, railroad yards, freight and passenger terminals, junk yards and light manufacturing establishments, interspersed by dilapidated residences, rooming houses and tenements. This area which contains the slums is the forgotten section in most American cities. Much of the land is in the hands of absentee owners who hold it for speculative reasons. . . Buildings are crowded and in disrepair; sanitary facilities are inadequate or utterly lacking. The people who must live in them are deprived of the minimum requisites of healthful and decent housing. . . .

Slum Symptom of City Deterioration.

"About four-fifths of the dwelling units of urban America are made of wood, and about one-third are over 30 years old. A large proportion is in a state of aggravated obsolescence and disrepair."

"The slum is the most glaring symptom of urban disintegration."

"The urban slum is a contagious blight on a large scale."

"Slums must be eradicated lest they spread to larger and larger sections or otherwise drag down the community."

Stressing the enormous importance of the city in modern life, the report says:

"In 1929, there were concentrated in 155 counties, containing the larger industrial cities, 64.7 per cent of all industrial establishments, 74 per cent

PRESIDENT APPROVES PLAN FOR CENSUS OF UNEMPLOYED

HYDE PARK, N. Y.—Before leaving on his western trip, President Roosevelt held a lengthy conference with John D. Biggers, and approved the plans for a census of the unemployed, so far as those plans have been prepared.

The postoffice will take charge of distributing the blank forms which will be distributed to 31,000,000 families; and which the unemployed are asked to fill in and sign. Having previously distributed with success blanks for the bonus payments and for the opening of the social security act, the postoffice feels able to manage this. No compulsion of any sort will be used. This would seem to rule out the frequently made statement that persons who do not sign will be dropped from relief rolls.

Where the alliteracy rate is high, special offices will be set up to assist people in filling out the blanks. Interpreters will be used when needed, tho instructions will be printed in several languages. A wide campaign of publicity will be conducted; and President Roosevelt has agreed to write a personal appeal which, with his signature, will appear on all the forms.

Biggers is on leave from the Libby-Owens-Ford Glass company, of Toledo, and is serving without pay.

AGED PREPARE TO MAKE DRIVE SEEKING RELIEF

Senator Morgan to Speak at Mass Meeting Friday at Hardy Junior High School.

Senator Fletcher Morgan will be the principal speaker at a rally to be held at Hardy Junior High school Friday night for the purpose of launching a statewide drive to secure assistance from the state for needy persons, Ed Royal, chairman, and member of organized labor, announced this morning.

Royal said over 3,000 people in Hamilton county are entitled to assistance, but only approximately 200 are receiving aid. "We are going to make plans and do everything we can to get some help. We believe our drive will spread until it becomes statewide," he declared.

Also appearing on the program will be W. E. Cheek, general organizer for the American Federation of Labor; Curtis Sims, president of the Chattanooga Central Labor union, and others.

Royal said all who are interested in this drive are invited to attend the meeting, which will be held in the auditorium.

Senator Morgan is expected to explain the state program.

A band composed of union musicians will play at the rally.

The drive to secure assistance for more needy people in this area was begun Sept. 17 when a meeting was held in East Chattanooga. At that time plans were made to hold a larger one and invite everyone who was interested to attend.

Carter Candy Co. Renews Agreement

Goes Into Second Year With Union With Pay Hike.

Carter Candy company last week renewed its contractual relations with Bakery and Confectionery Workers' union, Local 25. The original agreement, signed one year ago, worked out so well with the local candy manufacturers that there was no trouble experienced in signing up for the second year.

The new contract called for a wage increase from one to two dollars per week.

Since Carter Candy company became a one hundred per cent union concern they have enjoyed such an increase in sales that they have moved into much larger quarters and have increased the number of employes to approximately three times as many.

GREEN URGES VETS TO JOIN LABOR IN FIGHT ON DEMOCRACY'S FOES

NEW YORK CITY. — Speaking to an audience composed chiefly of veterans of the World War, William Green urged that the American Legion and the American Federation of Labor join forces in fighting off communism and fascism in the United States.

"We will have nothing whatever to do with these destructive movements," the A. F. of L. president said. "We shall oppose them vigorously, as we have always done."

"It is my well considered opinion," he also said, "that the call of the hour is for a closer and stronger relationship between the American Federation of Labor and the American Legion. We have so much in common as to make it comparatively easy to promote understanding and cooperation between these two great patriotic forces.

"Time and experience have shown that the fraternal bonds which were established in the beginning, when the American Legion was being formed, and which have remained unbroken, have been of mutual benefit and of great public service."

At the same time, Mr. Green said that the legion had done wisely and well in keeping out of industrial disputes.

California Labor Backs Teamsters in CIO Fight

SAN FRANCISCO.—The California State Federation of Labor has thrown its full membership of 350,000 into the waterfront fight against the CIO.

Edward D. Vandeleur, Federation secretary, implied that the Federation's first action would be to give moral and financial aid to the teamsters.

LICENSING PLAN IS URGED

"A concentration of economic power and wealth has made necessary the concentration of political power," O'Mahoney said.

AUTOMOBILE DEATHS JUMP

CHICAGO.—The National Safety Council reports that in the first seven months of this year, automobiles killed 20,690 people, an increase of 2,270 over the number killed in the same period last year. The report covers 43 states. Auto deaths for July numbered 3,420.

State Labor Dept. Removes Robinson From Factory Job

McAlister Appointee Was Believed to Be "Safe" by Many Friends Here—Removal Surprise.

"Lack of Funds" Given as Reason for Letting Machinist Go as Deputy Factory Inspector—Not to Be Replaced.

J. O. Nevil, chief factory inspector in the department of labor for the state of Tennessee, on a visit to The Labor World Thursday morning, announced that Mr. Matt J. Robinson, serving for the past two years as deputy factory inspector, had been notified this week that he was being released.

Mr. Nevil, a union pressman himself, said the reason for the removal was because there was a lack of funds in the department to keep a man on the job in Chattanooga. No one will be appointed for the time being to succeed Mr. Robinson.

Mr. Robinson is an old-time machinist, and was appointed by former Gov. Hill McAlister. Due to the fact that Mr. Robinson had not been disturbed at the outset of the Browning administration, it had been believed here that Mr. Robinson would be retained.

The move came as a distinct surprise in local circles, especially since information was given that Chattanooga, a large industrial center, would be deprived of proper factory inspection.

UNION MEATCUTTER IS WRECK VICTIM

Earl Bostain, member of Meatcutters' Local 600, was seriously injured last week when he became involved in an automobile collision. Latest reports say that he is in severe pain but is improving. His companion, a bookkeeper in one of our union meat markets, was killed.

Mr. Bostain is well known in the local movement, having been active for many years. The Labor World wishes for him a speedy recovery.

SYMPATHY EXTENDED TO BROTHER WYNNE

Local 175, Electricians, last week drew up a resolution extending to their fellow member, H. C. Wynne, sympathy in the death of his son on September 19, 1937.

The resolution says:

"Be it resolved, that we extend to Brother H. C. Wynne and family our heartfelt sympathy in their great loss; and be it further Resolved, that this resolution be spread on the minutes of our local and a copy sent to the bereaved family and The Labor World for publication."

Strike for Closed Shop Upheld by N. J. Court

NEWARK, N. J. — The legality of a strike to uphold or enforce a "closed shop" union contract with employers has been again determined.

Vice Chancellor Bigelow, after hearing both sides, refused to restrain members of Local Union No. 44, Metal Polishers', Buffers' and Electro-Platers' union, from picketing the Fou Plating company.

This decision follows an adverse decision in a different case by Vice Chancellor Berry. There is wide interest in the subject among many unions and labor regards the latest decision as an important victory. Vice Chancellor Bigelow's decision held that a strike for a closed shop which did not aim to create a "monopoly of labor" and peaceful picketing were both legal as a "protective measure."

The American Bar Association in convention at Kansas City is attacking President Roosevelt. This is not news; but it is a fact to keep in mind.

DISCRIMINATION IS PROTESTED BY LABOR UNIONS

Resolution Also Says That Teacher Salary Schedules Should Reward Training.

Central Labor union Monday evening adopted a resolution which was forwarded to the city commission in protest of discrimination against negro employes in the school system. Basis for the discrimination was the great difference in salary schedule of negro teachers as compared to salaries paid white teachers doing the same kind of work.

Mention was also made of the fact that the small increase which teacher payrolls will receive next year are to be awarded solely according to years of service without notice of training. Many teachers every year spend their money in the summertime going to school to receive additional degrees in order to keep themselves abreast of educational progress. These teachers will not receive any incentive to continue their educational value as teachers.

On the other hand, it has been pointed out, certain teachers and principals who do not possess college degrees, but who have been teaching over a period of years, will receive increases.

The resolution says:

Whereas, it has come to our attention that a salary schedule has been set up for the teachers of Chattanooga in which there is a very definite discrimination against the negro teachers, and also against both white and negro teachers who have spent time and money taking additional training in order that they may become better teachers of our children; and,

Whereas, such discriminations are un-American in that they are contrary to the constitution of the United States, which is the supreme law of the land; and,

Whereas, such a schedule is illegal because it is contrary to the state law which clearly provides that school funds shall be distributed equally on the basis of school enrollment; and,

Whereas, such discriminations are against the policy of the American Federation of Labor, and of the Chattanooga Central Labor union; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Chattanooga Central Labor union in regular session assembled this 27th day of September, 1937, go on record as disapproving any salary schedule for the teachers of Chattanooga which makes a discrimination because of color, or which fails to take into consideration the training as well as the experience of the teacher; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to the members of the city commission and to The Labor World and to the daily press.

EDITOR'S KINSMEN TERRIBLY INJURED

Parents of Mrs. T. R. Cuthbert and her aunt and uncle had a miraculous escape from death last Saturday evening just out of Memphis when their car was rammed by another driver. All four are now in the Baptist hospital with bad cuts and broken bones. Physicians say that their chances for recovery are very good, unless complications set in.

Mr. and Mrs. Cuthbert made a hurried trip to Memphis Sunday morning.

PRESSMEN CHANGE MEETING PLACE

Pressmen's union of Chattanooga, who have been meeting in the Memorial auditorium, announced this week that their meeting place has been changed to Room 908, Hotel Patten.

President White Abel and Secretary Charles R. Davis, of the pressmen, also stated that the next regular meeting would be held at the Patten on the first Tuesday in Ocober.

MOST IMPORTANT ASSEMBLAGE IN CHATTANOOGA LABOR RANKS SET FOR NEXT MONDAY NIGHT

Central Labor Union Calls on Every A. F. L. Local Union in Chattanooga to Send Its Executive Officers to Discuss Problem Which May Put Labor in Strong Position.

At the regular Central Labor union meeting last Monday evening announcement was made by President Curtis R. Sims that he was calling a meeting next Monday, October 4, at 7:30 p.m., in the labor temple, to which he urged every AFL local union to send its executive officers.

Mr. Sims stated that at present he was not at liberty to divulge the matter to be taken up, but wanted to impress on the various unions that the session would consider something that would directly involve the welfare of the entire movement.

"To be as definite as possible under the circumstances," he said, "this conference will be of vital and grave importance."

Hostile Real Estate Interests Plan Fight to Amend New Housing Act To Death, Conference Is Warned

Opposition to Law Not Dead, Langdon W. Post Tells Housing Authorities—A. F. of L. Economist Points Out Need of Foresight to Avoid Labor Difficulties on Housing Projects.

Washington, D. C.—Boris Shiskin, economist for the American Federation of Labor, received a compliment from the conference of American Housing Authorities here that will keep him working overtime for a week. He made such a clear exposition of the Wagner housing law itself and of the ways that local authorities can avoid labor troubles that after questioning which lasted for hours, the conference passed a resolution asking Shiskin to put his information in a booklet to be distributed to the housing authorities.

In addition to his fund of accurate information, Mr. Shiskin declared that there are just two ways for housing authorities to handle labor difficulties. One is to let things drift until trouble comes, and then try to cure it. The other is to look ahead, and try to follow a course that will keep such troubles from rising.

Langdon Post, president of the American Federation of Housing Authorities and head of the New York City Housing Authority, made a stirring opening address.

Housing Authorities Now Powerful Force.

"City housing authorities have been in existence over the past three years," said Mr. Post. "They were lonely groups, partly because they were ignored, and second, because they were charged with one of the most responsible jobs ever put on the shoulders of any group in this country—the responsibility of undoing the inhumanities and evils that had been built up over 150 years in the slums of our cities."

Mr. Post said that at first, the city housing authorities worked alone, "and it wasn't until last April that we woke up, and found that we were, as a unit, a powerful force." He described the work of the united authorities in smoothing the path for the Wagner bill and declared:

"If it hadn't been for the American Federation of Labor, we never would have got the bill through."

He added that the National Public Housing conference worked for years on this matter, and that the National Association of Housing Officials supplied a deal of intelligent thought on the subject.

Opponents of Law Declared Still Active.

"The opposition to the law is not dead," Post went on. "The U. S. Chamber of Commerce hasn't locked its doors yet, and the real estate interests haven't all rolled over and quit. They are going to try to get amendments to this bill which will kill it."

Catherine Bauer, executive secretary of the Labor Housing Conference, declared that:

"This law was not dictated by the White House. It is the result of a national demand.

"Two years from now we will be facing the biggest housing shortage in our history."

Cooperation With Labor Is Advocated.

Miss Bauer urged housing authorities to cooperate with and secure the cooperation of the local organized labor groups in developing a housing program.

It was agreed that the requirement in the present law, that localities contribute 10 per cent of the cost of a housing project, could not be met by many communities in great need of such projects.

Ed Pinaud Signed Up By Cosmetic Workers

NEW YORK, N. Y. — Cosmetic Soap and Perfumery Workers Union, Local 20646, in their first organization drive in this field, have organized the employes of Ed Pinaud, Inc., hair and tonic perfume plant, obtaining minimum wage scales ranging from $20 to $40 per week, two weeks vacation with pay, holidays with pay, the 40-hour week, and the closed shop, according to a statement by Benjamin F. Pross, organizer for the union.

Mr. Pross declared that the union is negotiating similar agreements with Coty's and several other large cosmetic and perfume houses in the New York city area.

IN THE NEWS
REUBEN T. WOOD

Reuben T. Wood, six feet high, 190 pounds in weight, and so little of it fat that cannibals would need to grease the pan before frying him, has been congressman from the Sixth district of Missouri for five years, and head of the State Federation of Missouri for 25 years.

He was chairman of the legislative committee of the Missouri Federation of Labor through most of that period; and led the 10-year fight for a workmen's compensation law, from 1915 to 1925. Even then, it had to go to a referendum; but the people indorsed it, of course. In 1932, he was elected congressman at large by a majority of 385,000 votes. Two years later, he was named from the Sixth district.

Wood is one of the foremost members of the house labor committee. He has been a staunch friend of labor throughout his public career; and was a close friend as well as a stou supporter of the lamented Billy Connery.

What Next!

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad is building a super streamlined locomotive which will haul 14 loaded Pullman cars at a speed of 100 miles per hour with a minimum of vibration. Built with 16 cylinders arranged for constant torque propulsion, the locomotive will produce a continuous flow of power similar to that of a multi-cylinder automobile. The cylinders, 4 over each driving wheel, will be geared direct to each wheel without connecting rods.

Higher Living Standards Possible

In our generation, a new idea has come to dominate thought about government—the idea that the resources of the nation can be made to produce a far higher standard of living for the masses if only government is intelligent and energetic in giving the right direction to economic life.—Frankln D. Roosevelt.

The Latest in Tanks

The American army has a new tank that, from advance notices, at least, seems to be a terror. It makes 50 miles an hour across country, and taken any ordinary ditches at 25. It is armored, of course; it has three machine guns; and the gunners with the driver make a crew of four.

Apparently, no other country has quite so daunting a devil wagon as this—though it would be well not to get too positive on that matter. Tanks have developed tremendously since their first appearance in the World War. New as they were, out of favor as they were with old-fashioned British officers, tanks broke the Hindenburg line; although it is claimed that not a single tank which took part in that epoch-making smash in August was still in service when the armistice came in November.

But what a ten times shame it is that the money, ingenuity, material and patience which went to shaping this behemoth of destruction could not have been expended on something to serve men, instead of on a device to destroy them.

Effective International Cooperation

Much has been made of the failure of the League of Nations to keep peace and prevent international brigandage and destruction. The League, it is true, has not lived up to expectations, though it has done more toward international cooperation and preparation for such cooperation than is generally realized. But the charge of failure of international cooperation cannot be made against the International Labor Organization, which for almost two decades has been working for social justice by international effort.

To date the ILO has adopted more than sixty conventions or international treaties, dealing with labor conditions. In the last three years these conventions have been ratified at the rate of about 50 annually by the 62 nations belonging to the organization. Economists and labor organizations say that these conventions have been adecided force for the improvement of labor conditions throughout the world and consequently also a force for stability and peace.

In the fact-finding field the ILO has also been effective. It has made available to the world a great mass of information on labor and social conditions and so helped to focus attention on industrial and social evils and bring about their cure.

The ILO is doing good work and is justifying the membership of the United States, which joined in 1934.

Reds' Plan for New Dailies Points To Substantial Communist Progress

Growth in Financial Strength Indicated Since Daily Worker Moved to New York Leads Chicago Labor Men to Believe Gotham Unions Have Not Given Adequate Opposition.

BY JOSEPH A. WISE

CHICAGO.—The proposed establishment of two communist daily newspapers—one in Chicago and the other in San Francisco—besides continuation of the Daily Worker in New York City, indicates substantial red growth in financial strength if not in numbers, despite the split between het followers of Stalin and Trotsky.

International union officers with whom I have talked here in Chicago express the belief that the reds have grown since they transferred their base of operations from Chicago to New York because the reds have not received adequate opposition from trade union sources in New York. One international union officer, who has a record of successful opposition to the reds, said that the complacency with which the Daily Worker is accepted by trade unionists in New York City is remarkable. These trade unionists, he said, accept the Daily Worker as a friend rather than as a conniving foe.

Worker Policy Unchanged

Recent issues of the Daily Worker show that it is edited with more skill than was used on it while it was published in Chicago. Much of the crudeness is gone, but the policy is the same. The design is to "muscle in" on the unions and control them by any and all means.

The communists have a new alibi when caught committing a crime against a trade union. They shout that they did not do it. They say it was done by the Trotsky followers, led by Jay Lovestone. No good communist would do anyything to injure the union cause, they piously declare. The crime was committed by imitation communists and not by the real fellows, it is alleged.

Party Loyalty Paramount.

A trade unionist takes an obligation which pledges his fealty to his union. A communist owes his loyalty to his party first, last and all of the time. He is under orders the same as a soldier. He must obey the orders of the communist national executive committee, and the national executive committee must obey the orders of the Third International, which has its headquarters in Moscow.

Any communist who disobeys orders is "liquidated." In Russia that generally means death. In the United States—to date—it means being thrown out of the party and deprived of any emoluments or advantages that the member may have acquired through his party membership.

Reds Can't "Take It"

The communist leaders outrageously abuse honest trade union officers who make an earnest effort to further the interests of their organizations. The reds claim this as a right and a privilege under the American concept of freedom of the press and freedom of speech and assemblage. But let any one criticize a red leader, and what a howl goes up. Right away the reds squeal like stuck pigs and the critic is denounced as a "red baiter." They can dish it out, but they can't take it.

Newspaper Guild Ouster Ordered

Green Instructs City and State Central Bodies to Expel CIO Units; News and Editorial Writers Will Be Organized by Local Unions Directly Affiliated With the A. F. of L.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — An order instructing all state federations of labor and city central bodies to expel units of the American Newspaper Guild was issued here by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

This action was taken because of the recent referendum of the Guild membership which showed 3,392 in favor and 1,691 against the action of the Guild convention in St. Louis last June which voted to affiliate with the Committee for Industrial Organization.

The 1936 convention of the Amerin them. Even metallic objects, such as stoves, absorb water. But that water can evaporate just as easily as it was bsorbed, nd you still have your ican Federation of Labor suspended ten international unions which joined with John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, in establishing the CIO, which the convention held was a dual organization guilty of fostering disloyalty to the federation.

In connection with the expulsion order, Mr. Green announced that organizers of the American Federation of Labor and the state and city central bodies have been authorized to enroll news and editorial writers into unions directly chartered by the federation.

Text of Statement.

The text of Mr. Green's statement, which was in the form of a letter sent to the state federations and central bodies of the A. F. of L., throughout the country, follows:

"The American Newspaper Guild, which was chartered by the American Federation of Labor, has officially withdrawn its affiliation with the American Federation of Labor. It voted in favor of this action at a convention held in St. Louis about June 7, and later by a referendum vote of its membership. That makes the action decisive and definite.

"In view of this action taken by the American Newspaper Guild, I am calling upon the officers and members of state federations of labor and city central bodies to dissociate from membership local unions of the American Newspaper Guild.

Forfeited All A. F. of L. Support.

"Both the national organization, the American Newspaper Guild, and local unions of the Guild, have by the act of withdrawal from affiliation with the American Federation of Labor, forfeited from state federations of labor or city central labor unions.

"The American Newspaper Guild not only withdrew from affiliation with the American Federation of Labor, but in addition officially decided to affiliate with the Committee for Industrial Organization. That means said international union is now a part of a dual, rival organization to the American Federation of Labor.

"As a part of this dual, rival organization they cannot ask for or expect the support of subordinate organizations of the American Federation of Labor such as state federations of labor or city central bodies.

A. F. of L. Writers Unions Planned.

"Organizers of the American Federation of Labor, the representatives of state federations of labor and of city central bodies are authorized to organize news writers and editorial writers into local unions directly chartered by the American Federation of Labor where these editorial and news writers wish to be identified and affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

"It is the purpose of the American Federation of Labor to assign special experienced and capable organizers to specialize in organizing work among editorial and news writers. They will be extended a hearty and cordial welcome into the American Federation of Labor.

"We will accord to said organized news writers and editorial writers the full support of the American Federation of Labor, of state federations of labor and of city central bodies.

"Where editorial and news writers become organized into local unions directly chartered by the American Federation of Labor they will be eligible to membership in state federations of labor and city central bodies."

Cooks' and Waiters' Scraps
Louise Tinker, Correspondent

Tuesday night, Oct. 5, is regular meeting night. It will be a special meeting for the purpose of electing a president.

* * *

Are you an active member,
The kind that likes the best?
Or are you just contented
With a pin upon your breast?

Do you attend the meetings
And mingle with the flock?
Or do you stay at home
And criticize and knock?

Do you take an active part
To help the work along?
Or are you satisfied to be
The kind that just belongs?

There is quite a program scheduled
That I'm sure you've heard about,
And will appreciate it if you, too,
Will come and help us out.

So come to the meetings often
And help with hand and heart;
Don't be just a member,
But take an active part.

Think this over, my friend,
You know right from wrong;
Are you an active member,
Or do you just belong?

President Takes Time Off to Cheer Son of Chicago Trades Unionists, Victim of Infantile Paralysis

By THOMAS JOSEPH WREN

Assistant Editor, The Butcher Workman.

This is just a little story of a great American and a little Chicago lad.

The great American is President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The Chicago boy is Robert O'Malley. Bob's dad is Walter J. O'Malley, president of the Chicago Union Printers' Athletic association, and a member of Typographical Union No. 16. Back a few years ago, he was classed as a good semi-pro baseball player.

But the story is about young O'Malley.

Promised Washington Visit.

He is a typical American lad, full of pep and enthusiasm, eager to see and be on the go. Travel was his specialty. For months he had day-dreamed over the thrill of seeing Washington, the capital of the nation, with all of its historical buildings, the White House in which reside the President and his family. This was to be an event in young O'Malley's life. Surely nothing would happen that would mar the epoch in his youthful life.

His father had promised him, didn't he, and his dad was noted for keeping his word and that was all that mattered.

Robert Thrilled By Trip.

You see, Walter O'Malley had been prominent in promotion of the ball game tournament played each year between the teams sponsored by the union printers throughout the nation. This year the tournament was scheduled to be held at Washington.

Little Robert was to make the Washington trip with his dad and mother. And in a machine. What could be sweller. See the sights as the car sped over the highways. This was indeed fun. And at Washington, the day of great fun to be climaxed with seeing the sights. What could be sweller?

But from the clear sky a tragedy occurred.

Taken Ill on Way.

En route to Washington Young O'Malley felt ill. Nothing serious. Just a tired feeling centering about his arms. But at Washington, the illness became more acute. Physicians were called. The O'Malley family couldn't believe the verdict.

Specialists were consulted. Their was the same decision. Infantile paralysis. Stunned and shocked, the O'Malley family figuratively felt the earth crumbling beneath their feet.

But through some unknown devious way, President Roosevelt heard of Bob's misfortune. The President knew, for he was similarly attacked. His heart throbs in sympathy for those afflicted with the dread ailment.

Immediately, the President communicated with the O'Malley household. They were informed the President and his wife were taking a personal interest in the case. Nothing should be spared in the way of specialists. The White House prestige and influence was theirs to command.

President Cheers Lad.

Fresh cut flowers from the White House flower houses brightened Young O'Malley's room at Gallinger hospital in Washington. Notes of encouragement to cheer the lad in his hour of suffering were received from President Roosevelt and his wife.

And this encouragement from a great American surely did aid the little sufferer. Through his pain, Robert knew that even President Roosevelt was in his corner, extending words of cheer and encouragement in the battle.

Each day, the President is the focal point of a thousand and one activities. The cares of the state are his. But through it all, President Roosevelt was never too busy to lend time and aid, and ascertain how Robert O'Malley, 13 years of age, was progressing at the hospital.

Operative Plasterers Reelect Officers

BALTIMORE, MD. — The Operative Plasterers and Cement Finishers International Association re-elected all its officers in convention here, and selected Denver, Colo., as the 1938 convention city. The re-elected officers were Michael J. Colleran, New York, president; John E. Rooney, Cleveland, first vice-president; Thos. A. Scully, Middletown, Ohio, secretary-treasurer.

Rand-Bergoff Trial Date Set

NEW HAVEN, CONN. — Federal Judge Carroll C. Hincks has set Nov. 8 for the trial of James H. Rand, Jr., president of the Remington-Rand, Inc. and Pearl Bergoff, head of a New York strike - breaking agency, on charges of violating the Byrnes act through transporting strike-breakers from New York to Middletown, Conn.

Chicago Printers Hope Union Rules Will Be Observed in Plant of Proposed New Red Daily

By JOSEPH A. WISE

CHICAGO. — Union printers who had experience with the national communist leaders ten years ago, when the Daily Worker was published in Chicago, are hopeful that the present red leadership will show some regard for the rules and regulations governing use of the union label following establishment here of the proposed new communist daily newspaper. Also that another attempt will no be madt to man the mechanical departments with communists only imported from distant points in the United States and Canada.

When the Daily Worker, now published in New York City, was launched in Chicago in April, 1924, communists were imported from New York, Toronto, Duluth, San Francisco and various other cities to work in the mechanical departments. Not being able to round up enough communist party members to do the work, the reds went to the Chicago printing trades unions for additional help.

Union Shop Rules Flouted.

E. A. Patzke was president of Chicago Typographical union No. 16 at that time. He knew of the difficulty that the union had had with the I. W. W. when that organization had established a printing plant in Chicago. Knowing that the communists and the I. W. W.'s were the same breed of pups, Patzke took advantage of the opportunity to send some bona fide union men into the Daily Worker plant. Patzke instructed these men to see to it that the union rules and regulaions were strictly adhered o.

It did not take the communists long to demonstrate their utter contempt for union shop rules. They only obeied the rules insofar as they were compelled to do so. Union officers had to visit the plant almost every week to straighten out a dispute.

Reds in Majority.

Communists outnumbered the bona fide union men in the composing room, and a chairman who spoke very poor English (he was a German) was elected. If a violation was called to his attention, he became angry, and would say, "Mind your own business."

The communist pose of interest in the union cause is false pretense. They want to capitalize on the use of the union label.

It was reported here at the time the Daily Worker was published in Chicago that the red leaders not only wanted communist party members to man the paper in order to obtain complacency with violations of union law, but also because communists were cheaper in that there was a "kick back" of ten per cent of their wages as "party dues."

CARDUI

In this modern time something wonderfully worth while can be done for practically every woman who suffers from functional pains of menstruation. Certain cases can be relieved by taking Cardui. Others may need a physician's treatment.

Cardui has two widely demonstrated uses: (1) To ease the immediate pain and nervousness of the monthly period; and (2) to aid in building up the whole system by helping women to get more strength from their food.

Take It or Leave It!

Points of View Picked Up From Various Sources

CY KOLOGY, EDITOR

Just about now Old Man Mars probably is rolling through the sky, taking for himself a big fat leer at the planet we call Earth, but which Old Man Mars probably calls Sap.

"Oh yeah," he says, in the midst of his leering. "You think you know sumpin', an' you don't know nothin' at all."

This Old Man Mars, he sees us loading up with artillery and packing up enough gas to float half the population out into space, while it snuffs out the other half with its sneaking-up ways.

The Old Guy sees all this going on and he says to himself, "there goes something crazy". He says to himself, "Now there's a nice planet, due to roll around fit to live on for several million years, not half worn out, and the fools that live on it want to go and croak themselves all off while the going is still good."

He says, "Saps" and goes on about his business.

Saps we are, for sure. Saps plenty.

Now the worst of this business is that, no matter how much one nation may want to be peaceable and lay off of the fighting business, when everyone around is arming up the hilt the peaceable nation can take its choice of getting wiped out without defenst, or of loading up with shooting irons, like all the rest.
That's the hell of it.

It would take something more than a Houdini of a statesman to find a way out.

Maybe there isn't any world cataclysm coming? Maybe Japan and China and Italy and Russia and France and England are just playing a gme nd suddenly they'll ll straighten up and laugh and say it was all a joke. Maybe — but also, maybe not.

* * *

Meanwhile, that isn't all.

Labor is one force that MIGHT—not surely, but possibly — hold things even, if the worst happens, or seems about to happen.

But, at one of the most critical hours in all modern history, American labor goes berserk and has at it with hammer, tongs and horse shoes.

Without any intention of throwing any slurs around the place, there is, now and then, a temptation to say "rats" when there is talk of "great men."

Great men, fighting with the destinies of millions — that's a picture.

Caesar, Hannibal, Napoleon, were something like that.

Pasteur, perhaps, typifies another kind.

* * *

There have been fighting leaders, like Washington and Lincoln, who led in war to win freedom.

Nobody who is making war or threatening war today is like that.

The whole program of the war makers is one of conquest and capture.

Crazy world? Sure it is. Internationally — nationally. In world politics and in domestic affairs. Also in labor.

Of course attack must be followed by defense. Defending freedom is necessary, if freedom is to be kept.

Much of the world today has no freedom. Millions don't seem to want it.

Again, crazy world — moving toward — what?

Well, in a world that seems to believe in the inevitability of war and mutual destruction, perhaps we're all set for it, and if so, we can't get away from it.

But at least a try for it would be possible, if enough wanted to try. A united labor movement in the United States COULD try. Is that just too darned much to expect, or hope for, in a loco world? You say.

Limited Course Given U-T Working Students

"The most pathetic figure on the American campus is the ambitious student without money enough to meet necessary expenses," said Den F. M. Massey, of the University of Tennessee, in announcing that U. of T. finds it necessary to dampen the ambitions of over-worked students this year. Those who must work part time will not be permitted to carry the full academic load.

"These students are so anxious for an education that they are willing to try a full man's job in some industry, boarding house or restaurant to make expenses and at the same time carry a full college load," said the dean. "When they become conscious of the fact that they are neither doing their job well nor acceptable college work, they become greatly discouraged. I have found many of them on the verge of a nervous breakdown."

GROCERY CLERKS WIN UNION RECOGNITION

Chicago.—Union recognition was secured under an agreement entered into recently by the Independent Food Dealers' association and the Grocery Clerks' union, Local 1248, affiliated with the Retail Clerks' International Protective association and the Chicago and American Federations of Labor. The agreement came after a strike of employes, called by Local No. 1248. About 200 owners and dealers, operating in the grocery field here, are members of the association.

The union received the cooperation of a number of other labor organization during the strike. Housewives in the 63rd street district of Chicago, known as West Englewood, also aided the union by refusing to patronize strike-bound stores and their aid proved to be an important factor in the union victory.

Federal Judge Assails Sit-Down Strikes

Baltimore, Md.—U. S. District Judge William C. Coleman doesn't like sit-down strikes. Characterizing them as a "violation of all the principles on which this government is founded," Coleman ordered federal marshals to clear twenty-three seamen sitdowners from the vessel Oakmar, tied up off Sparrows Point, Md.

Before marshals could carry out the order, however, the seamen left the vessel on orders of Charles Hansen, national maritime union official.

Coleman's order and criticism of sit-down strikes was made in upholding a plea of the Colmar Steamship company, that the striking seamen be removed from the vessel.

In rendering his decision, Coleman rebuked attorneys who appeared in behalf of the sit-down strikers.

Painters' Union Urges United States To Shun Involvement in Asiatic War

WASINGTON, D. C. — The Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America, in convention at Buffalo recently, took a strong stand against involvement of the U. S. in the Chinese-Japanese war, copies of a resolution passed by the convention show. The convention petitioned the President and Secretary of State "to refrain from permitting any economic interests in these two countries (Japan and China) to draw us, under any pretext, into warfare of any kind. . . "

The resolution further asked the government to "set an early date for the evacuation of all Americans from the Chinese-Japanese territory, after which date our military and naval forces must be immediately withdrawn; to issue instructions to our military forces in that area to refrain from retaliatory fire on the part of ships, soldiers, or marines . . . and to continue to offer mediation to China and Japan."

The assemblage also went on record against the Sheppard-Hill bill and the Industrial Mobilization Plan and approved the national war referendum. Congress will be petitioned "immediately upon reassembly, to sign Discharge Petition No. 11 and to vote for the Ludlow War Referendum resolution No. 199; that the also defeat the Sheppard-Hill bill and all similar bills embodying universal conscription."

NLRB BEGINS POLL OF SEAMEN

NEW YORK CITY. — The NLRB has begun the job of polling 50,000 seamen on ships sailing from Atlantic and Gulf ports on their choice of a union to represent them in negotiating new contracts. Mrs. Elinore M. Herrick, regional director of the board, said that probably six months would pass before the vote would be complete.

The real choice will be between the International Seamen's union of the A. F. of L., and the National Maritime union of the CIO. The ballots, however, make provision for an independent choice.

KEATING DEFENDS BLACK'S RECORD

Kansas City.—Edward Keating, editor of Labor, official Washington organ of the standard railroad labor unions, defended the appointment of Hugo L. Black to the supreme court in a speech here to the International Brotherhood of Boiler Makers, Iron Ship Builders and Helpers of America. Referring to the attack made on Black by the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette on the ground the newly appointed justice is a member of the Ku Klux Klan, Keating said:

"The attack was launched by a newspaper owned by Paul Block and Paul Block is the friend and ally of William Randolph Hearst. Mr. Block and Mr. Hearst are among the worst enemies of American labor.

"It was Senator Black who exposed the thievery of public utility corporations. It was Senator Black who put through the senate the administration hours and wages bill.

"As a trade unionist and a Roman Catholic, I do not propose to permit these journalistic and financial buccaneers to inflame my passions."

Comments on World Events

The aims of Japan in China have become so clear that Europeans and Americans are substantially agreed in defining them. They are:

1. To strike such terror into the Chinese people that they will not dare to resist Japan's will for a generation.

2. To set up one or two buffer states, Japanese controlled, between Russia and China.

3. To take over under direct Japanese rule a goodly part of the coast of China, including, of course, the coal mines.

4. To take over absolute control of Chinese customs; which would enable Japan to shut out all trade except her own.

It is clear that the last three items in the program depend entirely on the success of the first. And to date, the Chinese are not being terrorized worth a cent. They stopped Japan in her tracks before Shanghai until a second line of defense had been formed in the rear; and retreated to that—out of the reach of naval guns—without a sign of disorder.

Even the barbarous attacks on Nanking seem to have cost Japan more and more and brought her less than she expected.

May her disappointments grow and increase!

Speaking at a dinner of the American Institute of Steel Construction the other day, Clyde G. Conly declared that automobile traffic in New York today is slower than the old time horse traffic. Among other things, he said,

"Because of this constant starting and stopping, the innumerable red stop lights, automobile traffic will move no more than one mile an hour. History records that old horse drawn coaches, which once operated on New York streets, averaged 11½ miles per hour."

Mr. Conley's remedy for this condition is a series of elevated. drives for auto traffic. That may be a good way out of a bad mess—but what mde the bad mess?

* * *

The answer is the congestion of population in and around New York. Part of that congestion is reasonable—New York is where ocean traffic met the old Hudson river and Erie canal traffic, on lines which still furnish the easiest grades from the Atlantic coast to the Middle Western plains. But there is every indication that the packing of population into that area has gone far beyond reasonable limits; and that much of it is due to the enormous financial power which New York has wielded so long. When cities get so large that auto traffic moves slower than old time horse traffic, it would seem time for a study that would reach to the bottom of things — not one cooked up as a fine idea for a certain group of steel producers.

Grand Jury Indicts 47 In Harlan Terror Cases

Twenty-two Coal Companies and Scores of Company and County Officials, Including Sheriff, Accused of Felonious Conspiracy to Deprive Mine Workers of Right to Organize.

By GEORGE L. KNAPP

Washington.—At very long last, law is moving into Harlan county, Kentucky. Twenty-two coal companies of that county, twenty-four officials of those companies, Sheriff Theodore R. Middleton, chief gunman for the coal companies, and twenty-two of the lesser thugs whom he deputized that they might club and kill workers with impunity, have been indicted by a federal grand jury at Frankfort, Ky., for "unlawful and felonious conspiracy."

The whole matter stems straight from the senate civil liberties investigation, captained by "Young Bob" La Follette, with Elbert D. Thomas, of Utah, as an able assistant; and Robert Wohlforth as chief of the fact diggers put on the job. Harlan county has been a notorious nest of industrial despotism for nearly forty years. It has been known through the land as "bloody Harlan," where no man's life was worth a nickel unless he submitted to the will of the mine bosses. It has been criticized and cursed orally and in print.

Committee Gets Action.

But never until the La Follette committee got on the job was anything realyy done about it. The vigor and skill with which the department of justice has followed up the matter is worthy of all praise, but the source must not be forgotten.

The names of the indicted persons are practically all in the records of the La Follette committee. Theodore Middleton, the sheriff who invested $100,000 in two years on a salary of $1,800 a year, is at the top of the list of law officers indicted, of course. Mose Middleton and Merle Middleton are there, too. So is Ben Unthank, the gunman who hid out from senate subpoenas, and never was brought in to testify. He was named by three witnesses as the man who offered them from $80 to $100 apiece to blow up the house of a union organizer with dynamite. The organizer was absent when the dynamite went off; but his son was killed.

Coal Magnate Named.

The names of Frank White and Ballard Irvin—better known as "Wash"—are there, too; and in the records of the La Follette committee is the testimony of Hugh Taylor that these men shot him and left him for dead. So is the name of Pearl Bassham, the highly cultured coal magnate who testified on the stand that he never had heard of the Wagner labor relations act until his lawyer told him about it after he got to Washington. So is the name of Robert Creech, of the Creech Coal company, whose superintendent, Ted Creech, threatened a witness before the senate committee with what would happen to him after he got back to Harlan.

Judge H. Church Ford, before whom the indictments were returned, set the bond for Sheriff Middleton and for each of the twenty-four company officials indicted at $5,000 each. The twenty-two deputies were required to give bond of $2,500 each.

Able Prosecutors in Charge.

Amos W. W. Woodcock, of Baltimore, and George P. Jones, of Washington, both special assistant attorney-generals, and both with first-class reputations as able prosecutors, have been assigned to conduct the prosecutions.

While the department of justice was following up the senate leads, an old law was unearthed which provides prison penalties for interference with civil liberties. The indictments, however, are all brought under the Wagner labor relations act, and charge that:

"The defendants . . . unlawfully and feloniously conspired to intimidate employes of the aforesaid company defendants . . . in the free exercise and enjoyment of certain rights and privileges . . . to-wit, the right and privilege of the said employes to self-organization and to form and join and assist labor unions and to bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing, and to engage in concerted activities for . . . mutual aid and protection."

Machinists Win Bargaining Election in Hamilton, Ohio

HAMILTON, OHIO. — The local lodge of the International Association of Machinists won a decisive victory in an employe election for collective bargaining agent, over a CIO set-up, at the Hoover-Owens-Rentschler company local branch of the General Machinery corporation.

AUXILIARIES JOIN A. F. W. A. L.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The women's auxiliaries to the International Typographical union, the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes, the National Federation of Post Office Clerks, the National Association of Letter Carriers, the International Stereotypers' and Electrotypers union of North America, the Switchmen's Union of North America, and the International Photo-Engravers' Union of North America, have held conventions recently and each voted to become affiliated with the American Federation of Women's Auxiliaries of Labor.

I. M. Ornburn, temporary secretary of the A. F. W. A. L., addressed several of these conventions and reports great enthusiasm and steady progress for the American Federation of Women's Auxiliaries of Labor, one of whose chief objects is to promote buying of union label products and services.

Aluminum Workers Strike

MANITOWOC, WIS. — Nearly 1,500 workers in the Aluminum Goods Manufacturing Co., subsidiary of the Aluminum Corp. of America, were called out on strike September 23 to demand higher wages, shorter hours, and a union shop. The workers belong to an A. F. of L. union.

The national income of the United States this year is estimated at $70,000,000,000 worth of goods and services. In 1932, the national income was around $33,000,000,000. Isn't it simply dreadful how the country is going to the dogs under the new deal?

In one day, the wires carried word that 47 industrial fascists and their chosen gunmen had been indicted in Harlan County, Kentucky, and that Chinese forces have given a proper thrashing to Japanese troops west of Peiping. Good news sometimes comes in bunches like that.

CIO Accepts Victory of AFL in Ambridge Voting

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The fight between A. F. of L. and CIO unions for representation of the 1,200 workers of the Ambridge (Pa.) plant of the National Electric Products Company has been ended by agreement of the United Electrical and Radio Workers Union, CIO, to recognize the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, A. F. of L., as collective bargaining agency in the case.

The agreement was made in a letter from James B. Carey, president of the CIO union, to J. Warren Madden, chairman of the NLRB.

"It has been, and still is, our belief that the company secured the services of the I. B. E. W. for the purpose of preventing true collective bargaining, intending to use the I. B. E. W. as a company union for the purpose of retarding the progress of the United Electrical and Radio Workers of America," Carey wrote in part.

"Nevertheless, in the interest of the labor movement and of true collective bargaining, we waive our right to file exception in this case even though we have sufficient ground for doing so."

LONGSHOREMEN ASK NEW WAGE CONTRACT

NEW ORLEANS — Longshoremen, negotiating for a new contract with shippers on South Atlantic and the gulf coasts, have asked a wage increase and shorter hours.

Michael J. Dwyer of Galveston, gulf coast president of the International Longshoremen's Association, presented the union's demands for a 44-hour week with $1 an hour for straight time and $1.50 an hour for overtime.

A. F. OF L. CHARTER RESTORED TO "MULE SPINNERS" UNION

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The International Spinners Union, formerly affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, has had its A. F. of L. charter restored, President Green, of the Federation, announced here.

The Spinners Union is an organization of several thousand skilled men in the New England textile industry. The union, whose members are known in the trade as "mule spinners," was suspended in 1919 after it had refused to amalgamate with the United Textile Workers, an industrial union.

"This was a striking instance of the efforts of the American Federation of Labor to promote industrial unions, even over the strenuous objections of a craft organization, when conditions warranted such a course," it was said at A. F. of L. headquarters.

The Spinners Union has remained under suspension since 1919, but early this year negotiations were undertaken to reinstate it. The union was first organized in 1853. It was one of the first craft unions to be chartered by the American Federation of Labor.

Many Members Gained by A. F. L.

75,000 Are Enlisted Monthly in Unions, Director of Organization Hines Reports; All Sections Are Covered by 325 Organiers, Who Map Plans in Regional Conferences.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Lewis G. Hines, director of the new organization unit of the American Federation of Labor, announced that new members are being enlisted in the federation at the rate of 75,000 a month.

With a staff of 325 hustling organizers under him, Mr. Hines is reaching into every section of the country in his drive to bring new industries and plants under the banner of the A. F. of L.

In his efforts to blanket the entire country, he is arranging a series of regional conferences in which the federation organizers meet with the representatives of local and state organizations for the purpose of coordinating and extending their unionization activities.

Value of Regional Conferences.

The first of these regional conferences was held at Boston and Detroit. The resultant gains assured Mr. Hines of the value of such meetings, and he thereupon summoned the third regional conference of organizers from Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky, which was held at the Metropole hotel in Cincinnati, Ohio, on September 11 and 12.

At this conference plans were laid for the furtherance of organization activities in the mid-west. All of the 130 organizers and labor organizations which were represented pledged their cooperation in a united campaign to increase their own membership and invade new fields.

With roars of approval the conferees unanimously adopted a resolution commending William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, for his courageous stand against the raiding activities of the CIO and pledging loyalty to him.

CIO Is Fading in the South.

The next conference was held in Atlanta, Ga., on September 18 and 19. It was attended by 300 representatives from nine southern states. Reports to the conference indicated that the CIO is rapidly fading in the south and that splendid progress is being made by the American Federation of Labor in the textile and manufacturing fields.

Mr. Hines announced plans for summoning another regional conference in Washington, D. C., on October 30, to which representatives from Pennsylvania, Maryland, New Jersey, Delaware, West Virginia and Virginia will be invited.

ISADORE LUBIN

Isador Lubin, head of the United States bureau of labor statistics and now on his way to Geneva, bald enough for 50 and sturdy enough for 30, is 41 years old. He is about 5 feet, 6 inches above sea level, strongly built, with deep chest and round throat. His grayish brown eyes twinkle from behind glasses; and both they and his alert face give some hint of the activity behind that high forehead.

Lubin probably carries more facts about labor in his head than any other man in North America has carried since Ethelbert Stewart died. He is probably ahead even of Stewart in the broader phases of economic culture. All in all, he is one of the men in Washington valuable to any administration, but peculiarly valuable to the new deal.

Filene, High Pay Advocate, Dies in Paris at Age of 77

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Edward A. Filene, millionaire and social prophet, business man and a stanch advocate of high wages, is dead of pneumonia in Paris at the age of 77; and the world is the poorer for his passing. To a degree almost unrivalled, he practiced the doctrine of social justice which he preached.

He was the oldest son of a Polish immigrant. He planned in his early days to go to Harvard; but family reverses made him go to his father's store instead. He summed up this experience as follows:

"I found that although one may not become as learned by shopkeeping as by going to Harvard, one may become wiser than some of the men who go through Harvard, if wisdom means having the things you know permeated with life and sympathy and understanding for your fellow-man."

Starting with a small store, he and his brother, A. Lincoln Filene, built up a merchandising business which now has more than 3,000 employes. The Filene Co-operative Association gives the workers for the firm powers which industrial autocrats declare would ruin any business; and instead of being ruined, it kept some part of its prosperity even through the depression. Profit sharing with Filene meant what it said. He preached and practiced high wages and low costs. He may not have been the first man to realize that mass porduction requires mass consumption; but he certainly was one of the first to preach it from the housetops, and use it as his guide in life.

No other business man ever made so many pithy observations.

"Low production costs, high wages and increasing buying power are required for mass production."

"Mass production and mass distribution will lead to undreamed of economies and efficiency."

"I am under no delusions about the social efficiency of our industrial civilization. The days of the majority of mankind are still occupied in providing food, clothing and shelter, with little time for lifting life to a higher level. This is indefensible."

Filene never married. He founded the Twentieth Cntury Fund which has made some notable studies of economic and social problems.

UNION SAFETY CAMPAIGN SETS NEW WORLD RECORD

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A safety campaign conducted by the Washington Building Trades Council, in cooperation with governmental agencies and contractors, recently resulted in establishment of a new world record.

The record was achieved by members of Ironworkers' Local No. 5, of Washington, who erected 4,200 tons of structural steel, within sixty days, without a serious accident. This record, which government officials recognize as a new world mark, was attained on the Apex building, last of the famous "government triangle" here. One of the most hazardous of occupations, ironworkers have suffered severely for many years through accidents on big construction projects.

The Washington campaign, started after numerous accidents marred construction of the huge new Interior Building, is reported as now being emulated in different sections of the country, with organized labor often taking the lead and always co-operating with established agencies for the promotion of safety on the job for all workers.

TEAMSTERS PLEDGE FINISH FIGHT ON CIO

SAN FRANCISCO. — "Financial and moral support" of 22,000 teamsters was pledged to a finish fight with the CIO on the docks of San Francisco bay, the joint council of the teamsters' unions announced here.

The council said the embargo on waterfront commerce would be continued in force despite a ruling by the NLRB against the strike.

John P. McLaughlin, secretary of the teamsters' organization, said pledges came from the teamsters and other A. F. of L. drivers' unions, including the laundry, bakery, milk, retail store and building material drivers.

MORE ABOUT HOUSING

of all industrial wage earners, 80.7 per cent of all salaried officers and employes. Moreover, 78.8 per cent of all wages and 82.9 per cent of all salaries in the country were paid in these counties. The value of the products which these establishments produced was 79 per cent of the country's total. . .

Cities Now Contain Population Majority

"Eighty-three per cent of all the wholesale trade in the United States was carried on in 127 counties; and the counties containing the 11 largest cities alone accounted for over one-half of the total."

The report gives some startling figures on the growth of our city population.

"When the United States embarked upon its career as an independent nation, it had not a single town with as many as 50,000 inhabitants. . . Today, the majority of Americans are city dwellers. Our urban settlements have increased from a stage where they held little more than 5 per cent of our population to one where they now contain 56.2 per cent."

Evils Increase With City Growth

But, says this terrible truth teller:

"As cities have grown big, they have also, in general, grown more sordid and uninhabitable. Building regulations and their enforcement came into use only after the evils of tenements in the large cities had become glaringly manifest, and had been exposed through arduous campaigns of urban social reform.

"Not until the 'muckrakers' . . . had wakened the public conscience to some of the most disreputable phases of urban living was legislation designed to mitigate the disastrous consequences of civic apathy and neglect enacted and some effort made to enforce it."

Widespread Poverty Threat to Society.

"As yet, there are no signs that either an adequate program of urban housing is under way, or that effective steps are being taken to remedy the physical and social conditions into which private land speculation and social planlessness have plunged the cities."

Summing up city conditions and their bearing on national life, the report says:

"In contrast to their rich fellow citizens, the poor are poorer in the city than they are elsewhere. . . An interdependent, mass production economy rests upon mass purchasing power. Widespread poverty, therefore, threatens the stability and even the survival of such an economy and the society based upon it."

Big Rehousing Program Urged.

Of recommendations, the first sets the pace for the rest:

"The committee urges that the efforts already made by government, industry and labor toward raising the level of family income and increasing economic security be extended and intensified."

Other recommendations include persistent research in urban problems; a national rehousing policy for low income groups in which federal, state and local governments cooperate; legislation for periods of distress creating federal credit agencies; "to make loans and grants . . . to local governments for the purposes of public works construction, including housing, acquisition or construction of public utilities."

Even this sketch shows the wide scope of the report, and the tremendous interest which labor has in seeing that its advice is followed.

Labor World's Question Box

The Labor World offers to its readers a question and answer service through the cooperation of the University of Tennessee. Send questions either to this paper or to Box 4018, U. T. Station, Knoxville, Tenn. Answers will appear in this column.

Q.—Why is China referred to as "Sino"?

A. — The word "Sino" is derived from a Greek word meaning yellow or brown. It first was used in referring to the "yellow race," but today it pertains only to the Chinese people.

* * *

Q. — Does Tennessee have a state bird?

A. — Yes. The mocking bird.

Q. — Why is Jan. 8 observed as "Jackson Day"?

A. — Because that is the day General Andrew Jackson led an army of 5,500 Tennessee and Kentucky recruits in defeating a British army of 10,000 veterans at the battle of New Orleans.

Q. — What is meant by "simple fracture" and "compound fracture" to a bone?

A. — In a simple fracture the bone is broken, but there is no connecting wound to the skin. In a compound fracture the bone is broken, and in addition there is a wound to the surface of the skin.

* * *

Q. — How did the Duncan Phyfe sofa get its name?

A. — Duncan Phyfe is the name of the man who designed that style sofa.

Q. — What finally became of the Ark of the Covenant?

A. — So far the final disposition of the Ark is a missing link in the history of it. Many believe that it disappeared before the destruction of the Temple. Some think that it was hidden, and others that it was carried off in one of the invasions of Jerusalem and never heard of again.

* * *

Q. — Why is Tennessee called the "Volunteer State"?

A. — That was the nickname given the state after the Mexican war, because 30,000 volunteered to serve in the war when the government had asked for only 2,800.

Q. — Are all terrier dogs related?

A. — No. Terrier is the general name of at least 15 kinds of dogs originally bred and trained to drive foxes from their holes, or to dig out and kill smaller animals. The name is taken from the Latin word "terra"—meaning earth.

* * *

Q. — What is the meaning of "Sequoyah"?

A. — Sequoyah is the name of the man who invented the Cherokee alphabet.

PRINTERS ELECT COMPLETE SLATE IN SUNDAY MEET

L. M. Worthington New President, With Finney Carter Secretary.

Four-Hour Session Longest on Record as Many Other Important Matters Are Disposed of.

Due to a very full agenda of business, the October session of Local 89, Typographical union, lasted almost four hours last Sunday at the labor hall. Occasioned by the election of officers, the overtime meeting elected L. M. Worthington, a member of the Free Press chapel, president for the ensuing term.

As is frequently the case, Finney Carter was not opposed for secretary, being elected by acclamation.

Following the policy of trying to train youngsters in the affairs of the local, Hugh White was put in the vice-presidency.

M. S. Cooke was elected recording secretary, and T. J. Davie, oldest member of the printer local, was given another life term as sergeant-at-arms.

The new executive board will consist of Arch Underwood, Tom Blanford, Wallace Miller, Walter Gardner and T. R. Cuthbert.

Delegates to Central Body will be R. M. Cooke, T. R. Cuthbert, William Keels, T. J. Davie, Arch Underwood, Walter Gardner, Harris Hix and W. Underwood.

Reports from Delegates Worthington and Maupin, who have just returned from the 81st convention of the International Typographical union, showed that in the past year over 10,000 new members have been added to the union, most of whom brought their jobs with them.

ANPA Network Is to Break Up Printers' Strikes

Its Open-Shop Division Uses Gangsters to Keep Discipline Among Scabs.

By NATHAN GOLDBERG

The American Newspaper Publishers' association applies the soft pedal when reports of its open-shop department come up at annual conventions.

When they start on the open-shop activities the trumpets which, an hour earlier, loudly sounded the call to battle for a free press, are muted. Nor is there any shouting when the open-shop custodians report, for instance, on how they transport criminals cross country for 1,500 miles or more to man struck composing rooms or replace locked out members of the International Typographical union. Nothing reaches ears on the outside on the operating details of an ANPA department maintained for the sole purpose of "opening up shops" by illegal and unprincipled union-busting methods.

Not that the ANPA is without pride in the department. The 1936 convention issue of Editor and Publisher gave a hint of this in the following masterpiece of reportorial brevity covering the open shop department's activities for the year:

"Charles A. Webb, Asheville Citizen-Times, chairman of the open-shop department, preceded H. W. Flagg, manager of the open-shop department, in an address on the multiple accomplishments of this department. Mr. Webb called this branch of ANPA activities as 'of inestimable value to newspapers.'" (Emphasis ours.)

The paragraph was tucked away in the general story on the convention. As though fleeing from mention of the unmentionable, the following paragraph of the story abruptly changed the subject in this way:

"But the high spot of the Thursday morning session, if not the whole

Wise Business Men

The outstanding business concerns of Chattanooga are rapidly recognizing the merit of labor's purchasing power, and what's better, they are soliciting labor's patronage through labor's official newspaper.

Recent issues carried a large number of representative Chattanooga firms than in some years. It would be wise for Mr. Union Man to look over The Labor World's advertisers before making purchases.

We desire to carry ads only from reputable firms in our paper and would appreciate any suggestions in this regard.

Scab Dixie Foundry Loses $18,000 Suit

Eight-Year Court Case Charged Cleveland Labor-Hater With Counterfeiting Models.

Company Feeling Effects of Displeasure of Their Purchasing Public Because of Bad Treatment of Employes

According to reports, the Dixie Foundry, Cleveland, Tenn., will have to put out some $18,000 to the Anchor Stove and Range company as damages for selling some stoves to Montgomery-Ward & Co., using the design of the competitor foundry.

It is believed that if the non-union Dixie foundry is forced to spend this amount at present that it will be a serious blow, due to the heavy expenses they have incurred by employing armed guards and the usual strike-breaking assortment of scabs.

Local 194, Molders, are carrying on an active campaign to acquaint the public with conditions in Cleveland through regular radio programs and other advertising. Radio stations in Chicago and New York are also carrying the program.

It is also reported that the company union just formed in the foundry by the strike-breaking scabs is falling down on the job with even the scabs becoming displeased with carrying out the big promises made them.

AFL President Calls For Militant Fight Against CIO

Carpenters' Head Asks Unseating of Charles P. Howard. Executive Council Criticizes NLRB as Showing CIO Bias.

Denver. — Opening of the American Federation of Labor convention here brought a new bombshell into the already battle-scarred arena. President William L. Hutcheson, of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, filed a protest against the seating of Charles B. Howard as a delegate. Final refusal to seat Howard will be followed at once by refusal of the International Typographical Union to pay further per capita tax to the A. F. of L.

This would necessarily lead to suspension, possibly expulsion. Double importance of this is the fact that the International Typographical union is a member of the Allied Printing Trades council of five printing trades unions which jointly own the Allied Printing Trades label. Disruption of the Allied Council would throw another and tremendously important complication into a labor field already torn apart and, in the light of President Green's emphatic war speech, due for more tearing apart.

Green Pledges Aggressive Warfare.

Green's opening speech, singling out the Brotherhood of Carpenters for special defense, was regarded as highly significant. He cited the chartering of northwest lumbermen, who went over from the Carpenters, as an example of ruthless CIO warfare.

Green's speech topped all previous ones for vigorous pro-war policy. But, he recommended leaving power to expel in the hands of the executive council. That's where it will be left, barring an almost impossible upset. But the expulsion of some of the CIO unions will not be long in coming.

Pro-War Feeling Is Now Dominant.

Green's promise of more aggressive warfare can be accepted as meaning a goodly part of what it says—not all, because the convention atmosphere each year begets emphatic statement or over-statement. The federation's force of organizers is at an all-time peak and the pro-war feeling outweighs the compromise feeling in quarters that count for most when decisions are made.

The temper of the convention and President Green's speech showed that the federation is determined to wage the greatest organization drive in American history. Green pledged such a campaign and the delegates gave approval by roars of applause.

An anti-Japanese boycott, however not all inclusive, looms as likely.

Labor's 1938 legislative program will be modified so as to swing the federation somewhat away from 100 per cent support of the administration on specific issues, while keeping in line for President Roosevelt as far as the general direction is concerned.

Council Report Scores CIO Tactics.

President Green's vigorous attack on the CIO came as no surprise to

A. F. of L. Council Asks Power to Revoke Charters of 10 Suspended C. I. O. Unions

Tells Denver Convention That Despite Two Years of Endeavors to Promote a Settlement of the Controversy Through Conference and Negotiation, "Our Efforts in This Direction Were Rebuffed and Defeated," and That the "Confusion and Misunderstanding Regarding the Relationship to the American Federation of Labor of Organizations Holding Membership in the C. I. O. Must Be Terminated."

Denver, Colo.—A detailed and well documented account of the establishment and disruptive activities of the committee for industrial organization featured the report of the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor to the annual convention of the federation here.

Step by step the council recounted the work of the C. I. O. in spreading disloyalty among the American Federation of Labor unions, with a full account of the endeavors of the Executive Council to settle the controversy by negotiation through representatives of the two groups.

Confronted with indisputable evidence that the C. I. O. was a dual organization within the American Federation of Labor, the council suspended ten of the component unions in September, 1936. This action of the council was approved by the 1936 convention of the federation. Since then, the council pointed out, continued efforts had been made to adjust the controversy, but that representatives of the C. I. O. refused to meet with representatives of the A. F. of L.

Executive Council's Statement.

In concluding its account of the controversy and asking for the power of charter revocation the Executive Council said:

"The Executive Council and the American Federation of Labor not only issued a solemn warning against the creation of the C. I. O. and the pursuit of its splitting policy, but in addition has done everything within its power during the two years of the existence of the C. I. O. to heal the breach, to settle differences and to re-establish unity and solidarity within the ranks of labor.

C. I. O. Spurned Conferences.

"Our appeals for conferences were spurned and rejected. No conditions precedent to a conference were established by the Executive Council. The representatives of the C. I. O. were simply asked to meet and confer without stipulations or conditions. Entreaties, appeals and requests made by the Executive Council have been ignored.

"For two years we have pursued a policy of toleration. We have patiently and sincerely endeavored to promote a settlement through conference and negotiation. All of this has failed. Our efforts in this direction were rebuffed and defeated.

Issue Must Be Met.

"Now the Executive Council feels that the time has arrived when the American Federation of Labor must meet the issue created by the committee for industrial organization in a clear-cut and positive way.

"The interests of every national and international union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor must be protected and preserved. Confusion and misunderstanding regarding the relationship to the American Federation of Labor of organizations holding membership in the C. I. O. must be terminated. The issue which created the division within the ranks of labor must be made clear.

Charter Revocation Power Asked.

"In order to accomplish this purpose the Executive Council recommends that in confomity with the law and the constitution of the American Federation of Labor, the convention confer upon the Executive Council authority and power to revoke the charters of the international unions holding membership in the committee for industrial organization which were suspended by the council on Sept. 5, 1936, and affirmed by the Tampa convention in November, 1936, as provided for in Section 12 of Article 9 of the constitution."

Polishers Vote $100,000 For Organization Work

Cincinnati.—Apparently determined to back the American Federation of Labor to the limit in its effort to organize all possible unorganized workers, the Metal Polishers, Buffers and Platers' International union, in convention here, levied an assessment of $1 per month for ten months, with the expectation of building up a $100,000 organization fund.

The union also voted approval of the extra one cent per month per member recently asked by the A. F. of L. from affiliated organizations to aid in the intensive campaign now under way.

Among other actions of the 18th biennial convention of the union were included: 1. Indorsement of the 30-hour work week. 2. Indorsement of President Roosevelt's proposed federal court reforms. 3. Urged extension of the social security act and of the Wagner-Steagall housing bill. 4. Demanded legislative measures intended for protection of the health of workers.

U. S. PIPE PLANT CLOSED UP TIGHT BY STRIKE CALL

AFL Unions Come Out Tuesday in Demand for Union Shop and Wage Hike.

Present Pay Less Than Any in Southland for Same Kind of Work—Conferences Still in Progress.

Last Tuesday morning saw over 400 members of four AFL crafts walk out from the U. S. Pipe foundry. Picket lines were immediately formed, and today the plant is idle.

The actual break came after refusal of the company to meet wage demands which would give workers here the same rate that the unionized Bessemer, Ala., plant, under the same management, is now paying.

The company argument that they could not pay the additional seven and nine cents differential because all the raw material had to be shipped from Alabama was met by a statement from Henry Sternau, representative of Iron Molders' International union, who said:

"Today in three cities in Virginia, similar high pressure pipe plants are paying the same wage rate that is in effect in Bessemer plants in Alabama. These plants in Virginia have even a longer freight haul to their plants than the Chattanooga plant has. With the 9-cent differential in Chattanooga wage rate, the Chatta nooga company is selling its product at the same price that the Bessemer plant quotes, with its raw products at its doors."

Denial of a statement said to come from Mr. Giles, manager of the local plant, that Chattanooga was paying as high as any other place in the south, came from Mr. Sternu. He said that "Elsewhere in the southland there is a minimum rate of 42 cents. Here the minimum is 33 cents."

It is believed that subsequent conferences, being held, will effect a settlement of the controversy.

Crafts involved are the molders, electricians, carpenters and pattern makers.

Canada Dry Is Drying Up In Chattanooga

Going, going—and we expect soon to be able to say gone.

Canada Dry Ginger Ale is fast fading from the shelves of the grocery stores of this city. For a number of weeks the Brewery and Soft Drink Workers, Local 79, have been actively engaged in a battle against this non-union drink. War was first declared when the Kelley Cigar company had the contract. As soon as Mr. Wiley Couch, of this company, was contacted and told of the unfairness of this drink and of the conditions under which it is being bottled he immediately called in his trucks and refused to distribute it.

Others were offered the contract—they refused. Then Mr. Talley's company—the B. L. Talley company, Inc. (produce dealers and fish peddlers), of 1031 Chestnut street—took the contract.

With this contract he took on the Brewery and Soft Drink contingent. Forthwith this up-and-going local issued circulars to the effect that Canada Dry Ginger Ale was unfair to organized labor. Recently a picket has been on duty before the door of one of our South Chattanooga grocery stores in an effort to rid the town of this non-union ginger ale.

At their regular meeting last night plans were made to continue the battle against this non-union drink until not one bottle is seen on the shelves of our grocery stores. A great number of the merchants are offering every co-operation. John Etters, president, and Erskine D. Fischer, secretary, issued statements that the fight is young yet, and that it will continue until Canada Dry Ginger Ale is "gone with the wind."

The Hand in Our Pockets

In recent years this nation, and particularly Chattanooga, has seen much criticism of power and other utilities for their rates charged to the consuming public. Even granting that our utilities commission in Nashville has been very kind in allowing these utilities under its supervision much leeway, the public has ignored the real, sure-enough steal which is, at present, allowed to go on without one bit of protest or regulation.

Have you ever figured out just what a one-cent per gallon raise in gasoline price takes out of the pockets of every citizen?

Talk about holding companies of power utilities—these legal fictions are mere babies compared to the setup of the big oil monopolies, who arbitrarily set prices which filling station operators must pay. Sometimes these prices have been hiked three times in one week.

It is not the filling stations who do the dirty work. Their profit for handling the product is very small, and no matter what price they are forced to pay the big oil czar, their margin of profit stays stationary.

Well, what about it?

Resolution on Death Of Mrs. Georgia Richey

Whereas, God in His infinite wisdom has seen fit to take from our midst Mrs. Georgia Richey, wife of Brother Donald Richey (Free Press chapel); and,

Whereas, she was held in high esteem by her friends and all who knew her; therefore, be it

Resolved, That members of Chattanooga Typographical Union No. 89 extend to Brother Richey and family, and to relatives, our heartfelt sympathy and condolence; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be posted in the minutes of this union, a copy sent to the bereaved family, one to The Labor World and entered in the minutes of the Free Press chapel.

2-OPERATOR STREET CARS ASKED BY D. C. UNIONS

Washington.—A bill introduced in congress by Representative Kirksen, of Illinois, to require all street cars and busses in the District of Columbia seating over 30 passengers to have two operators, has been unanimously indorsed by the Washington Central Labor union.

PRINTER LEWIS GIVEN SYMPATHY

Whereas, J. H. Lewis, 80, father of our brother and co-worker, B. C. Lewis, passed from this life on Monday, Sept. 20; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Chattanooga News chapel, That we hereby express to Brother B. C. Lewis and to other members of the family our heartfelt sympathy in their great loss; be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread on the minutes of the chapel and a copy be furnished The Labor World for publication.

Why Blame the Cobra?

Police Judge Martin Fleming's blast against the keepers of houses of prostitution last week, in which he referred to them as being "more dangerous than the cobra snake," is being received with approbation and support by the general public.

However, as is usually the case with the general public, the matter is dropped, and no deeper study is made into the source of supply of girls who are unfortunate enough to enter into such a method of livelihood.

We do not believe that any girl ever selects such a profession of her own accord. Circumstances which prevent her from earning a fair and decent living make her an easier apprentice for such a profession.

Instead of the public becoming enraged with the keepers of such houses of shame, why not rise up and insist that legitimate employers of girls pay them a wage that will allow them to provide themselves with necessities out of the weekly pay envelope instead of being forced to depend upon tips from patrons or worse.

The Labor World has in the past asked for an investigation of working conditions in every industry where our womanhood is employed.

We seldom hear of a daughter of a wealthy family entering into a "red light" house. New fodder for lustful and licentious men has been provided from the ranks of weaker-minded girls who have grown desperate for want of decent and gainful employment, being forced to turn to the street as a sideline to supplement their wages.

Do not blame the cobra for being a snake. Blame the public for providing the environment for the cobra to eixst in, and to multiply.

This Year's Kisses

Instead of humming "This Year's Kisses Don't Seem the Same to Me," city school teachers next year may well moan "This Year's Coal Don't Seem So Hot to Me," because they had to pay for $14,000 of it.

In a statement from Commissioner McMillan, he says that he will pay for all of next year's coal for his department out of the EXCESS in this year's school budget. Teachers recall with mingled feelings that, although Commissioner McMillan was given at least $100,000 additional money last year, the city teachers were told that there was nothing extra for them. Not only that, they were told several weeks ago that because of the bare cupboard in the department of education they would not get their tenth month's pay.

However, next year's coal will be paid for from this year's TEACHER PAY ENVELOPES.

Hoo-ray for the teachers!

Points of View Picked Up From Various Sources

CY KOLOGY, EDITOR

Labor goes into conference with itself. Tremendous pow-wow. The A. F. of L. in Denver—the CIO in Atlantic City. Pause a moment for a bit of fun about that—good clean fun.

John L. Lewis has poked fun at the A. F. of L. Executive Council in other years for going to resort towns for sessions.

Mr. Deeds goes to town, it seems.

There are plenty of hotels in Washington, but there are no wild waves.

Well, we shall see what we shall see, as Charlie McCarthy sits upon the knee of his Mr. Bergen.

Ah. Mr. Fields, what makes your nose—beg pardon, your ears—so red?

So, the A. F. of L. in Denver; the CIO in Atlantic City, in portentious pow-wow.

And will Mr. Green and Mr. Lewis face across half a continent to shout at each other, "you're another?"

* * *

No, gentlemen, we shall have serious business in hand. Even if sometimes there are those hateful and cynical persons who wonder whether conventions are worth the money. They are, when put to their right purposes. Mainly their purpose is to make programs and get public attention for labor's purposes.

As to that latter, "both your houses" have plenty to learn.

Plenty.

Now these two meetings will be, in a sense, rival camps bidding for publicity; and the outcome should be worth watching.

Here is where we get an object lesson about something or other.

The discouraging thing is that we are likely to hear little about peace in these two great sessions, wherein more than six million workers will be represented.

What issue is there that is real enough to divide six million American workers in two camps?

But of course that is no affair of this column. That is the affair, let us say, of statesmen.

We merely sit on the sidelines and observe that these two great sessions will come together to legislative and plan for labor, to lay down proposals, to blue print projects and to send forth clarion calls for more sanguinary warfare against each other.

* * *

Mark this: All that is said in either place about organizing the unorganized might with equal propriety be said in the other place.

The fair and constructive aims of labor are alike in all unions—unless they are un-American, red unions.

So, sing a song of sixpence, a pocket full of rye—and if the world's on fire it ought to make a grand and glorious spectacle.

Only trouble is, will there be firemen enough to put it out when the judges think it has burned long enough?

The County Unit Plan

While we are told that the county unit plan as proposed by Gov. Browning is aimed primarily at Mr. Ed Crump, Shelby county political boss, we cannot see the wisdom of imitating Samson. In order to clip the influence of Mr. Crump, of what avail is it to pull the temple down while we are in it also?

Gov. Browning evidently realizes now that he has reneged on so many of his wonderful campaign pledges that there is no possibility of being re-elected as governor by the people of Tennessee—much less to the United States senate.

Therefore he cooks up a scheme which, if put into use, would disfranchise the heaviest voting centers of the state.

Exploring one of the side avenues to the Browning county unit plan, we are amused to read the criticism of it by certain local politicians. They say they are opposed to "disfranchising" the people. Every last one of them moved fast and furious during the last session of the legislature to defeat the poll tax bill we presented, which certainly disfranchised plenty of people.

What they mean is this: "We do not want our particular machine hindered."

BRICK AND CLAY WORKERS WIN PACT IN CLEARFIELD

Clearfield, Ky.—Echoes of a strike that occurred in June, 1935, sounded victoriously for the local union of the United Brick and Clay Workers.

Following a hearing held at Mt. Sterling, the national labor relations board directed the Lee Clay Products company to negotiate with the union as the sole collective bargaining agency for the workers employed in the company's plant here. The company is reported to have agreed to this and, also very important, to rehire former employes who were refused jobs following the 1935 strike.

MORE ABOUT GREEN CALLS

delegates who had studied the annual report of the Executive Council, submitted to the opening session of the convention. The report dealt in detail with the fight against the CIO, declared that A. F. of L. peace efforts had been rebuffed and asked that authority be given the Executive Council to expel unions affiliated with the rival organization.

The report told of the "highly successful" organization efforts work of the federation and affiliated unions in the last year, outlined wage and hour gains due to organization, reviewed in detail the record of the national labor relations board and made a careful analysis of the social security system, pointing out its weaknesses and offering recommendations for its improvement.

Drive to Disrupt A. F. of L. Is Charged.

The Executive Council made it plain it believed the time for aggressive warfare on the CIO had come and denounced the "Destructive policy" of the committee in strong terms. It declared "definite and direct" attempts had been made to destroy unions affiliated with the A. F. of L., asserting that "the raiding, ripping, tearing process" of the committee has been carried forward among American Federation of Labor organizations chartered and firmly established throughout the nation.

> "It has been a campaign of attempted disruption," the council declared. "Open warfare has been waged against the American Federation of Labor."

In concluding its discussion of the CIO, the council said a policy of toleration had failed, due to the attitude of the CIO, and went on to say:

"Now the Executive Council feels that the time has arrived when the American Federation of Labor must meet the issue created by the committee for industrial organization in a clear-cut and positive way.

Issues Must Be Made Clear.

"The interests of every national and international union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor must be protected and preserved. Confusion and misunderstanding regarding the relationship to the American Federation of Labor of organizations holding membership in the CIO must be terminated. The issue which created the division in the ranks of labor must be made clear.

"In order to accomplish this purpose the Executive Council recommends that in conformity with the law and the constitution of the American Federation of Labor, the convention confer upon the council authority and power to revoke the charters of the international unions holding membership in the committee for industrial organization which were suspended by the council on Sept. 5, 1936, and affirmed by the Tampa convention in November, 1936, as provided for in Section 12 of Article 9 of the constitution."

Ultimate End to Fight Is Seen.

Despite its militant stand against the CIO, the Executive Council apparently foresees an ultimate end of the division in labor's ranks and wishes to be in a position to act effectively when peace negotiations are begun. This is the interpretation put upon the council's recommendation for a number of amendments to the federation's constitution.

Most important of the amendments asked is one specifically giving the council the right to call special conventions and providing for a method of representation and the giving of legal effect to decisions reached at special conventions. It is believed the council had in mind a possible special convention to deal with peace plans when it made this recommendation.

Great Progress in Organization.

Reporting on organization, the council recounted "great progress" in heretofore unorganized fields, such as cement, aluminum, flour and cereal milling, agriculture, packing houses and canneries, white collar groups and miscellaneous industries.

In conjunction with the organizing campaigns of the national and international unions affiliated with the federation, these efforts have added "approximately a million new members" to the A. F. of L. ranks, the report continued. All of these are dues-paying members.

A. F. of L. Declared Determined to Win.

It is the "firm and determined purpose" of the federation, the report states, to organize the unorganized workers of the nation and to "use every honorable and legal means" to improve their wage and hour working conditions. The report adds:

> "We are going forward, determined to win. No force will stop this onward march of the American Federation of Labor to organize the unorganized of the nation."

The council recommended that the convention authorize continuance of the assessment of one cent per member per month approved by the Cincinnati conference May 24-25, 1937, to provide funds to "increase and accelerate" the organization drive.

NLRB Charged With Favoring CIO.

The report both praised and criticized the NLRB, declaring that the board had made a notable record in the mechanical administration of the national labor relations act, but that it had gone outside of its field to mediate labor disputes and that it has sometimes shown a bias in favor of CIO unions.

> In handling the automobile and steel cases, the board "gave the public good grounds for the belief that it was decidedly pro-CIO," the report asserted.

"It is of the utmost importance to organized labor that the administration of the labor act be in competent and conscientious and impartial hands," the council said in this section of its report.

Unions Work for Safety

The successful safety campaign conducted by the Washington, D. C., Building Trades Council shows what unions can do to guard workers from accidents. One result of the campaign was setting of a new world safety record by Ironworkers' Local No. 5 in the erection of a big government building. Unions elsewhere are helping to reduce the too large accident toll. Individual unionists everywhere can help to promote safety by constant care and vigilance on the job, in the home and on the highways.

Labor Ready to Help

Speaking before a Washington meeting of the American Federation of Housing Authorities, Catherine Bauer urged those in charge of public housing programs to keep in close touch with the public and particularly with organized labor.

"I have just one piece of general advice to offer," said Miss Bauer, who is executive secretary of the Labor Housing Conference. "Don't be like some of the early New Deal Planners, with a capital 'P.' Don't act as if the way to solve the housing problem is for two or three people, 'experts,' to sit in a closed air-conditioned room and figure it all out. It just can't be done that way.

"Particularly on this score I would urge you to cooperate with and secure the cooperation of the local organized labor groups in developing a housing program."

Miss Bauer's advise is sound and housing authorities will find it helpful to follow it. Labor is vitally interested in better housing. It gave united support to the Wagner housing bill. It wants to see the Wagner act work and will do its best to bring this about. Through central labor bodies and labor housing committees, it is ready and eager to help and its cooperation can be a powerful factor in the success of public housing programs.

"Sit-Down" on Way Out

Organized workers not affiliated with the American Federation of Labor are seeing the truth of the warning against the sit-down strike issued by William Green months ago. The "sit-down" has largely disappeared from the industrial picture and little is now heard of it.

Indicative of the trend was the recent rejection by the CIO United Rubber Workers' convention of a resolution authorizing "controlled sit-down strikes." The delegates were told the resolution would make law violators of organizers in states where sit-downs are prohibited and the convention defeated the resolution by an overwhelming vote. Other CIO unions, which put the "sit-down" in the limelight last spring, are now discouraging it. Some, as in the textile and clothing fields, have never used it.

The A. F. of L. pointed out that sit-down strikes aroused strong public hostility to labor and threatened a wave of restrictive action and legislation aimed at labor's rights. Now the "sit-downers" themselves are realizing the same thing and sound thought on the subject is prevailing.

Keeping Home Ties Alive and Warm

Your telephone is a means of quick personal contact with those friends and relatives whom you do not visit as often as you would like.

More and more people who are separated by distances are using the telephone to keep friendships alive and to maintain family ties. The relief from anxiety and the pleasure of hearing a friendly, cheerful voice, give satisfaction and value which is almost priceless.

Yet the cost of a telephone conversation between friends or relatives who are miles apart is surprisingly low. By using station-to-station service after 7 p. m. you can talk a distance of 150 miles for about 50c, and greater or less distances for correspondingly low cost.

If the town you wish to call is not listed in the front of your telephone directory, just ask your "long distance" operator. She will gladly quote rates to any point.

Whereas, by a Deed of Trust dated 5th day of October, 1929, John A. Godsey and wife, Bessie Godsey, and Tennessee Godsey, Single, conveyed to The First National Bank of Chattanooga, Trustee, the property hereinafter described, which Deed of Trust being registered in Book "Y", Volume 24, Page 155, et seq., of the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee, and

Whereas, said Deed of Trust provides that in case of the resignation of the Trustee, or inability or refusal of said Trustee to exercise any of the powers therein granted at any time when action under the said powers and trust deed may be required, the owner of the debt secured is authorized to name and appoint a successor to execute said trust, and the powers therein granted, and the title therein conveyed to said Trustee shall be vested in said successors; which appointment shall be in writing, and shall be duly registered in the Register's Office of Hamilton County, State of Tennessee, and

Whereas, The First National Bank of Chattanooga, the above named Trustee, has resigned as Trustee under said instrument and refuses to execute said trust, and

Whereas, a time has arrived when action under the powers conferred by said trust deed is required, and

Whereas, E. H. Lawman, Receiver, is now the owner of the debt therein secured, and

Whereas, under the above described power of substitution, said E. H. Lawman, Receiver, has by a written instrument, duly acknowledged and registered, appointed the undersigned Trustee and successor to said The First National Bank of Chattanooga, to execute said trust, with all the powers conferred and duties imposed upon, and all the title vested in the original Trustee, said appointment being dated October 7, 1937, and filed for registration on the same date,

And default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness, which still remains due and unpaid, and the holder of said indebtedness having so requested;

Therefore, under and by virtue of the authority vested in me by said Deed of Trust and by my appointment as substitute Trustee, above referred to, I, A. C. French, Trustee, will on WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1937,

between the hours of 10:00 a.m. and 12:00 at the West Door of the Court House on Walnut Street, in the City of Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, expose for sale to the best and highest bidder, for cash, and in bar of the equities of redemption, dower and homestead, the following described Real Estate in the Third (3rd) Civil District, Hamilton County, Tennessee, to-wit:

Beginning at the corner between the lands assigned to J. E. Godsey and the heirs of James P. Godsey, deceased, by Decree of Partition in the case of John E. Godsey and Millie Godsey vs. Tennessee Godsey and Nancy Godsey, in the County Court of said county, dated 15th of September, 1874, and now found of record in County Court Minute Book No. 2, pages 616 to 619, the map on page 617, a duly certified copy of which was issued third of February, 1928, and said certified copy registered the 15th of February, 1928, in Book "S", Volume 22, page 135, of the Register's office of said county; running thence East 888½ feet, more or less, to the East line of the Original tract of ground partitioned in said Cause of John E. Godsey and Millie Godsey vs. Tennessee Godsey and John A. Godsey hereinbefore recited; thence North 22 degrees East 60 2-3 poles to the corner of the original Mary J. Moore tract; thence West 210 poles; thence South 56 poles to the beginning, containing about 72 acres and 86 poles, more or less, including the mansion house and outbuildings where James P. Godsey, deceased, had his last residence previous to his death. Millie Godsey, widow of the said James P. Godsey and mother of the said John A. Godsey and Tennessee Godsey, is dead.

SUBJECT to the agreement between John W. Miles and John A. Godsey, et al., registered in C-24-653 regarding the maintenance of a 30-foot roadway leading along the East line of the property described in the caption.

THERE IS EXCEPTED from the above, property described as beginning at the corner between the lands assigned to J. E. Godsey and the heirs of James P. Godsey, deceased, by decree of partition in the case of John E. Godsey and Millie Godsey vs. Tennessee Godsey and John A. Godsey in Tennessee Godsey and John A. Godsey in the County Court of Hamilton County, Tennessee, dated 15th September, 1874, and now found of record in County Court Minute Book No. 2, pages 616 to 619, the map on page 617, a duly certified copy of which decree was issued 3rd February, 1928, and said certified copy was registered 15th February, 1928, in Book "S", Volume 22, page 125, of the Register's office of Hamilton County, Tennessee; running thence East along the line between said properties 40 poles, more or less, to the center of Mountain Creek; thence Northeastwardly along the center and with the meanders of said Mountain Creek about 56 poles to the North line of the property assigned to the heirs of James P. Godsey by decree of partition in the case of John E. Godsey and Millie Godsey vs. Tennessee Godsey and John A. Godsey in the County Court of Hamilton County, Tennessee, dated 15th September, 1874, as hereinbefore recited; thence Westwardly along said line 80½ poles, more or less, to the Northwest corner of said tract of ground; thence South along the West line of said tract of ground 56 poles to the beginning, containing 30 acres, more or less, and being part of the property assigned to the heirs of James P. Godsey by the County Court as hereinbefore recited.

Said sale will be made subject to all unpaid taxes.

Title to said property is believed to be good, but the Trustee will sell and convey as Trustee only.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

Whereas, on the 9th day of March, 1928, E. E. Burner and E. C. Cannon, doing business as Burner & Co., of Hamilton County, Tennessee, executed a deed of trust conveying the property hereinafter described and advertised for sale, to F. L. Underwood, Trustee, which said deed of trust was filed for registration March 12, 1928, and recorded in Book R, Volume 22, Page 402, et seq., in the Register's Office of Hamilton County, Tennessee, and,

Whereas, said deed of trust was executed for the purpose of securing the payment of a certain indebtedness, fully described in the said deed of trust, to which reference is made for a complete description; and default has been made in the payment of the said indebtedness secured by said deed of trust and interest thereon, and the said E. E. Burner and E. C. Cannon have failed to perform covenants in the note evidencing the indebtedness, and have failed to perform covenants in said deed of trust, and have remained in default for more than thirty days, and the holder of said indebtedness has made demand upon the undersigned trustee to sell the property conveyed by said deed of trust, as therein provided, to satisfy the payment of said indebtedness and interest, as said holder of said indebtedness has a right to do under the terms of said deed of trust:

Now, therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in the undersigned Trustee, F. L. Underwood, of Chattanooga, Tennessee, as Trustee, will, on

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 26th, 1937,

sell, within the legal hours of sale, at the west door of the Court House in Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee, at public outcry, to the highest and best bidder, for cash, in bar of all equities of redemption, dower and homestead, the following described real estate in the Third (3rd) Civil District of Hamilton County, Tennessee, to-wit:

Connery's Brother Wins Congress Seat

Lynn, Mass.—Lawrence J. Connery was elected to congress from this (Seventh) district by a vote of about three to one. He fills the vacancy caused by the death of his brother, William P. Connery, chairman of the labor committee of the house, whose passing was one of the heaviest losses that labor has suffered in congress.

As soon as his election was certain, he announced that his first effort on reaching Washington would be to push the passage of the wage and hour bill.

"As my brother did fifteen years ago, I shall strive for a place on the house labor committee, where my ambitions to help labor and the underprivileged may be enhanced. My objective when I reach washington will be to take the Connery wage and hour bill off the shelf, where it was placed by congress.

"I will work hand in hand with Congressmen McCormack, Healy and Casey for the progressive Roosevelt legislation."

"Co-operation."

Stand off by yourself in your dreaming,
And all of your dreams are vain;
No grandeur of soul or spirit
Can man by himself attain.
It is willed we shall dwell as brothers;
As brothers then we must toil;
We must act with a common purpose
As we work in a common soil.
And each who would see accomplished
The dreams that he's proud to own,
Must strive for the goal with his fellows,
For no man can do it alone.

Joe Awad's place on East Main street is 100 per cent union. Give Joe a visit when in this end of town.

Bradley & Bandy have signed an agreement with the Culinary Workers. Dr. Bradley is known throughout this section for his willingness to co-operate with organized labor. On signing this agreement Bradley & Bandy become the first and only union drug store in the state of Tennessee. Fuller's, a branch of Bradley & Bandy, located on Main street, also have signed an agreement with our local. Union friends, let's patronize these drug stores, give them all support and show to them that we are mighty glad to have such a fine crowd of folks within our ranks. The Culinary Workers and organized labor as a whole join your correspondent in extending congratulations to these drug stores.

Friends, remember the Bakers, Local 25, in their fight against the Erskine Bakery. We have union bakeries making those good union cakes and pies. We don't like these company unions.

There's the Brewery and Soft Drink Workers who are fighting Canada Dry Ginger Ale and its distributor, B. L. Talley. We have good ginger ale made here in Chattanooga by union bottlers, in union made bottles, delivered by union salesmen on union driven trucks. Try Par-T-Pak, New Yorker, Monogram, Moccasin Club, Double Dry and Buffalo Rock.

MORE ABOUT "BLACK FLAGG"

convention, was an unscheduled departure from the report of the special standing committee by Harvey J. Kelly," etc.

They Call Him "Black Flagg."

The special standing committee of the ANPA and the open-shop department are not to be confused. The standing committee, long under Kelly's direction and now under Eugene MacKinnon's, fights labor frankly. It advises publishers how to beat down the demands of unions and provides them with the statistical material for argument against scale committees. The open-shop department, on the other hand, sticks to its job of "opening up shops" and keeping them open.

H. W. Flagg, identified by Editor & Publisher as the department "manager," is listed on ANPA stationery as its executive secretary. "Black Flagg" the printers call him. He is an old man, gray and so stooped that his head is bowed far forward of his feet. Striking printers have said that he is never without his revolver and bullet proof vest. Claims are that Flagg never "loses" a composing room for the open-shop department. That may be, but Flagg himself does not brag.

The ANPA committee in charge of the department, in addition to Chairman Webb, are such open shop and free press defenders as, Norman Chandler, of the Los Angeles Times; H. H. Conland, of the Hartford Courant; Harry S. Webster, of the San Bernardino (Cal.) Sun-Telegram; L. K. Nicholson, of the New Orleans Times-Picayune; Robert L. Smith, of the Charleston (W. Va.) Gazette; L. B. Costello, of the Lewiston (Me.) Daily Sun; J. S. Parks, of the Fort Smith (Ark.) American; J. L. Sturtevant, of the Wausau (Wis.) Record-Herald; J. E. Stiles, of the Rockville Centre (N. Y.) Nassau Daily Review, and C. Thomas, of the London (Ont.) Free Press.

James G. Stahlman, president of the ANPA, who opened up his composing room on the Nashville Banner in 1929 by locking out the union and then calling in Flagg, himself served a long apprenticeship on the committee. In fact, Stahlman's association with Flagg has been so close that union men erroneously have said Flagg maintains headquarters at Nashville.

That is not so. Flagg's headquarters are in the Public Ledger building, in Philadelphia. From this center he moves about the country and takes over struck or locked composing rooms which soon not only become "open shop" but reservoirs of future scab supply as well. They function also as training schools for youngsters embarking on strikebreaking careers.

Crooks and Loyal Workers.

In each struck composing room, Flagg first places his key man, who later becomes foreman or plant superintendent. As the strike fades out and the tension eases, the key man stays on, adjusting the scab department for permanent operation, and establishing contacts with other trusted "loyal" workers, some of them criminals, as the record shows. For years after a strike has been crushed, the pioneer "loyalists" in the shop must stand ready to pack their bags and move on to help break another strike.

It is known that the I. T. U. has tried, and failed, to infiltrate Flagg's organization with an occasional spy. Flagg takes no chances on such a slip. Written credentials from an agent-key man are an absolute requisite for getting a strikebreaking job. Flagg himself interviews all applicants and examines their credentials.

The story of how the ANPA operates its strikebreaking machine unfolded itself completely during the year-and-one-half strike of printers at the Paterson (N. J.) Evening News and Morning Call. Here the organization faced a situation that called into play every tactic in its union-busting manual. Documentary evidence obtained by the strike leaders revealed the full technique. It revealed, moreover, that the publishers of the two papers laid their plans to break the union more than a year in advance of the strike (working together even to the point of arranging to print their two papers in one plant).

The Paterson printers struck on May 3, 1934, yet fourteen months before that date, Harry B. Hines, publisher of the Evening News, notified Flagg that "we will need your assistance." In an unctuous letter outlining the two papers' plans to "go into an open shop," Haines expressed to Flagg his "appreciation of the fine work which you did here last year, and that is that if you come to Paterson again with your crew they are going to stay here."

Where They Get Scabs.

Flagg and his crew came. They stayed. A letter from a Flagg executive to a friend, written as late as December, 1936, revealed that Flagg is "still making trips to Paterson each week, as there's still much to be done at the News." The strike being crushed, "HFW is much better than last winter, has gained in weight, and is very cheerful," the letter said.

The Paterson crew was recruited in large part in New Orleans—probably the key recruiting place for strikebreaking printers—and through the south and middle west by Frederick K. Forstall, mechanical superintendent of the New Orleans Times-Picayune, published by L. K. Nicholson, a member of the open shop department committee. At least one of the strikebreakers sent from New Orleans by Forstall was an ex-convict—John Carter Packard, alias John Ward, alias John C. Weaver, who served a two-year term in the Auburn, N. Y., prison for grand larceny, and who, according to B. W. Russell, village trustee of Windsor, N. Y., left there "under cover of darkness" and without paying a number of bills owing.

Forstall, writing from New Orleans to his crew in Paterson during the early days of the strike, revealed the combined traits of a kindly godfather and stern disciplinarian. His letters found their way into the hands of the editor of the New Orleans A. F. of L. central body publication. They were published there in an expose of Nicholson's phony denials that Forstall was a scab procurer. The letters speak for themselves, and here they are:

Pity Poor Hopkins.

Mr. (Name omitted)
Hotel Alexander Hamilton
Paterson, New Jersey

Dear (Name omitted)

Understand Paterson went open before you fellows could get up there. Well, I hope you all can get in on the ground floor and grab off real good jobs.

I sent up three more men, Exterstein, a make-up, Weaver, an ad-man and Ludlow operator and Hopkins, a linotype operator. These fellows got off Wednesday evening and should get there Friday morning. I hope Mr. Flagg can put all you fellows from New Orleans together and if he does try to take care of Hopkins. It is his first job of this sort and I would not want anything to happen to him as he is only a kid. * * *

Sincerely,
F. K. FORSTALL

New Orleans, La.
May 17, 1934.

Dear (Name omitted)

I was certainly glad to hear from you. I had a telegram from the boys to the effect that the work they had given you had been a trifle stiff so I wired Flagg and put in a word or two for your candidacy for foremanship. I have just received a wire from him telling me he has known you for years and will be on the lookout for your welfare.

I have gotten in touch with Calvert and will send him up as soon as I can get another man for Flagg. He wants a monotype operator and the only man available down here is Hufft—and you know what a pill he is. I am trying to get in touch with another lad. * * *

I have a firm conviction that if that situation up there is handled just right that the publishers can be persuaded to stay open. * * *

I sincerely hope that you are taking care of the boys from here and that they are not giving any trouble. If they should get rambunctious just drop me a line and I will attend to them in my own little way—just a hint and they will be taken care of.

Please tell each and every one of them I expect them to drop me a line at least once a month—and I don't mean perhaps. * * *

Yours,
FREDERICK K. F.

New Orleans, La.
May 28, 1934.

Dear (Name omitted)

. . . What is wrong with Seither? If he blows that job up there he had better get out of this game, as I can promise him tough sledding if he runs out on the gang. He begged to get in on this job and he had better stick to it.

How are the rest of the boys making out? Better pass the word around to them that I am expecting a letter or two from every one of them. I have not heard a word from Eddie Gough or Bobby Hall since they left. I wonder if they have forgotten how to write.

The strike in Wichita has about settled itself down to a permanent basis. Battalora and La France are both making good and seem to be making preparations for a permanent residence there. Colley went up there on his own hook and has landed a job in the ad room.

Does the old man need any more help? I have a few good operators here who are aching to get up there.

Sincerely,
Signed: FORSTALL.

P. S. From June 1 to June 8 I will be in St. Louis at the Statler hotel. If you need me for anything address me there.

Thus the well-oiled scab procuring organization operated by Flagg and the ANPA goes to work at the first indication of strike, and continues to function until every striker's place is filled.

When Flagg and his crew walk into a plant, according to I. T. U. local leaders, Flagg becomes responsible for the publication of the affected paper until the strike is officially called off and the shop declared open by the union. In Paterson, it will be recalled, Flagg was "still making trips to Paterson each week" almost two years after the walkout.

While Flagg gets his scabs from out-of-town, thugs are supplied locally through the newspaper connections. A scab who, in a weak moment became friendly with a union man in Paterson, was taken from his bed in the Alexander Hamilton hotel in 1934 by local gangsters and given two hours to get out of town. It was evident that the gangsters were on tap to Flagg. They visited the scab within twelve hours of the time he was spotted talking to the union man.

"Closed Shop" Flagg.

Ardent and forceful exponent that he is of the open shop, Flagg himself operates on a strict closed shop basis. His first step on arriving in town is to sign a 60-day contract with the strike-bound publisher. This is renewed for like periods for the duration of the strike. The contract provides not only for publication of the paper, but covers as well such items as board for Flagg and his crew at a first rate hotel. When the strike is called off and Flagg is through, the key man and scabs remaining on the job are established in apartments, given furniture credit through the paper's advertising department, and otherwise eased into the community as permanent residents.

From then on, however, the new open shop becomes a scab reservoir. The seasoned strikebreakers remain subject to call elsewhere. The "key man," usually the foreman, becomes procurer and is responsible for the maintenance of contacts. To fill the need, local youngsters—girls and boys—are taken on jobs as proofreaders and given four or five hours training each day on linotype machines and at other work. In Paterson seniors were induced to leave the local normal school to embark upon "open shop" careers in the printing trade.

LABOR TEMPLE MEETING SET NEXT MONDAY AS EXECUTIVE BOARDS GATHER SECOND TIME

Response So Enthusiastic That Purchase Plans Appear Feasible When Committees Make Their Reports

Prospective Site Would House Entire Labor Movement Under One Roof If Ambition of Long Years Is Finally Accomplished By Drive

Next Monday will see the executive boards of all AFL unions in Chattanooga reassemble in the labor hall at 114 West Seventh street, with certain railroad brotherhoods, to hear the result of two weeks' hard work by the committees appointed to draw up definite plans for the purchase of a labor temple which would be sufficiently large to house the entire movement.

Always hampered in the past by a lack of facilities for its locals to meet together, Chattanooga Central Labor union and the Building Trades council have decided that the time is propitious to do something about it.

At the meeting to be held next Monday evening at 7:30, it is believed that blue prints will be ready for inspection and complete plans of operation of the enterprise will have been worked out by attorneys retained for the task.

According to W. A. Witt and Curtis R. Sims, presidents of the Building Trades council and Central Body, respectively, they have been surprised by the degree of enthusiasm which the project has been received.

T. A. Rogers' Wife Succumbs After Long Illness

Also Mother of Manager of Tivoli Theater — Widely Loved for Her Personality.

Mrs. Martha Marie Pechman Rogers, wife of T. A. Rogers, day city editor of the Chattanooga Times, died Sunday morning at her home, 503 Boynton Terrace.

Mr. Tom Rogers is an old-time member of the Chattanooga Typographical union, and for many years was one of the most active trades-unionists in Central Body. Mrs. Rogers was the mother of Emmett Rogers, popular manager of the Tivoli theater.

A native of Saxony, Germany, Mrs. Rogers came to Chattanooga at the age of 2 years with her parents and had lived in this city 67 years. She had lived on Cameron Hill for 40 years.

For many years an active member of the Cameron Hill Garden club, she was noted for her skill in flower culture. Her garden was one of the show places of the West Side.

Her charity and friendliness were widely known throughout the city as she continually aided unfortunates of both races, and stood ready to lend sympathetic help to her own neighbors in times of grief or trouble.

She was active in all affairs of her community and the Second Presbyterian church until she suffered failing health about a year ago.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by a son, Emmett R. Rogers, resident manager of the Tivoli Theater, Inc., and of the Chattanooga Theaters, Inc.; a granddaughter, Miss Gwendolyn Rogers; two brothers, Albert and Herman Pechman; several nieces, all of Chattanooga, and a number of relatives in Germany.

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at the Second Presbyterian church, with Dr. Robert M. Stimson officiating. Interment was in Forest Hills cemetery.

Brewery Workers Initiate Five As Sign of Progress

B. L. Talley Co., Distributors of Canada Dry, to Be Kept "On the Run"

Local 79, Brwery Workers, seem to be stepping right along, according to reports received from their meeting last Thursday. They initiated five new members.

It was announced that Secretary Erskine Fischer would go to Atlanta over the week-end to gather up a few loose ends in his trade there, which it is believed will eventually result in a stronger organization for Atlanta.

Instead of waning, the fight being put against B. L. Talley, distributors of the non-union Canada Dry products, is growing in intensity because of the wonderful support received by the union from merchants.

"Merchants are cooperating with us splendidly," Mr. Fischer said. "Not only are they throwing out Canada Dry, but they are refusing to handle food produce distributed by Talley. We appreciate these evidences of friendship immensely."

PAUL HARTMAN PROUD FATHER

There is one member of Local 600, Meatcutters, that is sticking his chest out these days. A fine young son, to be named Mack Paul Murphy Hartman, arrived Oct. 11.

The Labor World congratulates the proud parents.

Would Gasoline Be Cheaper?

There is a concerted effort by well-meaning citizens and filling station operators to have the state gasoline tax of seven cents abolished. When one first thinks of the elimination of the gas tax, he first says, "Goody, goody, gasoline will only be 17 or 18 cents per gallon!"

But will it? Filling station operators must sell the gasoline at the price dictated by the oil trust. We are afraid that unless steps are taken at the same time the tax is abolished to see that gasoline will be SOLD cheaper, we will continue to pay 25 cents or more per gallon.

The oil barons have us trained to pay a certain price for gasoline. We fear that abolishment of the seven-cent tax will result only in the oil monopoly receiving seven cents more profit.

Why not regulate oil and gasoline prices in Tennessee? Any time Standard Oil, Gulf, Shell, Sinclair and others decide they need another dividend, up goes gas.

And we, poor suckers, pay it without much murmur.

Before we take off the seven cent tax (high as it is) which is spent on our highways, let us be sure the seven cents taken from the state is not being presented to some oil king to buy a new yacht.

State Labor Movement Rises In Indignation Against Coup Proposed By Gov. Browning

His Proposal in Extra Session to Disfranchise Working People in Order to Advance Selfish Interest Denounced.

Memphis, Nashville, Chattanooga and Knoxville Central Bodies Join Tennessee Federation Executive Board in Condemnation—AFL, CIO and Railroad Workers Hand in Hand.

Once again all groups of organized labor in Tennessee are seeing eye to eye and are unanimously together in denouncing the dictatorial ambitions of a Tennessee governor which would involve the disfranchising of working people.

While Gov. Browning seems to have the edge in his special session of the legislature which he called suddenly to enact into law a "county unit plan" of voting, protests are pouring in to him from every corner. It is even being said that the governor will be given the same dose that was given to Gov. Roberts, who was defeated by landslide proportions and a republican governor sent to the governor's mansion.

Spokesmen for the various labor organizations joined today in statements that the governor's plan would menace the voting rights of "the working man." They appealed to the general assembly to defeat the legislation.

Gerald Foley, president of the Tennessee Federation of Labor, opened the attack on the plan Sunday night in a statement in which he said it would affect the working man's right to vote, because most of organized labor's membership lives in the large counties of the state. His statement was followed by one from R. H. Brazzell, of Nashville, director of the Textile Workers' organizing committee.

Says Danger Underestimated.

"I agree most heartily with Mr. Foley that this proposal is a menace to the voting privileges of the working man," Brazzell asserted. "My only complaint with Mr. Foley's statement is that he did not go far enough with it.

"As I view the proposal, it appears to be a concerted effort on the part of some to perpetuate themselves in office at the expense of the working man. I am not interested in the fight between Gov. Browning and Ed Crump and am taking no part in that. I am interested in not seeing the working man disfranchised. That is the effect of the Browning plan."

W. A. Crisman, of Memphis, representative of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Enginemen, denounced the plan as "a studied and deliberate attempt on the part of the governor and his advisers to control the policies of Tennessee and perpetuate themselves in office, despite the will of the majority."

"Its a shame and a disgrace to try to saddle such a plan, so manifestly unfair, undemocratic and vicious, upon a defenseless public," Crisman added. "I am unable to see how any man who has a regard for his oath of office would deliberately sponsor or support such legislation. It is tyranny of the basest kind, and should be treated accordingly. The sponsors of the plan hold the working man in contempt."

Hollis V. Reid, of Memphis, chairman of the legislative board of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, also added his "disapproval" of the legislation.

"There can be no dispute but that this legislation will disfranchise the many working men and women in Tennessee," Mr. Reid asserted. "I am not concerned or interested in the argument between the governor and Mr. Crump. That's their fight. But I am concerned and interested in trying to prevent the working people of this state from being disfranchised. I am interested in fair play. The governor's proposal is unsound, undemocratic and vicious. A majority of the members of organized labor live in the large cities. This legislation is aimed at the larger counties of the state. It should be unceremoniously defeated."

In a statement given out in behalf of the executive board of the Tennessee Federation of Labor, Secretary-Treasurer T. R. Cuthbert said:

> Gov. Browning's effort to disfranchise the large voting centers of Tennessee in order to "get" a political enemy, who was only a few months before acceptable to the governor as his best friend, is not only unsportsmanlike, but is a dangerous threat to our democratic rights.
>
> The governor's county unit plan will be opposed by the Tennessee Federation of Labor, not for partisan reasons, but in actual defense of the right of every working man to have equal voice in his government.
> As it is now, too many working people lose their franchise by the lack of a poll tax receipt. To further curtail the American right of Tennessee workers residing in large population centers should rouse such widespread indignation that whoever proposes or supports such action will be doomed politically—if it is not already too late at this time to effectively protest.
> Large population centers pay the greatest portion of taxes, and with the county unit plan it will be possible, yes, inevitable, that the sparsely populated areas of Tennessee will again bring to this country the cry of 1770's, "taxation without representation is tyranny."

At its regular session Monday night, Chattanooga Central Labor union sent telegrams to the governor and to the Hamilton county delegation in Nashville, asking that the iniquitous railroading of the measure be stopped.

Similar actions are being taken by the Nashville and Knoxville central bodies.

Not only is the high-handed proposal being fought by organized labor, but elements outside of labor ranks are rousing themselves in defense of their right to vote and have equal representation.

Warning Given As Erskine Bakery Co. Tries to Fool Folks

Salesman Said To Be Showing Merchants Expired Union Membership Card

Company Union Cake Shop Said To Be Desperate In Effort to Get Business Back.

Warning was issued Thursday by Curtis R. Sims, business agent for the Bakery and Confectionery Workers, who told The Labor World that Erskine Bakery, growing desperate, apparently, through the loss of business, was attempting through its salesmen to convince merchants that it is union.

Mr. Sims said that it was reported to him that one of the Erskine salesmen, formerly a member of the union, but now one of the "committeemen" in the company union (a la Jac Chambliss), is showing his out-of-date union card to grocers in an effort to make them believe that he was clear with the union.

Mr. Sims says that "Erskine Bakery employes, whether through coercion or other means, have formed a company union in the recent novelty act known as a League of Democratic Unions. Most of these employes had previously joined our AFL union, but due to the strict opposition of the management, we were not successful in reaching an agreement. Immediately after the new "union" was formed, the company made an agreement with them."

The case is already before the labor board, and Central Body has declared the bakery "unfair."

Chancellor Says Cafe Must Keep Union Contract

Either That or Pickets May Continue Their Patrol at Front Door

Offer By Union to Supply Help Turned Down By Postoffice Grill — Fight Is Continued Promptly Wednesday

Petition by the Postoffice Grill to enjoin Culinary Workers Local 574 from picketing its restaurant as non-union was denied by Chancellor Foust Tuesday when he read a contract that was signed with the union which specified that the "grill" would employ none but paid-up union members.

The chancellor told the proprietor, Mr. Gulas, that if the union presented sufficient union workers to him for employment, that he must either employ them or be content to see union pickets in front of his place of business.

The pickets appeared with banners some weeks ago which said that the "Postoffice Grill is Non-Union" when the cafe refused to discharge its employes who had not kept in good standing with the union.

> The decision was an important one, according to union officials, who believe that it is the first in Hamilton county which recognized a union contract as a legal agreement and binding on the employer.

Postoffice Grill testified to the chancellor that their business had decreased from ten to fifteen dollars per day since the pickets began telling the world that the cafe was non-union.

McMillan Says Will Pay Teachers More On Coal Savings

Tells Labor World Its Editorial Last Week Based on Misinformation.

$14,000 Payment on Next Year's Coal from This Year's Budget Will Go Into Increase in Salaries.

Taking exception to an editorial in last week's Labor World, which called attention to a statement made by Commissioner McMillan that he had spent $14,000 from this year's budget to pay for next year's coal, the commissioner told The Labor World this week that it was his intention to use the $14,000 to add to the teacher salary schedule for next year according to training qualifications.

The Labor World had called attention to the fact that many teachers were given no increases and some a few pennies due to lack of funds, and expressed surprise that there was $14,000 to pay on next year's bills.

> Commissioner McMillan says that the $14,000 was given to him at the last moment and that he had to spend it to prevent it

MORRISON SAYS CIO WILL WIND UP IN GRAVEYARD WITH SIMILAR FALLACIES

Tells Metal Trades Convention the American Federation of Labor Has Raised Its Membership to 3,271,726 in August, 1937, With An Increase of 831,726 Members in the Last Twelve Months Despite the Subversive Activities of the Committee for Industrial Organization in Its Determination to Wreck the Federation.

Declares He Has Seen Many Groups, Beginning With the Knights of Labor, Attack the Legitimate Trade Union Movement and Proclaim the Alleged Benefits of So-Called Industrial Unionism, But They Are Now Buried in the Capacious Tomb of Lost Causes; Visions the C. I. O. Headed for the Same Rendezvous With Death.

Denver, Colo.—A significant address emphasizing the strength of the American Federation of Labor and uncovering the essential weaknesses of the policies applied by the Committee for Industrial Organization, viwed in the light of history was delivered here by Frank Morrison, secretary-treasurer of the American Federation of Labor, before the annual convention of the A. F. of L. Metal Trades department.

John P. Frey, president of the department, introduced Mr. Morrison as "one of our most honored as well as one of our most distinguished veterans in the trade onion movement."

"For the length of service," Mr. Frey said, "perhaps Secretary Morrison's record is unparalleled. He is as young as most of us in his spirit and in his viewpoint, but he has completed fifty-one years of continuous membership in the International Typographical union.

"Nowhere in any country at any time has any man been honored for so many years of service in the nation's trade union movement. For 41 years Secretary Morrison has held that office in the American Federation of Labor. His years of active trade union service covers the growth of the American Federation of Labor. He is the only remaining link between the early leaders of our trade union movement and those of us who today are carrying on the traditions which he helped to found in the American Federation of Labor."

Big Growth in A. F. of L. Membership

Pointing out that "the August, 1937, membership of the American Federation of Labor was 3,271,726," Mr. Morrison emphasized the fact that this "is an increase of membership for the past twelve months of 831,726 members." Furthermore, he said, the AFL "is traveling along at an increase of about 65,000 to 67,000 members per month," which was a "steady increase," with "nothing in sight that indicates that that speed will be lessened."

In reviewing the controversy between the American Federation of Labor and the Committee for Industrial Organization, Mr. Morrison cited the fate of similar organizations with whose history he was personally familiar. He had lived through the period when the Knights of Labor attacked the American Federation of Labor, but the K. of L. passed into oblivion.

Then came, in succession, the Western Labor Union, the American Labor Union, the Industrial Workers of the World, and the One Big Union, all of them saturated with the industrial unionism idea — and all of them had finally entered the cemetery decorated by the Knights of Labor tomb. He predicted a similar rendezvous with death for the CIO.

Motorcade Goes to Johnson City When Big Doings Planned

Local Unionists Will Take a Part in AFL Rally With East Tennesseans

Some eight or ten automobiles loaded with AFL members will leave Chattanooga early this Friday morning to visit Johnson City, Tenn. Friday night will see an enormous parade and rally for the American Federation of Labor, at which George L. Googe, southern director, will be the principal speaker.

President Gerald Foley, of the Tennessee Federation, will be there. The local delegation will be led by W. A. Witt, president of the Chattanooga Building Trades council, and W. E. Cheek, representing the American Federation of Labor.

Secretary T. R. Cuthbert, of the Tennessee Federation, visited Johnson City last week and assisted in arranging for the rally.

PRESSMEN CALL SPECIAL SESSION

President White Abel, of the Chattanooga Printing Pressmen's union, has called a special meeting to be held Sunday, Oct. 17, at the Patten hotel. Time of meeting will be 2 o'clock.

President Abel said that the session will be for commercial shop men only, and that those members failing to attend the meeting will be subject to a fine of five dollars.

Hitler and Mussolini have been meeting in Munich. The place where organized labor would like to see them meet is on that structure which Spanish peasants call "the widow with the wooden legs."

A. F. OF L. CONVENTION POWER TO LEVY ASSESSMENTS IS URGED

Executive Council Says Change In Constitution Is Necessary to Meet Revenue Requirements.

Denver, Colo. — Unforseen emergency conditions developing from time to time make it necessary for the American Federation of Labor to have larger income than results from the per capita tax on affiliated unions, according to the report of the A. F. of L. Executive Council to the annual convention of the federation in session here.

To provide this income the council recommended incorporating in the federation constitution a provision authorizing the conventions of the federation to levy assessments.

Pointing out that experience during the past year has "disclosed weaknesses, omissions and conflicts of present constitutional provisions relating to the revenue of the federation and especially with reference to assessments," the council recommended as necessary "to meet this situation" that Article X, Section 1 of the A. F. of L. constitution be amended by adding to it this section:

"Revenue may also be derived from assessments when and as ordered by a majority vote of a convention."

The Executive Council said that when amended the section would read as follows:

"Section 1. The revenue of the federation shall be derived from a per capita tax to be paid upon the full paid-up membership of all affiliated bodies, as follows: From international or national trade unions, a per capita tax of 1 per cent per member per month; from local trade unions and federal labor unions, 35 cents per member per month, 12½ cents of which must be set aside to be used only in the case of strike or lockout unless otherwise ordered by the Executive council; the amount received by the American Federation of Labor on each initiation fee from all directly affiliated local unions shall be 25 per cent of the total initiation fee received by the local union from the individual, but in no case shall the amount received by the American Federation of Labor be less than $1; from central and state bodies $10 per year, payable quarterly. Revenue may also be derived from assessments when and as ordered by a majority vote of a convention."

CAPT. CARTER LYNCH

The death of Captain Carter Lynch this week was more shocking because of the tragic manner in which he was snatched away. Taken off while yet a young man, comparatively speaking, his absence will be keenly felt during the years to come.

Although we had not the opportunity to become intimately acquainted with him, it has frequently entered our mind that we would like for our boys to copy after the example which he set as a fine gentleman and good citizen.

It is a pity that with so many bad citizens living to a ripe old age, men such as Carter Lynch must be lost to us in the twinkling of an eye.

What Next!

Experiments by French hothouses cultivating the begonia plant indicate poison gases may be used to fight plant diseases. After experimentation, poison gases were found which killed disease germs but did no injury to the begonia plants. Gardeners wear masks while applying the gas.

Japan is now reported to be producing rayon silk from the stalks and husks of soy beans. Factories are being constructed for an initial production of 50,000 to 60,000 tons of cellulose annually.

Labor World's Question Box

The Labor World offers to its readers a question and answer service through the cooperation of the University of Tennessee. Send questions either to this paper or to Box 4013, U. T. Station, Knoxville, Tenn. Answers will appear in this column.

Q.—How do the roads of Tennessee compare with other states?
S. A., Rogersville.

Though there are no official ratings of roads in the various states, Tennessee's system is considered as good as that of any other southern state.

* * *

Q.—What was Charles A. Lindbergh's occupation before he made his famous flight?

A.—He was an air mail pilot on the route from St. Louis to Chicago.

* * *

Q.—Are there any poisonous lizards?

A.—The only lizard definitely known to be poisonous is the Gila Monster, inhabitant of the deserts in southwestern U. S.

Q.—I have seen designs of "griffins" on buildings. What are they supposed to represent?

A.—The griffin is a fabulous monster of the ancients, the fore part resembling an eagle and the hinder a lion. It is supposed to watch over gold mines and hidden treasures, but it is used simply as an architectural decoration.

Boris Shiskin

Boris Shiskin, economist for the A. F. of L., was born in Russia, October 28, 1903. They called the town St. Petersburg then; now it's Leningrad. Boris emigrated early in 1918; spending some time in Turkey, then in Greece, and studying for quite a season in England.

He came to America in 1923, worked at any odd job he could get, took his bachelor's degree in economics with "general and special honors" at Columbia University, and later took his master's degree there. His thesis was "Business Ethics." He won a fellowship to Brookings Institution and went to the A. F. of L. as economic adviser in the NRA days of 1933.

He is a little above the medium height, fair enough and blue eyed enough to be a Norwegian. Of course, being a Russian and therefore having some Slavic blood, he knows a half-dozen languages. He learned English and French at home, picked up Turkish and Greek in Constantinople, and has given lessons in Russian in America. One of his pupils was Paul Robson, who wanted to be able to sing Russian songs in the original, and who was so apt that "if he had sung behind a screen," Shiskin says, "every Russian would have taken him for Chaliapin."

Have you ever spread out a hundred or more weekly labor papers in front of you for a look at the grass roots of the labor movement? It's a great idea. Everyone ought to have the chance to do it. There's better writing in the labor papers than there used to be years ago. And today there's a note of life and action that runs through all them and that makes them exciting and fascinating. In these weekly papers there is the running story of what's doing. One thing notable about them is that their columns are not filled with a hymn of hate. They are filled with stories about what is being done to build.

There are better editorials than there were years ago. Many of them rank with the best to be found anywhere. Communities are doing their own thinking and the labor paper editorial reflects the best of that thinking. A better idea of the multitude of local problems is gained from the weekly labor paper than from any other source. The editorials tackle those problems and handle them with skill and thought. They tackle national problems, too.

But standing out big and bold in these local papers is the story of a coast-to-coast determination to organize workers into unions for the sake of progress for workers. And the progress, recorded community by community, is amazing. America has never seen anything like it.

Here and there a good woman's page shows up, but by and large labor papers find that the economic interests of the sexes are alike. The same principles operate. But the growing woman's auxiliary movement may make some change in the growth of woman's pages. However, even here the work of the women is in the same economic channel with the work of the men.

What is known as feature writing has come to the front in Seven League boots in the last few years, as far as labor is concerned. A number of labor papers have fine feature stories, locally written.

Their national news service brings them plenty of national feature stories.

The main restriction on the enterprise of local papers is their inability to hire sufficiently large staffs. Most papers are still run by one or two-man staffs.

Today, with union memberships growing by thousands every day, the local labor paper stands at the doorway of its greatest opportunity. The opportunity to spread circulation, to become financially strong, to be able to "do things," is at hand.

The papers themselves must crack through the vicious circle which has been one in which poor papers could not attract readers and without readers they could not become strong papers. That devil has chased himself around the labor lot for many years. But persistence and ingenuity are driving him out of labor publishing offices. Labor paper publishing is as necessary as organizing. Papers are voices, needed always.

America has the greatest labor press of any nation on earth. It is growing greater week by week. It is a thrilling and a fascinating study. Spread out a hundred or more of them some time and have a look.

Cooks' and Waiters' Scraps

Louise Tinker, Correspondent

The culinary workers won a victory in chancery court Tuesday after the chancellor, Judge Lon Foust, ruled that picketing will be helted before the Postoffice Grill only when the management accepts workers of Local 574. The picket was placed before the door of this eating house when John Gulas refused to live up to an agreement he made with the culinary workers on July 31. On Tuesday, one and one-half hours after the hearing, Erskine Mabee, business agent for the local, took a number of culinary workers, including cooks, waiters, and waitresses and dish washers, to Mr. Gulas' place of business after he (Mr. Gulas) stated that we had failed to supply him with union help. Mr. Gulas didn't want union members who are in good standing, so right back before his door went the picket, and right before this door this picket will stay until at such time Mr. Gulas sees fit to employ members of our union.

When Mr. Gulas signed this contract he agreed to use only members of Local 574 in good standing, and he has failed to do this. When passing the Postoffice Grill you will see a picket. She will give you a smile. This young lady has been placed before this place because the judge of our chancery court has said that she can remain there until this restaurant owner agrees to live up to the contract he signed on July 31.

Ladies' Handbag Union Wins Many Victories

Progress of Newly Chartered Member of AFL Family Reported By AFL Council.

Denver, Colo. — Constant achievement of improved conditions for union members of the International Ladies' Handbag, Pocketbook and Novelty Workers union is cited by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor in its report to the federation's annual convention here.

Pointing out that the union was chartered by the executive council on May 5, 1937, the report said:

"This organization was given jurisdiction over those employed in the manufacture of ladies' handbags, pock etbooks and leather novelties.

"The organization has made substantial progress. A number of outstanding strikes which it was forced to order were won. Agreements have been negotiated between employers and members of the organization providing for union recognition, increased wages and improved working conditions of employment.

"The offices of the American Federation of Labor as well as the executive council have given to this organization a full measure of cooperation and support."

In 1937, to date, 270 railroad locomotives have been ordered: more than twice as many as for the same period in 1936. Thirty-nine oil-electric locomotives were ordered in August, and only one steam locomotive in the same month.

Comments on World Events

A wireless dispatch to the New York Times from Shanghai begins with the following paragraph, stating the views of the "Japanese army spokesman:"

"The Japanese army's inability to advance as scheduled at Shanghai is said to be the result of the defenders' lack of knowledge of military tactics. They do not know when they are outmaneuvered or whipped."
